This belated snake story comes from Chester county: "The wife of G. W. Alexander of Honeybrook, Pa., purchased some links of sausage a few days ago and placed them on a plate that covered a crock of pickles in her cellar. She went down the cellar to get the sausages to cook. She had no light, but could see the plate and the coil of sausages as she supposed, by the dim light that the cellar window gave. She reached down to pick the sausages up, when she was startled to see them uncoil and disappear. She called for the servant to come down with a light. When the light arrived Mrs. Alexander discovered a snake, about six feet long and very "schunky," crawling slowly on the cellar floor. She killed it. It had the links of sausage inside of it. The snake had swallowed the sausage and finding the smooth plate pleasant to lie on, had curled itself up to wait until its supper digested."

Half Rates to Washington for the Inauguration via Penna. R. R.

The inauguration of President-elect Harrison promises to be the most largely attended as well as the most interesting occasion of the kind ever held in the National Capital. Political clubs and civic organizations from a majority of the States, as well as the militia of all the neighboring States, will take part in the inaugural parade, while vast throngs of visitors from all parts of the country will swell the assemblage. The inaugural ball will be the finest ever given in honor of a new President. To accommodate the host of visitors the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will arrange a complete service of through trains to Washington. Besides the special movement all regular trains will be run in as many sections as the demands of travel require, so that one may leave any principal station of the system on Friday, Saturday, or Sunday previous to the inauguration, and arrive in Washington without delay. The handsome and commodious station of the company is situated in the very heart of the city, on Pennsylvania Avenue, on the line of the inaugural procession, a few squares from the capitol, and within a few minutes' walk of the principal hotels and public buildings.

The capacity of the terminal facilities of this company was fully demonstrated at the last inauguration, when 100,000 passengers were handled, without accident or delay, in forty-eight hours.

In order to enable the overflow of Washington to go to Baltimore for hotel accommodations the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will, on March 1st, 2d, 3d, and 4th, place on sale excursion tickets to Baltimore, good for return trip until March 7th, at $1.20.

Excursion tickets at half rates will be sold from all ticket stations on the Pennsylvania Railroad System, March 1st, 2d, 3d, and 4th, valid for return passage until the 7th.

The round trip rate from Mifflin will be $5.20.

Neighboring News.

From Mifflin county papers: S. B. Hartzler has made since July 30, 2200 barrels of cider. * * * We are informed that some of our farmers cribbed their corn too early and it is spoiling * * * Jonas Kerns is at present building a large new chicken house. * * * On a recent trip to McClure we noticed a vast amount of corn to be husked yet. * * * The Allensville mill is crowded and the miller has been compelled to run day and night since the election to supply feed for the many cattle that are being fed. * * * Some of our farmers were out plowing on the 26th, plowing down the snow which was on the ground. * * * Saturday evening a week there were four robes stolen out of buggies at the Presbyterian church while the owners were attending services. * * * The foreign demand for walnuts has caused many of our citizens to gather them and quite a lot have been purchased by our merchants. * * * Some miscreant set fire to a large lot of lumber in one of the Juniata sandbank drifts, throwing seventeen men out of employments. * * * On Thanksgiving afternoon our citizens were treated to a drill by Company G. The streets were very muddy and only nineteen men turned out. * * * When we gave the weight of our old friend, D. H. Harlacher's, spring pigs a short time ago, we thought there could be none better, but one of our thrifty farmers, Joshua Peachey, killed a hog on Tuesday night months old which dressed 205 pounds, when still pigs. Name about for heavy weights. * * * Monday morning when the fire was built in the stove in Wharton's school house south of Ryde the house was set on fire and burned down. They saved the books. What a pity it is that there is no one to look after the pipe and flues of our school houses. They should be cleaned every year before school begins. * * * On Tuesday afternoon of last week an unknown man was killed on the railroad near Longfellow station. He had been walking on one track and when a train approached he stepped over into the other track and not noticing or hearing another train coming behind him, the second train struck him, knocking him off the railroad. His skull was so badly fractured that death ensued immediately.—The body was brought to Lewistown, an inquest was held, after which he was buried. The man was quite well dressed, but there was nothing on his person that would lead to his identity. * * * Oscar Slackpole and Mr. Burgstresser, of Harrisburg, and Ed. Woodruff, of Lewistown, along with some Bratton township boys, were in the mountains hunting Wednesday of last week. Mr. Burgstresser shot and knocked down a large buck with a load of buckshot, but he jumped up and ran off again. They followed him for some distance, but finally gave up the chase for that day. They went back Thursday to look for him, but there was another crowd of hunters out and Joseph Moist shot the same deer just handy to some of the first party. They could see where it had been hit with the shot, but the first crowd were green hunters and they said nothing about claiming any part of it. They were entitled to a part, according to hunters' rule. There were some hunters who went out Sunday morning to Licking creek and on Monday Rob. Hammon shot a deer, being the second one for him in two weeks.

From Perry county papers:

On last Friday evening as James Flynn, Jr., accompanied by his mother was leaving town for his home in the township, he accidentally drove over the east end of the first bridge on South Carlisle street, throwing himself, mother and a quantity of groceries into the creek. James and his mother were slightly injured, the carriage badly broken, the groceries carried away by the peaceful little stream, and the mule—well, when extricated, and carefully erected on the road-bed again was so badly frightened that it had changed from a glossy black to a fashionable new color styled the guinea fowl gray. Another buggy was procured from Liverman Etter, and the unfortunate party proceeded onward. This is the second misfortune of this kind that has occurred at this point this Fall, and although the bridge is of sufficient width, and not more than three feet above the water surface, yet the approach is a little somewhat peculiar, and an immediate attention on the part of our Borough dads may avoid much trouble and an expensive litigation. * * * George W. Jacobs has killed the largest porker reported about Lebo so far. Weight 403 pounds. * * * Miss L. Alice Moyer of Mifflintown, Juniata county, is now a visitor at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. W. Rice in Bloomfield. * * * Rev. A. H. F. Fischer, of the Bloomfield Lutheran charge, informed the council of his church for their consideration that he had received two unanimous calls from other pastoral charges, —one from Philadelphia and another from Lafayette Hill, Montgomery county. Mr. Fischer has been pastor of the Bloomfield charge for five years.

Samuel McKee of Madison brought the 1st turnip to town. It weighed exactly 8¼ lbs. * * * The bridge at Mr. John Martin's gave way on Wednesday, the 21st ult., as Adair's traction engine was crossing. The hind wheels went down taking with them the greater part of the bridge walls. On Thursday morning assistance was procured and until night the engine had gone on its way again and the damaged bridge was almost repaired. * * * A sad accident happened at Marysville on Wednesday, the 21st ult. A 2 year old child of Mr. Lick was burned almost to death. Two little boys went out into the yard to play and they had some matches and set a pile of shavings on fire. The fire ignited the little boys clothing and burned him so badly that he died the same evening. He was buried on Saturday afternoon.
