and cheapest article for toilet use.

Junata township has had a spell of gold fever. Gold quartz was found near Millers in digging a well. It was assayed by a Philadelphia chemist with the result of $1 of gold per ton of rock. That does not give the people of that section much hope of becoming rich very suddenly. It is also reported that a number of residents have commenced digging in the hopes of striking it rich.

At Vera Cruz, in Lehigh county, a search

The Bloomfield Advocate says: The Mcgilligan Rock rises perpendicularly to the height of about one hundred feet from the bed of Big Buffalo Creek, on the farm of George Campbell, Esq., in the lower end of Junata township. On last Saturday a young man named Reisinger, in attempting to walk close to the edge of this precipice missed his footing and fell over into the creek below, breaking both legs and an arm and was otherwise injured. The water was very deep at that place, but he was quickly rescued from the water by Henry Lening and some other companions of Reisinger.

Who They Were.

Some days ago, officer Price, of Lewistown, occasioned a good deal of talk in town by an effort to track a man and a woman who had registered at the Jacob's House as Harry E. Bell and wife. The man was wanted in Mifflin county to answer the charge of having engaged in horse-stealing.
The so-called Harry E. Bell, whose real name is S. Russell Kinzer, was overtaken in Ambersburg, Perry county, and there arrested and taken to Lewisstown jail.

Mr. Teller, of the Junata county, gives the particulars of the case as follows: S. Russell Kinzer is the man who was married recently at Snow Shoe under the assumed name of Harry E. Bell. We will give his name as Harry E. Bell, with officer Price was in search of him for another crime, as will appear below. He is thirty-six years old, and resided in this neighborhood until the spring of 1885, when he and his family moved to Newton Hamilton, where he lived until last October, when he deserted his wife and two children and left for Centre county with a girl named Minnie Cramer, just half his own age, who had been living as a domestic in the family of Mr. Jenkins.
He and this girl stopped with the family of a Mr. Teller at Milesburg, whose wife is her mother by a former husband now dead.

Mr. Teller inquired of her daughter if she had been legally married to this man Bell, Kinzer representing himself to be Harry E. Bell from the time of the elopement and upon reply that she didn't believe it was legal, (there had been no ceremony at all), the mother directed that there should be a regular marriage, and after the procurement of a license the parties went to Snow Shoe, in Centre county, and were married by Rev. J. Zeigler as Harry E. Bell and Minnie Cramer, after which they returned to Milesburg. The marriage took place on the 9th of December and the so-called bride and groom remained at Teller's until December 21, when "Bell" told Mr.
Teller that it had become necessary for him to come to Lewisstown to see Andrew Reed, who was selling a property for him, from the proceeds of which he intended to erect a house on a lot presented to him by Teller.
He left that morning and was to return the following Friday, but he walked into the house again Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock and explained that it was court week here and Mr. Reed did not have time to attend to him. He did arrive here Monday afternoon, having walked across the mountain, and looked about the court house, the principal part of the time being put in at Sax-ton's peanut stand, until about half-past nine o'clock, when he started for his father's at the McGirk oak banks in Ferguson valley. When he arrived at the corner of Market and Wayne streets it is said he met Jesse Deering, who asked him where he was living. Kinzer replied that he was stopping at Milesburg and had walked over that day. Deering inquired if he would not rather ride a horse back, and upon receiving an affirmative answer Deering said he would go up to Kay's farm in Granville township and get a horse that would bring from $150 to $175 in Clearfield county, and directed Kinzer to go around by Amanda's school house and situated himself on the pike at the road leading from Ferguson valley, where he would meet him with a horse, where he started to do so and upon arriving at the place indicated Deering was sitting on the horse waiting for him. He delivered the animal to Kinzer and directed him to take it to Centre county and sell it for not less than $100 or trade him, and then meet him (Deering) in Clearfield, Clearfield county, unless he could secure another horse which he had his eyes on, in which case he would overtake him in Brush valley, Centre county. After getting into Centre county Kinzer attempted to trade with a man named McCoolley near Spring Mills.
Failing, he travelled a couple miles further, when, thinking he was pursued abandoned the horse and started for Milesburg on foot through the woods.

Deering was arrested according to our report last week, on suspicion of having stolen this horse, but upon hearing Wednesday he was discharged, there not being sufficient evidence to hold him.

Kinzer remained at Milesburg until December 28, when he informed Mr. Reed that he had received a letter from Mr. Reed directing him to return to this place and to bring his wife to acknowledge the deeds.
He borrowed a horse and buggy from Mr.
Teller and his son to make the trip, but instead of coming here he and his alleged wife turned at Bellefonte and went to Tyrone, where the buggy was sold to Judson S. Smith and the horse and harness to a livestock man named Hagan. After this transaction he fitted out his darling companion in some style, and they two started on a tour of visitation, first arriving at Millifton, where they registered at the Jacobs House as Harry E. Bell and wife of Rochester, N. Y. They remained here all night and the next day visited a sister of Minnie's at Thompsonstown. From there they went to Harrisburg, and back to Port Royal to see Minnie's father, and on January 1 they were at Millifflintown again.

