KIDDER'S

ed was disbanded his comrades heard, hastened homeward. ig the whole inside of the house.

ers by mingled with the noise of rising upon him. He strained every tering together busily.

o build; good fortune will be Sh-h-h! Dear O-Suba, do igly on her sister's arm as ents of the birds and their many to and fro while building their

a, after a long look at the still

Niva was not at home and it laughed at her enthusiasm.

nd you must be weary. We have liquor | gasning for breath

B. F. SCHWEIER,

Inniata Sentinel Lack and Republican.

THE CONSTITUTION—THE UNION—AND THE EMPORCEMENT OF THE LAWS.

Editor and Proprietor.

VOL. XLL

MIFFLINTOWN, JUNIATA COUNTY, PENNA., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1887.

NO. 50.

An Old-Fashioned Girl.

of Tensuii aud Satsumi tobacco and grandma was a modest girl, other says to me; say the pink and pearl, a like we never see. the was a mighty thing was left alone. He was soon waited on from which the fastenings were gone, weighed about four pound; a vast encircling ring wanted anything more, and Kampei mass and floating on the stream. was astounded to recognize in the new comer Niya-but not the Niya in quiet the chaya, and a number of men now attire, with downcast looks, whom he stood on the bank, by whose ald the left behind at Morioka. She had gay two were soon placed in safety. When mi built up steeple high, could not take it down at night, and she wink her eye; together, I have read, ar would thus remain; much, dear Grandma's head Niya drew back in confusion on seeempoo would disdain. ing Kamper; then, collecting herself, she advanced, and, pretending not to a hero. recognize him, said: "A gentleman of unible with the men; This elender waist of mineto fish wives then. sneak and creep Miss Grandma's window, when

How is this, Niya? Has misfortune | set out at once. - I've heard Grandfather sayovertaken your family that O-Suba and your aunt have permitted you to be-come a mental in a tea house?" durk night sie ran away The girl hung her head, but did not inswer. Had he been merely scornful history, and sighs at her loss of caste, she could be defi-

look thus, good Kampel,

ant; but he was evidently sorry for her. "Why have you done this, Niya?" JAPANESE LOVE-STORY. the young man continued reproach-"You were not in poverty; you t one end of the long street forming were happy; why, then, did you leave lage of Morioka, in Japan, stood | home for such an occupation as this?" atched cottage in which the Niva looked at the mats stlently. Her lip quivered, the blush that mounted from her throat to her fore-Saba and Niya lived with a head faded away, pursued by a deadly e and his wife soon followed paleness, and her limbs trembled se much that she dropped on the ground are of their only remaining 3-Saba, the eldest, was a and hid her face in her broad sleeves. An old man entered from the veranpath that shone between da, and, after bowing to Kampei dess. She was taller than cried the motionless girl, with her head leaning against a partition. fair and slight, with "How!" he cried, angrily, "moping a year O'Suba had been in this way with the house full of Kampei, the son of a guests-troublesome fellows, too, like urmer. Their parents had those sanural, who curse and threaten matter. Though it was if they are delayed but one moment. rmal by an exchange of Up this instant, I say, or I shall use young people regarded it my whip on your shoulder's!" ed the marriage was de-Niva seemed glad to escape from Kampel returned from Kampel's questions, and she withdrew, gainst a rebel prince, in followed by the master of the house. s follow his lord, his father Drawing the tobacco stand toward him Kampei filled and lit his pipe, and young man called on the while smokeing puzzled himself in ento say adieu, he was deavoring to explain Niya's presence O Suba's manner, which | there. The singing in the adjoining ow that she regarded his chamber grew more bosterous, and s a reprieve; and his face be- sometimes Kamper heard the clash of swords, the voices of the frightened attendants, and the entreaties of the commander!" she said proprietor. It all jarred on the young "He will think you a man's feelings, and were it possible he and win booty and come would have left the place. But there with glory. Who would were only miserable villages between the Verdant Charte Blossom 2 and jabbering away like so Who would were only miserable villages between rather than a mean far- the chaya and Morioka, and, apart a gentleman, has his pocket and dangerous on account of robbers.

i. Go, Kampei; I shall despise and pursued a little flagged path to-ou hesitatel" and pursued a little flagged path to-ward a rustic summer house erected on an artificial mound. A slight railing on either side divided the path from turning around he saw Niya the garden, where the summer chrysana corner of the room, her themums, the peonies and pinks were and in the loose sleeves of her bursting into bloom, while the camella, azalea and primrose gave forth their 'arewell, Niya," he said, sub rose in the girl's throat as she flowers. Some late violets peeped tim-Farewell, Kampei. And re- idly from the shadow of a huge rock; she faltered, "that if any- around the lattice work of the summer house vine tendriis struggled with will not forget me. O-Suba? from which the house was named bloomed in gay profusion everywhere.

