'NEATH THE CRESCENT.

cial Intercourse and Behavior.

must be consecrated to prayers. These

VOL. XLI.

MIFFLINTOWN, JUNIATA COUNTY, PENNA., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 1, 1887.

"Give Us This Day---"

Life brought her nothing men call good -None of its brightest or its best-But sorrow broke her solitude, And anguish sought her patient breast, yes, through it all, her faith was strong, And strongest when most dark her lot; She knew that peace was hers ere long, Where sorrow dies, and tears are not, so with clasped hands and bended head,

Her lips could say, Our dally bread."

She climbed the weary hill of life, With feet unaided and unshed (Save by God's grace), and constant strife Attended every step she trod. Yet, through the gloom these shadow

A light about her feet was cast, And litting up her voice she laid Her load, where leads must come at last. Hence, those poor lips so scantly fed In faith could say, Give us this day Our daily bread."

AN AMICABLE ARRANGEMENT.

Mr. Gimblet, the celebrated ex-dehis Stock Exchange business through an outside broker. With all his astuteness, he shared the idiosyncrasy of ible. He had not done badly by the firm, upon the whole, when one morning he learned to his great disgust that go their way, and I will go mine." the junior partner had disappeared after committing extensive defalca-

Mr. Gimblet, fortunately, had recently realized nearly all his securities and duly received payment. There was not very much, and if the failure curred in the ordinary way, he would have borne his loss with equanimity. But, according to the reports published in the newspa, ers, it appeared that the misfortune had been entirely brought about by the flagrant dishonesty of Mr. Slowbody, who had taken advantage of his senior's temporary absence to abscond with an enormous sum of money, and had apparently contrived to get clear away with his booty. The greatest sympathy was expressed for Mr. Vant, who had hastened home on hearing the startling news, only to find himself utterly rained. It made Mr. Gimblet very angry indeed to think that he had been robbed, and he determined that Mr. Slowbody should not escape scott-free for want of any assist-

Accordingly Mr. Gimblet attended the preliminary meeting of the cre litors of the firm, dressed in his best, with the inevitable flower in his buttonhole. Nobody paid the slightest attention to to him, for he modestly kept in the proceedings. He did not trouble his head by attempting to follow the figures and the dry business details which bore upon the important question of the dividend the estate would yield, but certain parts of Mr. Vant's pathetic and eloquent statement interested him so much, that when the meeting adjourned, he politely accosted that gentleman and requested a few minutes conversation. Mr. Vant seemed inclined to resent Mr. Gimblet's demand as an impertinence. He was a florid, elderly man. with a loud voice, and rather pompous manners. He probably considered that after the ample statement he had made, the questions he had satisfactorily answered, and the unanimous vote of sympathy by which his creditors had testified their appreciation of his straightforward conduct, he might be spared the importunities of individual

"I am afraid that just at this moment I have no time to give you, sir," he replied, glancing rather superciliously at Mr. Glimblet. "Very well. Only I thought I might possibly be of some service to you,' said Mr. Gimblet, quitetly. "In what way?" inquired Mr. Vant. "My name is Gimblet," said the ex-detective, producing one of his business cards. "Oh! ah! To be sure," said Mr. Vant, with sudden cordiality.

believe you generally transacted your business through my late partner. That is why I did not recognize you. Come in here."

Mr. Gimblet followed Mr. Vant into a small private room, with a gratified smile upon his shrewd lips. Vanity was the ex-detective's weak point, and he could not help feeling flattered at Mr. Vant's change of manner. "I believe you are one of the smaller creditors, Mr. Gimblet, fortunately for pen on his blotting-pad.

yourself," remarked Mr. Vant, when they were alone. "Yes," said Mr. Gimblet, taking mental note of the fact that for the first time during the day Mr. Vant when he left Biarritz, and what day he showed signs of nervousness, "How-ever, I did not wish to trouble you ner's disappearance. You may be able to get it from one of the servants." After this Mr. Gimblet dismissed the "Oh, don't consider me for a mo ment," said Mr. Vant, with a wave of his white hand. "I place myself enhaving more important business on Do you doubt, if I had done as you tirely and unreservedly at the disposi- hand. He learned from the newspapers suggest, I should not have taken every tion of my creditors. Everything I that no clue had been obtained as to possible precaution? As regards your possess in the world-my house, my the whereabouts of the defaulting plate, and my carriages, and even my partner, and it seemed pretty certain wife's jewelry-will go toward in that he had made good his escape. At creasing the dividend and repairing length his subordinate reminded him his companion paused. this terrible disaster as far as lies in of the mission he had intrusted to him. "I deny it, but st "Well, what have you ascertained?" "So I understand," said Mr. Gimb-let, quite unmoved "I wanted to ask gentleman's valet, sir, who accompanied the family to Biarritz."

