

B. F. SCHWEIER.

THE CONSTITUTION-THE UNION-AND THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAWS.

VOL. XLIII.

MIFFLINTOWN, JUNIATA COUNTY, PENNA., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1889.

NO. 39.

MORRIS PARK, bu it at a cost of $1, 750,000, represents a large expenditure of money for the philanthropic purpose of improving the breed of horses. But, as large and expensive quarters have been provided for the book makers, one of the objects may be to improve the breet of men by giving them object "But won't it be dreadful crowded?" lessons in the folly of gambling. I queried.

ready to oppose anything I suggest." 'I am not opposing you, only you know that the boats are always crowded lantic in an eighteen-foot boat, made a lucky escape with his life after thirtyeight days of privation and suffering. When it is considered that a man engaged in such an undertaking is practically in the position of a shipwrecked mariner who has escaped the general reated like a queen." catastrophe in a ship's boat, the fool-Well, if you think we had best go, hardiness of the venture becomes manifest. A DESIRE to save a conditional subscription by the city of Knoxville to the new East Tennessee Railroad was the primal cause of the recent disastrous accident at Flat Creek, on this newly constructed line of track. The railway company has saved Knoxville's subscription of $225,000, but in attaining that end the lives and limbs of val-and citizens have been sacrificed. examination." There should be searching investigation of this affair. MARINE engineers and constructors Pacific coast mechanics have been pot-results. Her latest trial trip was interthe contractors a pretty sum to learn how to put together a marine engine; but if they should get another similar job from Uncle Sam they may be enabled to do better work by reason of their costly experience with the Charleston's machinery.

THE savings banks returns for New York State show that there were nearly $24,000,000 more due depositors on the 1st of July, 1889, than there were on the same date of 1888, and that the average amount due each depositor was $355). These figures, no doubt, may be taken as an illustration of what is heng done in other States, and such a sealthy increase of deposits is a cheerng sign. It has been said that no man who owns a foot of land is likely ever equally true that every man who has a soon as I could get my breath. dollar put away is prompted to array himself on the side of the conservative about it, forces of the Republic.

comfortable."

flying to the deck.

lowser's necktie.

very unpleasant,

MR. AND MRS. BOWSER. advised him: "hey Take a Sunday Trip to the Park.

"I think we is go up to the park to-morrow," said Mr. Bowser the other Saturday evening as he finished his bring it up.

Doing Men's Jobs.

"There you go! You are always FOOLISH Skipper Charles T. Rogers, who undertook to cross the broad Aton Sunday, and that one is apt to meet with many lawless characters. I have heard you say that the place was in ssion of a mob all day Sunday." Never! On the contrary, I have always boasted of now orderly it was, I guarantee that you can go up there ue and stay all day and you will be must go! stepl ho___' "Of course I do. I think a little rip on the water will do us all good, and at the island we will seek some lvan retreat and enjoy the beauties the surroundings." 'And you-you won't get mad?"

"Mrs. Bowser, what do you mean?" "If things do not go right you won't id and blame everything on me?' "Have you gone mad? When did I ever blame you? If you suspect that you are getting softening of the brain let me know and I'll have a medical

After dinner next day was made a start. I think Mr. Bowser started with the firm determination to keep his good nature at every hazard, but something occurred almost immedion the Eastern coast would doubtless ately to upset him. The street car was like to look at the machinery of the jamb-full and running over, but it cruiser Charlestown, with which the stopped and we wedged our way in. In the squeeze some one stepped on Mr. Bowser's corn, some one else knocked tering for several months with dubious his plug hat off, and a third person was heard to remark that if he weighed a mitted, after a two-hours run, by the | ton he would charter a special car when slipping of an eccentric. It is costing he wanted to ride. This put Mr. Bowser in trim to say to the conductor: "Does the manager of this line think we are a lot of hogs that we can be packed in an old car this way?' "Don't know, sir." "Then you'd better find out! It's an insuit on decent people, and I for one don't propose to submit to it!" "Thaz rize, ole fel'r!" shouted a halfdrunken man from the front of the car, "Go in, aid bay window!" added a "Ten to one on old Bowser," yelled man from the rear platform:

We finally got down to the boat. It was black with humanity, and I didn't want to go, but Mr. Bowser elbowed people right and left and I followed. After being crowded, pushed, jammed, spinezed and knocked about for ten minutes I got a chair which a drunken man had just fallen off, and Mr. Bowser found standing room beside me. to become an Anarchist; and it is would be crowded," I remarked as "Well, that shows all you know There's no crowd on this bout. She could carry as many again."

own to heel, and then said:

mud at me little sister last May."

"You look like the bloke who threw

"Sir! You are inistaken!" replied

Mr. Bowser, "What 'er you doin' with all that stoile on?" demande I the tough as he brought his arm around and gave Mr.

