Martin Fasic, aged about 9 years, son of Britain Fasic, had the toes of one of his feet broken by getting them between the slats of a tread power that belonges to General Bell. The machine had been put out of doors while the General's establishment was being moved. Against all caution, boys would get on the tread power and run it, they could not be kept off excepting by the presence of some one as a guard, the wonder is that others were not hurt. The pity is that Martin has to suffer for his experience in running a tread power.

The variety of insects that exist are very large and two very numerous kinds are called the caterpillar and butterfly. These two are related to each other although there is no resemblance between them. The latter strange to say is an off-spring of the former and also breeds the former. There are some exceptions, however to all butterflies having once been caterpillars, since one kind of a butterfly developes from a worm or near the size of the caterpillar. This in part accounts for the different sized and different colored species of butterfly. However as a large number of butterflies develope from the caterpillar it will be in order to consider the butterfly as bred from the caterpillar. By this the peculiarity of the double life of the caterpillar is evident—its first life a lower life—its second life or butterfly life, a higher life of the insect. Man created in Eden in the image of God can be said as far as a 2nd life is concerned, to be somewhat like the instinctive butterfly with the following differences: Man's second life lies between the state of the saved and lost or (in other words between Heaven and Hell. Again the 2nd life of man will be forever while the butterfly loses its life at the end of a summer season.

But to consider the caterpillar. In the spring it makes its appearance with other worms and insects. It does not appear in single numbers, but by the dozens, scores and more, working altogether on the limbs of trees, and enclosed in a thin webbing like a spider's web, woven about the leaves. For its subsistence it eats the leaves of the tree on which it is bred, and continues thus to work and feast during the first part of the summer but towards autumn goes from its place of birth—the tree on the tree and soon is found crawling most everywhere. The most active and wise of its kind do not commence their labor until the frost season kill those not ready for their winter's sleep. Each caterpillar makes its own preparation, which is a peculiar necessity to the future life of a butterfly, the next summer, and the preparation is as follows: A caterpillar having found a suitable place, say on the limb of a tree begins to weave a webbing about itself until enclosed within a woven house called a cocoon that seems to the eye of an observer to be almost air-tight. The frost and winter come on, but the wise and active caterpillar is prepared for such weather in the way stated and generally passes through the winter alive until the spring sun warms it to more growth and life when it by nature bursts its cocoon encasement and comes forth a butterfly once more in active life that extends over greater space than the caterpillar life by reason of its wings. It is with wise people as with the wise caterpillar, only they prepare for death and the scene beyond by being justified in this life by Christ the risen, resurrected Lord, who will give them a glorious resurrection.

However a word more on the caterpillar, it like more highly endowed and gifted man may neglect its opportunities for the second life. For instance it may not place itself within a cocoon after its life among the leaves is ended. But the caterpillar that neglects such an opportunity will never live the second life, and also it can be said that people not redeemed by the merits of the Messiah (who in his career on the earth, said, "I am the resurrection and the life," and whom revelations speaks of as "I am he that liveth and was dead, and behold I am alive forever more,") will never live the 2nd happy life of the redeemed. Now is the time for mortals to prepare for the 2nd life. Repent, believe, be baptized put on Christ the Prince of life (the author of the more perfect and more happy life than the present. Put on Christ for a means to be just before God. Furthermore put on Christ since he condescended to give himself a means of preparation in this life for the next life. He says, "I am the door by me if any man enter in he shall be saved. Christ as the door leads to an enlightened life of joy on earth. But as the door also leads through sickness and death to the 2nd life. Therefore those that enter to salvation by Christ the door are better prepared for the resurrection of the just than the soulless caterpillar is prepared for a second summer's life by taking the opportunity of placing itself within the silken threads of a cocoon.

It is evident that the 2nd life of the caterpillar is the work of nature upon its prepared cocoon, and while the death of people in general is caused by the imprisonment of nature in their bodies, yet the resurrection of people will not likely be caused by nature, but according to the Bible, will be brought about by the 2nd coming of the Son of man. One reason the resurrection of the bodies of the just will not be by nature is that Christ himself arose from the tomb at the descending of an angel who rolled away the stone of his sepulcher. Again, caterpillar life is to all appearances the lower life, and the butterfly life to all appearances is a higher grade of life. Christ condescended to the lower life of man, (who was originally created in the image of God but lost much of this image by the fall) in order that by suffering for the sins of people as the Son of God in fashion and in likeness as a man, he might reconcile them to God and give them the privelege of coming into the higher life — Heaven itself through his merits. A verse reads, "as it was in the beginning so shall it be in the end." God created man after his own likeness and sent Christ in likeness as a man, the Son of God. In the end the redeemed may have images somewhat similar to the image of their Master and redeemer as he will in the end appear in his glorified state. FABER.

Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say "oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it wears them away. Could they be induced to try the successful medicine called Kemp's Balsam, which we will sell on a guarantee to cure, they would immediately see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial size free. At all druggists.

ORGANS
The cabinet organ was introduced in its present form by Mason & Hamlin in 1861. Other pioneers followed in the manufacture of these instruments, but the Mason & Hamlin Organs have always maintained their supremacy as the best in the world.
Mason & Hamlin offer, as demonstration of the unequaled excellence of their organs, the fact that at all of the great World's Expositions, that of Paris, 1867, in competition with best makers of Europe and America, they have on the highest honors. Illustrated catalogues SENT FREE.
PRICES, $22 TO $500.
Mason & Hamlin do not hesitate to make the extraordinary claim for their pianos that they are superior to all others. They possess the high excellence achieved by others only in the art of piano building, but that entirely new. This they attribute mainly to the important improvement introduced by them, the Mason & Hamlin Piano Strutwork, by which the greater part of the wood which has hitherto been considered essential to the musical quality of the piano is omitted, and new known principles of acoustic science, with new and peculiar principles and results in the construction of bass, together with many other improvements recently made, are employed. Illustrated catalogue sent free. Pianos sold for cash or easy payments; also rented.

Catarrh,
Bronchitis,
Consumption,
Malaria,
Rheumatism.

Wonderful Tonic and Blood Purifier.
The efficacy of the Microbe Killer in cases of consumption has been so effectual and astonishing that we are inclined to claim for it cures by powers beyond the limit of any medicine known. We do not claim for it supernatural power in curing cases so far gone that recovery is impossible, but we do claim that it will cure any case where the lungs are not more than half gone. Persons with poor appetite, weak and debilitated will find it a good tonic. Every person should use it, particularly those who have suffered for years with bronchial or consumptive cough. Microbes, or germs, are causes of disease. The result is that with all the germs and all the same time expel the poisons in the same by one.
Sold only in one gallon glass bottles. Price $3.00, by druggists, or sent by express on receipt of price. Pamphlets, containing testimonials of many cures, sent free. Address
