SHORT LOCALS.

Travel to Atlantic city has commenced. Charles Hollobough is visiting in this place. It costs $2500 a day to feed the Johnstown sufferers. P. G. Shelly of Richfield passed several days in town last week. The Tennis Brothers have a rope ferry in operation at Thompsonstown. Dead animals in drift at the head of the island send off a sickening stench. The loss in the state by the late flood cannot be replaced by seventy million dollars. G. Frank Snyder of Port Royal has returned from Pennsylvania College for vacation. Father Mollinger, of Pittsburg, it is said has restored many people to health by the faith cure. J. Frank Stoner delivered a speech in Thompsonstown for the Prohibitionists on Saturday evening. Edward Bartley employed in a coach shop at Hollidaysburg was at his home in this place last week. It is estimated that 60 to 90 days will be required to clear Johnstown of drift, mud and other flood accumulations. The Pennsylvania railroad looses by the flood one million five hundred thousand dollars, as nearly as can be estimated. County Superintendent Auman is having his house painted on Patterson street. He is doing the painting himself. The rope ferry at this place run by Books, Haines and Company is working finely. A loaded six horse wagon can be nicely crossed on the flat. On Saturday last travel over the main line was opened all the way through from Pittsburg to Philadelphia by way of the Juniata Valley. Mrs. Moore aged about 83 years, mother of Harry Moore of Van Wert, died last Friday. The funeral took place on Monday, June 17. A crack 1800 feet long about Main street in Wilkesbarre has frightened people in that town. The crack is caused by a coal mine 800 feet under the town. John Bush fell into the creek at Lewistown last Wednesday and was drowned, but before the body was recovered it had floated down the river as far as Jack's creek. A Sunday school excursion train carrying twelve hundred excursionists was wrecked in Ireland last Thursday. Seventy dead bodies were recovered up to June 12th. Quite a number of people living on the flat of Patterson have not put down their carpets since the high water since the floors and rooms of the lower stories of houses are yet damp. Wm. Van Swearingen, Wilson Daugherty and Samuel Pannabaker Sr. were appointed to view and lay out a road in Lack township in Concord narrows. A. R. Menninger, Wm. Walls, James M. Bryner, were appointed to view and vacate a road in Tuscarora township. J. W. Eyder, was appointed tax collector for the borough of Thompsonstown. An order of Court was made designating Airt View Academy as the place in which to hold the special election on the 18th of June, for the borough of Port Royal. In the estate of Dennis Deviney, F. M. M. Pennell was appointed auditor. In the estate of Amos G. Bonhall, B. E. Bursfield was appointed Auditor. Administrator Andrew Beasler of the estate of Calvin B. Watts, deceased, was granted an order to mortgage real estate of said decedent for payment of debt. An order of sale was granted, Samuel D. and Wm. E. Simonton, administrators of the estate of Joseph D. Simonton, deceased. An order of sale was granted, James C. Okeson administrator of the estate of James B. Okeson. Executions were filed to the account of Abraham Rohrer and held under advisement. An order of sale was granted to Ephraim J. Kurts executor of Samuel J. Kurts. An order of sale was granted in the estate of Wm. D. Webster. The sales of real estate of the estate of John McNanigal were continued. Satisfaction was ordered to be entered on the mortgage of Joseph Pomeroy, deceased, against the Tuscarora Academy property. In the estate of Jacob Klime auditors report was confirmed. R. L. Guss, Moses Pannabaker and Harry Hawk were granted a mechanics lien judgment entry, by W. H. McDonald owner and Wilbur F. McCahan contractor. A divorce was decreed May Salm vs. W. K. T. Salm. Two thousand three hundred and fifty dollars was ordered to be paid to the administrator of the estate of Benjamin Stuck, deceased, for payment of debts. In the estates of Henry F. Zeiders and George Heikes inquisitions were confirmed. The guardian account of J. G. Hornberger was confirmed. George Jacobs was appointed auditor in the estate of Michael Basbor, deceased. F. M. M. Pennell was appointed auditor in the estate of Elizabeth Page. The guardian's sale of real estate of Guy Meyer was confirmed. Guardian John R. Vanormer was all Hard, Soft, or Caloused Lumps and Blemishes, from horses, Blood Spavin, Curbs, Splints, Sweeney, Ringbone, Coughs, &c. Save $50 by the use of one bottle. Warranted. Sold by L. Banks & Co., Drugists, Mifflintown, Pa. Oct. 31-'88, 19.

Emanuel Merritt of Mexico had a thrilling experience in the late flood. He was canal lock keeper, and did not realize it on the morning of the 1st of June till the water had so surrounded the brick lock house that his escape was impossible. People in Mexico realizing his perilous condition took the large doors off the barn of Mr. Cavney and nailed them on railroad ties and fastened a rope to the float or raft and allowed it to drift down to the lock house. Merritt and his wife and a grand son mounted the raft and were drawn ashore.

The sales of real estate in the estate of Abraham Rohrer, deceased, were confirmed. In the estate of Andrew Zeiders, J. N. Keller was appointed auditor.

FLOOD NOTES.

