HYPOCHONDRIA.

MATERPAMILIAS - "Who was that The Mysterious Element in the Mind that Arouses Vague Apprehen-sions----What Actually Causes It.

> The narrative below by a prominent scientist touches a subject of universal importance. Few people are free from the distressing evils which hypochondria brings. They come at all times and are fed by the very flame which they themselves start. They are a dread of coming derangement caused by present disorder and bring about more suicides than any other one thing. Their first approach should be carefully guarded. Editors Herald:

It is seldom I appear in print and I should not do so now did I not believe my self in possession of truths, the revelation of which will prove of mestimable value to many who may see these lines. Mine has been a trying experience. For many years I was conscious of a want of nerve tone. My mind seemed sluggish and I felt a certain falling off in my natural condition of intellectual acuteness, setivity and vigor. I presume this is the same way in which an innumerable number of other people feel, who like myself are physically below par, but like thousands of others I paid no attention to these annoying troubles, attributing them to overwork, and resorted to a glass of beer or a milk punch, which would for the time invigorate and relieve my weariness.

After awhile the stimulants commenced to disagree with my stomach, my wearlness increased, and I was compelled to resort to other means to find relief. It a physician is suffering be invariably calls another physician to prescribe for him, as he cannot see himself as he sees others; so I called a physician and he advised me try a little chemical food, or a bottle of hypophosphates. I took two or three bottles of the chemical food with no apparent benefit. My lassitude and indispo seemed to increase, my food distressed me. suffered from neuralgic pains in different parts of my body, my muscles becam sore, my bowels were constrpated, and my prospects for recovery were not very flattering. I stated my case to another physician, and he advised me to take five to ten drops of Magende's solution of morphine, two or three times a day, for the veakness and distress in my stomsch, and a blue pill every other night to relieve the constipation. The morphine projuced such a deadly nauses that I could not take it, and the blue pill failed to relieve my onstination. In this condition I passed nearly a year, wholly unfit tor business, while the effort to think was irksome and painful. My blood became impoverished, and I suffered from incapacity with an appalling sense of misery and general apprehension of com-ing evil. I passed sleepless nights, and was troubled with irregular action of the heart, constantly feverish condition and the post excruciating tortures in my stomach, living for days on nee water and gruel, and, indeed, the digestive functions seem-ed to be entirely destroyed.

It was natural that while in this condition I should become hypochondrical and fearful suggestions of self-destruction occasionally presented themselves. I experienced an insatiable desire for sleep, but on retiring would he awake for a long time tormented with troubled reflections. and when at last I did fall into an uneasy slumber of short duration, it was disturbe by horrid dreams. In this condition I determined to take a trip to Europe, but in spite of all the attentions of physicians and change of scene and climate, I did not improve and so returned home with no earthly hope of ever again being able to leave the house.

Among the numerous friends that called on me was one who had been afflicted somewhat similarly to myself, but who had been restored to perfect health. Upon his carnest recommendation I began the same treatment he had employed but with little hope of being benefitted. At first I experienced little, if any, relief, except that it did not distress my stemach as other remedies or even food had done. I continued its use, however, and after the third A COMMERCIAL traveler dropped off bottle could see a marked change for the he train in a small Western village, better, and now after the fifteenth bottle I am happy to state that I am again able to attend to my professional duties. I sleep well, nothing distresses me that I eat, I go from day to day without a feeling of weariness or pain, indeed I am a well man, and wholly through the influence of H. H. Warner & Co's Tippecanoe. I consider this remedy as taking the highest possible rank in the treatment of all diseases marked by debility, loss of appetite, and all other symptoms of stomach and digestive disorders. It is overwhelmingly superior to the tonics, bitters, and dyspepsia cures of the day, and is certain to be so acknowledged by the public universally. Thousands of people to-day are going to premature graves with these serious diseases, that I have above described, and to all such I would say: "Do not let your good judgment be governed by your prejudices, but give the above named remedy a fair and patient trial, and I believe you will not only be rewarded by a perfect restora-tion to health, but you will also be convinced that the medical profession does braced in medical science."

HOUSE PLANTS.—Most people imagine that house plants poison the airlof aroom by the exhalation of carbonic acid during the night. That this is a popular fallacy, and that it should be speedily consigned to the well-peopled limbo of "vulgar errors," was demonstrated not long since by Prof. Kedrie of the Michigan Argicultural College.
