SENTINEL & REPUBLICAN

MIFFLINTOWN.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 6, 1889.

B. F. SCHWEIER,

EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

It is President Harrison, now.

Our City people are afflicted with pink eye.

President Cleveland signed the bill pensioning Mrs. General Sheridan.

Proctr, the forger of Parnell's name committed suicide in Madrid Spain.

The Emperor of China, who was born in 1871 was married last Wednesday.

Company G., of Lewistown participated in the inauguration of President Harrison.

People at Marion, Indiana were frightened last Wednesday morning by an earthquake shock.

The school house flag bill failed to pass the Legislature. The American people will take care of the stars and stripes.

The experiment of using iron ties for railroads is not satisfactory to the management of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Canada proposes to pass a law to surrender boodlers. The boodlers will have to look out an other place of retreat.

Last year ten places in Mifflin Co., were licensed to sell liquor. This year twelve places are licensed to sell liquor.

The new states created by act of the late Congress are Montana, Washington, North Dakota and South Dakota.

A Norristown school teacher is charged with having criminally assaulted a number of 16 year old girls in his school.

Last Wednesday, President elect and Mrs. Harrison dined with President and Mrs. Cleveland, no guests were present.

A Legislative committee has been appointed to investigate the report that money was used to defeat the bill to prevent the importation of dressed beef into the state.

The compulsory education bill in the Legislature that gives the right to a committee to compell the attendance of children in school should be defeated. It is not American in spirit.

The Bismarkian compulsory education bill No. 206 in the Legislature is one of the most un-American bills ever offered in the Legislature of this Commonwealth. It cannot be possible that a legislature of a commonwealth of freemen will pass such a bill.

The national government changed hands on Monday. Within a few weeks the several township and borough governments will change hands. Parades, bands and balls are not indulged in when township and boroughs change their administration.

The police of Wilmington are on the look out for a number of boys who have been guilty of opening graves to get bones to sell. The work of the boys was discovered by the finding of a human skull in a pile of bones that they delivered to a bone dealer.

Twenty-five, one hundred, and as high as two hundred dollars were paid for windows from which to view the inauguration parade on Monday in Washington. A United States Senator paid $500, for the use of two rooms and windows during the time of the parade.

Vice President Morton was sworn in on Monday in the U. S. Senate, after which ceremony the inauguration of General Harrison as President took place. The ceremony consisted of inaugural address by the General and the administration of the oath of office to him by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. The procession of paraders were in waiting and the new President was escorted to the White House, a mile away from the Capitol building.

The Washington inaugural rain ruined several hundred thousand silk plug hats. The paraders and sight seers had a wet time of it, but all day Sunday and Sunday night and Monday, there was a revel that was intensified by a steady drizzle or steady down pour of rain. The Pennsylvania troops numbered about 8000, and the Republican clubs numbered thousands more. The people were too numerous to count and Washington seemed to be passing through a jolly wet nightmare that will live long in the minds of its people and in the minds of paraders and sight seers.

The men who advocate the passage of a compulsory education for the reason that it will tend to diminish crime, might read with profit the crime of common school teacher Huntzberger of Norristown for whom a reward is offered to bring him to the bar of justice for having attempted a criminal assault upon a number of his 16 year old girl pupils. The mistake of the compulsory education men, is, they believe intellectual school training is a remedy for the moral and social evils of the day. They forget the fact that the Devil is all intellect without morals. It is moral training that makes the good and reliable citizen. Compulsory education is despotism.

The Irish home rule party are in high feather over the failure of the movement of the British government against Parnell. An effort was made to fix the charge of treason against Parnell coupled with the charge of an accessory to the assassination of British government officers. The London Times published letters that it said Parnell wrote encouraging assassination. The man Piggott who furnished the letters has confessed that the letters were forgeries. Walters the editor of the Times is in a predicament he must now clear himself of being in a conspiracy to ruin Parnell. If he proves himself clear of the conspiracy he will stand clearly before the world as having been duped by the conspirators of Piggott and Company. Above all, the Irish cause appears with a better face than in many months.

Against Trusts and Pools.

Topeka, Kas., March 1.—The Senate has passed the bill to prevent trusts, combinations and pools, and it becomes a law. It provides that all arrangements, contracts, agreements, trusts or combinations between persons or corporations, made with a view, or which tend to prevent full and free competition in the importation or transportation of articles imported into this State, or in the product, manufacture, and sale of domestic raw material, or for the use of money or to fix attorneys' fees and all arrangements, trusts or combinations between persons or corporations designed or which tend to advance the costs to the consumer of any such articles, or which tend to advance or control the rate of interest for the loan or use of money to the borrower are declared to be against publicity, unlawful and void. The bill provides a penalty of imprisonment and a fine not to exceed $1,000 for violation.

GENERAL NEWS ITEMS.

Natural gas as a fuel is a luxury that has to be used to be appreciated, but the danger attending its use is great. Last week five houses were wrecked in western Pennsylvania by gas explosions. The first explosion occurred at Tarentum, Pa., at ten o'clock at night. The concussion almost completely demolished two brick dwellings and two smaller dwellings used as store rooms. The dwellings were occupied by Joel Smith and William C. Pritchard, both prominent citizens. The families were just retiring when the explosion took place and all were more or less injured, but Mrs. Smith was the only one dangerously hurt. She was terribly burned about the head and breast and will probably die. The loss will be quite heavy.