Bowser's hat a "swat" which sent it

Mr. Bowser grabbed him and there suid have been a fight had not a number of men 1 sterfered. When the hat was recovered it had a shoulderblade and three rius broken, and in the brief dinch, the tough had torn away Mr

"I am sorry we came," I said as I know I told you I thought it would be

"Yes, of course you are very forry!

"When I want to be condoled with "This is the sylvan retreat you spoke

Shay, ole fel, I lost a dollar here when a couple of young men

"But what a rough set of peoplel" the policeman who had come too late Emma Oran's Mistake. And this is your final answer?" "Say, old man, you'd better go home. "It is, sir." "Farewell, then; and may your life

You've had five or six rows within an hour, and I shall have to run you in if you don t leave. You are evidently a de-perate character." All is, sir." "Farewell, then; and may your life to one of unalloy d happiness! May you never know what it is to have high hopes crushed, to love dearly and Mr. Bowser beckoned to me and led vaind ?" the way to the boat. On the way down he was pointed out as Sullivan and Kil- turned and strode down the beach, his And bowing low, Rhyde Darran rain, and every hely had a gibe at him, face white and ghastly with the great At the wharf he hired a hack to take woe tugging at his heart.

us home, and not one word would be At last the dream was over, and the speak to me all the way up. When we hope he had cherished of making Emma finally got into the house he locked the Oran his bride was dead. door of the sitting-room and sat down "Oh,,' he cried, as he walked the

in front of me and said; sands in mad haste," "she leved me "Mrs. Bowser, look at me!" well till this Eugene Eyre came to Sea-"Yes, it's awful. I was afraid it view with his city airs and honeyed And when to would turn out this way." "And yet nothing would do but you love to scorn. And to-morrow she nust gol" I might not sleep for awe but peaceful, tender. My soul would lie All the night long; and when the morning words. He it is who has turned her will be his bride. This is hard, hard to "Why, I didn't want to go one tep!" "Take care! You are to blame for his whole business! I have borne and After a while, when he had grown "It is His day." this whole business? I have borne and this whole business? I have borne and After a while, when he had grown borne, but the worm has finally turned more calm, he said; at last. Make out a list of what furni-"I have nothing to bind me to this ture you want to keep and let us settle place now; father and mother sleep m on the amount of the alimony." the old church-yard, and I will go We didn't settle, however. He felt better next day, and I don't think he strive to forget this." will refer to the matter again unless I

And when on the morrow the old church bell rang out its summons for the bridal pacty, Rhyde Darran, a sad and grief-bowed man, entered a carriage and was whiried away toward the It is always int-resting to see how a metropolis. roman does a man's work. There is a slat off the garden fence, Three years have been numbered with and the woman who owns the fence the mighty past.

thinks that she will fix it. She gets a thinks that she will not include and some nails. From the frowning sky the thick snow and some old gloves, and fastens up the is falling, and the tempestuous wind is falling. howls dismally through the city streets, while she is out. Then she looks up while she is out. Then she looks up the street and down the street, to see if covers over the feeble fire, and bus ly anybody is in sight, and then she climbs bravely over the wall, and catches her New York, one would scarcely recogskirt in a sharp rock, and pulls down nize the proud and beautiful maide half a hundred stones after her, and who had scorned the true love of Ruyd springs to avoid them. She steps on a Darran so short a time ago. who had accorned the true love of Ruyde stick, and thinks it is a snake, and streams, and thinks it is a snake, and screams, and scares the hens hall to death and some of them ron under the blotted out the haughty look from those death, and some of them ron under the magnificen eyes, and the smile of wood shed, and some of them ily up on the roof of the barn, and some of them scorn is gone from her lips, scoot over the fence into Johnson's discarded gold for dross; for he whom she yard. Johnson's dog pulls out their married proved to be a mere advent-tail feathers, and a feud springs up be-tween the two families which will ex-teen a year his wife, taking with him tend to the third and fourth genera-tion of the tribe. death, and leaving her alone and nearly silence. It was striking the hour, and tion, and holds it at the bottom with weeks old. The woman gets the pailing in posi-her knee while she nalls it at the top. Any fool can drive a nail! Why, of suicide, in a gambling den, where he wild joy of a happy passion. On that A few months later she learned of his course. She lifts the hammer and had been fleeced by some of his com-strikes with a will. The hail turns dex-panlous. Without the courage to face Ray in my arms, and heard her whis-now.' terously to one side, to avoid the blow, and the woman's thumb-nail turns black, because it was in the way when the hammer fell, and because she disin't happen to take it out of the way.

