In the meantime there is an almost infinite variety of the smaller species of indigenous quadrupeds and of game and plumage birds, and the lovers of bush life and the naturalist alike appreciate a few weeks of sport in man's idea of sport in Australia is the This thoroughly Australian quadruped affords no lack of sport, being either hunted or shot as fancy may direct. Besides this there are the wallabies and wallaroos, the "dingoes" or wild dog, and 'he "brumbies" or wild horses not to mention the myriads of rabbits, and in some parts the troops of bares, that have found a congenial home on Australian soil. The destruction of any of the animals is not merely a matter of sport, but of absolute necessity, so great as to call for special acts of Parliament to tacilitate their exterminetion A sentimental outery has been occasionally raised in the English press against the Queensland Marsupial acts, the object of which is not the protection but the destruct on of the swarms of kangaroos and other pouched animals which in some parts of the colony have threatened to eat hundreds of hardworking eclonists out of house and home. It has been proved by statistics in the Queensland Assembly that a run which used to carry 50,000 sheep has been so devas ated as to afford sustenance for parely a tithe of that number. So war to the knife was declared against these destructive creatures, and they and other "vermin" afford good opportunities of sport even when "game" more properly so called South Wales, we may quote the shooting list of Mr. Hawthorne, one of the best shots in the colony, who has been striving his utmost to keep down the tauna of the country which are inimical to the interests | 799 pounds, or very nearly fifteen pounds of the squatters. SUNLIT ROOMS .- No article of furniture should be put in a room that will not stand the sunlight, for every room in a dwelling shauld have the windows so arranged that sometime during the day a flood of sunlight will force itself into the apartment The importance of admitting the light of the sun freely into all parts of our dwell ings cannot be too highly estimated. Indeed perfect health is nearly as much dependent on pure suulight as it is on pure air. Sunlight should never be excluded except when so bright as to be uncomfort to the eyes. And walks should be in bright sunlight, so that the eyes are protected by veil or parasol if inconveniently ntense. A sunbath is of more importance preserving a healty condition of the body than is generally understood. A sun bath costs nothing, and that is a misforne, for people are deluded with the ide that those things only can be good or useful which costs money. Remember that pure water, fresh air, and sunlit houses kept free from dampness will seeure you from many heavy bills of the doctors, and give you health and vigor no money can procure. It is a well established fact that ople who live much in the sun are usu ally stronger than those whose occupation deprive them of sunlight. And certainly there is nothing strange in the result sine the sam lawe applies with equal force to nearly every animate thing in nature. It quite easy to arrange an isolated dwell so that every room may be flooded will sunlight sometime in the day, and it is possible that many town houses could be so built as to admit more light than they

One Experience from Many. I had been sick and miserable so long and had caused my husband so much trouble and expense, no one seemed to know what ailed me, that I was completely disheartened and discouraged. In this frame of mind I got a bottle of Hop Bitters and used them unknown to my family. I soon began to improve and gained so fast that my husband and family thought it strange and unnatural, but when I told them what had helped me, they said, "Hurrah for Hop Bitters! long may they prosper, for they have made mother well and us happy."—The Mother.
