county has become one of the important peach growing districts, any information that bear s upon the cul is interesting and important to Juni-! ata people in a number of ways :

A Delaware farmer who made $50, 000 from his peach orchards in the past twenty years said, on the 4th of September, as he pocketed a big check from his Water street commission merchant, 'in ten years a Delmore years ago, when old Major Revhold shipped the first cargo of the fruit to Philadelphia from his farm near Delaware City. There are now no peaches grown about Delaware City. The peach belt has moved south on the peninsula. In ten years peaches have become a precarious crop, and it looks now as if the greatest peach country of the world will in a decade be as bare of peache trees as it was when Reybold plant. ed his first orchard. 'The yellows the deadly enemies of the peach have driven the orchards out of existence. and the average crop which a few vears ago was more than 3,000,000 baskets is now less than 1,000,000."

THREATENED COLLAPSE OF PEACH GROWING Peaches have been for thirty years more plenty and more luscious in States than anywhere else in the world, and the prospective complete collapse of the growing of the fruit in the great peach belt so near this city is a most interesting fact.
