

The British held a great jubilee at London, last week, in honor of Queen Victoria's 50th year of rule.

Samuel Josephs proposes to run for Congress against Samuel Randall. It will be a race of Samuels.

The officers of the Cincinnati Fidelity National Bank have been arrested for breaking the bank in the effort to corner Chicago wheat.

The management of the Fidelity National Bank of Cincinnati took a shy at speculating in Chicago wheat and broke the bank.

A number of New York and Philadelphia journalists enjoyed an excursion given by the Pennsylvania railroad to Cresson, last week.

Camden, N. J., people are talking over the deaths of several people that took place in Camden, and wondering whether they died of cholera. If cholera has dropped into Camden it will not be long in manifesting itself.

Grasshoppers by the million came down in the vicinity of Pertham, Ottertail county, Minnesota. The grasshoppers were numerous enough to cover a district of four miles. All garden vegetables, corn, oats, wheat, grass, and leaves of trees passed rapidly away under the vigorous work of the destructive grasshopper.

Washingtonians are talking about erecting new capital buildings. There is a ring at the bottom of the advocacy of the new capital building erection. Perhaps it would be best to let "well enough alone." The agitation of new buildings might cause the country to move the national buildings west of the mountains, to a central locality.

Speculative enterprises within the past ten days have received a staggering blow. First the coffee speculation broke, then the Chicago wheating exploded sweeping away large financial interests in Cincinnati. They have a gas financial explosion in Baltimore, and last Friday and Saturday there was a panic in stocks in New York. Just where the thing is to stop time will tell.

"Mr. POWDERLY, in his recent speech at Lynn, Mass., said: 'In one Pennsylvania county in a single year $17,000,000 was spent for liquor, and it was estimated that $11,000,000 of the amount came from workmen. He urged workmen to keep clear of the liquor saloon. Compliance with this advice will do more to improve their condition than we can get up in a century.'

Just Davis did not go down into the last ditch fighting for the Lost Cause, and thereby covering himself with glory, but he did something last week that it is believed he had not the bravery to do, namely, He disapproved of President Cleveland's cause of recommending a return of the rebel flags to the Confederate States. He said that such an act is beyond all military precedent. Now watch the Democratic organs go for him, how the fur will fly. Perhaps they will attempt to read him out of the party.

A True Democrat's View.

The Capitol, a Democratic organ in Columbus, Ohio, speaks editorially as follows of President Cleveland's proposal to return the rebel flags to their former Confederate owners: "Grover Cleveland and his Cabinet, and all who were concerned in the attempted dishonor of the victorious legions of the loyal North, who sought to unbind the wreaths which encircle alike the brows of surviving veterans and the memories of gallant comrades slain; who, basely ignorant of the value attached to rested valor in the field, sought to market it to beaten foemen for a stipulated price, and who surrendered to the inspiration of traitorous promptings the prestige, the glory and the symbols of four years of bloody war in maintenance of this Union and the freedom of the slave, will go down to history with the Davises, Lees and Jacksons, whose unholy attempt to establish a government of slave-holding patricians was defeated in open battle, by the free born and freedom-loving sons of the North."

The Coffee Gamblers.

The gamblers at the Coffee Exchange, in this city, by speculative manipulations continued for several months, managed to push up the price from six to twenty-two cents per pound. Last week a break came in the speculative market; and by the dropping of the price six cents on a pound, four firms were forced into suspension. The bubble was at last pricked, and down went the price. The dealings on the day of the crash amounted to about one-twelfth of the whole annual import of coffee into this country, and were so large that a fall of only two cents a pound meant an aggregate decline of $800,000 in the transactions of a single day. What is this but gambling in the price of coffee? It is just that, and nothing else, and all the worse from the fact that the commodity is one in general use among the people. Betting on horse-races and betting on the price of coffee are in principle precisely the same thing, and neither has the characteristics of legitimate business.—New York Independent.

