The Lutheran congregation was preparing to lay a brick pavement along the Washington street side of the parsonage lot. Lost—An overcoat between the place of Washington and that of Samuel Thomas. A reward will be paid for the coat at this office. Charles Pearce, a Hungarian engaged as laborer on the railroad a mile west of Hantsburg, was run over and killed by Wood train eastward bound on Friday afternoon. Rich Pearce, Manager, and Secretary of every kind cured in 30 minutes by Wood's Sanguinary Catarrh. Use no other. Sold by L. Banks and Co., Druggist, Mifflintown, Pa.

The visitors to the Constitutional Jubilee in Philadelphia last week came home well pleased with the demonstration that they enjoyed of the City of Brotherly Love got off. The North Atlantic squadron of U. S. navy ships came together in the Delaware river at Philadelphia and helped celebrate the Constitutional Centennial, by firing salutes. If your lightning rod needs to be put in a new place, call on J. M. McDonald. If you have no rod on your building, McDonald will give you the required rod protector. Don't neglect the roof of your house. There is nothing known that will preserve a roof so well as red slate roof paint, for permanent use. J. M. McDonald, Mifflintown, Pa.

Interprete habits. Henry D. Reumers was brought before the court on the same charge as that preferred against Brooks, and the same sentence was imposed on him. On Friday morning Seashore Express ran into the rear end of a freight train, at the lower north of town. The freight train had broken in two in the narrow and the flagman, Albert Kane had been sent back to flag Seashore. In the meantime the freight had been coupled together and had proceeded on its way. The Express came along and picked up the flagman, and then continued its way keeping a lookout for the freight train. But the lookout failed at the curve at Cotter's Hole, the locomotive of the Express train, crashed into the cabin of the freight completely wrecking it. The flagman leaped from the passenger engine, and was badly hurt about the face and hand. No injury was done to the coaches, although badly frightened by the shock. The news of the wreck created quite an excitement in town before the particulars were known. From the Bloomfield Advocate.—Mr. Schell, of Mifflintown, last week bought a very County last week, and sold one to James Shwaker. Last Thursday night Henry Fickes, of Juniata township, had 25 pounds of butter stolen from his spring house. A knowledge of where the key to the house was kept made access easy for the thief. Mr. J. M. Foster lost two valuable cows last week. They broke into his corn field and ate too much green corn. A year ago he lost a fine horse that had eaten too much green grass. No pains spared. Formerly I suffered for weeks from the pain of a sore throat, and my body. Now thirty minutes suffices for the duration of its exhibition.

The Last Lover. Come then, the last, best lover! For life has been a rover From vision unto vision—the highest heart could see. I seek the truest lover! No less than he can move her Whose human faith did perish of its constancy. Oh, come! thou Aseful Lover! Draw near, and close, and cover The trembling lips that open, not to any cry But this— Death is the dearest lover! Death is the kindest lover! Nor can the breaking heart trust any troth but his. By Elizabeth Stewart Phelps. Walker Flashes. Jacob Weaver was to Snyder county, attending the funeral of his grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Brubaker. Mrs. Mary Grant is the guest of her uncle James Adams. Frank Frouty, expects to move his family to Rockfield next week. We are sorry to lose a good neighbor like Frank. Messrs. Martin and Nold accompanied by their wives and children, were visiting John Weaver's and other friends around Cedar Grove, last week. Wm. H. Ancker like the editor of the Cedar Grove Times is very much interested in gathering up items for October 6, 1887, on the evening of which day the literary society is to be organized. Daniel Ancker and wife were to Lancaster county, last week, attending the funeral of their uncle Tobias Warner. If travelers want to go the way the finger points that the Supervisors put up, they will have to cut across fields. David Weaver, Sr., and wife are both in poor health. Mrs. Mabel Dugberry of Lycoming Co., who had been visiting her Aunt Mrs. Isaac Ancker, has returned home, accompanied by her cousin Mr. J. A. Ancker. C. Messer has sold timber Co. E. H. Holsinger, and a field of 12 acres to J. F. Blair. Wm. Magruder and his wife are visiting his mother. Some of the Mifflin boys attended the Cedar Grove cake walk on the 27th inst. and one of them kept time with a half pint bottle while waiting for the cake. So many folks are wondering who "U. A. W." is. Ben Nox in his last issue said I can't be made to walk downward. So my friend hit upon an idea. Why not use the habit against them? Forthwith he made a window screen divided in half. The top half lapped over the lower, with an inch of space between. Well, as soon as a fly would light upon the screen it would thus walk straight up door. On reaching the top of the lower half he would be outside. Not being able to walk down, he had no way to return to the room. By this means flies can be quickly cleared off flies.—St. Louis Republican. Married. From the Kansas City Journal September 11th inst. Miss Florence Marley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Marley, and Mr. Eustace Brown, of the firm of Brown and Schenckmacker, were united in matrimony last Wednesday at 6 p. m., at the residence of the bride's parents, 1623 Madison avenue. Dr. C. L. Thompson officiating. The ceremony was beautiful and impressive concluding with the ring service. The bride wore cream silk with veil, walking length, with full drapery, high cut, deepening corsage with garniture of exquisite lace, white mitts above the elbows held by satin ribbons; nepheter buds and smart, elegant diamond brooch and earrings. The maiden name of the mother of the bride, whose marriage to Mr. Schenckmacker, the above named Journal records, was Miss Clara Phillips, who spent her girlhood in favorable remembrance, by all who knew her. By S. K. Rep. Luray Tours. The weekly tours to Luray, which have been run every Thursday this summer by the Pennsylvania Railway Company, had to be abandoned last week on account of the rash of travel to the Centennial Celebration. It is the intention of the Company to resume them, commencing with Thursday, September 22nd, and to know of no trip more enjoyable and more wonderful in nature for the amount of money expended than can be obtained on any other trip we know of. The ride through the Comberland and Shenandoah valleys at this season of the year, when the foliage has received its first touch of autumn hue, is more than worth the cost of the trip. Caution Notice. All persons are hereby cautioned against hunting or fishing on the property of the undersigned in Fayette township, as trespassers there will be enforced. E. H. HOLSINGER.