The second explosion took place at seven o'clock in the morning, and totally wrecked the frame house of Patrick Murray, on Brownville avenue, in the Southside. The family, consisted of five persons, were all in bed, and it is a miracle that all were not killed. Murray was the most seriously injured. He was badly burned about the head and face and had one leg crushed by a falling timber.

The Bedford Inquirer notes a court case which is worthy of going on record. The Commonwealth had a little matter to settle with one John Oyler, and brought the gentleman up for trial. The jury was selected, sworn and one witness examined. The same evening one of the jurors received a telegram that his father was dying, and was excused. Next morning the Judge directed that the jury be discharged and a new one drawn. This was done, and the case proceeded, but was scarcely well underway when another juror was excused to hasten to the bedside of his dying wife. This made a third jury necessary, and the case was once more on when one of the jurors, in going to or from the Court House, sprained his leg so badly that for a time it was feared he might not be able to perform his duty, which would have required a fourth jury to be empaneled. It is doubted whether so remarkable a series of fortuitous circumstances ever before headed about a case in any court, but Bedford county appears to have done it easy.

"The Pine Run Natural Gas Company operating in the vicinity of Apollo, Armstrong county, and Saltsburg, Indiana county, has struck one of the biggest Natural Gas wells ever known in Western Pennsylvania. The well is gunged at 750, and is estimated to have a rock pressure of over eight hundred pounds, as it was leaking when gunged. One well in the Washington county field, and two in the Murraysville, Westmoreland county district, are the only ones known to have reached this great pressure, and none in the Western Pennsylvania fields have surpassed it. A very fair flow of gas was struck at 1250 feet, but the drill kept going on down until it penetrated 2500 feet feet. Then a flow was struck that threw the tools out of the hole. The roar of the escaping gas can be heard for miles."

From the Franklin Repositor of last week. A party of gypsies drove into town this morning, coming from the direction of Greencastle, and started out west Market street. They may be the same party who have been near Hagerstown for the last few days and who are said to have two cases of small pox with them. Our citizens will do well to be on their guard, lest the disease may break out here.

Gettysburg, Pa., February 27.—The barn on the farm of John Herr was burned on the 19th, inst., presumedly by "barn burners." To-day Levi Herr, the tenant, and son of the owner, was arrested and held in $2,000 bail to answer for the charge of having set fire to the barn. He was suspected from the first.

Watertown, N. Y., February 28.—The five-yearold daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Domick was killed here this noon while playing under the eaves of a house. An icicle weighing about one hundred pounds fell, striking her head and killing her instantly.

James T. Long's descriptive and illustrated battle of Gettysburg as exhibited in the G. A. R. Hall on Saturday evening, stands at the head of the list as a collection of facts of the historic field of battle. If you ever have an opportunity to see it as exhibited and described by Mr. Long don't pass the oportunity.

"The Pennsylvania railroad has given up the experiment of substituting iron railway crossties for wood, and the ironties in use on the Middle Division and in the Philadelphia yards will be taken up and probably be sent back to England whence they came. The iron ties have been in use almost a year, but, owing to their not having the elasticity necessary for the "giving" of the rails, they have not proven a success. Another reason to prevent their general use is the cost. As long as wooden ties can be purchased at about one third the cost of iron ties, the former will continue to be used. An iron tie cannot be made to weigh much less than the present wooden tie, or about two hundred and fifty pounds. The Pennsylvania railroad officials say that the iron ties will never come into use until all the forests are cleared of their timber and lumber gets scarce. They say the wooden tie yields sufficiently to the motion of the train to make the riding easy and comfortable. The iron tie will do this on the road-bed of broken stone, and makes the riding hard and unpleasant to the passengers. In addition to this the rails are so rigid that the wear and tear of the locomotives and rolling stock is very expensive. On the English railroads where the iron ties are used the locomotives and cars are constructed entirely different from those in this country. Before it was decided to abandon the iron tie, it was suggested that a hard rubber cushion be placed under the rail, resting on the tie proper. This was thought to be too expensive and will not be resorted to, probably, until it becomes absolutely neccessary to use ties made of iron."

The Population of Mifflintown and Patterson is about 1600, and we would say at least one half are troubled with some affection of the throat and Lungs, as these complaints are, according to statistics, more numerous than others. We would advise all not to neglect the opportunity to call on their druggist and get a bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial size free. Sold by all druggists.

"The Ex-President on the 22nd of Feb'y, approved the Territorial bill admitting North and South Dakota, Montana and Washington into the Union as states. There was great satisfaction expressed on both sides of the house when it was generally known that the president had signed the bill. The four new states will be represented in congress, probably by next December, by eight senators and five congressmen. South Dakota, the largest of the new states in population, will be entitled to two congressmen, the others to only one. North and South Dakota have an area of 149,000 square miles and a population of 230,000; Washington, an area of 69,180 square miles and a population of 230,000, and Montana, an area of 146,080 square miles and a population of 200,000."

The Handsomest Lady in Mifflintown and Patterson Remarked to a friend the other day that she knew Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs was a superior remedy as it stopped her cough instantly when others had no effect whatever. So to prove this and convince you of its merit, any druggist will give you a Sample Bottle Free. Large size 50c and $1.
