Hop plants can be used for various purposes. Thus, the wires or twigs are of service for basket or wicker work, and the leaves furnish food for farm stock and sheep; from the fendrils a vegetable wax is obtained, and from their juice a coloring matter. The young shoots, too, are eaten, tasting, when boiled, like asparagus, and when bleached they can be made into strong paper and cardboard; from their fibre in Sweden yarn and linen are spun, and the ashes are used by makers of Bohemian glass; while from the flowers, which give an agreeably bitter taste to beer, a tincture is derived and a medicinal extract; and a pillow filled with hops will often cause sleep, and is a great specific for old country dames.

HEAVES.—If you want to have no trouble with heaves in your horses be sure that they are fed no dusty and dirty hay, which is the prolific source of this annoyance. Ordinary clean hay can a ways be fed with safety if properly cut up, moistened, and mixed with ground grain; but to feed the musty or dirty sorts is very injurious. Clover, owing to its liability to crumble, often gets dirty, even after storage, and should never be fed without being previously moistened.

THE orchard should be cultivated at least eight years, or till it comes well into bearing in any hoed crop, or sown to buckwheat and let fall back on the ground; care should be taken not to plow too near or too deep near the trees When you seed use red clover. It is advisable to shorten in the the branches two-thirds the last year's growth, for the reason that the tree has lost roots in being taken up, and that equalizes the top and roots.

IN order to have successive croppis of green food for stock, small pieces of land should be sown at intervals for that purpose. Some sections will not produce in abundance, but such difficulty may partially be avoided by sowing peas and oats mixed, mustard, radish, collards, kale or anything else that comes in early. Though the quantity may not be large, the green stuff will answer for the change of diet, and serves an excellent purpose in that respect.

IT is a common remark that the cherry must be grafted early—a very indefinite term to most people. In the months of April and May applications to the nurseries for scions are frequent and no such orders can be honestly supplied at such a time. An amateur gardener brought with him from Germany a man skilled in several departments, one of which was grafting the cherry, and he claimed that earliness was the cardinal point. He said that they must be grafted in February.

WELL-PACKED butter, if it is good to start with, and is packed in good oak firkins, scalded and brined as every dairyman knows how to do; solidly packed, headed and filled with strong brine, so that every particle of air is excluded—such will keep a year, and will be rosy and sweet and marketable; but the butter must be good. Salt will not keep poor butter.

THE failure of all the patented milking machines is ascribed to the fact that they all aim at a stronger method, imitating the sucking of a calf rather than the manipulations of hand-milking. This last is essential to getting the largest secretion of the milk, and unless some machine can rival the hand for milking, the old way must be followed a while longer.

COWS when first turned to grass will eat and need considera le dry feed daily. Even straw will be eaten at this time, the grass not having substance enough to it to satisfy the animal. If the cow is giving milk the meat ration should be continued until June, or longer, if eaten readily.

AS SOON as an orchard or single tree is pruned the brush should be gathered in heaps to be burned when dry. Leaving it under the trees, as dropped, is a very slovenly practice, and when overgrown with grass or weeds in midsummer the labor of gathering it up in heaps is much increased.

THE clover plant is so impatient of shade that we have never found an advantage in covering it with coarse manure, as the large clods destroyed as much clover as the finer manure benefitted. But great improvements have been made in spreading manure, so that this difficulty is overcome, and with fine manure there is no better place for it than the clover field.

THE high price of clover seed this Spring is likely to permanently injure the fertility of many farms whose owners are too poor or too penurious to make the necessary outlay to secure this renovating crop. A field that should be seeded with clover this Spring will always be less fertile if timothy or other grass is substituted.

THE cultivation of the musk melon is an important industry in some parts of New Jersey. Its profitableness may be guessed by the fact that some New Jersey farmers for this crop expend $300 for manure. Farmers never take such risks as this unless they have learned by experience to be reasonably sure that it pays.

SQUASHES and all kinds of vines grow and yield the best by surface culture; manure as you would for corn; drop the seed in rows; cover lightly; stir the soil often, and eternal vigilance is death to bugs, with a good sprinkling of insect powder.

A NEW YORK farmer declares that an acre of the Hubbard squash will fatten more hogs than the corn that can be raised on the same ground. He has gathered from six to eight tons from an acre.

The largest grain elevator in the world is at Jersey City, erected by the Pennsylvania railway company. It is 145 feet wide, 200 feet long, and has a capacity for storing 1,500,000 bushels of grain. The building has twenty-four sets of elevating apparatus for taking grain from cars, and four "conveyers" run from the building to the wharf for unloading canal boats and loading ships.