Soon after this tragic occurrence, the get some arnica and some camplor, and by the time they have been applied, a d that thumb has stopped aching, the tim peddler calls, and wants to give her five cents for the rags she has been which she has felt all along it was such an economical thing to do. By the time the ueddler has more the which she has felt all along it was such an economical thing to do. By the time the ueddler has more the scenes of that the work is done," she signed, wearily, as she haid it aside, by the time the ueddler has more the scenes of that filed my heart at the scenes of th

By the time the peddler has gone, the sighed, wearily, as she haid it aside, Then I fell to dreaming of the future. "and I must hasten out with it, for I Having won my peerless Viva's love, I

When He Comes BY SUSAN COOLIDGE.

If I were told that I must due to morrow-That the next sun Which sinks should bear me past all fear and SOTTOW

All the fight fought, all the short journey through. What should I do? do not think that I should shrink or falter. But just go on

But just go on Doing my work, nor seek to change, nor alter Aught that is gone. But rise and move, and hove and smile and pray For one more day. And lying down at night for a last sleeping Say in that car Which hearkens ever: "Lord, within Thy keep ing. How should I fear? to morrow brings Thee nearer still, Do Thou Thy will."

But if a wondrous hand from the blue yonder Heid out a scroll. On which my life was wr t, and I with wonder Beheld unroll To a long century's end its mystic clue, What should I do?

What could I do, O blessed Guide and Master, Other than this --Still to go on as now, not slower, faster, Nor fear to miss The road, although so very long it be, While led by Thee?

Step after step, feeling Thee close beside me, Aithough unseen; Although inscent Through thoras, the agit flowers, whether the leapest hide Thee. Or heavens serens— Assured Thy faulthalmess cannot betray Nor love decay.

et me keep on, abiding and unfearing

Thy will always. Through a long century's tipe fruition. Or a short day's: Thou canst for a short day's: If thou come tate. MY FATHER'S DESTROYER.

if to go. It was a soft, balmy evening in June The full moon shed a flood of mellow ight over every stick and stone, until old, familiar objects shone with a magic beauty, and the sleeping earth became a very paradise of loveliness. Now and then some wakeful bird broke into a ubdued twitter of joy, and a gentle breath of wind just stirred the leaves into ianguid, fitful rustling; all else was promised to pay Mr. Smith the remain> derk, named Will Rowe, entered as the stranger left, and said to me:

a ten? I promised to meet a little bill effect that I was wanted at the jail im-Varving feared no opposition. We were equals degrees of excellence, intermingled with in position and wealth, and our parents scraps of my own writing. I sank back her, she hurried out into the night and were on most friendly terms. I was just In my chair, utterly bewildered. torm. While waiting for her pay in the shop planning a bridal trip to Europe, when an uncanny feeling that some one was said Will, sternly, as he started toward the officer in charge, and conducted me of her employer, she suddenly became near woke me from my blissful dreams. the door with the tell-tale sheet of paper interested in the conversation passing Mechanically I directed my glance to a In his hand. After dinner the woman status out interested in the conversation passing interested in the conversation passing between him and a customer. She pounds and f els destinate termined to conquer. She pounds and pounds, and the nails all go in skewing coupled with the warmest prices of and at last the bammer debil as an artist that he difference was a num standing there. If the part of the pa it once to his cell. 'The fear of publicity gave me power me entirely along with my father's destroyer. I recognized him at once as to move. "Stop" I cried excitedly, "My mother the man whom I had seen in the garhas heart disease. She must not have "I did not kill y or rather. He com-He the shock of knowing that I am ac-on that particular morning. If I had I saw a pool of dark red blood on the carpet at my feet. I could bear no more. Staggering but known why he asked! Once in my room, 1 rapidly prepared o retire. I did think, two or three out into the hall, I managed to stam > was lying in my own room, and poor chauging it are unknown. Green was bending over me, applying restoratives as well as his trembling > > promptly.

waited-wated.

aslee.

Green.

Yes, it was hel 1 at once resolved

The officer's account of the man he the man who arrests the scoundrel

"When will they bring him m?" I 'On the eleven o'clock train,' was the but all in vain. My thoughts would not obey me, and I soon tell into a heavy

In the morning I was awakened by

'Here is a note for you, Mr. Seldou,'

He began abraptly:

to y and produce my evidence?"

At la t 1 found my tongue.

were to produce them."

his death?

nitted suicide because I have certain to give you those papers and leave the

"What, pay you five hundred dollars

"So he told you his little crime, did your own knowledge that I have the papers of which you speak, and can judge what would be the effect if I fore me, I was a moral coward.

Americans and Money.

uriosity to judge for myself of the j

"How can I help you to es ape?"

feilow's eyes as he replied:

more for bounding my poor father to out at the summer sunshine. Suddenly I remembered the paper of which my ho:rible pool of blood, father had spoken, and looked to see if derer soon, Mr. Seidon,' said Green, by chase, way of consolation. 'A policeman saw __A it were under the door. Yes, there it W38. "What can it be?' I thought, and sprang out of bed to get it. Throwing on my dressing gown, I sank into an morning, and collared him; but the fellow got away. He aw him plainly, though, and the description is all over casy chair, and prepared with much the country by this time." curiosity to read this mysterious document.

