SENTINEL & REPUBLICAN

MIFFLINTOWN.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 30, 1889.

B. F. SCHWEIER,

EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

BLAINE, Secretary of State.

WANAMAKER, Post Master General.

WOMEN, bank directors in Atlanta Georgia.

THE German language is to be taught in the schools of New York City.

WANAMAKER visited Harrison, but does not say that he is to be one of the President's cabinet.

THERE is a bill in the Legislature that provides for the election of constables for a period of three years.

NEPTUNE, German Emperor or American people want war with each other, but in case of a war how could Germany get to America or America get to Germany?

THE State board of Agriculture the other day recommended the passage of a law requiring road tax to be paid in money and not by working on the road as is now done.

AN agent of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company at Indianapolis stole four hundred thousand dollars of the company's funds. He was in the company's service 16 years and did a big business at stealing, averaging $25,000 a year. He was a prominent church member.

THERE is a bill in the Legislature, providing for the equal distribution of the patronage of the courts among members of the bar. The Judges are directed to make appointments of auditors, masters, etc., from an alphabetical list previously prepared containing the names of all reputable members of the bar.

IF you are against the passage of a compulsory education bill that will put the school board over and above the family, write to your Senator, and Members to vote against the bill which is on its passage through the Legislature. Compulsory education and compulsory religion belong not to the American system of government.

DEMOCRATS in the Legislature profess to be against the submission of the Prohibition amendments to the people on the 18th of June on account of the cost. Their objection in that direction is a quibble. They would like to have the amendment go before the people in November, so that they could trade and so forth, with it, on candidates.

LAST week, mention was made in these columns, how a fiend in human form, in Philadelphia, enticed young girls away from their homes under the pretense of getting them employment, but instead of securing them employment took them to some by place and there made indecent assault upon them, threatening them with death if they gave alarm. The man was hunted and found by the police, arraigned before court, found guilty and sentenced by Judge Gordon to 29 years and eight months in the Eastern Penitentiary.

JUDGE GORDON, in sentencing Bradley 29 years and 8 months for having committed indecent assault on young girls that he enticed from their homes under the pretex of taking them to a place where they might be employed, did the best he could. He gave the fiend the extent of the law. The pity is that Bradley could not be taken out and shot by law. It is too bad that decent people must keep, feed and clothe such a scoundrel for the long period of 29 years and 8 months. It were better to pass a law to execute such fiends as Bradley.

THE compulsory education advocates argue from the wrong premises. They argue as if intellectual education is the remedy for all the outrages and crimes that afflict human society. Such is not the case. It is the moral education that keep men and women from doing what is wrong. Intellectual education should be free for acceptance or rejection, and once the people give authority to school directors or whomsoever else to enter the family and take away the children and compel their attendance at school, they give their consent to the introduction of an arbitrary and despotic principle of government, that is not in accord with free government. Turn your face against compulsary education. It is a governmental plague.

Fire in a Court House.

BALTIMORE, JAN. 24.—A special despatch from Elkton, Md., says: "Never was court adjourned more hurriedly than the Circuit Court for Cecil county to-night. A session was being held to hear argument before the jury in the case of Oppenheimer & Sons, of Baltimore, vs. Reynold Bros., of Port Deposit, which has been on trial since last Friday. M. R. Walter, a Baltimore lawyer, was in the midst of an able argument to the jury when smoke was noticed in the court-room. A bailiff was sent to investigate, and the discovery of fire in the basement made counsel and clients, judges and jurymen, court officers and spectators make a rush to get out. The court-room is on the second floor of the building. The smoke was issuing from the basement, where the furnaces are. This room, before the remodeling of the court-house three years ago at a cost of ten thousand dollars, occupied by the county commissioners, was known as the Hole in the Wall. There the Democracy managed to keep in power for twenty years. Smoke issued in volumes from this basement and the girders were found to be burning. Dr. Cutler Wells soon reached the scene from Mitchell's drug store with a Babcock extinguisher and did good service. The ringing of the court-house bell and the cry of fire soon brought an excited crowd and a bucket brigade was formed. An entertainment given by the Women's Christian Temperance Union and the Salvation Army barracks, where an enthusiastic meeting was in progress, where soon deserted, notwithstanding the protests of the female cadet in charge of the latter that the sharm was only a ruse of the devil. The rude fire apparatus of the town—the handengine—was soon at work. Fortunately, the well in the court-house yard is one of the best in the town, as wells are the only source of water supply. After the flames below had been extinguished they burst through the door into the office occupied jointly by the clerk of the county commissioners and county treasurer. Much damage was done here by water to furniture and papers, and some by cutting the floor. The law books and papers were removed from the private office of the clerk of the Circuit Court to the clerk's office proper, where the records are kept. The clerk's office and office of the register of wills are in the wing of the building, and many valuable records would have been destroyed had the fire not been conquered. The fire was caused by the overheating of the brick furnace and pipes leading therefrom. The damage will amount to less than a thousand dollars. The fire, it is thought, is still smouldering, and a number of men have been employed to watch all night.

