SENTINEL & REPUBLICAN

MIFFLINTOWN.
WEDNESDAY, MAR. 5, 1890.

B. F. SCHWEIER,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

PHILADELPHIA is to have a new hotel nine stories high.

THE height of an ocean wave in a heavy sea has been measured at 40 feet.

A PITTSBURG man committed suicide because his wife seemed fated to have no children.

THE first Democratic governor elected in Iowa in 40 years gives prohibition a vigerous kick.

THE first silver dollar authorized by Congress was under the act of February 12, 1792.

BOIES, the newly elected governor of Iowa, in his inaugural address last Thursday declared prohibition in his state, not a success.

CHARLES EBONY SMITH of the Press has been tendered the compliment of an editorial dinner, to be given in Philadelphia before he leaves for Russia.

THERE is a bill on the Congressional calender that provides a pension for every soldier who was a prisoner in a rebel prison. It is said there are some thirty thousand ex prisoners living.

THE question of the adulteration of lard was before Congress last week. The cotton-seed oil lard men had defenders. They argued that their lard is not injurious to health and for that reason congressional action cannot be employed against them.

SENATOR CAMERON'S pension bill, introduced last week defines total helplessness to apply to all persons who during the war lost an arm or leg at or so near the joint that an artificial limb cannot be used and grants all such persons a pension of $72 a month.

IT makes American lawyers open their eyes over a trial of a suit now, that was begun five hundred years ago in Russia against a city of the Empire by the heirs of a nobleman. One generation after another have kept up the litigation. The suit is now in the highest court and is for the recovery of land that was confiscated by the city government.

THE International Congress at Washington favor an international railway, that is a grand railway extending from the United States, through Central America, through South America. When the delegates were swinging around the circle of the Northern States last autumn it was plainly to be seen that such a project would grow out of the meeting of the delegates.

NEW YORK, St. Louis, Washington and Chicago were all before Congress asking for the Christopher Columbus fair in 1892. Congress voted eight times before a conclusive vote was cast. The eighth ballot stood Chicago 157, New York 107, St. Louis 25, Washington 18. There was great rejoicing in Chicago when the news was dispatched. Atkinson voted for Washington till the sixth ballot when he voted for Chicago to the end of the balloting.

THE West Virginia, Congressional contested seat between Pendleton D. and Atkinson R., was decided last Thursday by the seating of Atkinson. Enough of democrats were present to constitute a quorum but they would not vote, the speaker however counted those present and thereby declared a quorum and the house ready for business. Pendleton in the speech in his behalf blamed the Commissioner of Agriculture for giving all of the garden seeds to Atkinson for distribution during the the time the trirl was on hand. By that point in his speech he meant that the seeds had influenced the moral and political support of a majority of West Virginians in Atkinson's favor.

In Memoriam.

Communicated.

DIED—HARMAN.—On January 21st, 1890, of paralysis of the brain, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Annie M. Bartley, 420 Kelker street, Harrisburg, Pa., Mrs. Catharine Harman, relict of the late Frederick H. Harman, aged 69 years, 3 months and 9 days.

Death has again for the third time in the past sixteen months entered the family circle, and this time born away a mother, a friend and counsellor. Death is no respector of persons. The grim monster comes stealing upon all; the old and the young are alike, sought after and carried to the bournefrom whence no traveler returns.

The subject of the above notice was born in Perry county, Pa., October 12, 1821. All her early life was spent in her native county. On November 15, 1846, she was united in marriage to Frederick H. Harman, deceased. Eight children blessed this union, six of whom still survive her. After the close of the war they removed to Juniata county. About 15 years ago they moved to Port Royal, Pa., where they resided until the time of her husbands death, April 1st, 1889, and until the flood of June 1889. The flood destroying her property and breaking up the old house, she immediately came to Harrisburg and took up her residence with her daughter, where she remained up to the time of her death. The remains of the deceased were taken to Port Royal and the services held in the M E church, of which she had been a member. Rev. W. H. Stevens preached an able and eloquent sermon, based on Ezekiel, 9th chapter and part of the 4th verse: "And the Lord said, go though the midst of the city, though the midst of Jerusalem, and set a mark upon the foreheads of men." The hymns sung were "Asleep in Jesus," and "Oh, for the death of those, who slumber in the Lord." His remarks were eloquent and well chosen. After the sermon the casket was opened and many people passed by the lifeless form, taking a last farewell look at the face of their acquaintance and friend. She was followed by a large number of friends to her last resting place—Church Hill cemetery, where she sleeps beside her husband and youngest son, awaiting the summons from on high when the "grass shall yield up their dead."

Since the death of her husband, April 1st, 1889, she failed very fast, but always bore up with remarkable courage and patience. Last October she became greatly troubled, and for a time was quite prostrated with heart failure; but by timely aid she rallied and enjoyed reasonable health, until three weeks previous to her demise, when she was again attacked by La Grippe, which terminated in paralysis of the brain on the above date. After the last stroke she never rallied to consciousness, but grew weaker and weaker, until it pleased God in His alwise providence to relieve her of her suffering, and the chill of death came stealing upon her as peaceful and sweet as the dews of evening.