Sitting there in the silence of the ly; and the young man left, glance as he closed the gar- beneath him the odor of the garden mounting to the arbor, Kampel almost of Niva with her face hidforgot his recent annoyance and indulged in pleasant dreams of the future. Dusk was advancing, when he arture, his mother called at was startled by seeing Niya, who had ge, and after relating a pitiful approached noiselessly, standing in the doorway. She uttered a little scream at her husband, who was in fee- on finding the summer house occupied h, would be sent to prison if and was about to go away, when Kamand not obtain eighty rives, and pei recalled her and desired her in a great O-Suba, as her son's beharsh voice to sit down. She obeyed, at least lend that sum to the blood meanwhile mounting indign-Subs treated the poor woman nantly to her forehead; and when Kam-er visitor that as presents are brushed away the traces of recent tears t exchanged their marriage must and said defiantly: "Frown not thus, good Kampel; ya hi vain urged her aunt to apply am not O-Suba, your betrothed; I am ion of her little fortune to the only Niya. Are not my parents dead? relief. Her relatives were And who, then, will dare to reprove not to know that she is bound to me! e, and the old woman was going me if I do what I please? Go to Morioka, Kampei, and let you and up, thrust her feet into her O-Suba forget the wretched Niya, who s and hurried after the visitor, will never return to her home." king her before she reached the refused the money and re- pei looked severely at her she hastly

She rose to her feet while speading and was about to leave, when Kampel again stopped her and said sorrowfully: labor, ill treatment, even stripes, would that your parents would have rejected shall have it, said the girl; as vulgar and disgraceful; their spirits by his taunts! Poor Niya! And she there then for the money advanced to god shelf with a peaceful mind. There thoughtful. There was a time that I thought I loved Niya Meanwhile Niya, her forehead pressed run upon the bankers! he mat in the corner, clasped more than O-Suba, and now-yah, against the partition, sobbed. The yah!" he continued scornfully after a moment she longed for had arrived. pause, "get away, you low creature! Kampei now knew why she was there, as were drawn back, leaving gesture of anger. She clasped her fere in the affairs of grown people? hands to her side and staggered against What did she know of the great world the frail woodwork, making the whole that she should face it so lightly? structure tremble; then, looking at him Above everything there was Kampel wildly, she uttered a heartbroken cry only a few feet from her, looking them, and she laid her hand bound the path, past the her most intensely—she knew it with house and across the broad road, out turning around; she felt his gaze eyes, and, when he saw her climb the bank on the roadside and spring into the river flowing slowly broads.

the river flowing slowly beyond, he muttered to himself: "Was it for my sake you did this, Niya?" muttered to himself:
"The death of a dog is good enough for one with so mean a soul!" But better thoughts quickly came, When O-Suba and her aunt and he determined to try and save her,

Niva rose to the surface of the water, and her clothing buoyed her for some moments. She did not struggle, but kept her hand thrust into the sleeves of her robe. She sank again in the smooth like the sun through mist, and in the emselves up to revelry, while current, and as her face became buried to see O-Suba and anxious to her fortitude deserted her, and she pei read her secret. this parents, of whose troubles threw up her arms with a stifled shriek. bubbles that marked the spot where she sank were almost gone when native village, when toward sun- Kampet reached the bank, divested of tives," said the young man, turning to reached a tea house bearing on his sandals and outer garments. He the posts the sing "Chaya of the stream, and succeeded in Cherry Blossom." The screens in seizing the drowning girl, who, ing the front were thrown back, though nearly insensible, grasped him tightly about the neck, hindering his into apartments by movable movements. Kampel, finding the place back your money, good sir, I beg." as; and in one of the rooms a shallow, put his feet upon the ground, said Kampel. ther of "gentlemen retainers" sat but to his terror they sank into deep mud, and he felt the water gradually clothes; her hair was adorned with large Kampel had seen the girl restored to gold headed pins and her face pow- animation and given in charge of the female servants, he was forced to join the other guests, by whom he was clapped on the shoulders and praised as He slept soundly until awoke by the the army of chastisement is welcome to harsh sound of the shutters being moved the Chaya. We are thankful that he in their grooves and by the sunlight deigns to honor our humble house by pouring in through the semi-transpar-stopping here," pouring in through the semi-transpar-ent screens. Being desirous of avoiding ent screens. Being desirous of avoiding Kampei's face was grave as he asked: Niya he did not wait for breakfast, but