about Mr. Slowbody." "A warrant has been issued for his apprehension," said Mr. Vant, come-what impatiently. "Yes, sir, I know, But not until "What do you man? I gave information to the police within an hour of my return home," said Mr. Vant, reddening slightly. "I understand the facts are these," said Mr. Gimblet," You and your family were staying at Biarritz." from Biarritz some days later." "We have been there two months," interposed Mr. Vant. "Exactly. You had no suspicion of your partner's proceedings until-" "Until I received his letter written first train, and after spending half an hour here, I called in the police. You see I did not lose a moment."

EIG.

of

"No; but the letter did not reach you till several days-more than a week, in fac'-after date," remarke Mr. Gimblet.

and she turned to leave the stand her eyes met mine, and I knew in that instant that she had sworn falsely. Her brother knew it, too. As the jury retained aris, and that caused delay."

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I suppose he saw the man looking tatives of any nation.

"I s left Biarritz with my family the day before the letter arrived there. Con-se uently it had to be forwarded on to thing," said Mr. Gimblet, thought-Paris, and that caused delay."

to reach America, if that was his des- didn't notice anything except that the! tination, between the date of his letter letter had a Spanish stamp. and the time of your giving information to the police," observed Mr.

questions have reference to a desire on abrupt movement of his master. your part to assist in apprehending my late partner," said Mr. Vant, drawing himself up.

"Most certainly. Considering that with an innocent air.

"My dear sir, I-I am a Christian, a professing Christian certainly, and I hope a sincere one. At the same time, I cannot help feeling vindictive toward my late partner. As you say, he has robbed and ruined me. When I think of the misery and suffering he has wrought-"

"What do the police say, sir?" said Mr. Gimblet, interrupted Mr. Vant's remarks with scant courtesy.

"Well, they have no clue at present but they are hopeful," answered Mr. Vant. "I am sure they would be tective, was foolish enough to transact grateful for any suggestion you could doesn't concern me. The police can leading the police and his creditors for the cottage.

cordial, "to interest yourself about the | fully occupied for half an hour, during | matter.

"Don't mention it, sir," said Mr. Gimblet, taking up his hat; "you see expression. At length he rouse I him hard word ye put on the poor boy that's and mercy and in daily prayer and remained a balance due to him, but it I've been robbed—that is the long and self from his reverie and started of promised me, an' before his honor, too. of Messrs, Vant & Slowbody had oc- the having been swindled that riles Mr. Vant. me. I should like to be even with Mr. Slowbody."

"You are not singular in that desire, Mr. Gimblet," said Mr. Vant, extend- conversation the other day. ing his hand. "Anything you have to suggest shall receive the most careful attention."

Mr, Gimblet wended his way homeward in a very thoughtful frame of mind after this interview. The fact was that he felt completely mystified by Mr. Vant's behavior. While that gentleman was making his statement to his creditors, the ex-detective had been struck by a sudden suspicion that he was acting a part. The idea came to him with the force and suddenness which he had learned from experience to associate with a happy inspiration. The great secret of Mr. Gimblet's success in his peculiar line of business was a singular knack of forming a correct conclusion without the process of reasoning. He was by no means wanting in logical perception, but he was fresort of intuition which put him on the defaulting partner.

that Mr. Vant had been implicated t In pointed to the innocence of the senior partner, and no shadow of suspicion ap-

one of his assistants:

don't you?'.

Yes, sir."

peared to rest upon him. But when Mr.

"is that the gentleman who has bee

"Yes. The matter doesn't press servants have all received notice.

Gimblet with sudden interest.

swindled by his partner?"

He had no difficulty in this, for Mr. Vant's demeanor had not been calculated to inspire confidence. In fact, Mr. Gimblet had a very strong impresstory?" sion that, in spite of direct evidence to the contrary, the gentleman was no more entitled to sympathy than his

When he came to consider the details, however, Mr. Gimblet was inelined to mistrust his opinion. It was quite clear that Mr. Slowbody had decamped, as alleged, and had involved his partner in ruin. The report of the accountants, a firm of high standing, proved indisputably not only that Mr. Slowbody had robbed his clients, but also that he had pledged property belonging to Mr. Vant, besides appropriating the whole of their joint capital. The statement of affairs disclosed the most shameful frauds on the part of Mr. Slowbody, in none of which was there the slightest evidence to show fact, the surrounding circumstances all Gimblet was seized with an idea, he did easily suffer himself to be disconcerted by adverse facts. Consequently, when he reached his dingy office, he said to "Grainger, you live at Clapham,

"I want you to make a few inquiries about a Mr. Vant," said Mr. Gimblet, thoughtfully drawing crosses with his meaningly. "Look here, Mr. Gimblet," said Mr.

