William Thompson of near McAlisterville died on Sunday morning the 30th of Oct., aged 66 years, 10 months and 26 days. He took the hiccoughs on Sunday the 23rd ult., which continued during the day and following night. They prostrated him and he remained sick all week until the time of his death. A year or so ago Mr. Thompson had a stroke of paralysis. Funeral took place on Tuesday at one o'clock.

The corn husking in Juniata Co., has been hastened along this season with more than usual activity. In past years many farmers were slow to husk corn before cold weather came and in that way were often caught by freezing winter and by deep snows. There is more satisfaction in having the corn in cribs before winter comes to stay.

A shocking case of depravity manifested itself at Bellefonte furnace, Center county last week, in which a man named Poorman with a companion named Stratton, at midnight, broke into the house of night watch max Bryan. The woman took her husband's revolver and attempted to shoot, but in the scuffle shot herself. She cannot live. She knows the men, they are in jail.

"Spook lights," ignited gas, may be seen on certain nights, quite near to this place, which has given rise to the conjecture, that perhaps natural gas may be found here at Mifflintown. Natural gas may be found anywhere from the Clinton to the Trenton Limestone formation. We are in the midst of the Clinton formation at Mifflintown, but men who claim to have given the subject attention say the rocks in this part of the state have been so cracked that the gas has all escaped.

The Newport Ledger says, not long since a Millerstown young man, wrote two postal cards on entirely different subjects. He then turned them over and addressed them, but by mistake placed the addresses on the wrong cards. The result was —the shirt maker in Harrisburg got a polite invitation to take a carriage ride in Huff Ward's baroncho, while the young man's girl was made frantic by receiving the following: "Please send me a sample of the stuff your shirts are made of."

Some time after daylight on the morning of October 24 Michael Yeater heard his dogs bark at the foot of Shade mountain, about a half mile north of the Lutheran church in Beale township. He hastened to the spot, the dogs had a bear treed. The bear took alarm at his presence, and came down to the ground, but it could not endure the snaps of the dogs and to get out of their way climbed another tree. Yeater shot bruin. The animal weighed 147 pounds clean meat.

From the Newport News: This season Mrs. Amos Fry, of Watts township, raised two very large pumpkins. One weighed 93 pounds and measured 5 feet 6 inches by 5 feet 3 inches. The other one weighed 87 pounds and measured 5 feet, 3 inches. Can these pumpkins be beaten in weight and size in Perry county? If not, Watts township takes the banner for large pumpkins. In the early stages of growth they were treated very indifferently by Mr. Fry. They had been planted in an old straw hut in the garden, and he dug them out several times while cultivating what he deemed more profitable vegetables. But the pumpkins would not be thus ruthlessly crowded out of the vegetable kingdom and developed into the mammoth proportions here given.

R. Bruce Ricketts battery 1st Pennsylvania Light Artillery held a reunion at Harrisburg last Thursday. The only representation from Juniata Co., was Jacob Heimbach. His brother George Heimbach of Lewistown was the only representative from Mifflin Co. These two brothers were the only representatives from the Juniata Valley. This was the 1st battery Regiment that Pennsylvania sent against rebellion in 1861. It passed through all the ups and downs of the war to the crowning surrender of the rebel forces in Virginia. It won enduring fame at Gettysburg. Of the 500 names of men carried on roll papers only 64 live to-day, and of that number 20 met at this reunion. in room of Post 58 on Third street. The gallant commander Robert Bruce Ricketts was among them. George E. Heimbach of Lewistown was chosen president of the meeting. M. B Hughes of Shicksinny was chosen vice president, and J. H. Schmehl of Reading was chosen secretary and treasurer.

