Liver

Disorders

S Pill S. Rheumatic Romeds

ESS DYES Are the BEST,

AL OFFER

Illustrated WEEKLY

Address.

Boston, Mass.

Supplements

Inniata Sentinel La and Republican.

Editor and Proprietor.

VOL. XLIII.

B. F. SCHWEIER,

THE CONSTITUTION-THE UNION-AND THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAWS.

MIFFLINTOWN, JUNIATA COUNTY, PENNA., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 2, 1889.

Mn. PARNELL has plenty of generous friends in the world. They have contributed in round numbers a hund red thousand dollars to aid him in his

THE MILITIA FORCE of the country has been increased nearly 10,000 during the year, and there are now only four States and Territories without an active militia sufficient to entitle them to receive ordinance and quartermasters' stores from the United States. There are Arkansas, Arizona, Idaho legal struggle with the London Times.

THERE were 2436 desertions from the army last year, or more than 10 per cent of the whole force, according to the report of General Schofleld, This would seem to indicate that what the military service needs is either more severe punishment for desertion or a ot more recruiting offices.

HOTH Minnesota and Dakota report important discoveries of coal, which, if confirmed, may make the growth of the Nerthwest even more remarkable than it has already been. Good coal in large quantities in that region would supplement the riches of the agriculture, which has already made the State of Minnesota and the coming State or States of Dakota the most rapidly growing communities in the Union.

OFFICIAL returns of the vote at the last election have been received from 29 States, which indicate that the popular vote for President will be closely divided, with a probable plurallty for Cleveland of less than 50,000, The Prohibitionis's in these 29 States buted. The Labor party has over 100,000 votes, one-half coming from the two States, Kansas and Missouri

No MORE Sendish crime can be re called than that of the incenduary who started the fire in Calumet and Hecla mine at Ishpeming, Michigan, cutting the bell rope to prevent an alarm being given, and disconnecting the water pipe, Scores of miners were imprisoned, and it was only by chance that no more than six or eight lost their lives. Human ingenuity has not invented a form of punishment to fit this crime.

t has been in five wrecks this year, and on the evening of the 6th, ran into a coal train and had to be again sent way of looking at such accidents. Irish family that had newly arrived in There is no such thing as "luck" un a railroad, but there is mismanagement, carelessness, disobellience of orders, lown as the rational causes of all the so-called ill luck of the Hercules,

Island, has decided that the conduct of a coursing club in running down and tilling rabbits with dogs is not cruelty to animals. It is true that rabbits, if they are to be killed, could hardly be tilled more expeditiously. The records n one of the trails showed a rabbit killed 17 seconds after the start. But the cruelty consists in doing the killing merely for sport. In America, as in England, there are people who say: "What a beautiful day, let us go out and kill something!"

HRONEK, the Dynamite conspirator, in Chicago, has been convicted and sent to the penitentiary for twelve years at a good season to admonish other Anarchists, who are reported to be organizing, drilling and making or tistening to incendiary speeches. It is a hard matter to deal with them unless they commit some overt act, but it is wor h while to keep a sharp eye upon another Haymarket massacre, which cannot be repaired by the hanging of any number of conspirators.

seashore a ter the great storm of the 25th ult. were rewarded by getting specmens of various sea animals that are seidom found on the coast. The disbeen widespread, and the sand was cut away from the beach in vast quantimud banks exposed for long stretches. Star fishes, which are generally so scarce as to be considered curiosities on the New Jersey coast, were washed up in great numbers, and on the beach at Sea Isle City alone, hundreds were picked up of all sizes from an inch to ten or twelve inches in

This is the season when every man, Noman and child, whose circumstances are not those of abject poverty, should begin to go down deep into their good plan, however, not to think so much of the reward; but give spontan-

New York when the new acqueduct is where, and are adding largely to the mished, the maximum being given at older settlements. They are not dis- from filling these requirements by the 20,000,000 gallons per day, it is esti- couraged by either prosecution or perunated that ten years hence the population will have so increased that the daily upply will be short 70,000,000 gallons. This is the estimate of the Chief Entineer of the Creeky accordance in the Creeky accordance in the country will be short 70,000,000 gallons. The given that their religion on an equality with others. The lineer of the Creeky accordance in the claim that their religion is the claim that their religion is

MISCHIEVOUS RATS.