> plied Mr. Gimblet, evasively. having come from Spain-" "Well?" inquired Mr. Gimblet, as price!'

The English as Skaters.

Every one in Clapham sympathizes very much with Mr. Vant. The house and furniture are to be sold, and the "Of course," said Mr. Gimblet, im-"Of course," said Mr. Gimblet, impatiently.

patiently.

"The family stayed at Biarritz nearly two months, at the Hotel d'Angleterre. They left on the 20th of January and They left of January and They left on the 20th of January and went to Paris. The letter followed him there, forwarded with other letters or two of ice means the extension of low means the lawyer enterior means the low means the "The valet was in the room when the letter arrived. Of course, the valet puddle. And what do they do when from Parian marble, Eily Delaney, did not know what had happened at the they get there? sliders are numerous; with unfaltering voice and hand, called "Until I received his letter written from Queenstown, informing me of his flight," interrupted Mr. Vant quickly. "I immediately started home by the first train, and after spending helf an office of the floor."

did not know what had happened as sometime, but he guessed there was sometime, but he guessed there was sometime, but he guessed there was sometime, but he guessed him for picking up the envelope first train, and after spending helf an office of this blackthorn tree on Shrove Tuesday "Oh! How was that?" inquired Mr.

WOOED, BUT NOT WEDDED.

"Eh?" exclaimed Mr. Gimblet, quickly. "That is what the man said, sir," "That may be. I presume these said the clerk, a little startled by an "Very well. What e'se?" inquired Mr. Gimblet.

he has robbed and ruined you, no one paid but little attention to the remain- Limerick, but, after my duty was in his senses would imagine you desired ling details which his assistant related. discharged, I still lingered in the to assist his escape," said Mr. Gimblet The latter were quite unimportant, vicinity, and when the man had finished, Mr. anything further. But, the incident of had been comparatively well off until afforded him food for reflection. The reduced them to the same abject The fact of its having a Spanish stamp fellow; fond of fun and frolic, like most showed conclusively that it had not of his countrymen, and carrying their been posted in Ireland. Of course, it proverbial honesty almost to an excess, was just possible that the valet may Ailen, or Eily Delaney was one of have been mistaken at a hasty glance; the most beautiful girls I ever beheld;

the purpose of screening his partner. "You are exceeding kind," returned Mr. Vant, evidently striving to appear this discovery kept Mr. Gimblet's mind heart-break he'll bring ye, Eily, yit " which he sat at his desk whistling with tears and her lips trembled. softly to himself, with a very knowing

"I've called sir," he said, quietly,

"Ah! Very glad to see you, Mr. agin my Gimb et," said Mr. Vant, who had to be. of his creditors, to continue his business you have none? Well, I think I've found out something, sir," said Mr. Gimblet, with edifying humility. "Indeed! What is it?" Inquired Mr. Vant, condescendingly. "You said the letter announcing the flight of your partner came from Queenstown?" "So it did. The police have it," "It professed to come from Queens-said Mr. Gimblet, in a matter-of-fact forninst the priest like a good Christian, Vant fell back in his chair though he had been shot, and turned mayhap 'fore mornin'."

friend. I had no other motive."

"You may tell that to the marines, said Mr. Gimblet, with a wink.

"What about?" murmured Mr.

and induce his friends to come torward. Besides, of course, he was to have part of the swag on the quiet." "No. I'll swear, not a farthing," cried Mr. Vant, vehemently. It'sit's a lie, all of it," he added, evidently beside himself. "There is a precious lot of money gone, Mr. Vant," said Mr. Gimblet. Vant, making a desperate effort to re cover his composure, and dropping his voice to a tremulous whisper, "suppose everything had happened precisely as with her, he's all right. What time all; any time will do. Just find out received in Paris the news of his part you say, what could you prove?" "I should leave that to others," re wonderful discovery about the letter

"I deny it, but still -name your principle of anything for a change, great numbers resort to every frozen resolution that it looked as if carved lery, while anything cutside of this blackthorn tree on Shrove Tuesday raises the skater to the position of an evening, that he had gone with her to "The valet stopped to pick up the envelope which had fallen. Mr. Vant pounced upon him directly and snatched it away from him and destroyed it in a passion."

Takes the skater to the position of an expert, Yet skating in England has, in point of proficiency, made rapid before the kitchen fire until 12 o'clock that night, As her evidence concluded and she turned to leave the stand her home, where he remained talking before the kitchen fire until 12 o'clock that night, As her evidence concluded and she turned to leave the stand her to injure their health, but I wish them to come as near it as possible."