The incident had been observed from home to find his parents well and happy, their only trouble since his departure having been that caused by the avarice of their landlord. He was pained to hear of O-Suba's unfeeling words on the occasion of his mother's visit to the cottage, and the old lady's story made it evident that the subse quent sending of the money was chiefly due to Niya's intercession. Then it occurred to him that the girl's present position might be owing to a quarrel with her relative on this very subject, and the idea made him remorseful. Finally he was informed that, despite her engagement to him. O Suba had during his absence found another lover, a European trader at one of the ports, with bair and beard golden as the tresses of the sun goddess, and that there were rumors of their approaching neglected by her relatives, insulted by im, and left to battle a'one with a world that is so cruel to the weak. Kampel long lay awake that night, and the result of his meditations was made known to his parents when he sprang from his mat soon after day-The old couple approved of his proposals, and went to the veranda to say farewell, and to watch him fondly as he walked with a light step towards the highway, tying under his chin as he went his conical broad brimmed straw hat. Before he had gone far his father called him back, "Take my purse, son," he said; "chaya keepers

His thought turned to poor Niya, brought home yesterday." The sun was still high in the heavens the Verdant Cherry Blossom," and, She was brought into his presence, more meat even with a piece of sand-looking pale and alarmed, and casting paper. All their canoes were loaded looked about anxiously tor a place as far as possible from Kampei. with you, but I want to know why you A faint cry was her only reply. "Had I any connection with it-I, Kampet?" The girl wrung her hands and turned out, however, uttering a word, Would you like to come home again, tives could wish for. aging voice.

Yah, yah! you are too fast, young sir!" broke in the master, who was sit ting on the veranda smoking, and lis-back again. See," and saying this he drew out his purse, showing to the master of the house a number of gold coins. "How much was it, I pray you, good sir?" 'Eighty riyos,', the host replied.

"Eighty riyos," echoed Kampei, a light dawning upon him. the girl the money, and yet you pretend What is the meaning of this decite?" to him. To save his parents from ruin, abandon the Tower.

his father probably from death, this into virtual slavery, where exhausting be her lot! And he had almost allowed her to drown herself when driven mad

You are no longer anything to me but knew that it was for his sake she left He turned away from her with a ened. What business had she to inter-

"Why should I do it for you?" she replied, evasively.

"Niya," he said, looking sharply at her, "I am no longer affianced to O-Suba; she loves a fair haired foreigner, and is about to marry him." She turned quickly, her cheeks glowing, her eyes sparkling through tears happy smile that lit up her face Kam-Niya's smile add blush said "Yes." "You did not consult the girl's rela-"She told me she had none," stammered the other, alarmed for the legal-

"Then you love me!" he cried; and ity of his agreement. "Destroy the indenture, and receive The tea house keeper agreed, and, while the two men drank a cup to-gether he confided to Kampei that he was not sorry to cancel the bargain, as muscle, but the water still mounted As Kampet cast away outside the until they were both covered. A roar the girl did not suit. "She moped too much," he said; "she had some hidden until they were both covered. A roar as of thunder filled his ears, but he managed to preserve some coolness. By a violent effort he loosened Niya's a violent effort he loosened Niya's a violent effort he loosened Niya's a range of which," he added, with a smile, "I can now divine."

O-Suba and her husband left Morioka a violent effort he loosened Niya's frantic embrace, and, still grasping her clothing. struggled out of the mud and mough to walk inside and rest, sir. the roads are parched gained a firm foothold, exhausted and gained a firm foothold.

Though his strength was almost gone tenanted by the sisters. They now have How Burglars Have Their Tools and his knees tottered, he held Niya to three children, whom their relatives Made. his breast, looking anxiously into her combine to ruin by indulgence; and the an unoccupied room, and when food face. Her eyes were closed, and her eldest, a sturdy boy, always speaks of and drink were placed before him he head fell heavily on his arm, the hair, the time when he will wear his father's by another girl, who inquired if he falling over his shoulder in a thick against the enemies of the Mikado.

NATIVES OF THE NORTH. tants of the Arctic Region.

When we were at John Howland bay, a month ago, on the Arctic coast, I was in their canoes. I tasted of the stuff out of curlosity's sake, but dropped it after all. as soon as I could. The flavor is about Kampel was overloved on reaching as I would imagine a rotten raw peanut to be. For a steady diet. I should hesitate between that and faith, but the natives all evidently relished it exceedingly, and they chewed by the hour, as schoolgirl would a piece of gum.