They are of the Rodent Variety.

in Colorado are bothered yet with what of, but superior to the Government of we used to call wood rats," said a the United States. The orders of the former resident of that State, now in priests and prophets are considered business in Harrisburg, Pa., 'but a few years ago, when I went there, these mischievous little rodents kept side the National Government, as the us in a perpetual stew. The wood rat is a natural born, irreclaimable thief. pendent of Scotland. Unless checked What he steals for no one has ever found out, for, he doesn't crib its roots in the dark until its mere things to eat, and he distributes his voting power will be a formidable in from Denver. I knocked the head prevention applied. out of the keg and left it in the shanty It is proposed as a means for solving the over night. The next morning the Mormos problem that a readjustthere wasn't a nail in the keg, but in | ment of the boundary lines between the their place was a miscellaneous collec- Territories be made, and involves the tire class of jokes among which tion of articles, consisting of table dismemberment of Utah in such a way knives, spoons, a tin saucer, several that the Mormons and their possessions stones, a number of chips, a buckskin glove, and, worst of all, a set of false is probable that the Constitutions of We knew at once that the mischievous rats had been at work, one idaho would adopt, in the event of and I set out to see if I could gather her admission, could be made to emainmal creation. Men have been wolves up at least a portion of my nalls about the neighborhood. I found a man who the technical difficulties which would had lost a spoon and had found a pile attend the admission of Utah by itself. f nails in his kit. The owner of the buckskin glove had not been remunerated for its loss with nails, but some one's woolen sock lay in its place. By and by the whole community was out ooking up missing things and dumping natis at my shanty. I got back half of them, and the articles that had been left in their place were all restored to their owners, except the false teeth. No one in the whole neighborhood had lost any teeth. The fluding of the teeth came to be the talk of the country, and in a few weeks a Judge in a town twenty miles polled 184,604 votes, pretty well distri- away sent a man over to look at them, as he thought they might be a set of teeth of his that had mysteriously disappeared, stating that they had been taken from a tumbler of water in which they had been placed overnight. and that a dead bird bad been left in > the Judge's. The rats must have had a high old time with the Judge's teeth before they reached my shanty with them and dumped them in the nall "It used to be a favorite pastime with the wood rats to carry all sorts of refuse and garbage into houses and scatter it about. I have waked up more than once to find some moist and sweet-smelling tidbit from the swill tub lying across my face, or a number of them piled on the bed cover. This led to constant annoyance and misregion, unacquainted with the ways of the animal were frequently mystified and sometimes frightened by occurrences. I remember the case of an the neighborhood, where they had purchased a little property. They had bean there a week before the rats began to hand rouble for them.

>
> Denny Ryan, the head of the family placed his pipe on the table, asual before going to bed one night. When he arose in the morning the pipe was gone, and where it had lain was a tallow candle. Denny had no such thing as a tailow candle in his house, and no one in the house had touched the pipe. This aroused his superstitious feelings. He related the circumstance to some acquaintances with much awe. They saw probable fun in store for them, and did not inform Denny as to the cause of the mystery. One morning, a few days later, Denny found his lost pipe in his boot, and the sock he had left there when he went to bed was gone. Denny declared that there were leprechauns or something in his house. He was thoroughly frightened and wanted to sell his property. A number of Eastern men had got possession of some land next to Denny's, and his holding, they believed, would in time be highly valuable. Unknown to any of Denny's acquaintances, they made him an offer had done was regular they stuck to on any one road. their bargain. Denny's friends, how- On the best of roads a freight train ever, chipped in and made up quite a sum of money for him. If the wood borrowed car may be throwe in the rats hadn't bothered Denny he would path of a passenger train on another have been a rich man in a year or so, for his property became worth many thousands of dollars. "The wood rat is about the size of a common house rat, with a tail nine wheels) can prevent this kind of disas-inches long. It is gray on the back ter. There is constant danger on most and white on the belly. There's deviltry enough in one of them to fill a placed switches, many switches being woodchuck. You seldom see one of them, numerous as they are, for they lay low in the daytime and never come tooling around a house at night if any

The Mormon Problem

Mormonism promises to cause much every switch target as long before trouble yet. Elders of that church are making headway in their work of finds the switches all right and the proselyting, and the newspapers frequently report companies of converts being conducted to the West by these logatherest thou thyself a good reward in the day of necessity." It is a cline, as we are accustomed to think, but rather on the increase. Alabama, Tennessee and other Southern States are overrun with emissaries of the upon the hazards of his vocation perpleasure in such giving is sufficient rethe score. It is claimed by the leaders that 10,000 persons have been added to its membership during the past year They are establishing colonies in Arizona, Idako New Mexico and else-misunderstood, and that it is entitled to full recognition. The fact is Mormonism is not merel a religion; it is a form of governmen as well. By its members its authority "I don't know whether people out is recognized as not only independent has fliched from another place. I remember once I was building a shanty now, but it would be better should the wedder-vane? n Pueblo, and had a keg of nails sent dangers be recognized and the proper be distributed among three States. It Colorado and Nevada, as well as the brace a provision which would meet all

HERO OF THE RAIL.

