MR. CONKLING has become a grand father.

A RECENT writer declares that Adam was a very naughty man for telling that Eve gave him of the apple to eat.

The French insulted the King of Spain, and now there is a talk of a war breaking out between the two countries.

BOYANISTS, in their lectures, tell that in the period of 30 years the American forests will have been all destroyed.

The St. Louis Post Dispatch says, we will enter into no eulogium upon Massachusetts. There she stands—with Ben Butler on top.

The King of Spain was insulted while in Paris, on Sunday a week, and when he returned to Madrid, Spain, the people turned out in mass to greet him.

A PHILADELPHIA doctor, through a Philadelphia medical journal, states that the poison of a rattlesnake is a cure for lock jaw. The poison is put into the human body through a syringe.

CURIOS people wanted to dig up the remains of Shakespeare and compare his skull with that on the monument in the town where his grave is. They were not allowed to satisfy their curiosity.

The French, of Paris, seem disposed to insult foreigners that pass through the streets, by hooting at them. It is a bad omen, for the people that hoot, to hoot at strangers, or each other on the street.

The exhibition buildings at Pittsburgh were destroyed by fire on the morning of the 3rd inst. On the 2nd, the number of visitors to the exhibition was 27,000. The value of the buildings destroyed was $150,000. The loss of the exhibition is about $800,000.

When Governor Hoyt was asked to call the Legislature in extra session to pass apportionment bills, all Democratic leaders shouted don't do it, now the same men do their best to justify Gov. Patton and his blundering Legislature, for doing what they advised Hoyt not to do.

It was 200 years on Saturday, the 6th inst., since the first settlers from Germany landed in Pennsylvania. The settlement was made at Germantown. The Dutch and Swedes had started settlements within the limits of what is now the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, previous to the coming of the English and Germans, but the English ousted them.

On Sunday a week, a lot of ill-mannered, good for nothing people, in Paris, France, hissed and hooted at the King of Spain as he passed by them on the street. The King took the insult and now there is a prospect of a war. It is too bad that a lot of street loafers, and a hasty King should be allowed to involve two great nations in a war.

The Wisconsin State Medical Society, during its recent annual session, passed a resolution virtually declaring consumption to be an infectious disease, and urging the necessity of the proper isolation and disinfection of those suffering from it. The aforesaid association must be a little of its bearings; what would it do with a woman that had a consumptive husband?

A NUMBER of well-meaning people seem to be stumbling over what seems to them to be an inconsistency in Huntington Presbytery convicting Rev. John W. White for the preaching of doctrine that is contrary to the standards of the Presbyterian church, and after conviction passing a resolution endorsing him as a good Christian. Why stumble over a resolution of that kind? He was ruled out of the church because he did not preach according to the standards of the church. He was endorsed as a Christian, just as a good Christian Baptist or Lutheran, or other good Christian may be endorsed by Christian people whose church standards are different.

The Philadelphia Times remarks that people in several towns of this State are discovering that Philadelphia is not the only place needing reform. The latest exposure has been made in Pottsville. It appears that the High Constable, who is the steward of the lock up, feeds the prisoners on dry bread and water and charges the borough twenty cents for each meal. The average quantity of bread eaten is only a six-cent loaf a day for each prisoner. The Constable's profit on a loaf is therefore fifty-four cents. As he is paid a regular salary and receives extra pay for police duty, the tax-payers are unable to see any good excuse for the conduct of this enterprising official.

The North American says, it is stated in official circles at Washington that the steady and rapid redemption of the three per cent. bonds has caused a reduction in the currency of ten million dollars since last November. This we can readily believe, as in this city alone the reduction during the past three years has been at the rate of a million a year. The cause of this lies upon the surface. It is to be found in the fact that the banks cannot afford to substitute four for the three that are called in. The premium on the former securities is too high for their purchase to be practicable, and so the banks are obliged either to surrender a proportional part of their circulation or to be out of pocket. This is why the currency is being contracted, and that contraction must go on until Congress comes to the rescue by relieving the stress of the situation either by remitting the tax on bank circulation or by postponing the redeemability of the three-per-cent.

Big Spring Presbytery.

MEXICO, September 26, 1883. We were favored in Mexico last week with one of the most precious and soul reviving meetings of God's people that we ever witnessed at any time in the past, and we dare hardly hope to realize again the happiness we felt, and the fraternal, Christian inter-course that we enjoyed while we continue in the present state of existence.