Hautefeuille and Margottet have obtained a number of phosphates in crystal by using as solvents certain salts in igneous fusion. They dissolve the morphous phosphates obtained by precipitation in about four parts of melted meta-phosphoric acid, BAKED COD, HADDOCK OR SHAD.—Take a fish weighing five or six pounds, keep head on; do not have it opened too deep, make a filling of one-half pound of breadcrumbs, one teaspoonful of finely divided parsley, one teaspoon of salt, one saltspoon of black pepper, one-half teaspoon of dried thyme and marjoram mixed, two eggs, a teaspoon of butter. Beat all well together and fill in fish; if necessary, tie up with cord; bake slowly, larding with a little butter from time to time. About one and one-half hours will cook fish.

FOR house linen or dresses even better than a wardrobe is a long, low ottoman box that any carpenter can make of pine wood, and which can be covered with the pretty cheap cretonnes so as to add to the furniture of the room. The dresses, &c., can lie at full length, which is much better than hanging them up, for summer dresses especially. One or more trays of webbing fitted inside, will enable you to store quite a variety of articles without crushing.

HARD corns may be treated as follows: Take a thick piece of leather or felt; cut a hole in the centre. Upon going to bed at night fill the hole in the centre with paste made of soda and soap; wash it off in the morning. Repeat the same process several nights, and the corn will be removed.

To make gruel for babies sift the best of fine ground, unbolted wheat flour into boiling water, stirring it until it is of the consistency of gruel, cook it for fifteen or twenty minutes, then reduce it with the best of milk to a thin gruel, thin enough to suck through a bottle if necessary, strain it while hot through a fine sieve or straining cloth.

DISHES for dessert are handsomely made in majolica, and the style now is to have every one a different shape and design. Some take the form of oddly shaped baskets; others are upon three feet; others again, flat. Plates for ice cream are of glass, strawberries, raspberries and grapes figuring on them in relief as decoration.

SQUARE TRAYS.—The oblong, square-cornered, Japanese trays, of papier mache, are much more convenient for an invalid's bedside service than the ordinary oval "waiter" of lacquered metal They are much lighter than metal trays and more roomy by their shape for the breakfast or dinner dishes required. No one will go back to an oval after using a square-cornered tray.

MAYONNAISE OF EGG.—A very rich mayonnaise can be served without meat when chicken and veal are high, and when tomatoes, lobsters, salmon and shrimp are not wanted. Hard boiled eggs cut in slices, with the salad dressing poured over them, make a new and most satisfactory dish.

FANCY TOWEL.—Materials required one and one-half yards fine linen crash and a few skeins of cardinal tambo cotton, No 6. Ravel both ends to the depth of twelve inches and tie in fringe knots. Above this work a deep pattern in cross-stitch, or work a large monogram in embroidery stitch with scroll work at each end.

AN occasional table for a lady's boudoir is very peculiar, being of brass, with three shelves of painted porcelain, and surmounted by a small beveled mirror in a frame of wrought bronze. Upon the upper shelf is a box, lined with tufted satin, which, when shut, forms the top of the table.

A VERY lovely effect is produced in a screen which is mounted in bronze by the use of semi-transparent blue silk for the panel, upon which a view of a lake amid Alpine scenery is worked in long stitch in shaded silks. The effect of snow upon the mountains is most happily conveyed.

FASHIONABLE lamp shades are in every variety of material and style. Foremost in them are those in tinted silk, shaped to the size of the lamp and painted in water color designs; others are of paper, made up in imitation of flowers, roses, tulips or dahlias in delicately shaded papers.

PICTURE frames are much liked now in plain, severe style. Deep oak borderings have a finish of wrought bronze and an inner bordering of gilt. Occasionally designs in bronze relief are placed in each corner.

PILLOW shams are regaining favor. A favorite style now is to make them of the finest cambric, with narrow insertion edge, with drawn work and finished off with a bordering of lace to match insertion.

A NEW chair specially adapted for the coming season is of light wicker work, and is deep seated; above it is a large hood or shade, also of wicker, into which a window is introduced upon either side.

A NOVELTY has been introduced in parlor curtains in the application of colored designs upon lace. In a very handsome pair of white curtains flying birds in natural colors are appliqued on to the material.

NEW FASHIONED book rests have the ends richly carved in deep relief, a preference being given to animals' heads. In some cases the ends are formed of polished steel in the shape of anchors.

A NOVEL inkstand presents a curious combination, having a stand behind the ink bottles for paint brushes, and at the back of that again, compartments for plaques, cards, etc.