Dangerous Duties Performed by the Locomotive Engineer.

The locomotive engineer is the popuar "hero of the rail," and the popular estimate in this respect is substantially just. Others have to brave dangers and perform duties under trying circumstances, but the engine runner has | little dog ? " to ride in the most dangerous part of the train, take charge of a steam boiler that may explode and blow him kiss ebery puppy dat came along." to atoms, and of machinery that may a vigilance which only a being more than human could successfully maintheir stead. The teeth proved to be inder the most trying circumstances, If running a fast express through mid cipice (and a brother runner killed) by train wreckers the night before, he not "heroically grasp the throttle" in the face of danger, when the throttle has been already shut, nor does he profession. whistle down brakes" in order to add what after this style: a stirring element to the reporter's tale. when by the magic of the air brake he its ta 1? ' understanding, and new-comers into the can, with a turn of his hand, apply take him to reach the whistle pull.

every brake in the train with the grip his master? of a vise in less time than it would generally just one thing to do, and that is to stop as soon as possible. An instant suffices for shutting off the steam and applying the brake. With modern trains this is all that is necessary or can instinctively by old runners, in any case, but this also is done in a second. After taking these measures there is nothing for the engineman to do but witted runners in such cases, but there is no ground for censure of the en own face therein and of course gineer, who, in the excitement of the moment, decides to slacken instead of quicken his speed. The rare cases of this kind are what show the value of experience, and of men of the right temperament and degree of intelligence to acquire experience lessons readily. PROBABILITIES OF ACCIDENT. But the terrible cloud constantly for his property. It was less than he hanging over the engineer and fireman had paid for it, and in spite of his of a fast train is the chance encountersuperstitious fears about his house he ling an obstacle which cannot possibly refused to take it. A day or two after | be avoided, and which leaves them no that Denny found his stove half full alternative but to jump for their lives, of potatoes, not one of which had if Indeed it does not take away even been in the house before, and the kind- that. To the fact that this cloud is no ling wood he had placed in the stove larger than it is, and that these men the night before was piled on a table have sturdy and courageous natures in the sitting-room. Without waiting | must be attributed the lightness with to entirely dress himself he hurried to which it rests upon them. On one the parties who wanted to buy his road or another, from a washout, or property and closed and clinched tha inefficient management, or a collision transaction at once. When his friends, caused by an operator's forgetfulness, who had been keeping him in ignorance or some one of a score of other causes, of the ways of the wood rat for the joke there are constantly occurring cases of of the thing, heard of what he had men heroically meeting death under the been induced to do by the land sharpers most heartrending circumstances. they attempted to force them to Every month records a number of such, cancel the sale, but as everything they though happily they are not frequent > wrecked by a broken wheel under a track just as the latter approaches, This has happened more than once lately. No amount of fidelity or fore-thought (except in the maker of the located at points where the runner can see them only a few seconds before he is upon them; but the chance is so small-perhaps one in ten or a hundred thousand-that the average runner forgets it, and it is only by severe self discipline that he can hold himself up to compliance with the rule which requires him to be on the watch for reaching it as he possibly can. He haps too little.

A Healthy Sign. The recent large purchases of steel rails are a healthy sign. They indicate that the railroads have been deterred upon their claim that their religion is the city of Brooklyn.

GRAY-WHISKERED JOKES.

Lew Dockstader Tries to Tell Which of all Chestnuts Fell First.

The minstrel joke which is associa ded with my earliest recollections of the profession is the weathervane con the old minstrol tokes took the shape of conundrums, the end man firing th in its growth Mormonism will spread questions to the interlocutor, who, ter repeating it with a good deal of booty about the country without any menace to the communities in inability to answer. The squib t regard to his personal benefit. When which it flourishes if not to the nation which I allude was brought on in the inability to answer. The squib to he steals something from one spot he itself. Once a power in politics it will following fashion: will put in its place some article he be the harder to eradicate. It is easy Bones—Can you tole me de reason

> Interlocutor-No, Bones, I can not What is the reason? Bones-Because it's too much trouble to go up after de eggs.