The Wilson store at Oakland Mills was burglarized one night last week. The thieves drew the staples on the outside cellar door on the east side of the building and in that way affected an entrance to the cellar. They had their own time in getting up stairs to the store room, as the store building is not connected with other buildings, and has no one in at night as a watch. Most of the articles stolen, as far as can be learned were shoes. The thieves had been to the saw-mill and there obtained an augur, which they left on the store porch. It is conjectured that of their efforts to get in by the cellar door had failed the augur would have been used. It would be a good kind of a reception to greet thieves with, to fasten a spring gun on store doors, and corn house and garner doors. Something after the manner of an East Sullivan Maine farmer, who was annoyed by the depredations of a bear. He set a spring gun for him. "When he visited the gun, he found the bear there, badly wounded.

Wanted.

Three educated young men and two ladies. Will pay good salery. Address. Lock Box 313, Lewistown, Pa.

"Hold fast to the dear old Sabbath,
To the day of peaceful rest;
Look back to the days of childhood
That its tranquil glories blessed.
Hold fast to its quiet pleasures,
And its sweet traditions save,
For the sake of the weary living,
And the memories of the grave.

Hold fast to the dear old Sabbath,
That is neared, like a verdant isle,
On the week's dull sea of toiling,
With thankful, happy smile.
One day give the great Creator,
Be thy creed whate'er it may;
For the sake of human freedom,
Keep the dear old Sabbath day.

"Under the Lash."

Samuel J. Randall, has flooded Juniata county with circulars in the form of a letter addressed to Democrats in which he assumes to instruct them as to their duties. Mr. Randall represents a Philadelphia district of Pennsylvania in Congress, and writes from Paoli, but has no more right to mix in state politics than any other Democrat. He has finished the betrayal of Senator Wallace and it is presumption in him to assume to order the Democrats of the State to do their duty. He conteoled the post offices of Juniata county, but refused to appoint any one who "would not bend the pregnant knee that thrift might follow fawning."

How will the Wallace men like to obey the sworm enemy of their leader?

The letter is as follows'

PAOLI Pa., October 24, 1887.

Dear Sir:

You are an active Democrat in your county. I write to urge upon you the duty of getting out the full Democratic vote in your election District on the 8th of November next. If the Democratic vote is polled in the State we will succeed. Our friends, and I, depend on you in this emergency, and we know if you will undertake this work, that it will be accomplished. Let me hear from you if you have any suggestions to make in this connection.

Yours Truly
SAM J. RANDALL.

Obituary.

On the 20th ult., in Fayette township, Anna, wife of Joseph E. Kauffman, died, aged 62 years less one day. Interment on the 23th, in the McAlisterville grave-yard. Mrs. Kauffman was many years a faithful member of the Presbyterian church. She was a kind wife and loving mother, and good neighbor. During her illness of seven months she was patient and resigned under the rod of affliction. She will be missed in the family circle and by many to whom she in the time of trouble lent a helping hand, and gave words of cheer. She was born and raised in Fayette township, and was twice married. Her first husband was Jacob Lapp of Chester county. Mr. Lapp was a widower with eight children. The marriage with Mr. Lapp was blessed with six children. Officer Samuel Lapp and Mrs. J. H. Simons of this town, are children of this union. Mr. Lapp died in this town. After years of widowhood Mrs. Lapp was married to Mr. Joseph E. Kauffman, of Fayette township, Juniata county. Mr. Kauffman like her first husband was a widower, with three children. Her marriage with Kauffman was blessed with 2 children. Her memory will long be perpetuated by the large relationship by whom she was always considered a good woman and loving relative.

Arbor Day at Academia.

In accordance with the appointment made by Dr. E. E. Higbee, Superintendent of Public Instruction, for the observation of Arbor Day, Friday, October 21, 1887. Prof. Jas. J. H. Hamilton and scholars of Tuscarora Academy, observed it in the following manner.

Program as follows: Music entitled, "Swinging neath the old Apple tree," Declamation, "Our Forests," Geo. McLaughlin. Recitation, "Character in Trees," Alice Hartshorne. Recitation, "Beauty in Trees," Nellie Hartshorne. Recitation. "Grace in Trees," Ella Woodburn. Recitation, "Autumn Woods," Ida Barton. Recitation, "Shaded Roads," Emma Woodburn. Declamation, "Trees Typical of Man," David Neely. Declamation, "Forest Hymn," William Gruver. Song, "Woodman Spare that Tree." After which we had a short address by Mr. J. Nevin Pomeroy, and closed with the National Hymn, "My Country tis of Thee."