Amended Scalp Law.

Representative Hertzler has offered a bill in the Legislature entitled, "An act to amend the provisions of the first section of an act, approved May 13, 1887, entitled, 'An Act for the destruction of wolves and wildcats.'" It enacts, "That, for the benefit of agriculture and the protection of game within this commonwealth, there is hereby established the following provision for the destruction of certain noxious animals, to be paid by the counties in which the same is slain, namely: For every wolf $10; for every wild cat, $2; for every red or gray fox, $1; for every mink 50c, and for every weasel 50 cents."

Witch Doctors.

Witch doctors were numerous in the valleys of this Commonwealth, three quarters of a century ago. The strange delusion that called them into practice has disappeared from the public mind in the Juniata Valley. But in the lowlands of the state in certain parts of Berks county, the delusion still prevails to such a degree that the witch doctor seems to be a necessity to satisfy the self deceived people, as may be learned from the following despatch:

READING, January 24.—A case which will come up at the next term of the Criminal Court here shows that there is still a prevalent belief in witches in some portions of Berks and Lehigh counties. John H. Grate of Lehigh county, who has practiced the art of driving away the power of witches for the past fifteen years is in jail here on the charge of extorting money from citizens in this manner. Today District Attorney Grant received a number of charms from Lehigh county people which Grate sold to them. These persons will be used as witnesses against Grate at his trial. One of these charms was sold to a woman with a written guarantee of its efficacy in transforming a witch who had been tossing her into a fish that would afterwards be eaten by her and in that manner annihilated.

Twelve characters were drawn on the charm and the directions were to place the charm in a chamois skin bag and wear it suspended from the neck for the period of three months and to eat a piece of fish every day during that time. One of the parties who purchased a charm from him is a Lehigh county woman who moves in the upper circles and who will be a witness for the defense, declares it cured her of dyspepsia in eight days and that the witch who controlled her stomach died in the meantime.

Van Dyke Notes.

VAN DYKE, January 28th, 1889.—Thomas Wert, and brother Jacob S. Wert of McVeytown, spent several days last week, visiting friends in this place.

The rain on Saturday made several sad hearts. We sympathize with you—

The man or woman who details to a neighbor every particle of malicious gossip or unkind expression spoken is as much as the original gossip. If you hear a good word spoken of any one tell it to him; it may help him to bear the heat and burden of the day. If you hear some malicious person indulge in some sharp criticism of him bury it in your own breast so that you will not assist in giving it circulation. The world is full of people who are never content unless they are saying ugly things about those who are infinitely above them in every element of manhood. Their words would be harmless were it not for the malicious busy bodies, who cannot rest until they have told the victim all about it "out of pure friendship" as they allege. Such friendship is as cruel as the grave. If you cannot tell your neighbor something that will strengthen and encourage him keep your tongue silent. Thus you attain his respect and save your own reputation.

Missing Bridegroom Found.

MATTOCK, N. Y., Jan. 23.—The mystery surrounding the sudden disappearance of Thomas Conway, of New Suffolk, on January 12, the day he was to have been married to Miss Mary Sullivan has been cleared up. Yesterday afternoon, Henry Kneeland, a farmer near here, on going to his barn, found in the haymow, a man, who was insane and nearly dead. He was identified as the missing bridegroom. After having been attended by a doctor during the night, Conway to-day recovered his senses, and told the extraordinary story that he had been in the barn since the day of his disappearance and that all the food he has had was what milk he got from the cows. He said he was unable to account for his strange actions. Nothing was known of Conway's disappearance until the guests had assembled for the wedding ceremony and the appointed hour had passed, and when it was learned that Conway had drawn $400 from the Bank that day it was feared that he had met with foul play. The money was found intact in the young man's trunk at his home.