HE (of Boston)—"In this world, Miss Penn, we cannot have all things to please us. Even the rose, you know.

Sweetheart Perjures Herself and Seeks Repentance in a Convent.

In the Fall of 1848 I was sent out as super-cargo of a vessel laden with Mr. Gimblet.

It was evident, however, that his of the starving people of freiand. The mind was preoccupied, and that he ship was freighted for the city of

In my travels through the country Gimblet dismissed him without asking became acquainted with a family who letter-or rather the envelope- the total failure of successive crops had letter professed to have been written poverty as their neighbors. There from Queenstown, and to have come were an older brother and sister and from there. Mr. Gimblet had seen a several smaller children. They were copy of it, the original being in the orphans, but Timothy Delaney had hands of the police. Obviously the envelope containing it ought to have could, and had kept the family tobeen franked by an English stamp, gether. He was a genial, open-hearted but, on the other hand, why should and it was not long before I discovered "No they wouldn't, because I might tell them that they are on the wrong and why had he destroyed so important best match in the parish—a young ness, he shared the idiosyncrasy of many clever people, of being somewhat careless about his private affairs, and the glowing advertisements of Messrs. I looking his companion straight in the Mr. Gimblet was inclined to believe the glowing advertisements of Messrs. I have a somewhat confusion. It never interfere in what Mr. Vant's start and look of and this suggested the inference that approved one evening when I called at approved one evening when I called at confusion, "I never interfere in what Mr. Vant had deliberately been mis- apprised one evening when I called at

"He's wake as runnin' wather," said "Oh, vo, vo, Tim, asthore, it's the short of it. I've not lost much, it's into the city, where he paid a visit to An' sure, it's for nothin' at all but the bad name he's got from the agint." "The agint's nothin' to do wid it, upon being ushered into that gentle- Elly. Sure, now, his honor's honor man's office, "with reference to our knows it's not the word uv a Sas senach land agint I'd be afther takin' agin my own sister's husband that's But ye know yerself, Eily, been permitted, owing to the sympathy machine, that he's turned his back on the priest and his duty, an' he's got in under favorable auspices. "There is wid thim that'll lade him to the rope's no news, I'm sorry to say, I suppose ind, an' our honest name that nivir had the laste taste o' dirt thrown on it ull be dhragged through the mud by him." "That it'll niver, niver bel It's little ye know Michael O'Connor, when ye spake that word."

"An' how well do yez know him? Do yez know where he was yestreen? Or where he'll be at Shrovetide?"

Eily was silent. "Thin it's mesilf will tell yez, hily, alanna, though it hurts me to the midtown, but I can prove that it come die o' my heart to give ye the hard from Spain, and that you knew it," word. 'Stead o' bein' an his knees it's out wid the boys he'll be that night, he'd be goin' to his duty."

"Thin hould him to that promise, Eily, asthore, and maybe yez may save great fondness for, and are said to be lous food. It is considered a great "Do you mind my telling you a little him yit: but I'll tell ye agin it's into capable of, imitating the human voice, bad han's he's got, an' he's wake as if one were only to take sufficient pains of bread, as it is to lay a loaf which has wather.'

"About two friends of mine—call 'em Smith and Jones," began Mr. Gimblet, quite cheerfully. "Smith and Jones were in business together, and Jones were in business together, and Jones were in business together, and Jones were in business together.

ferred to do so under circumstances tell, yer honor. May I niver slape in the rolling of air in his intestines. colleen. Sure, it's loike a stock or a stone she's sittin' iver since widout a word to fling at a dog."

"But," said I, "O'Connor was to meet Eily last evening and go with most effective methods of administerher to chapel. Did he do so? and how ong were they together?"

"Sorra one o' me knows, I kem home airly from chapel meself, an' went straight to bed. Pehone! It's black, black me heart is an' scalded wid the hot tears for me poor Eily!"

was the murder discovered?" "About tin, as I'm towld, yer henor. The agint's wife wint to his room an' there she found him stritched

Could Eily prove O'Connor's inno-actions on that night.

The day of the trial came and the actions on that night.