After the exercises the Principal scholars adjourned to the Academy yard to plant trees.

Six trees were planted and named after the following persons:

One for Dr. J. H. Shumaker formerly Principal of Tuscarora Academy; another for Rev. Dr. A. A. Bloomberg, formerly Professor of Modern Languages in Tuscarora Academy; Rev. Dr. S. S. Orris of Princeton College, and lawyer Sharp of Cumberland county, who prepared for college at Tuscarora. One for William Cullen Bryant as several pieces were spoken from his works and another for Washington Irving.

We all had a very enjoyable day and hope many more such may follow.

Q.

Conjugal Infelicities.

"Two hearts that beat as one," they say,
Is man and wife;
Then why should strife
So often mar their wedded way?
If he a bully is in style,
And she a scold,
The day is cold
When they can live in ponce a while.
If he a gentleman is true,
And she a shrew,
What can he do
But suffer like the martyrs few?
And ditto if a lady she,
A bully he—
Why should they even married be?
'Tis plain the Solons of the land
A law should pass
'Gainst every lass
Who scolds to give a man her hand.
And further should the law declare
That not a man
Who bullies can
Should ever claim a lady fair.
Thus peaceful pairs in all the land
We'd surely find:
Their offspring kind
Grow up a prosperous, happy band.

CHARLES ANDREW MILLER.

Don't fall out with your neighbor, but see to it that your ticket has the name of Meminger on for Prothonotary.

From the Bloomfield Advocate. Chestnuts in some localities were abundant. * *

Mr. John L. Kline, of Liverpool township, lately sold a coon and fox dog for the sum of $40; and, two days after the sale he received an offer of $80 * * * West Anthony, formerly of Carroll township, was run over and killed by the cars in the Harrisburg railroad yards on Sunday, the 16th. His body was brought to Shermansdale and interred in the Lutheran graveyard near that place. * * * On Friday of last week John Kitner arrived here with 156 head of cattle.—They were driven from Chambersburg into this county by way of McClure's Gap. On the same day Thomas Martin and Judge Woods arrived with 59 head, by way of Waggoner's Gap, and William Woods on the same day and by the same route reported with 50 head. The cattle were from Virginia.

Joseph Rothrock, of Juniata county, visited his friend T. G. Bell last week. * * * Martin Whitsel and Jefferson Stoner killed a fine big deer last Saturday. * * * Persons who have been examining the early wheat fields say there is wheat laying over the ground out off by the fly. * * * Some person unbuckled the lines from the bridle of Harrison Brouse's team at the Dunkard church Friday night, which came very near ending in a run off. * * * From the appearance of many of the corn shocks in this section one would be led to believe that quite a number of our farmers had planted the species of corn known as the little yellow. * * * On the 1st of Aug't last your reporter planted one potato; on the 5th of September it blossomed, and on the 9th of October we raised five potatoes about as large as hen eggs, and during the time it was growing we killed 178 potato bugs, full grown. * * * Our friend Aaron Singley is still operating at his coal can't be found perhaps a vein of some valuable ore can be discovered. His object is to make a thorough search in foretelling soil, which gives indications of some kind of mineral. * * * William Harpster wears the champion plume this fall for heavy game. Last Thursday he was out gunning on Baker's flat, cautiously stepping along and on the alert for turkeys, when to his amazement he was suddenly confronted by a good sized bear. Harpster "cut loose" with one barrel, which wounded bruin. The enraged beast made for him, when he again shot but did not succeed in killing. He calmly stood his ground and re-loaded his gun and shot the bear dead when within eight feet of him. It was a fine specimen of bear and Harpster is elated over the encounter.
