On Thursday evening after dusk while John Earnest aged about 16 years was walking on a plank on the railroad coal warf below Mifflin station, he made a misstep and fell down about 9 feet. By the force of the fall he was rendered unconscious for several hours; also he was considerably bruised. He was not yet recovered sufficiently to be out of the house.

From the Huntingdon Globe: Charley Fisher, a German teamster of this place, had a mule killed on the Lewistown railroad, on a Sunday afternoon, last summer and failing to receive some compensation from the company, sued it for damages. The matter was heard before a board of arbitrators at the Court House, a few days ago and Charley was awarded $198

A "Frances Folsom Cleveland Club has been organized at Greensburg, in this state. It is made up of Democratic young women, who are to be provided with uniforms and torches. These young ladies, it is said, are from the first Democratic families of this town. What afflictions will this dreadful Presidential campaign bring upon us!—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Some wags were walking around an agricultural implement store, and they chanced to see in the rear, a dressed hog hanging by a hook in the wall. "What sort of an agricultural implement do you call that?" they asked. That is a patent combined root-grubber, corn sheller, apple-grinder, gate lifter, double action, back spring sod plow; but I guess you won't want one, for it takes a mighty smart man to manage it."—Vox Populi.

From the New York Mail and Express:

A countryman was in a Broadway fruit store.

"By gosh," he said, "there's strawberries!" Putting a couple in his mouth he asked:

"How much a quart, mister?"

"We don't sell 'em by the quart at this season; they are 50 cents a piece."

The countryman paid a dollar and hurried back to the farm.

"That ton of coal looks to me about 200 pounds short," said a family man, "and I'll have it weighed. The way sons of those coal dealers cheat is wicked." After he had had it weighed he said to his wife: "It's all right; weighs about a hundred pounds over." "How much will you have to pay for the extra weight John?" Nothing. That's their mistake not mine."—Exchange.

Last Friday morning about 3 o'clock a fire broke out in the stable of Fickes Bro's in Newport, whereby Fickes Bro's lost 3 stables, Bitzer Brothers 2 stables, W. H. Keagh 2 stables, and Rider Bro's, butcher shop. One hog and a lot of chickens were burned. The loss is considerable. From the Newport News it is inferred that the fire originated in an ash barrel that stood against one of the stables.

James Ackley, of Marshall, Michigan, attended the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Ackley, at this place, last Wednesday. He started for the west on the evening of the same day, after the funeral. Mrs. Ackley formerly resided in this town, but died at Altoona, at the residence of her son-in-law Mathias Walker. Her remains were brought to this place and interment took place in Presbyterian grave yard.

A soldier for glory, fame and fortune could and would as readily fight for one cause as another. Such a quality as patriotism is less to such a man, than glory, fame and fortune. And that is what Ingalls meant when he delivered his speech in the United States Senate, the other day, and spoke of McClellan and Hancock. The generals referred to, are not the only soldiers that fought for something else than patriotism. It is hoped the Democracy will survive the Senator's speech.

On Saturday afternoon Sullivan and Mitchell met in France and after 39 rounds, lasting over three hours, their gloved fist fight was declared a draw. The police arrested the whole party, and after picking out Sullivan, and Mitchell left the others go, but placed the principals in the lock up in Lewis. Mitchell, the Englishman, dodged the blows of Sullivan the Boston boy. Sullivan's friends and backers were disappointed that he did not knock Mitchell out before the 4th round as he expected to do.

"The other day Mike Wallace, a veteran miner, of Water Canon, N. M., was strolling up the cannon with a companion when they came upon a regular herd of bears. Mike began using his Winchester, and when he had exhausted the magazine seized his friend's rifle and continued the fusilade. When the smoke of battle rolled away seven bears lay on the ground dead. Wallace says there were nineteen bears in the herd, and that the two last he shot were within ten feet of him when he dropped them."

"The members of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission met in Harrisburg and took action on the large number of applications that have been received for carp and trout. After discussing the matter it was determined to buy carp sufficient to fill all applications. The limit of trout was fixed at 2000 for each applicant, and the Secretary was instructed to correspond with the hatching houses and learn how many trout are on hand, with a view to a pro rata distribution in the different parts of the State.—Ex.

An old Mexican at Nogales is trying to dispose of his fifteen year old daughter by raffle. The father wants to sell thirty tickets at 31 each, but is canvassing among those least liable to say anything about it. The girl, who is quite comely, was found with him. Both Americans and Mexicans express indignation, and it is quite probable that the old man's scheme will not be carried to a successful termination. The parties live on the Mexican side of town. A short time ago a Mexican woman of Nogales sold her sixteen year old daughter to a Chinese merchant for eighteen dollars. The Chinaman a short time afterward sent the girl home.—Ex.

The Lewistown Sentinel says: A McVeytown man released a rat from a trap expecting his terrier would gobble up the rodent. The dog failed to make close connection with the game and the man was amazed at its sudden disappearance until he discovered that it had worked a dissolving view on the dog by retreating up the inside of his pantaloons. He clutched the varmint madly with his left hand and pounded its innocent body with the other, holding it away from his tender flesh as far as the width of the pantaloons would permit. Thus by dint of vigorous choking and beating, the terrified man scored a victory and saved his bacon.

