A DOUBTING HEART.

Frezen and dead.

O doubting heart !

Far over purple scan, They wait in sunny case.

Prison'd they lie

In the cold tomb, headless of tears or rain.

O doubting heart !

They only sleep below

These many days ; Will dreary hours never leave the earth?

O doubting heart?

The stormy clouds on high

That soon (for spring is nigh) Shall wake the summer into golden mirth.

nd can break the silence of despair ?

Veil the same sunny sky.

Is quench'd in night.

Yet stars shall rise at last

Brighter for darkness past,

O doubting heart!

The sky is overcast,

And angels' silver voices stir the air.

The soft white ermine snow,

While winter winds shall blow, To breathe and smile upon you soon again.

The balmy southern breeze,

Where are the swallows fled?

Why must the flowers die?

The sun line hid its rays