The next place visited was Kinzer's father's gap, where an aunt of Kinzer's resides, but he appeared there nearly as a friend of himself, still retaining the name of Bell, which he could do very readily, as his aunt had never seen him before. They next turned up at Perca, Junata county, then at Cross Keys, Waterloo and Concord, Franklin county. From there they crossed the mountains to Anderson valley to visit an uncle of the woman, where officer Price of this place, who had been on a quiet hunt after them for several days because of a clue obtained on the day of Deering's hearing, arrested them, the man (or having been concerned in the theft of Wood's horse). The arrest was made about 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon and Kinzer and the girl are now in jail here. About five o'clock Monday evening Kinzer made a full confession, and his wife pleaded guilty to his case, and upon which will probably be to-day.

Notes from Turbett Township.

Our young friend Wm. Ritzman has a new sleigh.

Rev. S. S. Wallen preached in the Presbyterian church, at Port Royal, last Sunday.

There were quite a number of loaded teams from the upper end of the county in Port Royal last week.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered in the Presbyterian church of Port Royal, on Sunday.

Mr. John Weaver, of Kansas, was visiting at the residence of Mr. Wm. Stuart, of Turbett township, last week.

It is rumored that Port Royal will have a steam four-hill, steam buggy works, and a photograph gallery, in the near future.

Mr. John Underwood, who was visiting friends at Williamsport, for the past two weeks, returned to his home in Port Royal last Tuesday.

Davenport Calhoun, who has been in Arkansas for some time, building telegraph lines, returned to the home of his father, Wilson Calhoun, last Friday.

Mr. J. Stephen McCulloch, of Zoney township, and Miss Emma Koons, of Turbett township, took their departure for Balli-more, on last Wednesday morning.

The snow that fell last week in consequence of the high wind which prevailed for several days, caused quite a number of roads to be impassible with drifting.

Mrs. Hannah Mauls, of Chester county, mother of Mrs. D. E. Robinson has been dangerously ill at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. D. E. Robinson, of Turbett twp.
The thermometer stood at 12 d. below zero on last Tuesday morning, 18 degrees below on Wednesday morning, and 14 degrees below on both Thursday and Friday mornings.

Judging from the monthly reports of different schools in the county, which are published in the county papers, some teachers, as yet, have not learned how to make out their reports correctly.

Mr. Joseph Keister, who has been suffering with sciatic rheumatism, for the past six months went to the hospital at Harrisburg, about four weeks ago to be treated for this disease. We learn that by the treatment of skilled physicians he is improving.

As the season for parties is here, and there having been a number of social gatherings of different kinds, the ladies and gentlemen of Port Royal and vicinity assembled at the residence of Mrs. Rhoda Balsbach, on Millford street, in Port Royal, as the guests of the Misses Rhoda, Martha and Annie Balsbach, for the purpose of spending the evening in the best way possible. Being among the number present, we take the opportunity, as do all others present, in saying, that we were treated in the most courteous manner by the above named ladies. All joyously partook of the refreshments which were served, which were of a great variety, and very good. After having passed three or four hours in social entertainments, the party departed for their respective homes in due time. The following is a list of the names of those present: Miss Grace Cuyler, Misses Grace and Lizzie Koons, Misses Nannie and Maud McCulloch, Misses Mary and Bertie Wharton, Miss Annie Lingo, Miss Annie McLaughlin, Miss
Alva Cook, Miss Jose Wilson, Miss Junie
Kepler, Miss Elsie Cooper, Miss Belle Grun-
ger, Miss Ella Patton, Miss Martha Mc-Manigal, Miss Jennetta Kepler, and Mrs.
George Kepler. The gentlemen were, M.
E. George Kepler, Joseph and George
Graham, Charles Weaver, Jefferson Hutchinson, George McCurdy, George Wischnupf, Edgar Kepler, Scott McLaughlin, Sigel Kepler,
George Kepler, Jr., J. A. McCulloch,
Jerome and James Thompson, Stuart Robinson, Eugene McAfee, Arthur Shuman, Robert Moore, and Frank Snyder.

