Mr. Slawson's Cockatoo.

Mr. Slawson is the possessor of a cockaseighborhood is threatening to file legal papers for its immediate destruction. This is alarming Mr. Slawson very much, as he has owned the bird a long while, having has the transition of the bird a long while, having has sowned the bird a long while, having made its acquaintance several years anterior a moeting his wife. Consequently, he re-gards the bird with a sort of sentimental sardis the bird with a sort of sentimental veneration, and even pretends to regard its vocal lucubrations with critical satisfac-tion. He was warned by a lawye: for the seventh time that the bird would have to be brought to an end unless his voice could be modified. This, of course, would be a difficult thing to do, as the voice was full difficult thing to do, as the voice was full the cage by "Eolian harps.