It was written in back hand, wholly asked, with a queer feeling at my heart. different from my father's flowing character, and was dated six months What if it were my father's prosecutor? 'He had a scar on his face, a long previous, but bore no address. It was as follows

When I was a young man. I entered a lawyer's office. While there, I chanced to be the only person in the office one that if suspicion could be thrown upon day, when a well-dressed stranger enhim convicted. Was he not virtually my father's murderer? 'Where is Mr. Smith?' he asked.

Smith was my employer's name,

"He has gone to Springheld," I an-swered, 'and will not be back till to-him a few questions," "Well, no. You see, Mr. Smith gave saw tallied exactly with the appearance me this check the other day, and I now of the fellow will owe him eight dollars for making out the syringa bush. some legal papers. It is after banking hours, and I am about to leave the city for some months, so it struck me that I would pay Mr. Smith with his own and trings him to the jail," check, as I have but little change, and hate to leave small bills standing. But as he is not here, I suppose the matter citement, 1 remember but two inci-dents. One was that the doctors reported that my father had been chlorowill have to rest.' And he turned as formed and then stabbed.

'Let me see the check. Perhaps 1 can cash it for you,' 1 interrupted, as his hand was on the doer-knob, shall swing yet. The other incident was a loving, sym-athetic note from my sweet Viva. 1

"He handed it to me without a word, was for ten dollars, and bore my employer's signature. I could have sworn to the writing, for I had seen it often before. The upshot of the mat-ter was that I took the check, gave the stranger two dollars in change, and caught.

ing eight dollars, 'As luck would have it, a fellow-not think of sleep, for the blood safely lodged in jail, my overstrained "Would it trouble you to let me have nerves gave way, and I reeled upstairs he said, and the messenger says it is very important, so I brought it up at which was written a few words to the 'On it were a number of imitations

NEWS IN BRIEF. -M. Eiffel, whose name has been times, of our mysterious trespasser, but having seen with my own eyes that all in a swoon. When I recovered consciousness I to be Bonickhausen, and his reasous for > -Something new in these automatic vendors is reported from Germany, hands would permit. The sight of his where a machine has been introduced while face brought back that still fig- that sells articles at six pfennigs-a ure muffled in the bed-clothes, and that price for which there is no single coin. It is operated by inserting a ten pfen-"They think they'll catch the mur- nigs in change together with the pur-

-A new work on "Haif a Century a man come out of the yard early this of Music in England" draws the inter-morning, and collared him; but the esting contrast between the time when Lord Chesterfield warned his son against being a fiddler, even in the amateur sense, and the present, when a "What did the man look like?" I Prince of the royal blood is the most noted annateur in England.

-It is announced that M. Courton, a chemist, produced recently at the sit ting of the French Academy of Sciences se, and dark hair,' Green replied a sealed envelope containing a description of an apparatus by means of which objects may be seen at wast distances, the vibrations of light being transmit ted through a wire.

 A singular craft is at Newport, R. It is a 35 foot cedar three-masted 'Send the pollceman who saw him up rocker-keel boat, and is the craft in which its owner, Captaon Storam, and to me, Green, 'I said. 'I want to ask his wife came to this country a few months ago, after being wrecked at Baranquilla in August, 1886. of the fellow who was hiding behind

-There is a whistling well at Logan "Here is fifty dollars," I said to the county, Kansas, which warm people of policeman, "and I will pay five hundred approaching storms from 0 to 12 hours in advan e. It is 155 feet deep, and sends out a strong current of air, which All that day I was in a fever of ex. as it escapes through the apecture about the pump, whistles in a lord flute-like tone that is distinctly audible to every person in the township, -A movel service was held recently "Good! I thought, "No one will ever by the congregation Shearath-Friddan, hink he killed himself. That scoundrel of Orangs, N. J. It was the reconservation of a scroll of the book of the Low presented to the congregation. To scroll is written enturity by cand, or ashed off some kind of a reply, then Heorew, upon partimient, and is 18 inches in width and over 200 feet 1 At nine o'clock that night came the length. It contains the entire Pencarelease news, "The murderer is teach,

-The luggage of all travelers crossing the Swiss frontier into Germany a being subjected, it is reported, to a rigorous inquisition at the hands of the German Custom officials—a measure of welly, German Custom officials—a measure of When the news came that he was which the German papers are compliant ing as injuring Germany's own interests by driving foreign passengers to avold to my room staggering like a dronken Germany allogether, and to travel is man. Throwing myself on the bed and from Switzerland only by way of man. Throwing myself on the bed and from Switzerland only without undressing, I tried to think, France, Austria and Italy.

