Republican State Ticket.

GOVERNOR, GEORGE W. DELAMATER, CHESTERFORD COUNTY. LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR, LOUIS A. WATRES, LACKAWANNA COUNTY. SECRETARY OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS, THOMAS J. STEWART, MONTGOMERY COUNTY.

SPEAKER REED was re-elected in Maine by an increased majority, 4,500 is his majority. All the machinery known in Democratic politics was brought to bear to defeat Reed.

The result of the election has thrown leaders of the Democracy off their balance and they are making charges against their own people that are extravagant. For example the New York World charges that the Democrats in Maine sold themselves body and breeches to the Republicans.

Previous to the election the World and other papers of its class were eager to have the country believe that the only saving virtue for the country is tied up in the Democratic party, and now within a few days after its profession of virtue, it comes to the front with the most astonishing charges of corruption against its own people.

Doubtless there are people of easy political virtue in all parties, but to charge the whole Democratic party with being in the market for sale is an outrage, and as a Republican, we wish to enter a protest against such wholesale depravity charges against the untried brethren. The mistake is with the Democratic leaders in not reading correctly the cause of the rank and file of the untried voting for Reed and the Republican party.

The rank and file of the Democratic party voted not for money, but because they have honest political opinions, honest convictions on the subjects of the rights of men, and honest convictions on the subject of the industrial interest of the country.

That's why they voted for the Republican party and for Speaker Reed, and that is the reason a certain percentage of the Democracy of Pennsylvania, in November will vote for Delamater and that is the reason a certain percentage of the Democracy will vote for Atkinson in the 18th Congressional District, and for about the same reason many Democrats in Juniata will vote for the Republican county ticket. Enough of them will vote this way to elect the republican ticket. There are more of the Democratic party who have honest political convictions than such leaders as the New York World dream of.

A Distinguished Visitor.

FROM THE CHAMBERSBURG PUBLIC OPINION OF SEPTEMBER 12, 1890: Chambersburg had a distinguished visitor last Saturday and Sunday in the person of Hon. James N. Huston, Treasurer of the United States.

He was on his way to the old home farm in Antrim township, and stopped in Chambersburg over Sunday in order that he might visit Rocky Spring church and graveyard, where his grandfather, grandmother and an aunt are buried.

Whilst in Chambersburg Treasurer Huston had much to say in regard to political affairs. In speaking of Congressman Atkinson he told the Optimist men that Mr. Atkinson was one of the best representatives in Congress, and was held in high esteem by all at Washington. He is one of the most faithful members and is doing honest work for his people.

Treasurer Huston said he was glad to hear of Congressman Atkinson's candidacy for re-nomination, and hoped that he would be successful. It is his opinion that the people of this district could do no better than to re-nominate Congressman Atkinson and elect him by a handsome majority. "If your people would know what was for their own good they would return Mr. Atkinson," he said.

A Specimen Brick.

Black mailers are doing their best to extort money from Senator Delamater. The Senator does right, in exposing them. Here is a specimen letter, which shows how a Meadville man proposed to raise $128 on a threat of telling something—he does not say what. Delamater sent his letter to the Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee who has had it published. People who attempt blackmail should be exposed. If the letter is a specimen brick of the kind that is to be thrown at Delamater the more that are thrown the better, for brick of that kind show the spirit of corruption that animates the abusive crowd that are against the Senator.

Central Hotel, Meadville, Pa., Sept. 9, 1890. Mr. GEORGE DELAMATER.

DEAR SIR: You will remember that I did you for the money I spent for your election for Senator and you never paid me according to agreement now if you send me your check for $128 and the interest on the same in five days it will save me the trouble of taking a active part against you if I hear from you in the time named I shall have the whole thing published and Send it to Emery to prove his assertion against you, yours truly.

George is Willing.

Henry George is not only willing, but anxious to stump the state for Pattison, and now that the cat is out of the bag, the Democratic managers might as well engage him. It was rather unfortunate for Mr. Pattison that Mr. George and his friends should have so enthusiastically endorsed him as a free trader and a single tax man.

George was a fact, and the Democratic candidate didn't care about having made to conspicuous. Since, however, the thing is known, George ought to be asked his terms, and if they are not to high he should be put on the stump.

Mr. Delamater is so sure of victory that the campaign is somewhat dreary, and if for nothing more than the amusement of the crowd, Mr. Pattison ought to add a single-tax side show to his circus.—North American.

Democratic War Veterans.

Democratic veterans against the late rebellion appreciate Governor Pattison's position on the soldier question. They are organizing so that they can more effectively work against Pattison's election.

At a meeting held in Philadelphia in August they passed the following resolutions:

Resolved by the Democratic war veterans assembled in public meeting on the night of the 22nd day of August, 1890, that the action of the Democratic State Convention in nominating Robert E. Pattison for Governor was unwise and ill-considered in view of the attitude toward the soldiers who fought to save the Union.

That we call attention to the fact that the present Democratic nominee for Governor, during his incumbency in the executive chair in 1885, disregarding the claims of the destitute soldiers of this Commonwealth, vetoed the bill providing for the appropriation of not more than $35 for the burial of such veterans as might die penniless, regardless of the fact that said bill had been passed unanimously in both the Senate and House of Pennsylvania, Democrats as well as Republicans joining hands on a measure, the justice and right of which was universally admitted and recognized.

That the action of Robert E. Pattison in vetoing said bill placed before the penniless and war worn soldiers of this State no other prospect than the Potters' Field, or the dissecting table after his weary march of life was ended and forever cast a blot on the last Democratic Governor of this Commonwealth.

