Methodical and thorough observations of the wind have been taken and many useful discoveries made. The most important, perhaps, is that almost all winds are rotary in character, so that a mariner, by observing the features of full fury. Much still remains in doubt, however, regarding the causes and nateing the suddenness of their approach and the difficulties of measuring their velocity. At such times the wind-meter is generally blown away and the observer is in the cellar.

THE period of milking may be classed in three parts. For the first six to seven vecks after calving the largest quantity of milk per day is produced. After this the yield falls off pretty considerably, but then remains at about the same figure for two or three months, when a steady decline sets in until the cow is perfectly dry. By careful feeding the best parts of the milking periods may be prolonged, and this ought to be the aim of all milk producers. If green fodder and other tood, which stimulates milk secretion, can be used at the right time a considerable extra quantity of milk may be produced.

The good and stannch old stand-by, MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT, has done more to assuage pain, relieve suffering, and save the lives of men and beasts than all other liniments put together. Why! Because the Mustang penetrates through skin and flesh to the very bone, driving out all pain and soreness and morbid secretions, and restoring the afflicted part to sound and supple health.