The Color Line Drawn.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 22.—Ex-Mayor James A. Bradley, the founder of this place, fired a red hot bombshell at the colored visitors to-day by publishing in a local newspaper a set of rules which excludes them from the beach, which is owned by him. Mr. Bradley says in his communication that the colored people have made themselves obnoxious and a nuisance by forcing themselves where they are not wanted. He says they monopolize the boardwalk, pavilions, &c., and exclude white people. This, he says, he will not tolerate. He further says that the owners of private property have some rights which people must respect. This letter has caused a great sensation here. The colored people object to a line being drawn on color, and will take no notice of the new rules. Mr. Bradley has appointed an extra special officer and has had the rules colored people become obnoxious.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Itinerant Merchants.

The bill to provide for licensing and taxing foreign dealers in merchandise and their agents in the several boroughs and cities of this Commonwealth, passed by the late Legislature and signed by the governor, is designed to prevent the evasion of taxes by itinerant merchants who open stores in different towns and cities, but move on before taxes can be assessed, and thus avoid such payment. This law does not in any way effect traveling salesmen who sell by sample or card. The provisions of the bill as finally passed are: That hereafter the several cities and boroughs of this State shall have power to tax or license foreign dealers in merchandise or their agents having no permanent place of business in any such city or borough, but temporarily engaged in selling and disposing of merchandise, either by wholesale or by retail, to an amount not exceeding the local taxes or licenses imposed on resident merchants engaged in a like business; provided that the provisions of this act shall not apply to sales by samples. Cities and boroughs shall have power to enforce the provisions of this act by providing proper penalties by ordinance duly enacted.

Wild People.

A correspondent of the Bloomfield Advocate of last week says: For several years rumors have been afloat that a wild woman had her home in the blue mountains, several parties having claimed to have seen her at different points between Strretts and Wagoner's gaps. On Sunday a week ago two gentlemen of undoubted veracity saw her near the foot of the mountain at Crane's gap on the Cumberland side. They approached her but could not get nearer than within speaking distance. To all questions they would ask, she would answer no or yes. They describe her as being tall, with long black hair, and complexion as dark as an Indian, wearing a long loose gown made of what appeared to be the skins of wild animals. Who she is, is a mystery, as no one has been able to get nearer to her than within speaking distance. Several parties have tried to run her down, but she will as suddenly disappear as if she were a shadow. Wash Bear, the veteran hunter and woodsman, being interviewed on the subject, thinks it is a man and one of a gang of thieves that, he thinks, make their home in the mountain. He lives in the mountain himself and says they have come to his house during his absence and demanded of his wife something to eat.—And we think Wash's theory is nearly the correct one. It is more likely that these parties are a gang of these than that they are wild.

From Perry county papers.—

A few months ago Wm. Garlin and Jacob Mogel, two farmers of Centre township, made a trade of animals. Mogel, the one farmer getting a horse in trade for a mule. Mogel, after some time, noticed that the horse was dumb, so he says. Believing that the cow took his mule back and leave it in the hands of the horse, he proceeded to the barn of Garlin one night last week and after removing the shoes which Garlin had had put on, he took the mule back and led the horse. Garlin objects to this procedure and Mogel will stand just so rumor has it. Garlin positively declares that the horse was sound when he traded.—Here, again, will be one of these arguments in regard to sound and dumb animals.

Annual Report.