The day of the trial came and the court-room and yard around it were crowded to suffocation. Two of the courter of th men were convicted without any diffi- favorite riding-horse," at his sister. But on her beautiful OMENS OF GOOD AND EVIL. face there fell a shadow more solemn than despair; a life-long remorse, a life-long renunciation spoke in her an-

Next day I left Limerick for the north of Ireland and it was some months before I again stood on the busy quay of the famous old city. An emigrant ship was to sail that day and crowds were pushing and shoving their way on board. Among them I caught sight of familiar faces and was presently shaking hands with Tim Delaney and his family. There they all were, including Mick O'Connor. A little apart from the others stood Elly, her hands hung listlessly by her side, and her sad eyes gazed vacantly over the rolling waves. There was something mexpressibly forlorn and desolate in more happiness in the new world than you leave behind you in the old." She turned a heartbroken look on spoke: "But she's not goin' wid us, the erathur? Heard ye iver the loike o' that, yer honor? Sure, it does be breakin' me heart to lave her, but I can't kape the childher here to starve.' "And you, too, O'Connor," said I, n wondering reproach, "do you, too, abandon her? "She would have it so," oking down sheepishly. "Yes," said Eily, in a clear, resolute tone, "I will have it so. Let thim go an' find happier homes an' fairer fortunes beyant the say. Such are not for me. I don't deserve thim. To-morrow I join the Sisterhood of St. Bridget Enly's beautiful dark blue eyes filled and spind the balance o' my sad life in plnance for my sin."

So she did, and in works of charity penance strove to wash out the guilt of that false oath by which she had pledged her soul to save her lover's

The Voices of Eirds,

That starlings and ravens can talk i well-known fact.

The mocking-bird is a perfect plagiarist in the feathered world; he imitates almost all songsters, even the nightingale. The kinglisher can reproduce most accurately the crackling of hens, the barking of dogs, the quacking of ducks and the bleating of sheep. Birds as well as mankind are apt to one another. Especially is thus the case with nightingales. In a hedge

a rich dinner. All of these birds show | married couple should consist of granuin training them. And, more than this, been cut with the cut side upon the then all the arrangements between the On the evening of Shrove Tuesday, they can repeat entire words like the

and Jones were in business together, but things went from bad to worse, the but things went from bad to worse, and things went from bad to worse, the but things went from bad to worse, and things went from bad to worse, the but the from bad to worse, the but things went from bad to worse, the but the from bad to worse, the but the from bad to worse, the but the from bad to worse, the from bad to worse, the but the from bad to worse, the from bad to worse, the but the from bad to wor

Effective Rebukes

A piece of quiet irony, which suggests more than it says, is one of the ing reproof. But it must be delicately put, for the least bungling will make it a failure. One day, while Gen. Robert E. Lee certain work he (Lee) had ordered done was fluished. The officer replied, after a little hesitation, that it was.

"Then let us ride to the spot and inspect it," said Lee.
On arriving there, he found that little progress had been made in the work, and the confused officer tried to excuse himself by saying: "I ordered life. If a girl baby is given its mother's It to be done at once, and I was told name it will not live. The same is complimenting the officer's horse.

men were convicted without any dimskaters. Some good performers there are; yet men who skate—taking the term to mean something more than three days. Michael O'Connor was tried on a separate indictment as not there to mean something more than three days. Michael O'Connor was
tried on a separate indictment as not that the day and I would urge you having been actively engaged in the three days, and I would urge you
having been actively engaged in the
three days, and I would urge you
having been actively engaged in the three days. Michael O'Connor was
tried on a separate indictment as not
having been actively engaged in the three days. Michael O'Connor was
tried on a separate indictment as not
having been actively engaged in the three days. Michael O'Connor was
tried on a separate indictment as not
having been actively engaged in the three days. Michael O'Connor was
tried on a separate indictment as not
having been actively engaged in the three days. Michael O'Connor was
tried on a separate indictment as not
having been actively engaged in the three days. Michael O'Connor was
tried on a separate indictment as not
having been actively engaged in the three days. Michael O'Connor was
tried on a separate indictment as not
having been actively engaged in the three days. Michael O'Connor was
tried on a separate indictment as not
having been actively engaged in the three days. Michael O'Connor was
tried on a separate indictment as not
having been actively engaged in the
having been actively merely floundering along in the most murder, but aiding and abetting by by all means to take some of the mettle to train him." While Gen. Lee was President of Washington College, a visitor asked how a certain student was getting on. such as those by which his way to the "He is a quiet, orderly young man," answered the President, "but he seems very careful not to injure the health of his father's son. He got last month only forty on his Greek, thirty-five on his English, which is a very low standing, as one hundred is our maximum. He does not like bloodshed. I often Now, I do not want our young men to think he was a fool not to have had me shot after the affair of Strasburg. Had our cases been reversed I know that I would have had him shot without mercy."