But it is easier to point out an enchestnut of chestnuts is probably to be found than it is to put your finger on the individual chestnut. And I am in clined to think that that class of jokes is the one which compares the human and foxes, monkeys and pupples al-most since the world began. There is the puppy joke, for example, which has held the minstrel stage ever since I can remember, and which every year is renewed in some way or other, but is al-ways the same joke. One of the old rersions ran something in this fashlon: "Eph, I heard somedn' about Pourpey yesterday. He went down to see his gal night afore las' and his gal has got a pooty little dog and she was huggin' and kissin' the dog and Pompey got jealous. Sez he to de gal: 'Jane why don't you kiss me like you do d

"What answer did she make?" "Why, she tole him dat she didn't This form of witticism brought or break and kill him and try to keep up the uncomplimentary reference by implication, such as, for example, the oke in Robertson's play of "Ours," tain. He must be a tolerably skillful This was either taken from the min machinist-he cannot be too good-and strei stage or the minstrei stage took it have nerves that will remain steady from the play, I don't know which. It arises during a game of bowls. A pretty girl is doing the bowling. A yould night darkness over a line where a sim- man is complaining of his head aching, llar train has been tipped off a pre- and the girl says semething about the ball she is rolling. The young man must dash forward with the same con- fers to his head. She says no; she was fidence that he would feel in broad day- speaking of that other wooden thing. light on an open prairie. But he does There is no doubt that Southern's famous witticism about the dog and his tail certainly came from the burnt cork It was usually told some-

Tambo-Because he is glad to see When there is danger ahead there is stronger dan de tail. If de tail was de lit was a last flicker before winter.

Stronger lit would wag de dog. It was a last flicker before winter.

The Gloire de Dijon roses bloomed wouldn't it? I am not sure but what the most venerable chestnut in existence is the looking glass chestant. The old form was about as follows; sary on many engines, and formerly able iles an' I see it's no use tryin' to was on all; this would, in fact, be done get truth out ob you for I see de villain in your face.' "Does you? Well, I never knew my face was a looking glass before." Now that retort courteous certainly look out for his own safety. In some dates back to the time of Shakespeare circumstances, as in the case of a partially any way. Every one will remember how burned bridge which may possibly sup- in "As You Like It," where "Orort the train even in a weakened con- lando" and "Jacques" have their war dition, it may be best to put on all of words in the forest "Jacques" finalsteam. The runner is then in a ly declares with a sigkificant nod that dilemma, and a right decision is a lie was looking for a fool. "Orlando" matter of momentary inspiration. replies promptly that if "Jacques" will look in the brook he will find him. The old grumbler says that he will see hi lando" catches him.

THE HUSBAND'S PART.

How a Man Should Assist His Wife Her Housekeeping Work.

wife in planning her work. Let every husband give his wife the benefit of his practical business experience, and advise with her how she may best arrange and time her several duties that they may least conflict. In the second place the husband should give the wife the full amount of money necessary properly to care for Third, he should see that she has the best tools that can be had to lighten her labor.

means shorten her hours of labor. If he finds that she is obliged to work earlier and later than he, then he should at once give or procure for her such assistance as will make their working hours equal. Fifth, realizing that for her labor she receives no direct compensation he should, at least, be careful to give continually that reward of of coadial praise, which costs him nothing and so much pleases her.

Finally the man must recognize that many of the domestic duties are essen-tially proper to him, and not to the such are all that require great physical exertion, Therefore, not only should proper implements be generally fornished for the woman's use, but all the materials she must use should be provided and made easily accessible. Plenty of coal, wood and kindlings should be kept near the place where they are to be burned, water should supplied so as to be handy and abundant, plenty of hooks, shelves, closets, etc., should be arranged to the best advantage. At house cleaning time the man should move or get moved the heavier articles of furniture; he should attend to cleaning and putting down of carpets, the setting up of stoves, and the ire; in a word, he should assume the re-ponsibility for all the heavier and man finds enough more agreeable more disagreeable duties connected thoughts to fill his mind, and reflects with good housekeeping, and be will ing, on occasion, to take a hand in those which are lighter.

But if he won't do these things which he ought to do, let him at least have grace enough to keep out of the woman's way while she is doing them for him, and refrain, when they are done, from rewarding his overworked helpmate with cross and complaining

-The increase of capital by national banks in Alabama in the five years from 1882 to 1887 was $2,663,275, or Chrysanthemums,

Ragged wanderers out in the cold, Waving defiance to Autumn's blasts, Tossing and shaking your straight r ing and shaking your straight rea Out 'mid the unquiet breezes there, Like tattered pennants on swaying masts.

Red and yellow and white and pink, mooth and jagged, quiet and gay, What are you saying as you are playing, Dancing and bowing, nodding and swaying. To and fro' on this Autumn day?

You motley crowd in harlequin garb. ou stragglers bold, with spicy breath, Who come at the end of the long proces (Patient victims without transgression)

What are you calling out to the wind, As he flies on his course past your garden places, That makes him stop on his blustering

Strike with rough hand your saucy faces? You are hardy and strong, oh flaming flowers, As you carelessly laugh to the wind and But stronger than you, or the wind, or the rain, Is the law-the beginning of mortal pain

BETROTHAL BROKEN.