> anchor under East cape, on the Asiatic | the table. shore. A whale was raised at the southward, working rapidly up along the shore. Twenty-five or thirty whale boats were immediately lowered, and the gauntlet was to much for the whale, He was soon captured and alongside the Lucretia to be cut in. Seven canoe loads of natives came off to claim their share of the whale, which custom has defined as the fins, flukes (the tail), and all the lean they can cut off. The whale was a very large one, making in the vicinity of 140 barrels of oil, and producing about 2,500 pounds of whalebone, hence there was a great amount of lean. How the natives did work to save this! To me the whole scene was most amusing. Work was begun about 8 o'clock and finished soon after midnight, but the sun set only to rise in an hour or two, so it was daylight all the time. The officers of the ship were giving their orders, the donkey engine was puffing away turning the windlass, which rattled lide a dozen heavy log chains. Twenty or thirty natives were yelling like flends, Huge sheets of blubber were being hauled in at the gang way. are very hard to deal with unless they The sea all about the ship was red with will find in this the gold pieces you along the whale's carcass, holding big blood, and natives were crawling all sheath knives in their teeth, cutting off many monkeys. When they were proprietor, begged to see the girl Niya. as if they could not have removed any down as full as they could carry with meat. Now that the won't was over the feast followed. The most toothsome part of the whale to them is the black skin from the lips, the flus and the flukes, and these opened the feast. Imagine a man ore a woman, with a slice of meat the size of a four or five pound steak, surrounding a corner with an expansive mouth, then sawing off the corner and writhing all over in The girl wrung her hands and turned her face away, looking distressed, withthe happiest moment one of these na-

The First Run on a Bank.

The extravagant luxury of the court tening to Kampei. "You are too fast, of Charles II, combined with its utter She is mine for two years. I have the want of principle and incapacity to agreement signed by herself, with her carry on the memorable contest with "Money!" cried Kampei, "She has sold herself, then. But," he continued Government had suffered a succession more calmly, "I am willing to pay you of humiliating disasters. The extravaback again. See," and saying this be drew out his purse, showing to the means that Parliament had supplied for the purpose of carrying on of-fensive hostilities. It was finally de-termined to wage only defensive war, but even for that the vast resources of England were found insufficient, The Dutch insulted the British Court, sall-"Why," the host went on angrily, ed up the Thames, took Sheerness, and "that is the very purse in which I gave carried their ravages to Chatham. The the girl the money, and yet you pretend blaze of the burning ships was seen in army had landed at Gravesend, and Kampei recoiled. All was now plain military men seriously proposed to

The people accustomed to the secure regn of Cromwell, were in consternation. The moneyed portion of the community were seized with a panic. The country was in danger; London itself might be invaded. What security was are displeased, and you can no more did this for-was it for his parents or the Crown? The people flocked to visit their tombs or pray before the for him? The question made him their debtors and demanded their deposits. London now witnessed the first

The fears of the people, however, proved groundless, for the goldsmiths, as the bankers were then called, met all demands that were made upon them. Confidence was restored by royal proclamation that the demands on the exchequer should be made as usual, and the run collapsed.

Tokio's Principal Street.

To stroll down the principal street of Tokio of an evening is a species of liblighted shops, crammed with wares to captivate alike the novice and the connoisseur, look out upon an equally end-less succession of torchlit booths, that display a happy medley of old curlos and new conceits. Here the very latest thing in inventions, a gutta percha rat, that for some reason best known to the vender scampers about squeaking with a mimicry to shame the original, holds an admiring crowd spellbound with mingled trepidation and delight.

There a native zoetrope, ingenious round of pleasure, whose top, fashioned after the type of a turbine wheel, enables a candle in the center to supply both illumination and motive power at the same time, affords to as many as can find room on its circumference a peep at the composite antics of a con-secutively pictured monkey in the act of jumping a box. Then, again it is some flower stand, in the growth of whose shrubs, art has dared even to inerfere with nature, and begotted forms which the parent plant would fail to recognize, while opposite this show is a booth that, among its other curiosities, has for sale little microscopes with legs. Thus from one attraction to an other you wander on for miles, carried along with the tide of pleasure seekers in a sort of

The blackberry succeeds on old wood

A BLIND MAN ON MEMORY.