Customs of Religion, Marriage, So-

Popular Superstitions That Have Outlived Many Generations.

the Highlands of Scotlond it is said that, if a servant while making the bed happens to sneeze, the sleep of the per-article of clothing that is on your body you will sow your luck fast, and if there are any strings to be tied or more. If little children kiss each other

The superstitions handed down from prayers, namaz, are five in number. Mother Eve are observed by many of The most solemn is the morning prayer; her daughters. If you are to be marit is the sabah namizi; it is uttered ried in church you must leave the after the dawn, just before the rising house hand in hand, and, be the steps of the sun. The second is the midday ever so narrow, you must descend to- prayer, cuile namazi. The third, jkindy gether. If you let go of each other it namazi, must be offered just before the will bring separation either in life or setting of the sun. The evening death. He who looks around on the prayer, aacham namazi, is uttered just way to a wedding is looking for an-other, and if the wedding ring is lost it Finally the last and fifth prayer, yatcy forbodes that the couple will not live namazi, is uttered in the interval after long together. That the particular day sundown and just before dawn. of the week on which birth takes place The hour of prayers is regularly determines the character and fortune proclaimed to the faithful by the her look as I approached her and said: of the child is an assumption heary imams, called muezzins, who walk with age. Children born on Sunday around the balcony of the minarets are said to have the power of second singing in a melancholy voice this unsight or clairvoyancy. If a new born varying litany: "God, the most high, babe has a particularly old look you can I here proclaim that there is no God me, but remained silent. Her brother conclude that it will not live to grow but God. I proclaim that Mohammed up. If you have its picture taken be- is the prophet of God. Come to the fore it is a year old it will meet with temple of salvation. Great God! God the same sad fate. The same is said of the most high! There is no God bus children who are allowed to play with God!" Blind men are usually selected flowers or who are taken inside a ceme- for muezzins, or at least imams that tery at this early period of life. If you suffer from confirmed myopia, so that would sleep soundly and peacefully the they cannot throw inquisitive glances head of the bed must face the east, but toward the women that may be promon no account must the foot be oppo-site the door, for the person in it will Christians surround their observance certainly be carried from the house a of prayer with a kind of mystery or of corpse. If you wish to sleep without reserve that the Musselmans know dreaming you must put one shoe or absolutely nothing of. In whatever place a devout Osmanli lie in the room where it can be seen. If may find himself, whether in his house, you wish to awake at a certain hour in the streets, in a public square, doing strike your blg toe against the footbusiness or on a visit, as soon as the board five or six times, whatever the hour of the namaz is announced he number of the hour may be, and your makes his religious preparations, places wish will be fulfilled-you will awake under his knees a small rug, or, in deat the precise moment. For lazy pupils fault of which a handkerchief, turns it is recommended to put the book con- his face toward Mecca, places his arms son who is to lie in it will be disturbed disconcerted by anything, not even by unless a little of the straw (or other the indiscreet curiosity of the Eurosubstance) with which it is pean, who looks at him astonished by stuffed is taken out and thrown into this novel sight, but who generally the fire. If strangers of opposite sexes has no desire to ridicule it; for this r. semble each other you can wager a worship under the open sky, disregard-Parrots are able to make a noise like that produced by a saw, the sound of a cork drawn from a bottle, and other noises still more peculiar,

It is a proper turn to whatever may be said, has somefully avoid using the words "if" or thing grand and sacred about it that the produced by a saw, the sound of a cork drawn from a bottle, and other noises still more peculiar, "but," or give them a proper turn banishes all rallery and inspires respect. when used. You must never give Marriages receives scarcely more atshoe or stockings to any one whom you wish to retain near you; if you do he will be certain to run away. If a lover barrassment from the administrative be vain of their voices and seek to excel presents a knife or any sharp instrument to his betrothed their love will this solemn act in the West. There are one another. Especially is this the case with nightingales. In a hedge inhabited by them one may often observe that their voices increase two, ay, threefold in strength, and sometimes the case with nighting similar in exchange. Our meals are seasoned with the same non-he would buy a bouquet; but neither threefold in strength, and sometimes shed many tears; so if he lays knife and mediary asks for a receipt sort of intuition which put him on the right track when others were vainly groping in the dark. He had instinctively m strusted Mr. Vant from the moment he commenced his speech, and when the proceedings terminated he felt impelled to engage him in conversition in order to gauge kis character.

"I did it for the best. He had seen shot, and turned as pale as marble. The ex-detective's girl passionately. "He's promised to meet me at the blackthorn tree nigh hand the chapel, an' go wid me to confession an' to the holy communion This sound is supposed to be specially sation in order to gauge kis character.

"I did it for the best. He had seen shot, and turned as pale as marble. The ex-detective's girl passionately. "He's promised to meet me at the blackthorn tree nigh hand the chapel, an' go wid me to confession an' to the holy communion This sound is supposed to be specially sation in order to gauge kis character.

