On Tuesday evening, the 26th of August, 1879, a large assembly of people was convened at half-past 6 o'clock, to witness the laying of a new corner-stone in the foundation of the new Lutheran church that is in the course of being built in this place. All day long a large force of men and boys had been hard at work taking down, brick by brick, the west wall of the old church, and mony of laying the new stone was begun. The ceremony was just such a one as would lend an additional charm to a religrous scene sich as was enacted in the face of the dismantled Lutheran church build-