The Sightless Pupil Possesses One P. J. Jennings, an east side engineer Vital Advantage Over His Comand machinist, tells an interesting story about his dealings with a burglar. He panions. was sitting in his office one day a few months ago when two men entered As partial compensation, in the midst with a design they wanted made of of his many discouragements, the sight-As partial compensation, in the midst verbially good memory of the blind

"So marked is the advantage of the blind in this respect as almost to atone university, he will require, all in all

The Widow's Daughter.

ponse to the efforts we made a womau's

"Open the door or we'll break it

She struck a light, and we heard her moving about, and in a couple of min-haired woman of 45 stood there with a "Union soldiers, eh? Come right

"Wait one minute!"

steel. He took the job and turned it less pupil possesses one vital advantage Tremendous Appetites of the Inhabi- out according to order. The men over his companions. His memory came next day, and after chatting accustomed to seize and assimilate defipleasantly about the boodle aldermen nitions and miscellaneous information and other matters of popular interest in at a single hearing, acquires both a the city, paid their bill and went away. marvelous alertness and a phenominal Several other designs were brought retentive canacity which enable him to visiting on the Hunter, where the sail-ors were scraping off the pieces of the know them quite well. He did not singular ease and rapidity. Deprived gum adhering to the butt ends of the learn their business, however, but it of books and without any very ready whalebone. The natives stood by, and is such a common thing to deal with and reliable method of making notes, as the long shavings were rolled off men whom one knows only by sight, and remaine mention of the obtains a habit, often envied by the seeing, of appropriating instantaneously and the obtains a habit, often envied by the seeing, of appropriating instantaneously and the obtains a habit, often envied by the seeing, of appropriating instantaneously and the obtains a habit, often envied by the seeing, of appropriating instantaneously and the obtains a habit, often envied by the seeing, of appropriating instantaneously and the obtains a habit, often envied by the seeing, of appropriating instantaneously and the obtains a habit, often envied by the seeing, of appropriating instantaneously and the obtains a habit, often envied by the seeing, of appropriating instantaneously and the obtains a habit, often envied by the seeing, of appropriating instantaneously appropriating instantaneously and the obtains a habit, often envied by the seeing, of appropriating instantaneously appropriating appropriating instantaneously appropriating appropriating appr anything addressed to his intellect

But he found out who the men were through his hearing. Hence the pro-

One day they called to have him make half a dozen eight inch steel screws. He promised them for 5 o'clock, but the men did not come. remembers having a lesson in anything He did not see them the next day or read over to him more than twice, the next. On the third day one of nothing is more strange and more Pinkerton's detectives dropped in upon amusing than a room full of school The greatest feast I have seen the him in the afternoon, carrying a hand children, with fingers crammed in their natives have was about two weeks ago, when several whalers were lying at of curiously shaped pieces of steel on pages for the fifteenth time. Equally

"Were these made in your shop, Mr. making a note of a single address, or a Jennings?" casually remarked the de- lady referring to a shopping list. Such observations force one to the conclusion "Yes, that's our work," that the art of writing, invaluable as it "Who did you make them for?" "Now you've got me-it's more than memory. People have grown so to I can tell. I never had any reason to rely on a piece of white paper covered inquire, and the men didn't bother with black scratches, that if this be lost about telling me.' "But you are sure you made that to the condition of creatures without steel work here?" intellect.

"Yes, oh yes; I'm sure enough of Two days later Mr. Jennings was for their extra difficulties in others; subpoenaed by the prosecution as a that is, the sightless pupil will acquire witness against two men who had attempted to crack the safe in a bank in a rapidity which will counterbalance Ellenville, Ulster county. He met a the greater amount of time demanded Harlem machinist and an iron worker by his less facile methods of writing out from down town at the court house in exercises in linguistic and ciphering in Kingston. Pinkerton's men opened mathematical branches; so that in takwide their eyes when he took the ing the regular course at academy or pieces of steel that each had shaped, and, putting them together, showed neither more time nor more labor than them what a perfect sectional jimmy the average student.

they made. A Girl's Gratitude.

"Minnle, I have come to take you reading ten times the benefit of others; ome with me. you. Surely in this great world there impression.

is something for me to do-to teach or you are too young to live alone. Come and brighten my father's life and mine." And after much pleading ditions and processes, for the benefit of

Minnie consented to go,
Poor little giril She had buried her through the inevitable sequence of cause and clean, but through the inevitable sequence of cause and clean, by which causes and larished everything that wealth could faculties become, through unusual bny on his lovely daughter, had died and left her a penniless orphan, alone to fight the battle of life. Laura Goodwin, who had been her chosen friend at school, had come to brought her father's cordial invitation to make his house her permanent abode. He had been widowed himself Valley, Md., to obtain a remount, and could sympathize with the young word was received by the post comgirl's sorrow for loss, and readily sec- mander that a Confederate scout named William Baxter but who was studied among the subjects of the padishah, and it is very doubtful whether known to us as "Billy Bowlegs," was the family there came another change. on a visit to his mother who lived be-Laura, the stately beauty, found that tween the Potomac at that point and a her heart had wandered from the home village in Virginia called Uniontown.