-A remarkable sight was witnessed at the Bailey deput, Case County, Mo., recently, The sun was getting low when a train pulled in, and the engine began to let off steam. As soon as released the steam began to form, and it a short time a complete rainbow could be seen a few feet above the engine, "All right, Green,' I replied, and tore side. It was a beautiful sight, and reopen the envelope. mained as long as the contained a half sheet of paper on steam from the engine. mained as long as the engineer released

-A reporter of the Columbus (Ga.) DUSTRY RUGWA D

naving seen with my own eyes that all In a swoon. the fastenings were secured, apprehended no danger from that quarter. It must have been ten o'clock in the morning when I awoke, for the sun was shining broadly in at my window, I rose lazily upon one elbow and glanced

AN ANCIENT COIN FOUND,-Ed ward Kennedy, employed on the Samneis' farm, in Windsor, Conn., has uncarthed in one of the fields an ancient up, and looked Mr. Bowser over from silver coin bearing the colonial stamp of Massachusetts. It is bright and the date and inscription are as plain as ever. Ou one side is the name "Massachusetts," with a tree in the centre, and on the other "New England 1652 VI (shillings). ""The coin is one of the mrest of the colonial pieces. At the time it was struck the colonists had but little coin, because they had to send their money to England to buy supplies Trade was carried on by barter, wampum, Indian corn and even bullets being frequently the mediums of exchange, Finally, in 1652, the Massachusetts Legislature authorized the got a chanc to speak to him. "You coining of Pine Tree shillings, like that found by Kennedy."

You can't bear to see me enjoying my-self! I wasn't aware that anything un-15 year of the fact that the people of Great Britain are discussing at this pleasant had occurred." late day the question of establishing a In getting off the boat a' the island some one stepped on my dress-skirt and Court of Criminal Appeal, it has probanearly tore it off, while Mr. Bowser's bly occurred to many persons that in bat was crushed down over his eyes this country we are apt to go to the and some one picked his cigar-case out other extreme - that supersedes, writs of his coat-tail pocket. We finally rot of error and new trials for murderess out of the crowd and wand red away tend to loosen the grip of justice and until we reached a shady spot, and to lead the criminal element to believe then it did seem as if we might take some comfort. I began to express my that human life may be taken with in:smypathy for Mr. Bowser, when he punity. Three years have passed since turned on me with: Mr. Weeks, of Brooklyn, was shot and killed in his house by a burglar, and I'll let you know. Thus far we have although his murderer has been twice has a real good time, and I don't wan, convicted he still lives, awaiting the final action of the Court of Appeals, of, I suppose?" I remarked as I looked Might not swift punish ; ent in his case around and saw cigar stubs, playing have deterred the murderer of Grocer cards, pretzels, beer, bottle corks and a Lucas from committing a deed which ru-ty old cork-screw lying on the grass.

the law would speed by avenge? ---- way and stopped and asked Mr. Bowser for a match to light their clay NEW YORK has started with a committee of Finance for the World's Fair pipes. He didn t have any, and one of of 1992 which is fully capable of car- them a id:

Therefore a comparison of the second hearty spirit, the success of the enter- added the other. "I've seen this old sweetly, of her husband the other selection of the site can be made to the mer, and he's always had a different selection of the site can be made to the mer, and he's adways have a summary few little things-only what I can carry placed her hand in his, general satisfaction of the members of woman with him! He's up to shuff and in my hand-bag." the Finance Committee and the public, don't you forget it." every other difficulty, including that of them piled on to him and 1 screamed taising the necessary money, appears to and brought assistance. They sp it his be easily surmountable. There is a coat up the back, tore his collar off and good deal of talk of erecting perma- tore three buttons off his vest, and as bent buildings and maintaining a per- they went away they threatened to manent exhibition. It would simplify "Mr. Bowser," I said, after the matters to abandon this idea at once, crowd had started, "hadn't we better and it ought to be abandoned, for the go home?"

"No, ma'am, we hadn't! I came up the Philadelphia Permanent Exhibit here to enjoy myself, and I'm bound to silk, I spool twist, I spool basting tion sufficiently demonstrated that do so," I coaxed and argued, but he was ob-tion. The expense to exhibitors if they came along ripe for mischief, and one cut-steel buckle, 1 yard watered ribbon, cannot be found in the land, undertake to freshen up their displays of them halted before Mr. Bowser and 3 fancy-work ornaments, 1 skein emfrom time to time is prohibitory, while, inquired:

if they neglect to do so, the public. Illus- up," leses all charms for the public. Illus- up," "You are mistaken, sir." in the small attendance at permanent "Course he did," put in a second free museums, although the collections tough, "and he's got to give it up!" season only would draw crowds to ex-season only would draw crowds to ex-amine them. If the idea of perma-for help. Before I got back they had rolled would be less trouble about choosing a Mr. Bowser on the grass, taken all his site, and the estimates of cost could change away, and cuffed him about be reduced. A void an angry man maliciens man forever. nence should be abandoned, there be reduced.