Dead animals in the drift piles at the head of the island send off a sickening smell. "A so called clergyman who said he had lost a wife and three children by the Conemaugh disaster refused a suit of clothes at the Pittsburg refuge because they were second-hand. He then asked for a summer hat. He was offered a new black one, but he would not take any but one of a summer color, and went away dissatisfied. During flood tide a pig found its way into the hardward store in Patterson and finding the stairway way to the second story and there seemed to feel comfortable. A Williamsport paper says: A dude wanted to be photographed standing on a raft in the midst of a flooded street. He hired a photographer and a man to carry him to the raft, so that his feet would not get wet. Some railroads for harmless diversion, jumped on the raft and sunk it, compelling the dude, with ill-concealed rage to wade out in water to his middle. A large rat seated on a buffalo robe floated from Clothing Merchant Strayer's stable across his lot into his store in Patterson and would have floated out of the front door, if it had not been caught. That is the rat was caught, the rat drowned. "A resident of South Williamsport who had put his two pigs in his parlor to shield them from the flood soon after missed them, and concluded they had got out and drowned. At bedtime in going up stairs to his room he found the two stowed in his bed and a number of Bellefonte women put on masculine attire to clean up after the flood."

The wire of the railroad ferry broke a number of times last Thursday. On Friday a report was current that the wire had been filed. Governor Beaver proposes to borrow $1,000,000 from private citizens, the money to be expended in clearing away the drift along streams. The refunding of the money to citizens who loan it to the Governor is to come from the state as soon as the next Legislature convenes and passes an appropriation for that purpose. "Mr. J. M. Fronheiser, one of the Superintendents in the Cambria Iron Works, lived on Main street. His house was one of the first to go, and he himself, his wife, two daughters, son and baby were thrown into the raging torrent. His wife and eldest daughter were lost. He, with the baby, reached a place of safety, and his ten-year-old boy twelve-year-old girl floated near enough to be rescued. He caught the little girl, but she cried: "Let me go, papa, and save brother; my leg is broken and my foot is caught below." "When he told her he was determined to rescue her, she exclaimed: "Then, papa, get a sharp knife and cut my leg off. I can stand it." "The little fellow cried to his father: "You can't save me papa. Both my feet are caught fast and I can't hold out any longer. Please get a pistol and shoot me." "Captain Gageby, of the army, and some neighbors, helped to rescue both children. The girl displayed Spartan fortitude and pluck. All night long she lay in a bed without a mattress or medical attention, in a garage with the water reaching to the floor below, without a murmur or a whimper. In the morning she was carried down stairs, her leg dangling under her, but when she saw her father at the foot of the stairs she whispered to Captain Gageby: "Poor papa; he is so sad." Then, turning to her father, she threw a kiss with her hand and laughingly said: "Good morning, papa; I'm all right." "The plucky little thing is getting along handsomely, and the boy has as yet suffered no ill consequences from his immersion."

more favorably located seeing his difficulty hastened to his assistance and most of the stock was saved. He labored in the waters until morning, when he found himself completely cut off from land with the water neck deep. Having cast off most of his clothing while at work he determined to swim ashore. He was a long time in making the distance and was cast hither and thither by the angry waters until in an exhausted condition he reached his home. Mr. Toomey had his mill dam carried away, but the mill was not much damaged. The matter of the distribution of the $3,000,000 raised for the Johnstown sufferers is one of responsibility. If their are 5000 sufferers and the money be divided equally among them each would receive six hundred dollars. One of the cars placed on the railroad bridge at Lewistown is reported to be on the head of the island at this place. Another of the same train of cars lies at the pier of the Harrisburg bridge. "On McCormick's Island, near Harrisburg fourteen acres are covered with logs to a height of ten feet." "Richard Morris and five of his family left Wilkesbarre a week or so ago to attend a funeral at Pittsburg, stopping off at Johnstown to get his sister-in-law. The entire party perished."

"On Friday when the flood rushed down the Susquehanna a train of forty loaded coal cars were run from Lewisburg on the West Branch. The torrent struck the bridge, and the next instant the snarl was as clean as a whistle. Men found a portion of the train in the Susquehanna at Steelton, seventy miles below."

The flood made inroads on the Hornington graveyard, located at the junction of Horning's run with the river. Store goods, coal oil and whisky that came down the river that was caught and appropriated by people to their own use are being looked up by officers of the law. Nelson & Manbeck have put in new scales to fill the place of the one taken away by the flood. Twenty-nine houses were carried away by the flood from Lewisburg. Seven houses were swept away from Mifflintown; two from Port Royal. When the Flood reached the flat land on which Patterson is built, Commissioner John Cunningham turned his two dogs out of their pen so that they could escape. In going up the alley Mr. North took them into his stable thinking opposite the water would not rise that high, but the water rose higher. The dogs swam until they were enabled to get into N. C.'s carriage where they remained till North again visited his stable which was not till after the water had returned to the channel of the river. Sealed proposals will be received at the Commissioners' Office Mifflintown, Pa., until 1 o'clock p. m., FRIDAY, JUNE 28, 1889, for the following bridge work in Juniata County, Pa., viz: 1. For the mason work of the basin bridge, in the Borough of Mifflintown, being two abutments and four wing walls. 2. For the mason work of the turnpike bridge, near Cuba mill, Fermanagh township, being one abutment and two wing walls. 3. For the mason work of the bridge at Old Port Royal, across Tuscarora Creek, being two abutments, one pier and four wing walls. 4. For the mason work of the bridge in the Borough of Thompsonstown, being one abutment and two wing walls. 5. For the mason work of the Waterloo bridge, in Lack township, being repairs to two abutments. 6. For an iron bridge across the basin, in the Borough of Mifflintown. 7. For an iron bridge across Lost Creek, near Cuba mill. 8. For an iron or wooden bridge across Tuscarora Creek, at Old Port Royal. 9.