Can be Prosecuted.
One of our exchanges puts the screws to some of its subscribers in the following truthful remarks: "It is not generally known that a man who refuses to pay for his newspaper can be prosecuted like an ordinary criminal or thief. A New York paper has begun suit against several delinquent subscribers under the United States postal laws which say, 'the taking of a newspaper and refusal to pay for it, renders the person liable to criminal prosecution as a thief, and a person guilty of the same can be punished as if he had stolen goods to the amount of the subscriptions. Postmasters are also liable for the price of subscription for allowing papers to accumulate in their offices when subscribers have removed away, or refuse to take them from the office.'"

American says, the liveliest time was had in the Fifteenth. The Convention assembled at Fairmount avenue and West streets.
The greatest confusion being when two delegates, Dr. William L. Stiles and Charles T. Haines, tried to be temporary chairman at one and the same time. Stiles got the chair and Haines got the gavel. One stamped and the other pounded, and their opposition friends among the delegates yelled for him. Finally Haines gave up, and the Convention was organized. The North American account of the fuss in the Fifteenth Ward reminds the writer of a fuss that took place in a Junata Republican County Convention, years ago, in the old Court House. Some unimportant question divided the convention into two almost equal parts, and each faction wanted to elect the President of the Convention.

One faction elected C. B. Horning president, and the other faction elected Dr. Storer president, and both factions urged their respective candidates to hurry and seize the chair. Horning and Storer both rushed for the place from different sides of the room and met on the judges stand and each laid hold of an arm of the chair and pulled.
Their friends cheered and clapped their hands, neither could pull the chair from the other. Then they both attempted to sit down in it. Storer was much the heavier man, and as they bumped up against each other, Storer's superior weight prevailed and he dropped into the seat, while Horning went reeling off by the side of the chair.

Notes from Turbett Township.

new sleigh.

Rev. S. S. Wallen preached in the Pres-
day.

from the upper end of the county in Port Royal last week.

Port Royal, on Sunday.

Mr. John Weaver, of Kansas, was visiting at the residence of Mr. Wm. Stuart, of Turbett township, last week.

a steam four-hill, steam buggy works, and
a photograph gallery, in the near future.

Mr. John Underwood, who was visiting
last Tuesday.

lines, returned to the home of his father,
Wilson Calhoun, last Friday.

Mr. J. Stephen McCulloch, of Zoney
township, took their departure for Balli-
more, on last Wednesday morning.

roads to be impassible with drifting.

Mrs. Hannah Mauls, of Chester county,
dangerously ill at the residence of her son-in-
law, Mr. D. E. Robinson, of Turbett twp.
The thermometer stood at 12 d. below
zero on last Tuesday morning, 18 degrees below on Wednesday morning, and 14 degrees below on both Thursday and Friday mornings.

make out their reports correctly.

Mr. Joseph Keister, who has been suffer-
six months went to the hospital at Harrisburg, about four weeks ago to be treated
proving.

As the season for parties is here, and
there having been a number of social gather-
tlemen of Port Royal and vicinity assembled at the residence of Mrs. Rhoda Balsbach, on Millford street, in Port Royal,
and Annie Balsbach, for the purpose of
spending the evening in the best way possible. Being among the number present,
named ladies. All joyously partook of the
ing is a list of the names of those present:
Miss Grace Cuyler, Misses Grace and Lizzie
Koons, Misses Nannie and Maud McCulloch,
Alva Cook, Miss Jose Wilson, Miss Junie
Kepler, Miss Elsie Cooper, Miss Belle Grun-
ger, Miss Ella Patton, Miss Martha Mc-
Manigal, Miss Jennetta Kepler, and Mrs.
George Kepler. The gentlemen were, M.
E. George Kepler, Joseph and George
Graham, Charles Weaver, Jefferson Hutch-
inson, George McCurdy, George Wischnupf,
Edgar Kepler, Scott McLaughlin, Sigel Kepler,
George Kepler, Jr., J. A. McCulloch,
Jerome and James Thompson, Stuart Robinson, Eugene McAfee, Arthur Shuman,
Robert Moore, and Frank Snyder.

Interesting to Gardeners.
A new Radish has just been introduced to American gardeners, which, if possessed of the points claimed for it, and we have no reason to doubt it, every gardener in the United States will want to try it. The introducers exercised their usual care before recommending it, distributing small quantities of seed among the leading gardeners of Rochester in the spring of 1884, that they might be assured of its retaining the good qualities exhibited in this first experiment.
The Floral Guide says of this Radish, which is named "Vick's Early Scarlet Globe Radish," that the unanimous testimony of those who tried it is that it is the earliest and best variety for forcing, and in color, also the handsomest; mild in flavor, crisp and juicy, able to stand a great amount of heat without becoming pithy, and will prove an excellent Radish for garden culture. If our readers want to learn more of this Radish; they would advise them to send ten cents to James Vick, Seedman, Rochester, N. Y., for a copy of the valuable Floral Guide. The amount may be deducted from the first order. It is a wonderful