The deceased was a woman of remarkable courage and perseverance; she always tried to look upon the bright side of life. Though her disappointments and sorrows have been heavy crosses to bear, yet she bore them all with that spirit of perseverance that characterizes and distinguishes those who have learned from childhood to fight life's battles with a hoping, trusting heart. Her temperment in youth had been a joyous one, and in old age, amid all her sorrows and privations—for she had many—she still gazed upon the joys of life with the eyes of childhood, from the far gone past, upward, trusting, hoping, and upon its sorrows with the eyes of age—from the distant future triumphant, not despairing. The silvery locks that have been whitened by the frosts and storms of many winters, the failing eyesight, the childlike simplicity with which she clung to those she was dependent upon, the tottering form, as it began to bend forward as if to meet the grave, the many changes noted in her manner during the past few months have all bore testimony that the end was not very far off

Mother has gone, her loss is deeply felt. Her form and face will be seen no more around the old firesides; a chair is vacant which never can be filled. She lived to a good old age and her end was quiet, peaceful and sweet. No struggle told of any agony in the last hour. She passed over the river of death and left no ripple upon its calm surface to tell of fear or anguish in her parting hour. She told her friends that her mission in life had been finished and she was ready and willing to go. In her long life she has often looked into the sunlight of joy, peace and happiness, and still oftener has the lowering clouds of adversity darkened her path. But her joys and sorrows have all ended, she has laid aside the armour of mortality; her weeping eyes have been dried of all tears, her aching heart has received the balm of eternal rest; her form worn with the toils and struggles of life, has been strengthened in the spiritual world, and she is now enjoying the rest "prepared for her from the foundation of the world." Mother and home is gone, but there are tender recollections and sweet memories of days when her children clustered around her knees, of the lessons taught of the looks and smiles and sympathies that have been showered upon us in childhood, that will never cease while the birds sing and the flowers bloom upon her grave. No they are imperishable, time nor distance, can never obliterate the memory of a mother, all that is dear in life cluster around the hallowed name of "mother" with radiance divine. Though we miss her form, yet her image and her memory will always brighten our life, strengthen us in time of adversity, and linger around us as a benediction in our joy. The last golden link in the band of home has been severed; her race is run; she sleeps the sleep that "knows no waking." She is surely resting awaiting the resurrection morn when God shall come to Judge the quick and the dead. Peace to her ashes.

After Twenty Years.

LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 28.—A back pension was awarded to-day to Alexander Craig, amounting to $10,250, and an allowance of $72 per month the balance of his life. He was a member of the Third United States Colored Troops, and in the engagement at Morris Island, S. C., on August 1, 1863, a bomb burst over his head. The shock caused concussion of the brain, which resulted in insanity, and he has been for several years an inmate of the Harrisburg Asylum. His family are in destitute circumstances, and when informed of their good luck could scarcely credit it. The claim has been in the Pension Department for over twenty years.

Obituary.

At her home in McAlisterville Sunday morning, Feb. 16, 1890, peacefully fell asleep in Jesus, Mrs. Rachel Leidy, wife of Aaron Leidy Esq., aged 77 years 1 month and 10 days.

She was a quiet and helpful neighbor, a kind affectionate mother and a loving and faithful wife, having spent with her husband over 57 years of happy wedded life. She was the mother of two sons and three daughters, one of whom is now living. Her grand children living number nine and great grand children five. Soon after her marriage she united with the Hilltown German Reformed church to which her husband belonged, and soon after their removal from their native county, Bucks, to this county over 41 years ago, she and her husband united with Ev. Lutheran Cong., at McAlisterville of which she remained a consistent and faithful member till death.

The Tiger Spring tooth Harrow does not clog, and it must run lighter and do better work than one that does, either Steel or wood frames for sale at prices to suit the buyer at J. F. Jacobs, Port Royal Pa.

The Tiger Harrow frame does not run so close on the ground as other harrows and cannot pound itself to pieces or wear out by coming in contract with stones ledges and so forth which is a very objectionable feature in all other harrows. It will surely pay you to examine the Tiger before buying, for sale by, J. F. Jacobs.

The Tiger either steel or wood frame harrow is the only one that will work on wet, mellow or sandy soil without the frames burying itself, for sale by J. F. Jacobs.

The Tiger Harrow teeth are formed nearly on a true circle and have more coil than others, which gives them more spring, allowing those that come in contact with an obstruction to pass over without interfering with the working of the others and are warranted not to break or lose their shape. Send for circular to J. F. Jacobs, Port Royal, Pa.

Remember the Tiger Spring Tooth Harrow have the teeth fastened under the beam and form a protection to the frame while many others have the teeth fastened on top of frame, which allows the frame to trail and drag in the ground, and that it is the only harrow having steel tooth holders, all others have either cast iron or valuable tooth holders which are liable to break or soon wear out. Think of the wonderful points the Tiger has over others and you will have no other. Address J. F. Jacobs, Port Royal, Pa., for circular.

JAMES MCCAULEY, P. M.

Some 18 months ago Jesse Kissinger, received an injury on the left side of his head, by a piece of sand bank machinery striking the caboose of the train of truck cars on which he was employed by the railroad company. He has been an invalid since that time. Last Saturday an operation was performed on his head in the Homeopathic hospital in Philadelphia. A circular piece about as large as a half dollar, of the depressed part of the skull was cut out to give relief to the brain at that point. Dr. Walker under whom he was taken to the hospital was present at the operation. At this writing no definite information as to the condition of the unfortunate man has been received.

TO WEAK MEN
Suffering from the effects of youthful errors, early decay, wasting weakness, lost manhood, etc., I will send a valuable treatise (sealed) containing full particulars for home cure, FREE of charge. A splendid medical work; should be read by every man who is nervous and debilitated. Address, Prof. F. C. FOWLER, Moodus, Conn.

NO MORE OF THIS!

Rubber Shoes unless worn uncomfortably tight, will often slip off the feet. To remedy this evil the offer a shoe with the inside of the heel lined with rubber. This clings to the shoe and prevents the Rubber from slipping off.
"DOLCHESTER" RUBBER CO.
Call for the "Colchester"
"ADHESIVE COUNTERS" and you can walk, run or jump in them.