"I did it for the best. He had seen my freed. I had no other motive."

"I did it for the best. He had seen shot, and turned as marble. The ex-detective's death.

"He will not, he will not!" cried the sung themselves to death.

The stork in Africa, it is said, is dumb and his clappering is but an imitation of the sharpening of scythes. At the change of the table you will have a shill confession an' to the black thorn tree nigh hand the chapel, an' go wid me to confession an' to the blackthorn tree nigh hand the chapel, an' go wid me to confession an' to the blackthorn tree nigh hand the chapel, an' go wid me to confession an' to the blackthorn tree nigh hand the chapel, an' go wid me to confession an' to the black dumb and his clappering is but an imitation of the sharpening of scythes.

"I did it for the best. He had specified in the ex-detective's girl passionately. "He's promised to match the black thorn tree nigh hand the chapel as martile. The will not, he will not, he will not, he will not he will not the state, to cut mead the state, to cut mead the state, to cut mead the state, to cut the fit was fork across each other, If you are sinplenty, and therefore it is suggestive of money. So the first meal of a newly son knows my daughter, let us strike a bargain; if she does not know her, let them see each other and let us close up wrong to give away the end of a loaf table. If a young man wishes to succeed in business he will not make his introduced to each other.

on your stockings wrong side out it is a sign of good luck; but you must leave it so or the luck will change before night. On the other hand, if a stocking is put on the wrong side out on the after that ceremony. No woman, not wedding day it portends a disactrons even the wife, takes part in the solemnity of marriage, which is effected her billets. union. If you put a stitch into any by proxy, delegated to an uncle or to an elder brother, often with a full beard, who plays the roll of the bride. The parents of the couple sign the conloosened while dressing you must be careful not to get them into a knot. In the presence of a few friends with the presence of a few friends with was visiting the lines at Petersburg, he asket an officer riding with him, if a must not be allowed to see its image in certain work he (Lee) had ordered done the leoking glass for fear of its becoming vain later in life. If you look over a child's head it will not grow any more. It little shill not grow any The grows a full that would be as suitable for a funeral as for a wedding. The sexes never mingle at these festivities. The men take their pleasure It requires four persons to run a Chinlearn anything. If a little daughter in silence in their selamlik; the women ese journal, an editor, a sub-editor, a resembles her mother she will never have a particle of good luck in all her the haremlik.

A Group of Queens. that it had been completed, but I did not think it necessary to verify the father. If, in spite of all the threatenone gain the least intelligence from her.
Upon everything connected with her lover she remained obstinately silent, and no questioning would induce her to admit or deny any knowledge of his extinction. In a few minutes he began to admit or deny any knowledge of his extinction on the first product in the case of the principal condition of the control of the control of the case of the control of the case of the c him, and he must learn to read many to do certain teaching in the public schools. Everybody knows of the Orange, New Jersey, while he was skillful manner in which Christiana, making repairs to a window, but he the Queen of Spain, performs her unhouse, you forget something, you must wonted duties. And now Margaret, of ing as a parachute, let him gently down Savoy, the Queen of Italy, is to appear as an author, with her stories founded on the legends of the Middle Ages.

Among the various languages spoken dollar, the Macon Telegraph hopes to secure it by this offer: "On one side, the vising sun, a cornucopia rampant, the vising sun, a cornucopia rampant. is an old woman it is a sign of coming misfortune, while on the contrary, importance, keeping herself posted on and the legend, 'Honesty is the best funeral procession denotes good for English politics and gossip. In religious policy.' On the other in long primer, matters she is neither too liberal 1 or "Turn the rascals out." Between the too devote, and she is a passionate patriot. In person she is lovely, fair and bright, more graceful than majestic, and saints having been introduced into with a feminine sweetness very attraction the Cathedral of St. Glies, at Edinwere barricades in the streets of Paris tive in a royal personage. Her family relations are perfect; she is the intimate 500 residents of the parish, was recently throne was won in 1830, the King friend of her young son, the Prince of would not give orders to disperse the mob by force of arms," "Why do you think so?" asked Mr. Rogers, "The King is a weak man—a mereiful man. Naples; and, often seen on the streets and among the shops, she is idolized

Alfred Stinit, of Corvailis, Or., Real difference of opinion, housesty expressed, whenever the subject is must not give or sell me any intexticate sures of this very local serious enough to demand it, always deserves respectful attention and complete the sure of the law."

In the subject is must not give or sell me any intexticate sures of this very local sures of the local su

NO. 23

NEWS IN BRIEF. -An ocean steamship is said to have used $20,000 worth of coal on a recent The Koran has fixed the hours that voyage.