Monday, the 17th inst., was the time appointed for the semi-annual meeting of the U. P. Presbytery of Big Spring, and also for the annual meeting of delegates from the various units of the Presbytery. The meetings of the former were held in the U. P. Church of Mexico, and of the latter in the house of Mr. Jacob Ruckebusch, which is just opposite the church. They met at 7:30 p. m. on Monday, and during Tuesday and Wednesday we had three sessions each day, during all of which we were engaged, and by their addresses and prayers added to the interest which was being experienced. At the opening of Presbytery we had a sermon from the Rev. Samuel Jamison, the subject being "The cure of the diseased by faith's prayer," to which all the large congregation that was present listened with the greatest interest. We had an address from one of our members, the Rev. James Brown, D. D., of Carlisle. His subject was the "Education of the Indian," and in his remarks he showed conclusively how that embarrassing question—"What shall we do with the Indian?" can be settled without that injustice being continued to them which is now so much practiced by agents of the U. S. Government; without the cruelty to the Indian that is now so prevalent, and without the expense of keeping up a large standing army, whose only employment seems to be the extermination of the Red Men. We had also a very interesting address from another of our ministers, the Rev. Samuel Collins, D. D. of Pittsburgh, in which he directs our attention to the remarkable progress of Christ's cause during the past few years, showing us how one place after another had been occupied by the soldiers of Christ's army, until the whole world now seems to be dotted over with Christians, numbers by soldiers of the Lord's hosts, and that soon the order for a general assault might be given and then all the enemies of God's cause would be overthrown, and the whole world filled with the knowledge of the glory of God, as the waters cover the sea. During the sessions of this precious meeting the attendance was constantly increasing, whilst at the same time a consciousness of the presence of the spirit in all His soul reviving and soul refreshing influences was felt by all. The ladies also enjoyed similar experiences in their meetings, and conscious of their own weakness and insufficiency, sensible of the obligations resting on them and believing in the efficacy of united prayer, they sent a message to their brethren across the street requesting that they would remember them in their supplications at the throne of grace, and that they would enable them to do much more for the peopling in the future than they have ever been able to accomplish in the past.

There were in all about 60 individuals, as members, in attendance during the meeting. They are gone now, but the impressions for good made by them during their stop among us can never be obliterated. We miss their presence and Christian example and inter-course, but we look forward to a time when we shall be reunited. "In that world above where parting is unknown, That bright eternity here formed for the good alone." F. McBERNEY.

A supposed United States pension agent, calling himself Jeremiah Viles, attired in uniform, has been operating in this state for some time defrauding the widows and orphans of deceased soldiers. He represented himself an officer of the United States army from Washington, and informed his victims that by placing their claims in his hands he could secure the pension which sooner than having it pass through the regular routine and red tape system. But in order to get it in this way they would have to advance him money to secure its early attention. The unsuspecting bit at the bait and gave him the amount asked for. Of course Viles or the pensions were never heard of again. Adam Smith, constable of this place, in attending to his official duties throughout the county, learned of this pension fraud and at once advised the Department at Washington. Mr. Smith kept his eyes on him, and finally located him in the vicinity of Waynesboro. Officer Legg was at once advised and that gentleman arrived in Chambersburg on Tuesday last. A warrant was placed on Officer Smith's hands and he at once proceeded to Waynesboro in search of his man.

Arriving there he found him after a search of two days and one night and took him in chains. While on the way to the lock up, where he was placed until the arrival of the train so he could be brought to jail at Chambersburg, an indignant crowd gathered around Viles and threatened to lynch him. Officer Smith had much trouble in preventing it and was compelled to remain in the lock up with him over 2 hours, the crowd still surrounding the place of confinement and threatening to break in the doors. The angry citizens were quieted and the two men walked to the train unharmed. Viles was brought to Chambersburg on the late train on Wednesday and placed in jail, awaiting the arrival of Officer Legg who is expected to-day. There are a great many cases against Viles, and the chances are he will spend a long period of confinement within the penitentiary walls. There is also a charge of forgery against him. Viles has in his possession a commission with chief of the Pension Bureau Dudley name signed to it, which was forged by Viles. He will be kept in jail here until some disposition is made of the case. His trial of course will take place in the U. S. Court.

Viles is a native of Franklin county, having been born in Antrim township. He is aged about 40 years, 5 feet 6 inches in height and weighs about 150 pounds. He has no fixed residence, but is certainly working in conjunction with some Washington parties.—Chambersburg Repository.

The Nineteenth Annual Convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association will be held at the First Presbyterian Church in the city of Scranton, Lackawanna county, commencing Tuesday, October 10th, 1893, at 10 o'clock, A. M., and continuing with 3 sessions daily, Wednesday and Thursday, October 11th and 12th.

County associations throughout the State are earnestly requested to send delegates to the Convention, and thus contribute to, and share in, the benefits derived from such assemblies of Sunday School workers. Nearly all the principal railroads have generously promised reduced rates of fare, and everything possible will be done for the comfort and entertainment of delegates while attending the session of the Convention.

The local committee, in behalf of the people of Scranton, extend their hearty congratulations to all pastors, officers and delegates, with the request that they send their names to W. Edgar, Esq., Scranton Pa., or to before Oct. 8th, in order that entertainment may be provided. Places assigned to delegates will not be reserved for them, unless they report to the committee on or before Wednesday morning, Oct. 11th. The committee will receive delegates, as they arrive, at the parlors of the people of Scranton, located at the Hamilton, No. 432 Lackawanna Avenue.

