WHAT IS IT!

A Penitence that Walks in Darkness—A Destruction that Wastes a Nocturnal.

We have published in our column from time to time different articles in regard to Bright's Disease and its cures.

What is this terrible disease? We have taken the trouble to make an investigation from the best sources and we give the result to our readers.

The most remarkable thing of all our investigations is the fact that the patient with Bright's disease has no exclusive symptoms, but has the symptoms of every common disease.

First he may possibly feel a dull pain in his back, or upon one side, which does not disappear from his usual business routine.

It appears that Gen. Logan realized his condition, and "was well aware that his disease was of the kidneys, and expressed himself in indignant terms at the folly of the doctors treating him for rheumatism when it was the kidneys that caused his attacks."

There is no advantage in dumping the manure in heaps near the fields. The rains reach the manure and enrich the spots upon which the heaps stand more than other portions of the field.

MILK cannot be made from nothing. If the material for its manufacture is not found in the food it will be taken from the accumulated flesh of the body, and if no surplus flesh has been accumulated the secretion of milk will dry up.

How to induce cattle to eat. Cornstalks, or any other dry place, and a handful of wheat or corn thrown in and they will induce the hens to work and scratch vigorously.

The swill barrel is often allowed to become filthy, not only from decomposition and chemical change of elements but from always allowing a portion of the old swill to remain.

An excellent mixture of hay for all classes of stock is one-third clover hay with timothy and red-top, which is much better than either one alone.

FARM NOTES.

SOME farmers sow their grass seed on the snow, trusting to the even tendency of water and the use of the harrow for covering it.

It is important that the seeds be covered, and if the field be harrowed there will be less loss of seed, and greater certainty of the crop.

A LETTER.

From the Mother of Miss Jessie Bonesteel. Rochester, N. Y., April 22, 1886.

Dear Mother—It is with pleasure I add my testimonial to the many well-known cures which your most efficient remedy has effected.

For more than two years I was a great sufferer with rheumatism, being scarcely free from pain during the time.

I am, very truly yours, MRS. H. S. BONESTEEL.

A WOMAN who keeps a boarding house called at police headquarters to complain that a gentleman boarder had skipped her house, leaving a bill unpaid.

"He owes me about $48 and I want him caught," she added.

"What kind of a person was he?" asked the Sergeant.

"Well, the day before he went away he offered to marry me to settle the bill. You can judge what cheek he has."

"And you refused?" "Yes—no—no, I didn't!" she exclaimed, as she blushed clear back of her ears.

"You see, it was all settled that we should be married, and that's one reason why I'll pursue him to the ends of the earth. A man who'll jump a board bill and a marriage engagement, is an outlaw, who should be locked up."

"THE NEW SCIENCE.—Urbie Jack?—Hello, my dear, what's the matter? You and Edwin not quarreling, I hope?"

"No, Uncle Jack; but we've been to Signor Gammonio, the palmit, to have our hands examined, and he says we are not suited to each other and ought to break it off at once."

"TWO INTERESTING TIME PIECES.—A lady who had been abroad was describing some of the sights of the trip to her friends.

"But what pleased me as much as anything," she continued, "was the wonderful clock at Strasburg."

"Oh, how I should like to see it," quoth a pretty young woman in pink. "I am so interested in such things. And did you see the celebrated watch on the Rhine, too?"

GILHOOLY—"I wouldn't be an astronomer for an article in the world." Gus De Smith—"Why not?"

"On account of the tremendous responsibility."

"This is all right. Hood's Sarsaparilla." "Can't you see, Doctor, that I'm not a doctor?"

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine. In many respects it is different from any and all other medicines ever offered to the public that is with peculiar force and property that it is so well adapted to cure."

"What responsibility has an astronomer got?" "You see, he has to be very careful in his calculations. If he were to make a mistake, he might cause a comet to knock the earth out of its first round."

"SHE SET HER FACE AGAINST IT.—"My daughter," said a fond mother, "never permit a gentleman to kiss you."

"What must I do, mother, when he has me in a tight embrace and I am unable to offer any resistance?" "See your face against it, by all means," replied her mother.

"That's just what I do, mother." "Come in, my poor man," said a benevolent lady to a ragged tramp, and I will get you something to eat."

"Thanky, mam; don't care if I do." "I suppose," continued the lady, setting a square meal before him, "your life has been full of trials?"

"Back came the query, or result of a question, and the tramp, who had been a miserably poor fellow, now stood before her as a man of straw."

"Sweet are the uses of adversity, the printer's copy said, but he set it up, sweet are the uses of adversity. Sweet, indeed, to those who are in sickness and suffering, we see the advertisement of some sovereign remedy, which upon trial has brought them relief."

"When one has no good reason for doing a thing, he has no good reason for letting it alone."

"Nervous Debility, in either sex, however induced, especially, thorough and permanent cures. Address, with particulars in stamps for reply and book of patients, to the Proprietors, Medical Association, 605 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y."

"SHE'S IN THE MOOD." "Sad to say, many a good thing attains to nothing more than a fair beginning. On the other hand it is a matter for congratulation that the growth of some things may also be promptly frustrated."

Quaker Testimony.

Mrs. A. M. Douglas, Philadelphia, has done a great deal to make known to ladies the great value of Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as a cure for their troubles and distresses.

"I was taken with a very severe cold last Spring, and after trying every cure we had in the store, and could get no help."

"I bought a bottle and before I had taken all of it there was a change for the better. Then I got my employer to order a quantity of the medicine and keep it in stock, and I was able to get more bottles, and my cough was cured, and my lungs were better."