sent to her marriage. wedding day, when one afternoon as the girls were sitting in the parlor waiting the summons to dinner a heavy fall overhead startled both. Mr. Goodwin's library, which was directly above them, was evidently the room whence the noise came; and after a evening at dusk just where the local consider actions of the select five men and cross the river and secure "Billy" dead or alive. The fact that he was at home was fully established, and the location of the farm house was known to two of the men who accompanied me. We sheytans or devils are abroad, much less consider actions of the unlucky character of the month of Safer, the second month in the Arabic calendar. No Turk would be bold enough to enter a new house or undertake a journey of these unpropituous days when the second month in the Arabic calendar. above them, was evidently the room where the dark state of the noise came; and, after a moment of silent consternation, the two ran swiftly upstairs. The friend then we had a walk of about eleven the average Turk thoroughly indorses two ran swiftly upstairs. The friend then we had a walk of about eleven and father lay upon the floor, where he had fallen after leaving his chair, struck down with paralysis, insensible.

The appointed wedding-day was and took her into her own chamber. Her face was pale, but resolute, her eyes full of suppressed pain as she said, "Minuie, will you do a painful The scout had be task for me?" "You know that I will do anything to us as of slender build, medium for you, Laura." "Then you will see Herbert for me and tell him this: Doctor Holmes said | know that he would not be taken alive to-day that my father would never re- if he had any show to fight, and theregain the use of his lower limbs. His middle fore as we approached the house about middle from across a field we were arms and hands; but from the lower anxiously wondering how we should in my care. My hands will minister to him as tenderly as yours; my feet Two of us went to the front and two shall fill the place of his; my"-"Stop! this must not be," said Mr. your youth to my infirmity, your activity to my helplessness.'

"You would keep Laura?" "She is my child; her own love keeps inch under the pressure, and in res-"Her love!" The child's pleading face was gone, and she stood erect bevoice called out:

fore them a woman, speaking her heart. "Her love calls her to Herbert as truly as mine—Oh, spare me," she cried, covering her hot blushes with her hands, "Do not force me to tear away from my heart its vell? Do you not know,' and she crept close to the bedside to utes the front door opened and a graywhisper, "that as Laura loves Herbert I love you? Do not turn me away; candle in her hand. let me be your wife-happier, far happier in ministering to you than I could in," she said smiling as if giad to see be in any freer, gayer life."

house and entered with the other, and HE-I saw your friend, Miss Sniverly, on Austin avenue, and noticed how as soon as I was inside, I said: "Madam, we have come for your son. poorly she was looking. Has she been We know he is here. We shall take him dead or alive." She-No, that's not the reason ate out eagerly toward the coveted

"Oh, you have come for Billy, have looks so bad. The dreggists have adopted the cash system and complexion you!" exclaimed a girl about 18 years of age who came running down stairs at that moment. 'Excuse me, gen-tlemen, for not being fully dressed, but heard each remark made as the plates you see you didn't send us any word." She laughed in a merry way, while were passed. One wanted a the mother smiled good-naturedly. She another "a very little," etc. had on a neat fitting calico dress, a When it came her turn she reached her as well prepared as if she expected our "I'll take too much, if 'oo pease, papa," she said, with naive sincerity. coming. "Yes, Jennie, they want Billy," said Plant early sweet corn pretty thick.

the mother as she placed the candle or a stand. "And we are bound to take him, dead or alive!" I added in a loud voice, suspecting the scout was within hear Oh, how sorry!" laughed the girl.

"If brother Billy had only known you were coming! But he didn't, you see, and so he went away at dark. He'll never forgive himself-never." "We must search the house," said. "Oh, certainly. Mammy, you light another candle and I'll show the gentlemen around. Perhaps the sight of Billy's old clothes will do 'em good. Well, sir, we hunted that house from attic to cellar, and all we found was an old suit of Billy's clothes. The scout had skipped, and the best I could do was to apologize to mother and daughter, accept a midnight luncheon at the hands of the latter, and take the back track for the river. I'll own up, oo, that I was "dead gone" on Jennie before I left, and that I said to her, as squeezed her hand at parting: "When the war is over I am coming to ask you to be my wife."

