A Woman.

She was a phantom of delight When first she gleamed upon my sight. A lovely apparition, sent To be a moment's ornument Her eyes are stars of twilight fair; Like twilights, too, her dusky hair; But all things else about her drawn From Maytime and the cheerful dawn-A dancing shape, an image gay, To haunt, to startle and wayiay.

I saw her upon nearer view, A spirit, yet a woman, too! Her household notions light and free, And steps of virgin liberty: A countenance in which did meet Sweet records, promises as sweet; A creature not too bright or good For human nature's daily food; For transient sorrows, simple wiles, Praise, blame, love, kisses, tears and smiles

And now I see with eve serene The very pulse of the muchine; A being breathing thoughtful breath, A traveler between life and death; The reason tirm, the temperate will, Endurance, foresight, strength and skill; A perfect woman, nobly planned. To warn, to comfort and command : And yet a spirit still, and bright With something of an angel light. -Wadsworth.