The history of education in this county for the period embraced in this report, while not presenting any marked or notable changes, gives signs of healthy and steady progress. The careful selection by directors of competent and experienced teachers, the seal of the teachers themselves, the visitations and interest of directors and patrons, have never been more general than during the year just ending. While on the one hand there are healthful indications of growth, we would not on the other, claim that our schools are without faults of a grave character. We suffer from lack of the oft-repeated grievance of poor salary, short terms, uncertain tenure, and in a very few districts houses unfit for use, and a large number with injurious furniture, causes which have driven away many of our best teachers leaving their places to be filled by the inexperienced and untried. The causes of these evils are to be sought partly in the fact that our county possesses less wealth and means of providing liberal and extensive training for our children than some of our neighbors, but chiefly in the slow and vague comprehension of the true ends and far reaching effects of the training of our schools upon the character of the citizens and the community. Two new houses were erected during the year and four supplied with patent furniture. By reference to the statistical report it will be seen that a large percentage of our schools are supplied with improved patent furniture. In twenty-nine houses are to be found the old fashioned seat and desk. Our directors and school boards display a commendable zeal in the construction of good houses and the use of proper furniture, and so rapidly as means allow the old is replaced by the new. In the care and attention given to school grounds we cannot say so much. Our grounds, generally, with very few exceptions, are not enclosed or graded, and in a number of cases the location is chosen with neither a view to health or beauty. In a country like ours that abounds in rich scenery and healthful localities nothing will condone the vice of choosing unsuitable sites for the school house. Trees and shrubs planted around the houses are destroyed, houses and out-buildings are defaced, and windows broken during vacation. A neat enclosure would not only add greatly to the appearance of the building and grounds, but would be a protection as well, and in the end a wise economy. For these reasons added to the other fact, that it comes when our schools are nearly all closed, Arbor Day has not been well observed with a number of trees have been planted by teachers, directors, and citizens have yet to learn, that as much attention ought to be given to beautifying the grounds as to the interior decorations of the school room.

Professor Biley, ornithologist for the Department of Agriculture, has been investigating the habits of the hop louse. The eggs are deposited in plum trees, where the insect hatches in the spring and resides until the third generation. The third brood is winged, and abandons the plum tree for the hop vine. Then in the autumn a counter migration occurs, and the cycle of life goes on in the same fashion. The Professor believes that the insect has been brought to this country from Europe on plum stock. These discoveries render it possible to check the ravages of the pest either by the use of insecticides in the spring time before the insect shall have reached the winged state or by the destruction of the sheltering plum trees.

M. M. Sheats, of Watkinsville, Ga., saw in the nest near his house a large pine tree in which bees had made their nest. He said nothing about it, and soon moved out of the neighborhood. After ten years he moved back, and one of the first things he did was to examine the bee tree. The bees were still there, and he called in some of his neighbors for help and cut the tree down, when it was found to contain a hollow thirty-eight feet long and eight inches in diameter, chock full of honey from one end to the other.

It is told of Dr. Thomas, now Assistant Bishop of Kansas, who was renowned in Yale and after his graduation as a chess player, that he suddenly gave up his favorite game. Asked the reason for his conduct, he said: "I found that I took so much interest in the game that when I was beaten it aroused in me feelings that I could not conscientiously entertain. There was nothing left for me to do but to give up chess."

Workmen digging on North Clark street, Chicago, the other day found a silver coin imbedded in the sand and clay about twenty feet below the surface of the street. It is an Austrian piece, worth about $1, and bears the name and signature of the Archduchess Maria Theresa. It was coined in the year 1780, the year of her death.

A Frenchman drove into Water-ville a few days ago, his faithful "dog" being a monstrous Newfoundland dog. He came from a town in Canada, distant 150 miles, and had been on the road three days. The driver is confident that he can out-travel any man's horse in a day's journey.—Bangor (Me.), Commercial.

The ghost of Mrs. Roxalana Druse the Herkimer (N. Y.) county woman who was hanged for the murder of her husband, now pays nightly visits to the cell in which she was confined and frightens all the jailers by moaning from midnight till dawn. Or so the jailers say.

Lightning struck near a tree against which a negro boy was leaning in Atlanta. He whirled around two or three times and ran. After running some distance he stopped and went through the same spinning motion. He has been crazed ever since.

