When we partied thirty would be brought near death's door by a dis-ease which selects for its victims those who present an internal field of constitutional workness for its first attack, because you and I were in those days the personification of health-and can claim filts to day, thank God! Why I can do so will be told to-morrow, when we meet at your dinner, as you only know that I have passed through a terrible illness; my delivery from death being due to the wonderful discovery in medical science, made by a man who to-day stands in the front rank of his fellow workers-moqualed by any in my own opinion. That I, who heretofore have ever been the most ortholox believer in the old school of medicine, its application and results, should thus recant in favor of that which is sneared at by dd pratitioners, may startle you, but "seeing is believer," my death process it has attach practitioners, may startle you, but "seeing is believing," and when I recount the attack nucle on my old bulk, how near I came to lowering my colors, and the final volley which, through the agency above mentioned, which, through the agency atover mentioned, gave me victory, you will at least credit me with just cause for sincerity in my thankful-ness and belief. I will also spin my yarn anent my China cruise, and altogether, ex-pect to entertain as well as be entertained by you. With best wishes, Sincerely yours,

Rear Admiral U. S. Navy. Hon. George WENDELL, Sinclair Place, Boston.

Sinchri Place, Boston. An anternnal afternoon in the year 188-found the that flagship Nounal rounding the treacherous and dangerous extremity of Nouth America. And this day certainly in-tended to place itself on record with those of its predecessors marked stormy, its mati-ness in wind and weather giving all hands on board the flagship their fill in hard work and discomforts. The record of the Nowa i on this craise, which she was now complet-ing on her homeward bound passage to Bos-ton, had been most disagreeable, when con-sidered in the light of heavy weather work. From Suez to Advn, then on to Bombay, Point de Galle, Sinzapore, Hong Kong, Shanghai, Nagasaki and Yokolama, the balance sheet stood largely in favor of old Neptum's rough characteristics, but with remarkable evenness the health and original rosier of the ship's company stood this day reaster of the ship's company stood this day ns it did nearly three years ago—with one exception. Throughout the diverse and varied exposures incidental to cruising over the Asiane station, where cholera, fevers, the Asiatic station, where cholera, fevers, liver complaints, malaria, and colds of all degrees reign in full force, none of the crew had suffered more than temporary incon-venience, and thus it seemed very hard that new, in the closing days of the cruise, there stood nine chances for, to one against, a vic-tory being at last stoored for the destroying angel Death. When the Nomod reached Shanghai in the early portion of her cruise ner admired was the bealthest man abourd. ical was the healthiest man aboard. her admiral was the healthiest man aboard. A grand specimen of manhood was he. Over six feet in height, weighing two hundred pounds, broad in chest and strong in limb, be rightly claimed for himself a full share of Nature's blessings. While returning late one night from a duptomate reception u d. Consults at Shanghai, through overheat-ing and insufficient protection from the dan-gerons effects of the peculiar dump and searching night at, he caucht cold. "Only sensitiving night air, he enught cold. "Only a cold," remarked the admiral to the doctory of his ship, "and easy to cure." So though the medical officers, but with a quiet though insidious progression, this cold clang to the admiral in spite of their best efforts to erad-icate it, and when the time came for leaving Yokohama, homeward bound, the admiral re-afra, of that his lungs and throat were decid-edly out of order. The doctors advised reetty out of order. The doctors advised re-turning home by mail steamer to Sun Fran-cased so that greater means for curing this persettent cough might be found in the Nava Hospital there; but the admiral pre-ferred to stick to his ship, still imagining that his trouble would eventually be over-come by the doctors' treatment. Only a cold at first; and in spike of orthodox treatrout the peculiar climatic effects of China nursed it, and instemed the sure result of such a deep scated trouble. the option of the alcient officers of the larger."
"Thank you, sir, an' God help the admiral to weather his trouble, is the prayer of all the ship," said Brown, as the licutenant turned to enter the cabin. There was no cessation in the storm that evening. The gold howled through the rig ging in wild, discordant tones; the great ship habored through the wills-supped moun-tains of water threatened to engulph her with each burst of their storm-whipped crests. Within the admiral's cabin the Ar-gand hicks, the confortable furniture, and crests, within the comfortable furniture, and gand lights, the comfortable furniture, and the numerous evidences of the admiral's wanderings over land and water, as displayed in choice brie-a-brac and triannings, gave in choice brie-a-brac and trimmings, gave to the room a warm, sing appearance, most pleasing this wild night to those within. The admiral's reply was cut short by evere spell of coughing, during which he pat blocd, and when finished sank back ex-austed. But the grateful look which he be owed on his son was an additional asst unce of belief in that which the admiral ha at first sight dubled as a possible but doub ful means of doing him any good. But hy ing aside his dislike for any but old-estat lished remedies, the admiral arquissed in his son's request, and now, after this last spell, admitted that the effect of the dose had softened the dreaded severity of the racking cough. Three weeks later found the Nounal mak ing the harbor of Montovideo. After seven and prolonged weather she had rounded the Cape and was now standing in the harbor for the purpose of recoaling and watering. To one given to the study of human linea-ments the faces of those aboard the flugship this bright morning would have afforded infinite scope for such pursuit. But the sparce of each man's happiness flowed from the same formation of grateful joy. The belowed admiral was the cause of this. And why? If you could have seen the admiral this harden maximum is a such that the same seen the same set the same set. bright morning, dear reader, your answer would have been easily found in his face. A changed man was he. Victory was perched on his guidons! the dread enemy was sowly retreating! The fight was a sovere on • but with no cessation in vigilant action and care-ful application of the contents of four bottles the admirul had turned the flank of consumption, and was shown but surely driving him off the field with a power which astounded the doctors and filled all hearts with joy and dankfulness. What was this then that had won the vic-tors for the more and power bound of the star-

