

LOVES OF NOTED MEN.

The President Proud of His Much Prized Lady.

The President's love and admiration for his young wife, who is a correspondent of the New York Times, were very pretty shown in a little incident which occurred at the close of his trip to the Adirondacks a year ago.

While laughing over the matter in hand the President's invariable practice has been to discuss his wife's name with a view to the title of a beauty. With a woman's intuition Mrs. Cleveland has been able to recognize the President's intention.

THE WINDOWS WERE OPEN. When the Presidential party left their camp in the Adirondacks, Mrs. Cleveland found a large concourse of people from the surrounding country awaiting their arrival.

LITERARY IMMORTALITY. Prof. Seeley discusses the question of literary immortality. He shows that the chances of any man's work becoming permanent are greatly reduced.

There is given, in London Engineering, an abstract of an experimental communication which was recently made to the Royal Society.