GENERAL NEWS ITEMS.

This, from the Pittsburgh Times: "The supporters of Prohibition are happy in the fact that the question will be submitted to the people. We remind them that had the logical tendency of their action prevailed there would have been quite another state of things. Who carried submission? The Republicans. Who have fought the Republicans as hard as the Prohibitionists? Not directly, it may be said, but by running third tickets the fatal tendency of which action was to help the Democrats, the organized enemy of Prohibition, more than open foes. Although this was made as clear as black and white, still the Republicans were all the time and everywhere imperiled in District, State and National elections. But the Republicans were faithful to the principle that the people have a right to open the Constitution if the majority so decided, and what the Prohibitionists are so glad over today has come through the Republicans in spite of the action of the Prohibitionists.

Getting the question where it can be tried implies nothing as to the decision. We recount this bit of recent history to remind the Prohibition leaders that what they rejoice over is a free gift from the Republican party of Pennsylvania, made under a persistent fire on them from the Prohibition camp."

CALDWELL, Jan. 24.—A despatch from Hutchinson, Kansas, says: "Three cowboys went to Stafford, a place about fifty miles west, yesterday, and after becoming intoxicated started out to run the town. They went to a livery stable, hired a double team and buggy, and began driving up and down the streets at a breakneck pace, whooping and yelling like Comanche Indians, and amusing themselves by shooting off their revolvers. The marshal of the town assisted by another officer, attempted to arrest them, when they opened fire upon the officers. This was promptly returned. The team became unmanageable and ran away, overturning the buggy and tearing off the top box of the vehicle. The three men, one of whom showed signs of being severely wounded, either by the shots or being thrown from the buggy, clambered into the running gear of the buggy and thereby escaped with the team. The buggy top and box were riddled with bullets and the ground dispatthred with blood. A posse has gone in pursuit."

BERLIN, Camden county, N. J., Jan. 24.—It is rumored at this place that a colored man, whose name cannot be learned, was taken from his home at Milford and whipped by a party of men with white caps on their heads. It is said that the colored man had received White Cap notices, which he took in good part, believing them to have been sent by some friends as a joke on him. As Milford is several miles distant and is located a long distance away from any railroad station or telegraph office, it has not been authenticated, but there is some terror among the worthless men of this place, who are recipients of threatening letters.

LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 23.—At the Coroner's inquest into the death of Conductor John C. Ryan, killed in the collision on the Pennsylvania Railroad near Columbia yesterday, William Rogers, engineer of the colliding engine, admitted that he had fallen fast asleep, as had his fireman, and was only awakened when too late to avoid the collision. The verdict was that the accident was caused by Rogers sleeping at his post. He had been on duty sixteen hours, but had some rest in that time. The heat of the sun and of the boiler overcame him.

A remarkable story is told by the Beatrice (Neb.) Democrat of the killing of thirty pigs by a turtle. F. M. Pethoud, of Indian Creek, missed his young pigs, one or two going each day. Thorough search threw no light on their mysterious disappearance until one day the hired man saw the hogs considerably disturbed by something, and, hearing a young pig squeal, he rushed down to the edge of the creek and there saw a large turtle with a young pig in its mouth. The turtle had killed the pig and was eating it. The man killed the turtle, and it measured nearly two feet across the back.

According to a German scientific journal they are using electricity in India to prevent snakes going into dwellings. Before all the doors and around the house two wires are laid, isolated from one another and connected with an induction apparatus. When the snake attempts to enter the house or go under if he completes the circuit as he crawls over the two wires, and if the shock he gets doesn't kill him it is likely to frighten him so that he goes away from there as soon as he can.

At the session of the Fulton county court on Wednesday a week all the applications for liquor license in McConnellsburg were refused and the county's capital is now without a licensed hotel, a circumstance unknown for fifteen years. There remain but four licensed houses in the county.