in nister calls to talk to b have not tasted feed since morning." uply want to find fault and make me sion work in China, and by the time And wrapping a thin shawl about he has departed there is a boy to sell , Just at that moment a tough came blueberries, and a woman with the "History of the Johnstown Horror," wedge it in place.

and by that time it is noon. After dinner the woman starts out his genius and skill as an artist; that he there was a man standing there. thes off from the handle, and it takes had won a high name and princely half an hour to put it on again, and all fortune in the city, and on the morrow was in the arbor, but was listening for the natis she has brought with her to would lead to the altar one of the weal-Then she applies herself to business thiest ladies in the hand.

stealthy advance upon the house, More like one in a dream she reonce more, and attacks the pailing with renewed vigor. She nails it this unmindful of the cold and storm. with renewed vigor. She nails it this time and stands back to survey her What a power these words had to armed, I kept silent. work. Somehow it doesn't look just stir that woman's heart, and bring right, and she discovers that she has back memories of the time when she my neighbor starred. Then he silently put it on wrong end up. She will take had dearly loved Rhyde, and to show it off. That is easier said than done, her that that love was far from being His face was distinctly revealed in the When a woman does a thing she does it to stay done, and before she can get Occupied with these thoughts she all these broken, and crooked, and heeded not whither she went, and at on right eneck,' I noted as I made a last discovered that she had lost her rapid survey of his features, 'Good, I skewed nails out, the pailing is soilt into kindling-wood, and the rails to W72.V. which it is nailed look as if they had And a startling discovery it was, for been subjected to a fusillade from a the storm grew more furious as the earth do you want? You are no com-gatting-gan. hours went by, and the woman, being mon housebreaker,' for his whole apso thinly clad, was nearly benumbed her frantic endeavors, she lets go, or with the cold. of a thief. rather the pailing lets go, so sudd But she struggied resolutely on. At that she loses her balance and falls backward into the ditch which some down to rest on a step somewhat shellast, however, nearly exhausted, she sat enterprising devotee of thorough draintered from the chill blast, and then all age has excavated, and she wrenches was blank, till she awoke and found a rapid detour across garden and lawn ier back, and tears her dress, and wets herfelf lying on a downy couch, surboth of her feet, and crushes her hat, and scrambles out, just as Mrs. Jones, would alone can provint while a we ith alone can procure, while a with whom she is at swords' point, well-known face bent over her, and the rides by with company from the city. joyous impassioned voice of Rhyde Darad hughs at her predicament.

Then that woman is mad, and she ton cried: Then that woman is in that fence, icks a piece of wood in that fence, and vows it may stay there, for what Than Than And he tenderly kissed ber. "Thank God, the crisis is past, my and yows it may stay there, for what she cares, till the crack of doom. Then

Then origi the bewildered woman: she gathers up her tools and goes home. Do 1 dream? Can it be that you Next time when there is a fence to be forgive me? Can it be that still you she will give the carpenter love me as in the olden time, after half a dollar for an hour's work, and what has passed between us?"

"I can and do forgive you, dear Emma," he answer-d. "I love you at The Deceptive Hand-Bag. in these old days, knowing the severe some agitation. Would you mind going into Silk & trials through which you have passed, Satteen's store with me a few mo- and if you will be my wife, I shall be cents, dear?' asked Mrs. Younglove, the happiest of men. Reading the truth of his words in his did not look like a burgiar, but more prise seemed almost assured. If the bangee up here every Sunday this suma haif-hollday. 'I just want to get a that God was far too good to her, she

> The hand-bag was such a flat, wanderings in Italy, and his vain efdiminutive affair, seemingly capable of forts to forget her; of his return and holding so very little, that Younglove long search for her, on hearing of her locked and bolted. As we returned to cheerfully complied with his wife's resources, and how he had at last found > her on the steps of his own residence. When they emerged from the store, nearly frozen to death, and of his great upon an affair of much importance, but two hours and a half later, the hand- fear that she would not survive the se> vere illness that followed. Two yards orange ribbon, 1 yard dress lining, 4 yards Torchon lace, 1 ding of which she had heard, he told before you come down in the morning, card hooks and eyes, 3 spools sewing her the story was false.

thread, a card pearl buttons, 3 yar is the woman once more; and when her pared yet, cardinal ribbon, 3 han lkerchiefs, 1 pair health was restored there was a merry heither exhibitors nor the public care for a permanent or continuous exhibi-nappened. A gang of five or six men afraid he ill.'