Steam Thrashers.

The farmer is getting the advantage of the inventive faculty of the present age. Steam thrashing machines are slowly but surely displacing the old method of thrashing by horse power. It takes more help to keep the machine running up to its full capacity than it did by horse power, but then a much steadier motion is given, and the much dreaded "thrashing days" are shortened by one-half, which is a great boon to the farmer and his wife. There is only one team needed, and that the thrashing men furnish themselves, and use it for hauling water for the steam engine. Where the thrashed grain has to be taken any distance, of course teams have to be used for hauling it away. The steam thrashing machines are made extra large, with a big cylinder at which two men stand to feed it. These necessitate two hand cutt ers and and extra two men to pitch to them. These steam thrashers, contained with the improved machinery for putting the grain into the ground in the spring (we refer to the screw pulverizer) and the self-binding reaper, make the farmer practically independent of the hired help, for a crop of 100 acres of small grain can be sown, reaped, and thrashed as easy as 20 acres could by the old and slower methods.

This is a very important item in the farmer's economy, for in some sections help cannot be obtained during the rush of harvest at any price, and where it can be got it is generally of an inferior character and has to be paid the exorbitant price of from $2.00 to $3.00 per day. The steam thrasher is of immense benefit to the farmer, and the day will soon be here that every neighborhood will be supplied with a machine. Farmers can use the steam power that it takes to run the thrashing machine for all the necessary purposes of grinding grain, shelling corn, and cutting hay with a chaff-cutter, when the machine is not in use for thrashing.

Suitable arrangements must be, however, provided for guarding against fire. Where possible the engine should be placed far enough away from the farm buildings so there will not be the remotest chance of fire. The best way to carry this power from the engine to buildings is by a wire rope, as a belt cannot be used to carry power as far as a wire rope; and then, too, the belt, when used in wet weather will get wet and slip.

A French Crystal Palace.

A CRYSTAL PALACE is soon to be built in the park of St. Cloud, near Paris. This park is celebrated for its picturesque beauty; and for the ruins of its magnificent chateau, which was destroyed in the Commune. It has been decided to pull down what remains of the chateau and to erect a building similar to the Crystal Palace in London. It will contain art galleries, museums of curiosities, reading-rooms, gymnasiums, panoramas and a cosmopolitan theatre, where the dramatic works of all civilized nations, ancient and modern, will be produced. The building will cover eighteen acres of ground.

In a memoir read before the medical society of Florence Dr. Bellini recommended starch as an antidote for poisons in general. In cases of acute poisoning an emetic should be given before the antidote is administered.

Cure Of The Crew.

CLEVELAND, OHIO.—The Plain Dealer reports that Hon. Martin A. Foran, congressman elect from the Cleveland, Ohio, district, has used St. Jacob's Oil in his family and has always found it safe and reliable, and it afforded him great relief to a lame knee.

A SHORT time ago, at a school in the North of England, during a lesson on the animal kingdom, the teacher put the following question: "Can any boy name to me an animal of the order edentata; that is, a front tooth toothless animal?" A boy, whose face beamed with pleasure at the prospect of a good mark, replied, "I can," "Well, what is the animal?" "My grandmother!" replied the boy, in great glee.

UNBRIDLED: "Why," said Fogg, "I didn't suppose you had a son so old as that. I wouldn't have thought it possible." "Don't flatter," replied the delighted Brown; "you know I do not look so very youthful." "Oh," said Fogg, quickly, "I didn't compute your years by your looks, but by your conversation."

A COUNTRY editor with the perspiration streaming down his face stopped turning the crank for a moment and demanded of the "devil," "How many sheets are there left?" The boy counted them and replied. "Just 115;" and then as the editor wearily resumed his task he sighed: "Great heavens! two hour's hard work and only half the edition run off."

TEMPERANCE people are trying to draw a lesson from the case of the man who died from lockjaw, caused by a barrel of cider falling on his leg. If they could get a good chance at the cider they would simply draw it through a straw, and leave the dregs and the inference to the fellow who found the empty barrel.

PITY: It was at the house of the bride's parents after the wedding. On a table were exposed the costly presents Two gentlemen were examining them, Said one of them suddenly: "These, you say, are the bride's presents, but what does the groom get?" "Oh," replied the other, "he gets the woman." First gentleman: "Is that all? Poor fellow!"