"Mrs. Trost, of Muskegon, Mich., went to bed in a Milwaukee hotel a few nights ago and went to sleep. In the morning she was missing and the most diligent search failed to reveal her whereabouts. It was thought that she must have become insane, escaped from the hotel and in all probability thrown herself into the river or lake. It turns out, however, that an hour or two after she retired she woke up and "herrd so much noise down stairs" that she became at first alarmed and then so terrified that she jumped out of a window on to a shed and thence to the ground and fled, never stopping until she reached the house of a relative near Megnon 16 miles distant."

"The following are the appointment of preachers, for the Carlisle District, at the Evangelical Central Pennsylvania Conference, at Lewisburg; Jacob Hartzler, P. E. Carlisle, J. A. Irvine; Cumberland, P. W. Group and Supply; Dillsburg, A. W. Swengle; Bendersville, J. W. mmelsorf; Lewisberry, L. K. Harris; Big Spring, H. A. Benfer; Leesburg, G. Hunter; Hagerstown, G. E. Zehner; Hagerstown Circuit, J. H. Welch; Marysville, J. W. Bentz; Perry, W. W. Rhoads and W. Minsker under P. E.; Newport and Patterson, J. C. Reeser; Liverpool, P. F. Jarrett; Juniata, S. M. Muntz; S. W. Seibert, member of Newport Quarterly Conference; B. F. Hall member of Perry Quarterly Conference."

On Sunday morning about 2 o'clock, George Mitchell was struck by a west bound through passenger train and knocked under an east bound freight train and his body severed near the abdomen by the freight. He and his brother Ed. Mitchell have been living with their father William Mitchell, several miles southwest of Mifflin station. The two brothers had concluded to go home and determined to ride part way as far as Michael Weller's place south of town on the freight train pulling out of the Patterson yard, and from Weller's proceed by a public road to their home. It was when they were about "to board" the freight train that the lamentable accident took place. The deceased was aged about 21 years. Funeral took place on Tuesday at 1 o'clock P. M., and was conducted by the Patriotic Sons of America, an order of which he recently became a member. Interment in Union Cemetery. The brother of deceased makes a narrow escape, since he stood between the freight and passenger trains as they passed.

From the Newport News of last week Wednesday evening of last week the dwelling house of John Hess, in Madison township, was destroyed by fire, which caught from a stove pipe going up through the roof. Very little of the furniture was taken out. No insurance. * * * A young man named Geo. Clark, living in Tuckey Valley, was a sufferer with tooth ache, and hearing that placing a silver dollar in the mouth against the aching member, would relieve the pain, he tried the experiment. Whether he received any benefit or not, he fell asleep with the dollar in his mouth and in course of time he awakened with a peculiar sense of swallowing something. After a time he remembered that he had the money in his mouth, and he awakened to the fact that that dollar at least was safely invested. All efforts to remove the coin was fruitless until he came to Millerstown, and consulted Dr. Hall, who inserted an instrument called a bijou and forced the coin down into George's stomach. This occurred on Friday evening last.

A freight train coming East, was wrecked by some unknown cause about 3 miles East of Huntingdon on Monday morning, at the time that record section of Western Express, was due at that point. Western Express, was made up of six sleeper coaches containing 92 passengers, under the conductorship of Charles Kinter. Between the time of the wreck of the freight train which spread its broken cars over the passenger track and the coming of the rapidly running Western Express, there was not time to forward a flagman and thus without a check of speed the Express rushed into the wrecked material of the freight train. The passenger engineer, Robert Gardner, of Harrisburg was killed with his fireman Charles Moyer, formerly of Patterson but latterly of Harrisburg

The wrecked passenger train with four of its coaches, demolished and the excited exclamation of frightened passengers at the early hour of 3 o'clock in the morning caused a general belief that many passengers had been killed and many hurt, and surgeons were sent for. Dr. D. M and Dr. Dowd Crawford of this place went to the scene of disaster on the wreck train. All kinds of startling rumors prevailed all forenoon as to the number killed and injured, but they were exaggerated reports. The engineer and firemen completed the list of killed. Brakeman Charles D. Shrickengust of Harrisburg had an ankle hurt. A passenger from New York had his head cut. Kuter the conductor had a finger hurt. A woman from St Louis was severely shocked by fright. An other woman had an eye brow bruised and blackened, and that constitutes the list of injuries.

The demolition of the passenger engine, the destruction of the passenger cars, and the wrecked freight cars will foot up a loss in money of perhaps $100,000. The wreck took place about the middle of the freight train.

The Age of Steam.

The toughest heart is soonest reached through the stomach. The man who ate a boiled crow was asked how he liked it, and answered: "I can worry it down, but don't hanker after it." The head of many a family whose thin paper is read, sits down daily to a meal of crow, soggy potatoes, and vegetables with all the flavor boiled out them, meats tough as leather, and with about as much atmosphere. They worry it down, but hanker for something eatable. Dyspepsia, indigestion and ill-temper are never seen in families that use the Model Steam Cooker. See illustration. It fits any stove, and will cook a whole meal for the family with the fire that would keep a teakettle boiling. It will save its cost in any family in three months in the saving of fuel, and food, to say nothing of health and temper preserved. The Model Cooker Co., 34 Park Row, New York, want agents in every county to help them sell these wonderful Cookers, and any one wishing permanent remunerative employment should write to them at once for full particulars.
