

AMONG THE SAVAGES

How "Boys" are Obtained to Work on Sugar Plantations. So great is the demand for "cheap labor" in the sugar growing districts of Tahiti and the Hawaiian Islands and Queensland, that it is being known that the natives of the New Hebrides were willing to "ship" on plantations for a term of years for merely nominal wages.

"Labor" vessels are always provided with a regular arsenal of rifles and pistols. The main hold is filled with cartridges that separate the females from the men—"boys" as they are called—certain sleeping platforms are fixed "banks." The vessels engaged in this trade carry three to five hundred, ranging from 250 to 500, ready for immediate service.

The captain of an English labor vessel sails her to and from certain designated ports, and cruises about waiting for the best chance of getting "boys," but no boat can go "recruiting" unless the captain is accompanied by a white officer, the vessel being brought off to the ship against the natives themselves, on the principle, perhaps, of the "interpreter." The particular one with whom the writer sailed on a Hawaiian labor vessel was called "the Devil," which title sufficiently indicates his character.

There is generally on a labor vessel an "interpreter," the particular one with whom the writer sailed on a Hawaiian labor vessel was called "the Devil," which title sufficiently indicates his character.

Supposing a vessel after "boys" to have arrived in Havana harbor, the finest in the group, on the island of Cuba, the captain goes ashore with at least one boat's crew of the natives themselves, on the principle, perhaps, of the "interpreter." The particular one with whom the writer sailed on a Hawaiian labor vessel was called "the Devil," which title sufficiently indicates his character.

When such a smoke is seen the boats are lowered and manned. The boats' crew consists of the captain, an interpreter, a cook, a carpenter, and a few natives. The boat is taken to the shore, the natives are landed, and the boats are lowered and manned. The boats' crew consists of the captain, an interpreter, a cook, a carpenter, and a few natives.

HOUSEHOLD

GENEROUS PASTRY.—Four ounces of flour, 3 of butter, 4 of almond paste and 6 eggs. Beat the butter in a bowl. Break the eggs into a bowl, add the almond paste, and beat the mixture until it is light and fluffy. Add the flour and beat again until it is smooth. Pour the mixture into a greased pan and bake in a water bath for one hour.

FLORENTINES.—Roll some nice puff paste to a thickness of an eighth of an inch and lay it on a thin baking tin. Spread the paste with a mixture of egg yolks, sugar, and butter. Cut into strips and bake in a water bath for one hour.

CALF'S HEAD, TERRAPIN STEW.—Cut up pieces of cold boiled calf's head into pieces of equal size and set them aside. Put half a pound of butter in a saucepan and melt it. Beat up the yolks of four eggs with a pint of rich cream, season with salt, and pour the mixture into the saucepan. Beat the butter rapidly, and while doing so gradually add the cream. Do not let the sauce boil, or it would curdle. Add the calf's head pieces, and simmer for one hour.

BRAND-MANNE.—Make a cake with a cup sugar, a cup sweet milk, one well-beaten egg, a little salt, two teaspoonfuls of cream, tartar and one egg white. Bake in a greased pan for one hour.

POTATO TURNOVERS.—Mash some dry, mealy potatoes while they are warm; add a piece of butter and mix with a little milk. Season with salt, and according to the quantity of potatoes. Dredge a pasteboard, spread it on a new pan, and brush with the large egg cut out in squares or round cakes five inches across. Put on each cake a spoonful of the potato mash, and fold over half of the cake to cover it, coat them over with egg and bread crumbs, and bake a delicate brown in a moderate oven.

POTAGE LA REINE.—Three pieces of veal stock, the bones of a roast chicken, a teaspoonful of raw rice, a small onion, a teaspoonful of oil, a quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper and a bit of mace. Let all boil one hour. In the meantime boil the meat of the chicken half an hour in a large pot, adding a little of the veal stock and rubbing through a coarse sieve. Strain the soup through a sieve, adding through the rice; add the chicken, and bring to a boil. At the last moment add a cup of hot milk or cream.

POULTRY TURKEYS.—Soak half a pound of bread (with the crust cut off) in tepid water, then squeeze it dry. Put three ounces of butter into a new pan, and when hot stir in a small amount of parsley, chopped fine, half a teaspoonful of pepper, salt, and a little grated nutmeg, pepper, salt, and a little of stock. Stir it over the fire until it leaves the bottom and the sides, then mix in two eggs. Some chopped celery is always an addition.

ORANGE COCOANUT.—Have ready a line piece cocoanut, peeled, washed, wiped dry and grated. Mix in plenty of butter, and beat the mixture with a large rubber, and then add the large pieces of orange peel and slice them. Cover the bottom of a glass bowl with the sliced orange, then the cocoanut, another of orange, and so on till the dish is full, finishing with cocoanut on top. This is a nice impromptu addition to the dessert at dinner.

POVERTY CAKE.—Put one-half teaspoonful of warm lard in the pan with one cup of water, two eggs, a little nutmeg or essence of lemon, baking powder one teaspoonful, and four enough to make a paste. This will make a drop cake if flour enough be added, and sheet-cake if left thin.

CREOLE ORANGE COOKIES.—Into two tablespoonfuls of butter put one large cup of brown sugar and two cups of flour. Season with a good deal of orange peel, well grated, and mix with molasses enough to roll thin. Cut in fancy shapes and bake in a quick oven.

HOT CLOTHS.—To best cloths for hot applications without scalding your hands, lay a wet cloth between two folds of brown paper, place it on the sore, pressing the top one down lightly with your fingers, and in a few minutes the cloth will be hot enough to blister.

DR. GUINARD'S RICE JAM.—There has been making experiments with a view to the use of the exact physiological action of coffee, finds, briefly stated, that coffee acts both as a stimulant and as a tonic. It is a powerful agent, permitting of a greater expenditure of force and a greater consumption of nitrogenous substances. It clearly increases the capacity for work.

A stamp pulling machine has been patented by a resident in May, N. Y. It is so constructed that in operation it tips the stump out of the ground sideways, thus carrying less soil; it is comparatively simple handled, and strong and durable.

FARM NOTES

One year ago I laid about 5000 feet of drain tile, running in size from 3 to 12 inches. My land is bottom and second bottom, and on a field of 120 acres was a shallow pond of water. I took the overflow of water from several hundred acres of land above me. The water would stand upon it every day or two for a week, but could never raise much but weeds upon it. The water would stand upon it every day or two for a week, but could never raise much but weeds upon it.

A METHOD OF GRAPING.—Having noticed the much discussed and never decided question, "the best time to prune," I have just made a simple experiment, by which each orchardist may determine the question for himself. A few large limbs from some apple tree in the fall, in the spring, in April or May, do the same treatment, and observe the same in both cases. Next fall examine the wounds. I predict that you will find the wounds made in the fall have healed so well around the edges as those made in the spring. An apple tree in the fall should be pruned, and will answer as well as any for the experiment. A good time to cut clons is in the last of November or the first of December.

A PRINTER'S GALLEY for providing a simple means for locking up matter in news-papers, or job offices has been invented by a citizen of Nashville, Tenn. The sections have lugs to their upper corners, preventing the overflow of ink, and a water discharge on the sides and upper ends, and downward at the lower edge, the whole to be readily adjusted and prevent water overflowing and taking up the matter.

What is Scrofula

It is that impure in the blood, which accumulates in the form of scrofula, producing unsightly eruptions or swellings, which cause painful running sores on the arms, legs, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness, which is the result of impure secretions excreted by the system. It is a more formidable enemy than consumption, and more difficult to cure, as it attacks the system in its most insidious manner, and is the most general of all diseases of the blood.