There are three girls in our familyas my youngest sister, I should now be forlorn future. But perhaps matters feelings become blunted. Just now 1

Constance is my senior by four years. Ismay only twelve. The Lorraines were our oldest and dearest friends, and Ismay and I studied with the girls under the same governess at their house. My father was the squire of the village where we lived, Mr. Lor-raine the rector, and there were no other families of consequence within the beauty competition, Juliet?' five miles.

I was sixteen. It was in October; Guy Lorraine had left Rugby and was going 'But into residence at Cambridge. We Ju. young ones had been spending a month at the seaside under frauleins care, but wish people would never allude to my the holidays were at an end now, and I felt somewhat gloomy as I wandered console me for my lack of beauty by alone in the rectory garden. To lose telling me I am amable—which isn't voices in the distance, and then two to carry a reminder of forms emerged from the shadow and to the grave with him. was too bad.

days, with a round face, a tremendous Guy. Two more beautiful faces could their walk; but, no; they stopped, and Bones-No. It's because de dog is stronger dan de tail. If de tail was de scarlet geraniums in the parlor glared. The Gloire de Dijon roses bloomed everywhere, and stocks and asters made calmly, seating herself and spreading haps you think that is your proper leaves on the trees were changing hue

I was attired in my usual wante has never tidy—and one of Guy's hats, never tidy—and one of the hall. As Something about the golden apple.

'Do you remember Paris and the straight is now, looking straight.

rumpled frock and push back my and then cast down ner eyes. The was only acting. Whatever Ismay was only acting. Whatever Ismay was, she was not shy. I tried to angel or a Venus separately, not both from yellow fever to the people of Jacksonville, and what they should 'Then you must like me always.'

an exception.

and come and sit with us." 'Indeed I wouldn't; I'd chose some one civil, not you. 'Ah, you're jealous of Ismay, and I don't wonder; but I'm not going to talk about her just now. Do you know I came home especially to see you?'
'I wondered what had made you leave the river so early, but I'm not surprised to hear that I was the attrac-'You conceited monkey, I should enjoy boxing your eyes, but I haven't

I giggled outright, but he pulled my hand through his arm, and we marched off in silence. After a moment's pause, I opened my mouth to speak, but he broke in suddenly. 'Ju, you know I am going away tomorrow. ·Well? 'Are you sorry?' 'No, I'm very glad. I hope you'll had stolen into my heart.

them seriously.' 'Oh, Juliet, why won't you underleave you?" 'Of course you are.' 'And you must know the reason hy, Ju. I am fond of you.' 'I know that too.' 'You're really past all endurance. Must I explain everything, just as if you were a baby? I'm not fond of you that way. ·Which way?

shook me. 'You know what I mean perfectly well. I'm going to marry you.' I made a courtesy. 'I must really tell mother that I'm

Guy took me by the shoulders and provided for: she was very glad when Connie married in her second season, but I've done a great deal better. Actually, Guy, I'm engaged two years before 1'm out.' Guy was leaning against a tree looking very sulkily at me,

'I'm quite in earnest,' he growled, but if you're only going to make fun of me I'll go.' You are going, that is to say, you're going to-morrow, but not just this 'If you wish me to say I am in love 'Oh, Juliet, and do you really love want to say no.'

'And you're the sweetest girl in the though I knew not then that that was world.' 'Guy, I'm positively growing vain. wish fraulein thought the same.' 'Will you ever be in earnest, Juliet. know you will never marry me when you better than any other woman. you're grown up. You make fun of everything, and you will turn out a close by.

good-for-nothing flirt.' There was a pause, and I tried to at Guy. His dark eyes were melancholy, ludicrously so, perhaps, but I lt was Ismay. She was lovelier than was touched. He looked so sincere, and ever in the pale moonlight. Her face perky, odious, and hated myself.

