The idea or theory on which the Allegheny riot bond bill will be based is not sound. It lifts the State above everything, and dwarfs the individual to nothing. Under such enactments communities would not need to trouble themselves about riots when they occur, for the State would make good March 1881 beging taken the initial Conductor Routh, Engineer Huey all damages sustained. The rioters can have their own way, and if property be destroyed the State will make it good. While Allegheny is at work framing the bill, why not go a step further, and add a life insurance clause to the prepared bill, and have the State pay for the lives of men killed by riot. Such a law could be turned to speculative account. Rings of unscrupulous men in every of March. On inauguration day the community could be formed that could manage to invest largely in personal property, and then foment riot, destroy the property, and have Altoons, Pa., band of twenty-eight the State Lunatic Asylum, at Harrispersonal property, and then foment the State pay for it, and also for the lives of the rioters. Out upon such a law. All right-minded people sympathize with the people of Pittsburg who are made to pay such heavy dainages under the provisions of a religious riot law: but the very fact that the citizens of Allegheny county feel the injustice of the law, is a power-