proidery silk, 1 pair dress shields, 2 The automatic weighing, electrica. is burning no burglar will attack us. I vards Hamburg, 1 yard insertion, 1 box if they neglect to do so, the exhibition about an hour ago, and you picked it button-fasteners, 1 box hair-pins, 1 and lifting machines and other devices have some more writing to do, and your pair hosiery supporters, I hair net. 'There, dear,' said Mrs. Younglove, kept my word, and got only what I barrel of money every day. The best lost a good deal of sleep with that last night on their way home and often extensive practice, and since my motohow men dislike shopping." - ---- eel that she is saving money.

in my hand-bag."

bag contained:

mest

evidently had not seen me, shaded as I cused of this-this, 'Forgery,' added Will, coldly, apers which prove inm to be a forger. any suspicious sound before making a "After some conversation I agreed to I had come to your house the night be-fore last to receive some money, and pay fifty dollars to Will if he would My first impulse was to order him off keep the matter quiet. saw him stab himself. Shall I tell my

'To this day I have never known how probably a burglar, and well that sheet of paper came on my desk, and I swear that my hand never and I swear that my hand on it, touched it, nor put a pen-mark on it, 'Or do you prefer to help me break. Five, ten minutes passed away befor stepped out into the gravelled walk. we e cleverly forged. To resume my jail and to pay me five hundred dollars SLOPVI bright moonlight. 'From that time forth I was in Will's country? 'Dark hair, blue eyes, long nose, scar power. He has never ceased to dog inv tootsteps and demand heavy sums hush money. Once I did not hear think I shall know you if ever I see you from him for over five years. I had again, my fine fellow. But what on earth do you want? You are no comeft Mr. Smith's office, and begun practice as a physician. I was successful. My persecutor had disappeared, and I smile. "Good! you at least know of pearance was totally different from that ventured to hope he was dead. It was then I married. But before my honey-

Even as I thought this, i.e quietly vanished up the walk. noon was over, Will came back and demanded more money. My wife was 'Felt slippers, I suppose; he knows a delicate, fragile little thing, and I his business," I soliloquized, as I made dreaded for her sake the disclosure that proven forger! Thought of my there day and night would follow the refusal of Will's de- father's reputation blasted, ay domay finding the money. mand, so I paid him what he asked, to the front door. It was unlocked, and the hall lamp "I had ever lived in dread that some was burning brightly, though the day he would yet reveal my secret. Oh, of my proud Viva and the pain it a letter from Sin Francisco, signed church bell had struck three. At the how I have suffered, and yet I am insound of my step, my father appeared in the door of his study, which opened to rescue myself from this tharldom, directly off the hall.

'Is the back of the house fastened up. kill my wife and blast my reputation. father? I asked, at the same time lock- But now my dear love is gone and our Yes, I suppose so, Seldon; why do boy is well provided for. I shall not suffer much longer. I have thought of you ask?' he replied. a safe plan-'Because I saw a man hiding in the Here the writing changed abruptly shrubbery as I came in,' I answered. 'Did you see him plainly? What did tinued thus:

he look like?' queried my father with "To-day I received an infimation that | out the bars, 'Yes, I saw his face in the moonlight. He had dark hair, blue eyes, a long saw in the shrubbery. This determines nose, and a scar on the right cheek. He do what I have so long intended nuch misery. Be calm, my son, and then. I concluded. 'But let us go over the real carefully the rest of this letter. house together, and make sure that the fastenings are all secure." Silently we made the circuit of the out I charge you to produce this confession if an innocent person be in dauger of being convicted for my murder 'I wished to consult you to-night

Let no man, no matter how low, suffer my cowardice had consented. That as I have suffered for another's come, EDGAR L. BALLANTYNE.

by Heaven's vengeauce. valet, rapped at the door. 'Mr. Seldon, Mr. Seldon!' he cried.

"There's a man come for the doctor to go to a life and death case, but I can't make him hear me when I knock. I'm by Europeans of worshipping the "almighty dollar," and great was my Hastily concealing the confession, I tempt against the house to-night.' 'No, go to bed, my boy,' father antice of this charge. After calm obser-vation of the ways of men in America, prang to the door and ran down stairs. "As long as my lamp The door of father's room was locked, and no answer came to my repeated entreaties to be allowed to enter. was certainly not only the unit of the

"Bring an axe, Green,' I said un-teadily, "We must force the door." the unit of the metrical system. Howgathered in the hall, but as the door cave way to the blows of Green's axe not so much for itself as for the lower. I've no relatives in the world that I know of, and nobody else that My father was a physician with an the threshold.

A strange odor of chloroform per- American's way of expending his money valed the room. Upon the bed lay that redeems his trick of taking off his thing to eat or do. A stable man ofinduce their escort to give up two or "er's death he had kept very irregular Avoid an angry man for awhile- a three models so that there can be no hours; so I thought nothing of his re- something. Was it my father? An- hat to it whenever he sees it.-Mat quest that he should not be disturbed other step took me past the table, and O Rell.

metintely, and I lost no time in betakcontirmed tobacco chewors. They be gan the habit several months ago, and ng myself thither, in spite of Green's urgent request that I would take a cup of coffee before I went. since have been putting on fat rapidly 'The prisoner wants to see you,' said

"At first the porkets did not appear to relish the weed, but soon they became very foul of it, and now they security be perfectly miserable when their owner To my surprise, he retired and left. neglects to give them their daily allowance of tolacco."