'Are you sure you mean what you say?' I asked hesitatingly. 'Yes,' he said simply, and I knew he was speaking the truth. 'And if you meet prettier and nicer Guy's speech. It seemed only natural

'You are the prettiest and the nicest girl in the world. 'I don't want you to say that; I want you to say you'll never love any berent way, but he said never a word,

'I shall never love any one half so And so the romance of my life began. When I was seventeen my father gave and more distinct every moment; and I his consent to my engagement with had not even relief in tears. Constance, Juliet and Ismay, and it is Guy, and we were to be married when I, Juliet, who am writing this little I was twenty. The course of my love of uncertainty did not last long. The history. I think that looks have a great deal of influence over some peopie's fate. If I had been as handsome eighteen then, and was taken to town the last crushing blow fell, it was not the last crushing blow fell in for my presentation. I staid with so painful as those frightful doubts. Mrs. Lorraine, instead of a forlorn Connie, but I made not the slightest It stunned me, but I knew the worst. maiden, gazing hopelessly toward a sensation. I was not pretty, and, with there was nothing, either evil or good, one exception, I positively hated and that could touch my heart after that may improve as time goes on; the teared the young men. I was also contain the pass over the next forty-eight wound in my heart may heal, and my scious of being the plainest in the hours. I said I was ill, and remained scious of being the plainest in the hours. I said I was ill, and remained family. Little Ismay grew more beau- in my room. I refused to see Ismay

tiful every day.

'How she is growing up!' It was the evening of the second day I went She married the year after she came Guy who spoke, and he was referring out. It was growing dark, and I out. I was fifteen at the time, and to hitle Ismay, who was crossing the crouched down beside the balustrade stepping-stones to come to us. I sat on the river bank, and Guy ounged at my feet. Something in his balastrade a bank sloped some six feet voice made me glance down at him. or more to another terrace, and a 'She is the flower of the flock. Far prettier than Connie."

'I never thought of comparing myself I think I began to live my life when with Connie, and she is nothing to there I waited. The night was very though planted in the richest soil. 'But you are the best of the three, still. That hateful corn crake was still croaking in the meadows, and I looks, and that they would not try to Ismay came up and seated herself by eyes. I teared they might continu mop of red hair, blue eyes, and a decidedly retrousse nose. I remember that dark and classical; hers, equally perfeet, with a complexion of pearls and roses, with golden hair, and dark gray, feet. lustrious eyes.

a gay show, but a feeling of autumn out her muslin skirts; but I thought and decay hovered in the air, and the Ju's voice sounded cross, and I am come to make peace.' 'More likely to create discord,' I said

I stood by the dial on the lawn a white apple?' asked Ismay, looking straight figure lounged in at the gate and made into his eyes. 'If I had been there I or me. Of course it was Guy. He think it would have been given to me.' was a wonderfully handsome boy, tall, slight and dark, with clear-cut features marks every day, and only laughed; ter than you, my goddess. and an eagle nose, I am an artistic but Guy had not seen much of Ismay soul and love beauty. That evening I in the last year, and he stared with aswas painfully conscious of being a tonishment at the audacious beauty. fright, and I began to straighten my She returned his gaze for a few seconds, crumpled frock and push back my and then cast down her eyes. That Venus!

approached, 'I like you ever so much talk to Guy as I did, when we were at once.'

Then I used to chatter by the 'But you remind me of both. You Then you must like me always.'

I do six days out of seven. Sunday's call it—a one-sided conversation on most charming combination of both.' every imaginable topic, which I knew 'And I always look so nice on Sun- amused him, although he rarely spoke, was all sinner.' but he was quite content to listen in 'Nice! You're a perfect object, with silence, But I felt a trifle constrained your hair in a tail and your best frock on. If you only knew what a contrast on. If you only knew what a contrast on. you are to Ismay, you'd leave your pew his eyes were on Ismay, he had appar- see, it was so dark, but I knew that he ently forgotten me. I rose abruptly. was kissing her and bidding her fare-'Where is Juliet going?' asked Ismay of Guy. He raised his eyes languidly. 'Are you tired of the river? 'Yes;' and I turned to go.

He rose also, 'Aren't you coming, Ismay?' 'No; and I am vexed at you for leaving me. It is nearly a year since I've left her, but she clung to him and seen anything of you, and I wanted to seen anything of you, and I wanted to sobbed convulsively. 'You must think hear all the news-where you've been, of Juliet; I am bound to her.' what you've done, and everything.' She sat pouting on the bank, and he stood irresolute before her. 'There's really no reason why you been an unseen witness to this scene should dog my footsteps,' I said magnanimously; 'pray tell Ismay everything have found out the change in your love worth telling. I am going home,' And home I went; and all the way I I turned to go, but wondered what those two were talking and caught my hand. about, and mentally scolded myself for an unreasonable feeling of grief which

That same evening I went and sat 'You thresome creature! why won't alone upon the stone balustrade of the voice, and my heart stood still. you be serious?' and he threw down tennis lawn, I was alone for what anxious he was to believe that all my ou be serious?' and he threw down tenns lawn, I was along time. The love and devotion had been nothing—seemed to me a very long time. The love and devotion had been nothing—as his love, nothing.

