

A Weakness for Sailors.
The deck of a ship is a rough and tumble place. It is a place where the sailor's eyes are often sore and his head is often aching. The sailor's eyes are often sore because of the smoke from the engine and the heat of the sun. His head is often aching because of the motion of the ship and the noise of the engine. The remarkable experience of a Boer... Yesterday and the day before we copied into our columns from the Rochester, N. Y., Democrat and Chronicle, a remarkable statement, made by J. B. Henion, M. D., a gentleman who is well known in this city. In that article Dr. Henion recounted a wonderful experience which befell him and the next day we published from his own paper, the Democrat and Chronicle, an account of the "Excitement in Rochester," caused by Dr. Henion's statement. It is doubtful if any two articles were ever published which caused so much excitement among professional people and laymen.

AGRICULTURE.
THE TEMPERING OF THE CREAM.—The tempering of cream is one of the most important operations in butter making. The different parts of cream are affected differently by heat. A can of cream may be placed in a kettle of hot water and heated till the thermometer indicates sixty-two to sixty-five degrees without having heated the butter globules in the cream at all. This will not ordinarily be the case, it is true, but it is liable to be, and it is approximately so in all cases where the heat is rapid. Cream should be kept warm for several hours before churning, or that it may become warmed through. Or, if it is necessary to temper it hastily, it should be raised considerably above the churning temperature and suffered to cool back which it will do in a short time.

Dr. Vogel, an authority, says that the indication of the genuine triple plate is almost a matter of course, because the action of some of the chemicals to the development really tests the gelatine, and the obtaining of the foot-plate by subsequent process is not possible for the chemist.

High Pressure Pipes.—Pipes made of steel plates are coming into use in England for the conveyance of water under high pressure. The plates are covered with lead on both sides by immersion in molten lead, then riveted, riveted, soldered the whole length and covered with pitch. The first cost is said to be not greater than that of iron.

RAISING PEANUTS.—You can raise peanuts on almost any kind of land. Have your ground good and loose; furrow off so as to have the rows as close as you can plow good and close. Drop two seeds at a place, about eighteen inches apart; keep the weeds and draw a little dirt to them each time. The red ones are the best; their stems will shoot into the ground. The same style of cultivation will do for the white ones, but you will have to cover the blossoms of the white, but not of the red.

THEY were discussing amateur theatricals.
"We would give the play if we could only have a storm," said the stage manager.
"I think I can help you out," suggested Mr. Brown. "Mrs. Brown can take that part."

There cannot be a greater rudeness than to interrupt another in the current of his discourse.