-A man who has been working country towns in East New Jersey with the old swindle of selling alleged gold rings and making presents of gold watches began bu-i less from his buggy in Belleville recently. After he had gotten well and ; why some person is the growd out the traces of his hard and when the fellow attempted the Too astounded to answer, I sat trick of driving soldenly away horse started, but left the buggy be hind; The man was compelled to refund the money to his victims, and finally slunk out of town dragging his burgy after him;

-A despatch from Union, West Vic ginia, says: While John Alle was work-ing os the road, in Weif district, he dug a bottle three left below the surfa The bottle contained a rule man of that section of the country and a piece of parchment dated 1827, on which was set forth that a "treasure of gold was buried at Cold Spring, near Barney Johnson's cablus, ' The discovery soor became known, and, the locality of the old-time cabin having been pointed Like a flash I saw myself the son of a wit, many persons having been digging there day and night in the hope

-J. Luchtenstein & Son, dry goodi blasted, for the suspicion of suicide would rest upon his mane. I thought dealers in New York, recently received necent! Many, many plans have I hid to rescue myself from this thardom, but dared not risk a failure that would vielded. Like my unhappy falls r be- the," and asking that ber full hame and ore me, I was a moral coward, ad iress be sent to Mayor Pond, of Sag "I accept your terms, "I sold noarsely. Francisco. The money was left by a How can I help you to es ape? Cattornian, lately deceased, who Lw A gleam of triumph shot from the years ago hought goods from the finn, How's eyes as he replied: He was waited upon by "Hattie," and "I thought you would see it that way, according to the letter, became very to my father's usual hand, and con- Call on me again to-morrow, and bring much smitten with her. a couple of fine steel saws so that I can Lightenstein concluded that Miss Ha Mail this letter for me, the Minzesheimer was the young wo I must have two thousand dollars for Will to-night. It was he whom you outside, When things quiet down a Pond, enclosing her name and address. little after my escape, I'll send you and also a copy of Danner's letter. A word where to meet me with the reporter of the Sau quotes Miss Minedepart from a life that contains so money, and will give you those papers sheimer as saying: "I don't know anyhen." I put the letter in my pocket and left I'd like to see the $5000 before 1 put For the sake of my reputation and your the cell. On the way home I had but any trust in the story." future, I shall take care that my death one thought, one wish. I longed to A girl tramp, wearing male attire, fature, I shall take care that my death rest with my father. I must help his was arrested in Cincinnati recently on persecutor escape. On, that I were was arrested in Cinculnati recently on suspicion of being, a grook. At the suspicion house she told this shory of her But I was spared the crime to which station house she told this story of her life; "I came here from Indianapolis on a freight train. Rose all the way mght a fearful storm raged over the on the bompers. I've been a tramp? r city, and the jail was struck by lighttwo years, working when I had to, and ning. Only one man was injured, and I had just finished this startling com-nuntcation when Green, my father's destroyer. He had fallen a house. My father was a hor begging a living w en it was possible, a house. My father was a horse trader and peddler, and traveled all over the country in a wagon with my mother and myself. I suppose I was born in a The American is constantly accused wagon, as I never knew what it was to live in a house. While on the road I took to wearing men's clothes for convenience, and have kept it up ever since. About two years ago, near Vinc nnes, my mother died from old age. I came to the conclusion that the dollar My father sold his outfit to pay the doctor's bill, and soon died himself. monetary system, but that it was also was left alone and had to strike out for By this time all the servants had ever, I soon saw that, if the dollar was myself. So I've been tramping ever cares for me. I like the life I lead and intend to keep at it. I got in this the land. There is a lavishness in the morning on the train, and at the vards, started out to get some was 'fraid they'd find me out.

it is too late now. However, I shall And when she asked him of the wed-room which I wish you to look over as I want your opinion on the matter So joy looked out of the blue eyes of as soon as possible. It is not quite pre-'If you intend to sit up later, let m swered calmly.

The Nickel Tran.

pair hosiery supporters, I hair net. There, dear,' said Mrs. Younglove, a slot seem to be as popular as ever, and sweetly, as they came out; 'you see I the company owning them is making a sweetly, as they came out; 'you see I the company owning them is making a for getting the public to drop nicke's in in the small attendance the collections free nuseums, although the collections in these if brought together for a short in these if brought together more threats when I ran I wouldn't have asked you if I'd and actresses. Many of the latter inbeen a regular shopping round; I know sist on being weighed at the ferry every mistake.

Editor and Proprietor.