'You're asking me rosy after-glow melted into the blue-stunid questions, and I'm answering gray sky; the moon launched her silver 'No, I never loved you,' I replied stupid questions, and I'm answering gray sky; the moon launched her silver boat, and here and there a star flickered | slowly; and as I uttered that lie, in the heavens. The corn crake was turned and walked slowly away, and stand? Don't you know I am sorry to busy in the hay fields, and the scent of he breathed a sigh of relief. I never the roses and honeysuckle in the spoke a word to Ismay or she to me, veranda stole to me on the air. I but I know my sister knew my falsethink I looked nice that night; not hood, and my secret is sa'e in her keepbeautiful-I could never be that-but ing. as pretty as most girls. I wore a white frock and a pearl necklace, and my fair happy-at least she is. Sometimes hair was twisted into a big heavy loop. glance up and see Guy's eyes fixed Guy's voice roused me from my revery. 'You resemble Eilen Terry as you sit | that is only my foolish imagination, > and I looked into his eyes. He laughed | ferred me to the flower of the flock. and sat down beside me. 'You have a queer expression in your eyes to-night, Juliet. What is the 'I don't know. Something is going

He placed his hands on my shoulders.

there. Look up at me."

o happen.' He sighed impatiently. 'You seem very queer, too, Guy.'

'Do you believe in love at first sight?'
'Yes, in many cases. Is that what is the girl hastly exclaimed, "the distance naking you sigh so? Have you fallen is short." in love with some one at first sight?" 'Oh, I don't know-that is to say, I haven't. Are you in love, Juliet?' 'What a question!' I exclaimed indignantly, although I was half laughing. with you, I shan't.' 'I wish to heaven you were not!' he me?'
'I don't want to say yes, and I don't exclaimed vehemently. The blood rushed into my cheeks, and I sprang uppassionately. Before I had

'But you won't marry any other fel- time to make my escape, Guy threw 'There is no other fellow that I know over and over again. My head rested on his shoulder, and my eyes slowly furns up.' his arms round me and kissed my lips > longer-would kiss me. 'Dearest Juliet,' he whispered, 'forgive me, my darling! You know I love 'Except one,' said a soft, clear voice

Guy dropped my hand, and I glanced round with an uncomfortable sense of look forward into the future. I glanced having been discovered in a ridiculous It was Ismay. She was lovelier than

I felt unworthy of the adoration ex- was that of an angle, and her white pressed so plainly in his face. I was draperles enveloped her like a mist. She laughed gently at my look of dis-'I didn't mean what I said, Ju, and in the waning light no one could dis-vision of bygone love and happiness.

worshipped. I had read of such women, scarcely ever given a thought.'

'And yet you love me best?'

the terrace to the steps and stood be-

'And now good-by forever, dearest, before it was too late. Good-by.

'Then you never loved me?'

'Juliet, are you angry?'

'No, I am relieved.'

I turned to go, but he sprang to m

He spoke eagerly, a note of joy in his

They were married, and they are

me in a way which recalls the past, surely he can only look back with Equal to the Occasion.

The old man's step was heard at the

of my presence.

What mockery!

I haven't been eavesdropping. I just sauntered up and overheard the end of girls than I am, you won't like them to make the remark that I did. It came in so well. Guy said nothing. We three returned to the house together, Ismay talking to us both; I replied in an inco

That night a dreadful fear crept into my heart, and until morning I lay awake staring hopelessly, blankly, at a terrible phantom which grew clearer under 20 were allowed in factories. whose origin is not actually known, but it is known that they are older than Rome or any other city in Europe. Jerusalem and Hebron in Palesmany centuries older than Rome, -A difference between our national weather prognosticators and the much in the Italian part of the garden, which not inform us of what is coming, and was laid out in terraces. Below my the other alarms us with stormy predictions that do not materialize.

garden seat was placed at the foot of this bank, I felt expectant, I was 'Then you don't include yourself in lying in walt. In my black dress and cedar bush growing. There wasn't a particle of earth on the rock, but the tinguish me in that shady corner, and cedar was as green and vigorous as -An assistant to a Connecticu abhorred the perfume of roses that filled plumber poured a small quantity of 'I feel annoyed at your remarks. I the air, for in my mind it raised up the water into a not of hot lead, in order

> I had not long to wait. I heard wasn't seriously injured, but is likely voices in the distance, and then two to carry a reminder of the experiment came slowly toward the seat below my

'You are humble,' she said: 'you length," -Labor statisties collected in Connecticut show that long hours, slow payments and child labor go together. 'Yes,' he said, 'you were made to be In the counties in the State where the largest proportion of the laborers are hands are paid once a month. known all my life, and to whom I have -A Kansan living at Pawnee Rock 'Juliet occupied all your thoughts,' had sold part of his household good:

'Juliet!' he sighed; 'yes, and she and machinery and taking the balance had sold part of his bousehold goods ought to occupy them to the end of in his wagon with his family, started for Western Illinois. He got as far as time. There is not another girl in the world like my old love, and she is bet-Great Bend and camped for the night. About dark it began to rain and the 'Who could blame me for loving Sunday morning the granger harnessed you? I adore you. You are so beautiful his team, turned them west, and by ful and gracious; you are an angel-a night was at home, ready to begin now do as speedily as may be is to breeding and lodging places of the 'If Juliet were here she would say I fever germs which have wrought so was all sinner.' 'Don't talk about Juliet. Let me without avail.

-The case of M. Chauffat, a well forever, and each tender epithet Frenchman, is attracting medical atcut my heart like a knife. Slowly and noiselessly I rose, stole silently along last year be sight continuously for 13 days and a half, and, at the latest side them without either being aware advices from England, he was lying asleep at the Alexandra Palace, having fallen into a sort of trance six days before. His appearance is generally said Guy; and he would have risen and normal, but at times his limbs are set in uncommon rigidity. No respiration is perceptible, and there is a constant 'You are not!' Could that be my voice? 'For the last two days I have twitching of his eyelids. suspected this, and that is why I have troubled by skunks, hearing that music would move them to enter a box or barrel, procured a musician, and sure enough the animals took refuge in a box previously prepared, the music an leading the way. It is not certain what sentiment it was that moved the animals or whether it was some peculiarity of the musician that influenced them. Any way they went to their

-A San Francisco lady had three canary birds, and one of them stek-sickened and died. The deed bird was taken from its cage and laid upon a table, where its companions critically examined it. From the day of its death both the other birds remained stient and never piped a note for over thirty days, when one commenced to sing and the other followed suit, and oth are now singing away as cheerfully as formerly. -The New Haven (Conn.) News prints the following case involving a rare sense of honor: "On election day a Democratic citizen received sifrom the Middletown Town Committee to reimburse him for some expenses which he had incurred in coming home to vote. Afterward he called upon the committee and returned the $5, stating that as he was about to vote he was offered $15 to vote the Republican ticket. Having accepted that, and cast his vote for Harrison and he came up the steps.

"Leap from the window, George," -Leo Aronson, claiming to be a "But the dog, the dog!" "I'll fix the dog."
And George leaped from the window and the girl hastened to the door. Flinging her arms about the old "Oh, Papa, I'm so glad to see you. The evening has been so lonesome. And M. T., and St. Helena, where he found Nero, poor fellow. Come in Nero, and work on a ranch tending sheep. He I'll give you some lumps of sugar,"

NEWS IN BRIEF.

NO. 2.

-The way to get out of a small place is to be very efficient in it.

-Dr. H. D. Cogswell, the San the nucleus of his numerse fortune as -John Shaw, of Shamokin, was carried to the pells wrapped in blankets to vote for Harrison and Morton, and died the next day. -The total number of immigrants arriving at New York for twelve months ending June 30 was 550,000 persons. This number is 60,600 in excess of the previous year. -It is asserted that a clean sweep of the departments at Washington would result in the removal of more Republicans than Democrats, and this after a four-years' Democratic Administration.

-A remarkably attractive lobster was caught at Norwich, Conn., a few days ago. Its upper parts were of the delicate tinge of old-fashioned blue delicate tinge of cid-fashioned blue china, and beneath the color was a beautiful bluish white,

-An elevator in a New Hampshire factory stopped suddenly, the engineer having shut off the steam, and the lad who was riding on it became so fright ened lest it should fall that he was attacked with heart disease and died.

-Carroll D. Wright, Commissioner of the Department of Labor, asserts that no girl under 16 years of age should be allowed to work, and that the country would be better off if none -There are cities in Asia the date of cently found a piece of solld limestone lying on the ground and out of it a to satisfy a doubt in his mind as to what the effect would be. He moment, then threw himself at her man's list. Out of the four eggs four snakes emerged about twenty inches in but never believed in them, and here I children the hours are longest and the discover one in a little girl I have

-A Nebraska man who was gate and the welcome bark greeted him | Bulkeley, he considered it his duty to return the original $5 to his Demo-cratic friends."

> nephew of the manager of the Casino in New York, was found footsore and weary in that city the other day. cording to the boy's story, he has had quite a tramp. In June last, Leo says, he followed Buffalo Bill to Phila delphia and then he went on to Denver, From there he went to Miles City, was ill-treated and went to St. Paul, and from there came to New York,