From a man who traveled in Norway. They have an effectual way of dealing with habitual drunkards in Norway and Sweden. They put them in jail and feed them on bread and wine. The bread is steeped in wine an hour before served. The first day a man will take it, but before many more he will hate the sight of it. After an incarceration of this sort many become total abstainers.

James Smith and son of Walker township, did big work at post fence making in 1889. In the year just past they put up 842 panels of new post and rail fence and 649 panels of old post and rail fence, making a total of 1491 panels. In addition to this work they put up the hay and grain cr-p on the property of the elder Smith. Who are the two men who have done more work than that in the past year?

Many of the stragglers in attendance at the sessions of the State Horticultural Society had some difficulty in finding the entrance into the rear Court House, the side and rear doors being the only ones open. The front doors and the gates to the front of the yard being closed and locked. One of the stragglers remarked that he must be "on to the rope," to find his way into a public building that only keeps its side and rear doors open and bolts and bars its front door.

On Tuesday afternoon the engine in the Snyder's saw-mill got beyond the control of the engineer because of the faulty action of the governor, and for a few minutes beat its record for time. Belts were torn, engine and machinery displaced, sticks and wood flying in every direction, and amidst the confusion and racket, the hands ran out and escaped unhurt. The engine stopped of its own accord. The mill is now undergoing repairs and will be set in motion again.—Millersburg Herald

When you are looking around for a local paper for the home circle, remember that the SENTINEL and REPUBLICAN is the largest paper published in Juniata county, and in addition to all important personal and religious business and political news gives a well selected assortment of literary reading, almost twice as much reading as any other paper published in the county. One dollar in advance. Those who desire the Weekly Press can secure it with the SENTINEL and REPUBLICAN for one dollar and fifty cents in advance.

The funeral of Mrs. G. W. Clark, whose maiden name was Rebecca Conner took place from her home in Altoona on Friday the 17th inst. She was brought to this place on a day express and was buried in the Lutheran church press taken to the Lutheran church of which she was a member. Rev.

Mr. Graff her pastor was ill, and Rev. Mr. Miller, of the Methodist church conducted the services. One short year ago she was a happy bride. Her seemingly untimely end almost broke the heart of her relatives, and brought forth rich floral offerings from many friends as tributes to the memory of the departed. Interment in the Reformed Protestant church.

The Lewistown Gazette says: "A. Roy, of this way to work Saturday morning, a weak leg happened to spry among the tie piles along the railroad several bags of something, which upon examination proved to be oats and corn feed. He reported to the warehouse men of J. P. Henry. Thinking some lumbermen had put it there until he was paid for it. In the evening as no one came for the bags it was thought best to carry them into the warehouse. While moving the bags of feed several pokes of flour were found among them, which created a suspicion of theft. The books of the house were examined and it was found that the company was short one hundred and four, and the men at once proceeded to carry the balance of the bags in, when they found some of it had been carried away while they were at the warehouse. It is not known definitely how the feed was gotten from the house as every door and window was all right on the morning after the theft. The supposition is that the thief secreted himself in a house during the day and opened the door from the inside, carried out the goods and closed the door again as it was. A suspicion of who the thief is had by some.