> -For the theft of a shilling shirt a poor devil in England was sent to a cell for five years.

-A manufactory of bogus rare old coins is said to have been found by detectives in Pittsburgh. -Brick is being imported from Chicago to be used in a new city building in San Diego, California. -A new absurdity is to put a crape bow on the collar of a pet dog whose owner is in mourning.

-A season of German opera costs every owner of a box in the New York Metropolitan fully $5,000. -The Emperor of Brazil, who has been quite ill, is reported out of danger by the South American papers. -A "war" between sugar refiners in California is reported to be making sugar "dirt cheap" out that way. -A petrified human being is said to have been discovered in a cave on Sand mountain, Tennessee, a few days ago. -At the door of a Parisian tobacco shop is the legend "Gentlemen are requested not to smoke inside the shop. -The Granite Mountain Mine in Montana has paid twenty-two dividends in fifteen mouths amounting to $1,-300,000. -In Hawthorne, Nebraska, sand is often used to extinguish fires in the absence of water, and it is said to be quite effectual.

-- English is said to be the favorite of the new Turkish Minister to this country, Malviri Bey, who speaks arx languages. -The yield of one Dakota farm is given as 60,000 bushels of wheat, 8,000 bushels of barley and 12 000 taining the lesson to be learned under the pillow at night and they will be or places them to his forehead, prosbushels of oats. or places them to his forehead, pros--The Chief Burgomaster of Berlin gets a salary equivalent to about $7500 sure to know it in the morning. In trates himself, then rises—all this slowly and with strict observance of per annum of our money, exclusive of rules. If he is in the street he does an allowance for rent. not permit himself to be distracted and -A recent temperance lecturer propounded the theory that the blcycle is a means of grace, since none but a perfectly sober man can ride one suc-

> -London had, on March 19th, exclusive of lunaties in asylums, patient X1 1 small-pox and fever hospitals, grants, 103,714 paupers efficially reported in her care. -The first mass in the present limits of the United States was said on the spot recently occupied by the old Cathedral at St. Augustine, Florida, which was destroyed recently. -Measles broke out March 25 in the Brooklyn Nursery, and of the 60 children in the institution only five escaped.

Seventeen little ones died and 38 remained on the sick list. -A party of over 50 sel forbidden a man to enter the harem or tacked the Governor of California at > tinuously for fifty-three years. -The next Legislature of Rhode Island will contain a Frenchman, who the business," The conditions are dis- was elected lately, an element of memcussed, the dowry haggled over, and bership not heretofore known in the Assembly of that State it is said.

—A sort of Free Masonry, it is said, exists among the Chinese that finds expression on goods sent to their lauddry. Certain signs mean "bad pay," no good," "heap slippery," etc. -A postmaster at Cope, Indiana, as resigned, but the rush for the succession is not likely to be great. His salary amounted to 5 cents less than half a dollar for the month of March. -A party of sportsmen from Ogdensburg, New Jersey, had great success in duck hunting recently, but it has since turned out that most of what they bagged were the tame ducks of a gen-

-A thief stole the coat of Rev. D. B. Perry, of Brooklyn, while the latter was preaching, succeeding also m carrying off the manuscript of his sermon on "The Wages of Sin," which was in a pocket of the garment. -A woman of Spartanburg, South Carolina, while carrying an armload of dog, but, dropping a portion of her load, she turned the tables by beating out the brains of the dog with one of -During the past winter Mrs. Mary Miller, of Hillsborough, New Hampshire (where the season still lingers), fed daily eight gray squirrels, which came to her door from the woods every wood, was attacked recently by a rabid morning and departed after having had their breakfast. -In San Francisco there are four journals regularly published in Chinese characters, These appear weekly and have a circulation of 2,500 copies, translater and a printer. -Japan grows enormous quantities of sorghum cane, and large quantities of granulated sugar have been made The Queens in southern Europa are from it. The product for one year was -A carpenter was blown from the top of a twenty-five foot ladder in carried with him the sash which, act-burgh, Scotland, a petition, signed by presented to the tery, asking that the Courts should take steps to have these images removed, "as enjoined by the Bible and laws of the national Church," -Oil has been "struck" in Egypt by boring in the Jebel Zert (oil mountain), loves good whisky and bad whisky, for on the shore of the Red Sea, 180 miles that matter, and also knows the danger fram Suez. Petroleum has long been that matter, and the series in his supposed to exist in the country, for local newspaper: "I hereby notify all the ancient mummy cloths were soaked persons within this State that they in it, and the exudations from the fissures of this very mountain have been used by the natives from time immen-