"A 4-year-old daughter of Andrew Killian, of Lancaster, on Monday evening week crawled into its father's milk-wagon, in which there was a stove, her clothes caught fire, and she died the next day from the injuries received."

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

Special services will be held in the Lutheran church Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

The Executive Committee of the Constitutional Amendment Association with the officers of the W. C. T. U. and Y's met in the M. E. church on Saturday afternoon last. J. W. Hughes was elected chairman and T. D. Garman, Secretary. The object of the meeting was to take steps to secure a thorough county organization by meeting all the friends of prohibition in that organization for the coming campaign in favor of the Prohibition Amendment. Col. E. B. McCrum, presented the following preamble and resolutions which were unanimously adopted:

To the friends of Constitutional Prohibition in Juniata county. The Legislature now in session having passed the Prohibition Amendment Resolution, and having decided to fix Tuesday the 18th day of June next, as the time for taking the vote of the state thereon, the time for action on the part of the friends of the Amendment has arrived. Realizing the momentous importance of this struggle to free the Keystone State from the thraldom of King Alcohol, and the necessity for united and uniting action on the part of all advocates of prohibition, we recommend and urge as a means to secure the desired end, the formation of a county organization of the constitutional Amendment Association with representatives in each borough, township and election districts after the manner of the political parties. In order to secure such an organization we recommend that the friends of the Prohibition Amendment in each Borough township and the town district in the county, where an organization has not already been formed, meet at the usual place for holding elections in the Borough township or district on Saturday, Feb. 2, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and elect two or more persons to represent them in a county convention to be held in the G. A. R. Hall in Mifflintown, on Monday, February 4th, 1889, at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon to effect a county organization and elect delegates to represent the Association in State convention when the same shall be called. In addition to Borough, township and district representation, it is desired that every church organization in the county, as also every Union of the W. C. T. U. and Y. W. C. T. U. send two or more delegates to the county convention, that the County convention may be full and fully represent the Prohibition element of the county. And this should be so for the further reason that in Union there is strength, and in a multitude of Counsellors there is wisdom. There is no neutral ground in this fight. Remember friends of Prohibition that against us is pitted the combined financial strength of the Liquor League of this and other States, and although the day of battle may seem distant, the intervening time will be found short enough in which to organize for the struggle, and we must work if we would win. Therefore we hope that every election district, every church and every organization in the county favoring prohibition will be represented in the county convention on the 4th day of February.

A Pittsburg doctor of 30 years experience says, the largest number of people take sick on Monday.

Not because it is a particulary unlucky day, nor that because the day is an enemy to human, health and life, but for this reason: Of course you know that on Sunday the regular routine kind of existence of everyday life receives a change. The man who usually goes down town to his office, stays at home on that day; the workingman and laborer, who have been usually occupied during the week either at the mill, grass house or other places, do not, as a rule, work either. Not the mere interuption of the muscular movement would probably have had any bad effect upon anybody were it not for one thing the change of diet.

"The loving, thoughtful housewife, who knows that Sunday is the only day on which she can have all those that are dearest to her around the dinner table, always exerts her culinary abilities more than usual, and she tries to make something out of the common—something nicer and better to put before them to eat. The consequence is that she makes her cookery richer, and she throws in a few knickknacks here and there, that taste very well; but as a rule, these things play havoc, with a person's digestion, especially when the stomach is not used to them.

"Now, that is the whole secret. It is a well-known fact that most diseases arise from a disorder of the digestive organs, and hence you have the explanation why more people do not get up on Monday morning as well and as bright as any other day.

HARRISBURG, January 23.—The House committees on education have decided to make the committee on appropriations vote the public schools of the State $2,000,000. This would be $500,000 in advance of the amount appropriated last year and $1,000,000 more than the minimum sum required to be set aside by the Constitution.

A National Newspaper,

AGAINST THE SALOON.

The MAIL AND EXPRESS is the recognized National organ of the great Anti-Saloon Republican movement. It believes that the liquor traffic as it exists to-day in the United States is the enemy of society, a fruitful source of corruption in politics, the ally of anarchy, a school of crime, and, with its avowed purpose of seeking to corruptly control elections and legislation, is a menace to the public welfare and deserves the condemnation of all good men.