One of the most ingenious adapta One of the most ingenious adapta-tions of electricity, recently introduced, is that by which machinery when in motion may be instantly stopped-as in the case of an engine. A wire rope, coiled around the stem of the throttle valve of the engine, carries a weight which is held in place by a root and which is held in place by a rest, and the whole arrangement is such that the passing of an electric current along a wire releases this rest and causes the michthe fall. The tension thus thrown weight to fail. The tension thus thrown upon the wire rope acts upon the throut the valve, cuts off the supply of steam, and consequently stops the machinery, buttons with wire connections, are placed in different parts of the works, and on pressing any one of these the passage of an electric current acts as above mentioned. In any factory these electric buttons can be placed in every room, or several of them in a large room as may be required. Should any one happen to be caught by the machinery, the simple pressing of a button in the most distant part of the factory will HOSTETTERS quickly stop the whole.

The model of a "patent compound express steamship," intended for ocean passenger and treight traffic, has been exhibited in the Produce Exchange New York. The steamship will have three hulls; the boilers and coal-bunkers will be in the two outer ones, and the engines in the central one. There will be propellers, so that the vessel carries either way with equal facility. The upper deck will be curved from bow to stern, so as to shed the seas that may break over.

the doctors imagined that they held the dis-ease in check at least. But with the forma-tion of inbercles, night-sweats and the now ripd consumption of lung tissans, which had set in with alarming symptoms, the pa-tient realized that his cold had had the seeds of that fell agent of Drank, consumption. The hecking couch of the adminal had in itself been sufficient food for serious consid-cation and move, as in the warm animon eration, and now, as in the warm autumn days the flagship gallantly rode over the blue waters of the Pacific, bound for Cape Horn, the doctors housed much for Cape blue waters of the Pacific, bound for Cape Horn, the doctors hoped much for success. But this boisterons infernoon found the good ship strangding with gigantic sease set of from the Cape by a fierce northerly wind. Leaden were the beavens and sad the hearts of all abourd, for that morning the nemal bulletin of the medical officers had set forth this intelligence: "The admiral is in same condition as reported last night. A burning fever has been slightly reduced, while other symptoms are as herefore an-nouncest." All understood these words without avestioning. The beloved admiral had during the year two weeks suck very low. The symptoms of blood-poisoning, a torpid liver, intense pains throughout the body, specific and mental facilities affected, appe-tic gone, through inaction of that great reg-plote are in the set of the start set. where the optimization of that great reg-lator—the liver. These were the means which had reduced the admiral from the pinecle of health to the valley and shadow of death. Concumption held full sway now, and the well-known skill of naval dictors was in this instance at least completely foiled.

The admiral had issued orders for the flagship to touch at Montevideo for coal, and in was the intention of the doctors to land the admiral there for treatment. But one man in the ship was wrapped in the gloou of despair, as standing by the weather rigging on the poop deck he gozed absently over the sections waste of waters. This was the ad-miral's son, a licetenant, and atta hel to his father's staff. He feared that the wear and tear of ship life would sap his father's strength beyond scalarance, and before the ship could reach Montevideo. Among a group of sailors gathered around one of the great gams on the spar deck stool the captain of the foretop, Brown, a slight but healthy-looking man.