Two gypsy girls, aged thirteen and fifteen years, were sitting under a tree near Boyertown, Pa., on Sunday evening, when it was struck by lightning. They were horribly burned and blood oozed from their wounds. They will probably die.

It is stated as a fact that a man was indicted at the late term of Court in Tucker county, Va., for stealing a saw-mill, boiler and all. He succeeded in getting away with it, and brought it into Pennsylvania.

In plowing and planting a quarter section of land near Bethany, Ill., two farmers killed one hundred and sixty rattlesnakes, some of them big fellows.

Frank James, the famous desperado, is at present acting as a salesman in a clothing store at Dallas, Texas.

A Toga county man set out 3,000 tobacco plants, and in two days the cut-worms left only 12 of them.

Among the presents at a recent Adickin, Michigan, wedding, were 8 pickle casters.

ANOTHER SUDDEN DEATH.
Hardly a week passed without the mention of the newspaper of sudden death, and of late the alarming frequency of the statement that death was caused by rheumatism of the heart cannot fail to have been noted. In all probability many deaths are due to heart disease caused by rheumatism, which is generally considered, in these terrible diseases, which are far more dangerous than is generally considered, is there any positive cure? The best answer to such a question is given by those who have been cured by the use of Athliophorus.

Greenfield, Mass., May 19, 1886.
I have been troubled with rheumatism in one of my knees for years, being at times laid up for several days. Athliophorus entirely cured me. It has also cured two friends of mine who were the worst cases I ever saw, one of them a young man only 16 years old, who was so laid the doctors gave him up. Two bottles of your remedy entirely cured him.
Geo. W. SPURR, Mgr. Diamond Soap Co.

October 14, 1885.
Two bottles of Athliophorus cured me of inflammatory rheumatism. My family physician advised me to take it, saying he had done all he could, but could not give me any relief; but Athliophorus drove it away, and I am happy to say it has never come back. My daughter is cured of rheumatism after suffering the pangs of rheumatism. Mrs. JANE DOWNEY, 24 Pleasant St., Waterbury, Conn.

Northampton, Mass., May 21, 1886.
For many years I have been subject to rheumatism in its worst form. During my last stage of sickness I was induced to try Athliophorus, and found it to be all it claimed to be, a cure for rheumatism.

Every druggist should keep Athliophorus and Athliophorus Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist Athliophorus Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athliophorus and 50c for Pills.
For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, impure blood, &c. Athliophorus Pills are unequalled.

A Creaking Hinge
Is dry and turns hard, until oil is applied, after which it moves easily. When the joints, or hinges, of the body are stiffened and inflamed by Rheumatism, they cannot be moved without causing the most excruciating pains. Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by its action on the blood, relieves this condition, and restores the joints to their normal state.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has effected, in our city, many most remarkable cures, in cases which had been considered hopeless. Were it necessary, I could give the names of many individuals who have been cured by taking this medicine. In my case it has worked wonders, relieving me of after being troubled with it for years. In this, and all other diseases arising from impure blood, there is no remedy with which I am acquainted, that affords such relief as Ayer's Sarsaparilla.—R. H. LITTLEWOOD, Baltimore, Md.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me of Gout and Rheumatism, when nothing else would. It has eradicated every trace of disease from my system, and I feel more vigorous than I have for many years. I was, during many months, a sufferer from chronic Rheumatism. The disease afflicted me generally, in the joints of my hands and feet. I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took several bottles of this preparation, and was completely restored.—F. F. FROST, Independence, Va.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,
Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25c per bottle, 60c per dozen.

RUSSIAN RHEUMATISM CURE
THE REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM.
My wife was so afflicted with Rheumatism that she could not do anything for her and she was in bed for several weeks. I had tried all the remedies I could find, but they did not do her any good. I then tried your Russian Rheumatism Cure, and she was cured in a few days. I have since used it several times, and it has always done me good. I have since used it several times, and it has always done me good. I have since used it several times, and it has always done me good.