SALMON appears to be a costly fish, but there is no waste about it, and a small portion "goes," as the old wives say, "a great way." A salmon steak should be boiled in salted water for twenty-five minutes, putting the slice of fish in when the water is hot. While it is boiling mix a tablespoonful of butter and the same quantity of flour together, then pour boiling water over it, beat it until light, and turn it over the fish when that is on the platter ready for the table. The water must be literally boiling, or the flour will have a raw taste. Use pepper and salt, lemon juice and parsley in the dressing to suit the taste, and serve with a new cucumber sliced.

Actors on the stage will also be photographed, and ball, polo playing and other sports.

A St. Louis man invented a cotton seed linter which will probably have a marked effect upon the cotton-seed oil trade. It is composed of a number of circular saws mounted in the form of a cylinder beneath a hopper for the reception of the seed. As the cylinder revolves the falling seed is completely freed from the adhering cotton. The linters have common cross-cut saw teeth et very closely together. One of the advantages of having seed entirely free from cotton is that it will not heat, and can, therefore, be exported and compete favorably with Egyptian or Indian cotton-seed, or can be stored by the domestic crushers for indefinite periods.

If carpenters, or others, have a very hard oil-stone, with scarcely any "grip" in it, apply a small pinch of flour-emery with the oil; the effect is magical. A useless stone becomes as useful as a piece of the best Turkey; in fact, an oilstone may be made of a piece of stout sheet-zinc.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15th, 1880

GENTLEMEN—Having been a sufferer for a long time from nervous prostration and general debility, I was advised to try Hop Bitters. I have taken one bottle, and have been rapidly getting better ever since, and I think it the best medicine I ever used. I am now gaining strength and appetite, which was all gone, and I was in despair until I tried your bitters. I am now well, able to go about and do my own work. Before taking it, I was completely prostrated. MRS. MARY STUART.

A French scientist says that buckwheat cakes are equal to pure white bread as regards the phosphates or bone-making material and nitrogenous principles which they contain, and are superior to bread in fatty matters. The general yield of buckwheat when cooked is about three times the weight of flour used, showing that such flour will retain from 40 to 41 per cent. of water.

St. Petersburg authorities consider the search for the North pole expedition Dymphna absolutely hopeless. No trace of the ship or crew can be found. The Samoyde country is an enormous frozen desert forming the northern boundary of Asia, inhabited by a barbarous race that knows nothing of civilization or anything in fact beyond a desire for blubber and fires. They were originally forced back from the warmer Asiatic zones by the Mongolians and have lost all traces of their former modes of living, dragging out a cheerless pagan existence.

Instantly Relieved.

Mrs. Ann Lacour, of New Orleans, La., writes: I have a son who has been sick for two years; he has been attended by our leading physicians, but all to no purpose. The surgeon had his usual spell of coughing, and was so greatly prostrated in consequence that death seemed imminent. We had in the house a bottle of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs purchased by my husband, who noticed your advertisement yesterday. We admit, tried it according to directions and he was instantly relieved.

A Woman's Experience.

MRS. WILLIAM DOWNES OF Uxbridge, Mass., writes on March 18, 1880, as follows:

"During the past three years I have been a great sufferer from a complication of diseases which baffled the skill of the most experienced doctors as I could not obtain personal relief by their treatment and prescriptions, and I have also tried many so-called cures in the medicine line, but could get no relief. The pains, aches and weakness increased so rapidly and constantly that I was so reduced in strength as to be unable to leave the bed, and the doctor informed me that there was no hope of a recovery. In this exhausted and desperate condition a dear friend persuaded me to use Hunt's Remedy, and after taking it only three days I commenced to get better, and to my great joy and delight I have continued to improve constantly by its use, until now, after having taken the remedy only a few weeks, I am able to be about my house work, and am now doing my housework. My little back is cured, the severe pains have disappeared, and I am now in better health than for many years, and hope this piece of timely recommendation Hunt's Remedy to all who are afflicted as I was in the hope that they will find health in it. My husband also has experienced a very great benefit in his health by the use of this most valuable medicine, Hunt's Remedy.

"Our Flag is Still There."

MR. S. B. LONGFELLOW, Augusta, Me., east side river, writes an under date of April 15, 1881:

"To whom it may concern: This may certify that two years ago I was very badly afflicted with kidney and urinary difficulties, which extended through the system and laid me up for weeks, and that I could do no work. I had the best medicine in the town, and also one physician, Hoarding of Hunt's Remedy. I got a bottle, and half of it—in a word, briefly, so that I have been well ever since. The other half I gave to a neighbor who was afflicted in the same way, and it relieved him in the night. I certainly say Hunt's Remedy has been of great and much value to me."