The fifth annual meeting of the State Horticultural Association was held in the Court House last Wednesday and Thursday. George Jacobs delivered the address of welcome. The weather was not propitious and the attendance was correspondingly small. The display of fruit, flowers and plants was creditable. The meetings were in evening and instructive. The speeches and essays took in the whole range of horticulture. The subject of the cultivation of chestnuts was one of the most interesting under consideration and it was made clear, new varieties of chestnuts may be grafted on the young chestnut tree and thus the mountain sides and barren ridges will be turned into more profitable groves than peach orchards. Professor Eagle championed the chestnut industry and when the society was through with the subject of chestnuts it appeared that J. E. Smith of Fayette township has engaged in the industry and has a grove grafted with the Spanish chestnut and Paragon chestnut. It is plain once the Horticultural Association has its way, which hasten the day, the hillsides and hilltops will be dotted over with peach orchards, berry gardens and vine yards, and the mountains and rocky ridges be covered with chestnut groves, and groves of the nut producing trees, and the valley lands will be devoted to the raising of grain and garden vegetables. It would require a number of long reports to give all the valuable and nice things the professors said. Edwin Davis of Walker township delivered a valuable address on peach culture. J. E. Jamison of Fayette township addressed the association on the cultivation of the peach. L. C. Lantz, of Delaware township talked on the subject of the cultivation of berries. He is a practical cultivator of berries. The officers of the past year were re-elected. A committee on legislation having for its object the extermination of the "yellows" among peach trees, &c., was appointed. J. E. Jamison is the Juniata county member of the committee. The meeting next year will be held in Lancaster, beginning on the 3rd Wednesday in January 1891. It will also be the occasion of a reunion of all living original members of the association.

Stenographers and Typewriters on the Pennsylvania limited.

Recognizing the increasing popularity of the Limited among the business and professional men of the country, the Pennsylvania Railroad has decided to still further improve the facilities of this wonderful train, and add to its conveniences by introducing a stenographer and typewriter for the service of the passengers.

A bright young man expert in both branches of his profession will be placed on each train between New York and Pittsburgh to take the dictation and transcribe on the typewriter the correspondence of the passengers who desire to avail themselves of his services. By this means a business or professional man can attend to his correspondence en route, and thus secure a great saving of time. A compartment will be fitted up on each train for this purpose, and the letters will be mailed from the train as they are written. This novel and convenient arrangement will go into effect on February 1st.

The business men already have advantage of the stock and weather reports on the Limited, the ladies and their drawing room in the observation car, and the introduction of an ammenisist will round out the completeness of the train's conveniences to a perfect degree. No other railroad train in the world offers anyone of the four advantages that are provided on the Pennsylvania Limited.

Temperance Institute.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Juniata Co., met in Institute in the M. E. Church, of Thompsonstown, Jan. 16th. The preparation made for this meeting on the part of members and others, showed plainly that the subject of Temperance and its consequences are still claiming the attention of the good people of Juniata county. A few bright words of Welcome by a lady of Thompsonstown who beautifully illustrated what she said in her own lovely home. Essays of the Ys indicated that they are cheerfully and earnestly taking up their share of the burden and responsibility of this work. Other young people by recitation declamation and music contributed very much to the interest of the meeting. Even the children were made to feel that they had a place and were a part of the organization. Our faithful superintendent of Evangelistic work gave in her report, the secret of our success, that ours is Christian work. Ministers and other brethren, who were present, all united in words of encouragement, and a letter fresh from the pen of a sister in the far away state of Washington seemed like a living presence bringing to us loving sympathy. So our program completed, our committee submitted the following resolutions which were adopted.

Resolved: 1st, That we have had a very pleasant and profitable meeting, and that we hope to go forward with renewed vigor to this our chosen work.

Resolved: 2nd, That we extend our thanks for the young ladies and gentlemen for their evening music.

Resolved: 3rd, That we are grateful to the ministers and other gentlemen and ladies who have in various ways contributed to the interest of our meeting.

Resolved: 4th, That we thank the officers of the M. E. Church for the use of the building.

Resolved: 5th, That we thank those who kindly and hospitably entertained the members of the Institute.

Committee:

Mrs. G. W. KILMER,
Mrs. E. A. TENNIS,
Miss MARY M. LYON.

Mrs. DANIEL KLOSS, Pres.
Miss M. M. LYON, Sec.

Late Potatoes.

The June flood covered the potato patch of Farmer Brennsholtz on the Park farm in Walker Twp. The patch was covered under a thick coating of river mud and during the after part of the summer a thick growth of weeds grew where the potatoes should have appeared. On the 8th of this month January 1890, Mr. Brennsholtz burned the weeds off the field and then he thought of the potatoes. He dug in the ground and to his surprise he found the potatoes prolific and in a first rate state of preservation.