The Executive Committee earnestly recommend that Sunday, Oct. 14th, be observed as a day of conference and prayer in behalf of the Sunday School cause; that pastors throughout the State present its claims to their respective congregations in the morning, and that, in the afternoon or evening, meeting be held in which all Christians may unite in prayer for the divine blessing upon the Sunday School work in all parts of the State.

Items. A Fort Wayne church has inaugurated Hindu coffee suppers. The moon will be partly eclipsed before midnight on the 15th. There will be an annular eclipse of the sun October 30, but not for us. Fifteen hundred bushels of white potatoes were recently dug from five acres of ground on the Bucks county plantation farm.

General Tombs was asked if he thought the inspection of fertilizers was a protection to the farmer. "I'll bet ten dollars," he replied, "that I can take a sack of sand and drag a patent thrasher through it and find the best inspector they get."

During a thunder storm on Saturday night September 23, the residence of Harvey Wheeler, situated in Amherst, Mass., was struck by lightning, and Mrs. Wheeler killed. Water being scarce upon the premises, Wheeler extinguished the fire with milk. Noah Harmon, son of Randolph Harmon, of Mt. Joy, was creeping under a barb-wire fence, with a gun, when his coat caught on the barbs. In crawling back to get loose the gun was discharged, the contents striking him in the right breast and coming out under his arm, making an ugly wound.

A remarkable old man died at Ludlowville, Thompson county, New York, on the 21st inst. His name was Chester Child, and his age 98 years. When he died he had a full set of natural teeth. He boasted that he had never visited a dentist, nor had he ever lost a tooth.—His hair was thick upon his head, and in person he was straight and good looking.

This is a story of Mrs. Brown, wife of Buckham's first postmaster, genealogy. She had been married before and so had three children (John, Brown, and each had a daughter) left over from the first marriage. Then they had another daughter, Mrs. Brown used to present them at her receptions in this way: "This is Miss Brown, my daughter by my first husband, and this is Miss Brown, my daughter by my second husband."

In the elegant drawing room of a Cincinnati pork merchant's mansion a large company was assembled. All the luxury that wealth could command contributed to the gratification of the guests. Upon a blue satin divan the pork merchant's daughter, gorgeously in silks, and pearls and diamonds, was conversing with a friend. Presently her father approached and said, "Pauline, I want to say a word to you." The girl arose and accompanied her parent to the seclusion of a bay window. "Pauline," began the old man, "there's a couple of Cleveland duds in the dining-room having a hot talk about Copernicus. I was afraid they were going to ask me to settle the dispute, so I made some excuse to get out and come to you. Now tell me who was Copernicus, Pauline?" "Oh, father," exclaimed Pauline, "how could you be so ignorant! Why, any schoolboy knows who Copernicus was. He sailed from Palos, Spain, on the 31st of August, 1492, and discovered America the following October." The venerable purveyor of swine gazed ecstatically at his daughter a moment and then said, with a suggestion of sadness in his tones, "Pauline, my child, if I had your brains, I might have been a United States Senator from Ohio.—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Tax on Appetite. The North American of the 1st inst., says: The Record has become a convert to the policy of the Scott Liquor law, which has made such a rumpus in Ohio. With an estimate of ten thousand gin mills in this city, and counting the cost of public maintenance of these shops at one thousand dollars each, our contemporary calculates that it costs the people a sum equal to the aggregate of all other taxes levied for municipal purposes to keep these institutions in running order. It suggests a license of $500 for the privilege of selling whisky and other spirits, and one of half that sum for the privilege of selling malt liquors. This system, it thinks, would reduce the number of gin mills two-thirds and yield a revenue to the city of a million and a half.

The suggestion is worthy of consideration. It has been formulated in a law not only in Ohio, but in several western cities, and has been found to work well in practice. One of its best features is that it puts out of existence a host of cheap and nasty shops which exist on the hard-earned wages of the poor. It is for the defence of the hard-working slaves of appetite that all liquor laws should be framed and enforced.—One of the plainest roads to temperance is found in elevating the traffic above the mud, where it now mires itself most of all. The traffic cannot be out-layed by rigid prohibitory laws, except in obscure localities. Prohibition has done a good work in Maine, unless the facts are misrepresented. If it has ever worked well anywhere else on an equal scale, we have not heard of it.

A Railroad Engineer and Fireman Shot. KANSAS CITY, Sept. 29. News has been received here of a train robbery on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad, at or near Coolidge, Kansas, 470 miles west of here, about 2 o'clock this morning. The train was the regular East-bound passenger, which left Coolidge last night, due here to-night. Coolidge is a small cattle station and a side track on the Atchison, which is almost uninhabited. As the train pulled out from Coolidge three men appeared and ordered the engineer, Hilton, to stop. He refused and was instantly shot dead. The fireman, Fodis, was also shot through the breast and badly hurt, though not fatally. The men then assailed the express car, but Samuel Peterson, the express manager, was prepared for them and made such a vigorous fight that the robbers were driven off. Finding that the passengers in the train were aroused and themselves likely to be worsted, the robbers retreated, having failed to secure the treasure they were evidently after.