"And—and—I'll say—say y-e s," We got back to the ferry soon after living neighbor to the widow.

comprehensible is it to see a man he heard what we had been up to he "Was the widder all alone?" "No; her daughter Jennie was is, has been disastrous to the human "Daughter Jennie! Describe her." "Good looking girl of medium height, black eyes and hair, and a sweet talker. I'm going back to marry her after the or misplaced, they are reduced almost

'Bet you a farm you don't! That ar' gal Jennie was nobody else but that ar' scout, Billy Bowlegs! He jist jumped into some of his mammy's, and ou pig heads couldn't see through it!" He was right. I met Billy in Harper's Ferry after the war, and he wanted to know if I had taken out the marriage license yet.

Zadkiel the Real Autocrat of the Turks.

A study of Turkish superstition might help to explain much that is mysterious in the news telegraphed "Of not less value in after life is this daily from Stamboul to the newspapers extraordinarily trained and developed of the Giaour. Notwithstanding the memory. It enables the blind to derive progress the Turks have made of late from lectures, conversation and general years in the arts of civilization, Zadkiel is supreme king over the length on whose mind a simple mention of "No, Laura, I have no claim upon facts and thoughts make little or no From the highest to the lowest, all are "Thus the law of competsation is The office of munedjim bashi, or court something for me to do—to teach of seen working in all things, making astrologer, still exists. Its present occupant, Hadji Tahir Effendi, was unsign for nearly three years. The cause of the phenomenon is said never to ucation, and during the short exist- have been satisfactorily explained, years ago, was created a senator. His every action of the sultan and his ministers he has to calculate the most propitious day, hour and even minute; and he publishes annually an almanac n which, for the benefit of the whole Mohammedan population, the days are specified on which it is best to have thε In the winter of 1864, while a porhair cut or the nails trimmed, buy houses lands or slaves, to undertake a journey, and even to do nothing. Next to the koran no work is more widely even the great evangel of the prophet is more scrupulously obeyed. Much that is inexplicable in diplomaboundary to rest upon another love offered and accepted. Her lover was a gentleman in every way calculated Federals and making Pleasant Valley proverbial ill-luck of Sundays, Tuesto make her happy—a true, good man, and Mr. Goodwin gave a willing consent to her marriage.

their headquarters, and as I had been days and Saturdays had not been duly conside ed, or that proper attention was not paid to the seven evil days in was not paid to the seven evil days in exactly the same fashion as the present It wanted but a month of Laura's was instructed to select five men and every lunar month, or to the unlucky the pathological eccentricities of the peculiar people and the cosmic heresies of Mr. John Hampden. In over, when one morning Laura beck-oned Minnie from the invalid's room the river and Uniontown was then the hakim are dispensed with, and the prayers of a sheigh or holy man are requisitioned. As for the globular shape overrun with bushwhackers and guerof the earth and its alleged revolutions, rillas, and we anticipated more or less the intelligent Monammedan laughs such foliles to scorp. The disappear-The scout had been twice captured by the Federals, and he was described ance of the sun at night is accounted for by the periodical retirement of that height, fair complexion and dark eyes. pious luminary for prayer and religious Enough was known about his nerve to reflection.

Day of the Week at Manilla. Although the Philippine Islands lie near to the Asiatic coast it was by Spaniards who sailed eastward from imbs the power to move is gone for life. He will be crippled, almost helpless; and I, his child, can never leave time to arm himself. If we broke in crossed the magic line and strike out a we might and probably should find him day to keep themselves abreast of the "I will not tell Herbert, Laura, nor in bed. It was a still, clear night, times? No such thing; the Spanish must you break your engagement. You will not hesitate to leave your father cold, and we hung about for half an hour before adopting a plan. The such thalf an hour before adopting a plan. Then we decided to break in the doors. with the times then so much the worse for the times. Anyhow, the fact reto the back door, while the fifth man mains that when they arrived at the stood ready to receive the scout in case | Manilla or Philippine Islands they still Goodwin. "I cannot consent to bind your youth to my infirmity, your acdow supposed to be in his bed-room. been taken from Spain to America. We crept slowly up, and at a signal and from America by them on their both doors were burst --- No, they voyage. They were, of course, a day weren't! Neither of them gave an in arrear; but as there not then any important settlemer ts of civilized naons thereabouts with whom the date could be compared the date was not noticed; the reckoning took firm hold, and, in consequence, the inhabitants of Manilla keep plodding along one day behind all their immediate neighbors.

A Sign That Worked Both Ways. "I'm not the least superstitious," said a lady in the street car to her es never known to fall. If I see the rew moon over my left shoulder I'm just as sure to have bad luck as can be, and if I see it over my right shoulder I always have good luck." "That is very remarkable."

"Isn't it, Now last month I saw the noon over my left shoulder, and the very next day I went out riding on Dolly and she threw me. Wasn't that "It was, indeed. Did you ever know it to work the other way?" "Certainly I have. I saw the moon over my right shoulder this month, and the other day when I was out driving. and the horse overturned the carriage, ribbon at her throat, and except that her hair looked "tumbled" she looked m ght have been killed. Oh, I'm sure it I didn't even get hurt, although

NEWS IN BRIEF.

-Petroleum has been found in Egypt at a depth of 1310 feet. Simon Collins, a blind man, living at Marielta, Pa., is said to be one of the best mechanics in the country. -A well defined case of leprosy is said to be reported to have been discovered in St. Louis by a prominent -A friendship that makes the least noise is very often the most useful; for which reason I should prefer a prudent friend to a zealous one. -California wine is said to be increasing in demand in this section of the country at the rate of about a million gallons per year. -A turkey gobbler owned by farmer near Rockville, Ill., fights hens from their nests and covers and hatches the eggs himself. -As far back as 1599 an English writer remarked: "It is unseasonable and unwholesome in all months that have not an 'r' in their names to eat an oyster."

-Grant Johnson, a colored resident of West Chester, has been living three months with a bullet in his brain. He daylight and there met a Union farmer | is totally paralyzed, being unable to When move a muscle or talk.

-Some cows that were in a field that she was crossing, at Sag Harbor, L. I., recently, made a movement to-ward Mrs, Rogers, who became so frightened that she dropped dead.

-The fibre derived from the mner bark of young mulberry shoots is said yield a fabric much finer and stronger than cotton, and which, when woven, very much resembles silk. -Fishermen at moseburg, on the Stuslaw river, in Oregon, caught 10,000 salmon in one night recently, notwithstanding the cry being raised that the fish are rapidly leaving Oregon waters. -An Orange (N. J.) shoemaker found diamonds valued at $2000 to a pair of shoes sent him for repairs. The tones had been put in the shoes for safety by the owner and been forgotten. -The German town having the greatest number of saloons, relatively tants, and Schwerin has the smallest number, one to every 478 inhabitants. -The dog of George Marion, of tensselar, Ind., began barking at hole in the ground. Marion dug down and killed 113 blue racers and 27 bulmakes. The dog is still in the bole unting for the lie. -The floating island on Lake Der-

-It is computed that the death rate duties are not of a very complex kind, but they have an important bearing on political and social movements. For gain is sufficient to give a net increase of population each year of almost 1,200,000 souls,

> -A resident of Sumter, Ga., was driving a mule through the streets when the breeze caught up a big piece of blue paper lying in the guttes and whirled it directly before the animal's face. The mule, it is reported, started back in terror, trembled violently, and then fell over dead. -At least 10,000 preserved humming birds are now embraced in the collecdon in the British museum. inest collection on this side of the At mens, has been presented by Mr. D Natural History of New York.

-At Acosta a Roman metal pen has steel pen. The Dutch invented a many years later that the hand-screw steel pen, came into use. -Thakore Sahib spent $250,000 during his short visit to America.

Some of the money went for jewelry and some for railroad supplies for bought a fan set with diamonds and rubies, and for Queen Victoria a $2000 serving person that flocks of poultry are never interfered with by chicken thieves. The guinea is always on the alert, and the least disturbance will cause it to make a very loud outcry well known to farmers. This fowl should be found on every farm and on every hen roost, -The increase in the wages of work ng people in the United States was re rapid during the decade ending in 1860 than it was during the next de cade or the last one. The rate of inyears has been more rapid than the

-A ragpicker, in London, who recently found a purse with a sovereign in it on the street, straightway repaired, which they were in pressing need. They are now in jail, an astute magistrate reported their good luck to the police. -The following testimonial from a lady has been left at this office, for sale, by a dealer in patent medicines: "Dear Doctor-I will say that, while suffering from a severe backache, I out to buy one of your plasters. I met a street thief on the corner and was relieved at once. You can use this for what it is worth,"-Burlington Free Press.

-Elizabeth Patterson Bonaparte was the daughter of a wealthy merchant, and was married to Jerome Bona-Jerome to forsake his wife, but the young man would not do this until annulled the marriage and Napoleon granted her a large pension. She had e son, who was educated abroad. She died April 4, 1879, leaving a large fortune to her grandson.

-An enterprising man in Chicago proposed to procure tin boxes just arge enough to hold an ordinary sandwich, piece of pie, a flask of coffee and a Chinese napkin. He will fill a light wagon with them and at a certain his patrons a box and contents for the sum of fifteen cents. He savs his scheme is working, that he has secured over 300 subscribers on State and Dear-born Streets. As rapidly as his busi-