That in view of the facts we here by indorse a resolution that George Wallace Delamater for Governor, Louis A. Watres for Lieutenant Governor and Colonel Thomas J. Stewart, the author of the Soldier's Burial bill, for Secretary of Internal Affairs, believing them all to be men of high character and of good records in private and public life and knowing that the best interests not only of the soldiers who fought and suffered to save this Union will be secured, but that the cause of good government and progressive and enlightened citizenship will be promoted by their election.

That a committee of three be appointed by the chair to take charge of the work of organizing the Democratic party in this state, who believe as we do in aiding in the election of such men who drove back the tide of rebellion at Gettysburg in days when the soldier was appreciated and when a veto of a measure like the Soldiers' Burial bill by the Governor of Pennsylvania would have been scarcely short of treason, and would have been branded by the loyal people of this state.

Warning to Confiding Girls.

NEW YORK, Sep. 11.—A pitiful tale of seduction and desertion came to light in Jefferson Market Court today when 18-year-old Annie Woods, of Lansdowne, Pa., told how she had been ruined under promise of marriage by Charles Meese, who for some time had been spending his vacation there. The girl is pretty and a pronounced blonde.

Late last night she was found by a policeman wandering aimlessly down Broadway crying. The officer took her to the Prince street station house and to-day in court she told her tale. At Lansdowne she lived with her aunt, and there met Meese three weeks ago. He paid her market attention and finally induced her, by promise of marriage, to elope with him and come to New York. She consented and when they reached here took a room at downtown hotel. On the evening of the third day Meese gave her five cents, and saying that he would return the next day and marry her went out. Since then she has not seen him.

Finally she was ejected from the hotel, not being able to pay her board bill, and wandering about the city, sat down on a bench in Union Square Park, faint from hunger and fright. There was an approach by two men, to whom she told her story. Under pretense of taking her to a restaurant she accompanied them to a saloon and was given a glass of drugged liquor, from the effects of which she was unconscious for two hours. When found by the policeman she had just escaped from the saloon. The girl was given in charge of a policeman, to whom she said that Meese was the son of wealthy parents who had resided in Lansdowne for almost a year.

Grangers Read.

Mr. Leonard Rhine and Senator Brown of York, are two of the leading Democratic members of the Pennsylvania Grange, and both of them are engaged in an effort to twist that great organization to a partisan purpose—in fact to make it Democratic and rally it in this contest. Mr. Rhine has issued two addresses with that object in view, and Senator Brown, as one of the State Grange lecturers, has gone out of his way to inject political views into his speeches.

THE CHARGE.

which Mr. Rhine makes against Senator Delamater is that he defeated the Grange tax bill, offered by Representative Taggart of Montgomery county, and which passed the House with little or no discussion.

In fact it has in recent years been too much the practice of the House to pass all tax bills submitted with the full belief that if they were not sound their faults would be exposed in the Senate Finance Committee, made up of the most experienced members, and of those who give special attention to revenue questions.

Mr. Rhine's charge is not true, and its falsity was exposed by Senator Delamater himself, in his speech before all of the leading Grangers at Williams Grove. Not only did he show that the charge was untrue, but demonstrated, very plainly, that he is in line with the REPUBLICAN STATE PLATFORM, which declares that the party will devote its future revenue legislation to the relief of local taxation.

The Republican party is in good shape to redeem a promise which is in plain keeping with its previous record upon

NO OTHER STATE. Principality, Kingdom or Empire in all the world, and that the fact is due to the policy of the Republican party, which was bitterly resisted, in every tax concession by the Democratic party, which has sought, in all contests, to restore the State taxes upon real estate, machinery and stock.

This explanation has little real value, for Mr. Rhine's charge against Senator Delamater, but it will correctly read the reader at least upon the merits of the controversy, and upon the existing condition of State legislation as it touches taxation.

When Senator Delamater refuted the charge of Mr. Rhine at Williams Grove, and he did this very plainly, he was too generous. He did aim responsibility for the defeat of the bill and then showed that it had been found not to be a good bill, and when this was generally conceded he framed another, on which Commission ample provision was made for the representation of the Grange.

Senator Delamater kept strictly within the facts and courteously refused to state a fact which would not only have justified his position, but would have made it very plain why the bill after full discussion in the Senate Finance Committee, was slain to be wholly undesirable, and that the way out of the difficulty which he took was acceptable to all who were free from partisan designs. The stated object of the bill was to relieve farm lands from the burlesque, and to equalize taxation, by organizing the taxable, having corporations in or through it to levy a tax upon the real and personal property of the corporation equal to the amount levied for local purposes and the county tax. This was the meaning of the first section and it was the leading object of the measure.

At the hearing of all the Grange leaders before the Committee, Senator Cooper called attention to this fatal defect in the principle of the bill—that it would only benefit townships, through which railroads actually passed or which had within their limits other corporations—and all other districts would suffer by comparison and suffer actually, since the lands in townships enjoying corporation would at once cease to be farming and become wholly speculative lands, while the far greater number, probably one hundred to one township having no corporations, would pay as much as before. This was in effect

DAMAGING DISCRIMINATION, against farm lands, and the principle in the bill meant almost universal mischief to the farmer. After full discussion Mr. Piolet, the father of the Grange, and Mr. R. H. Thomas, its able Secretary, admitted that the objection was insurmountable save through a new measure, and a new measure was impossible at that late stage of the session. The character of the bill could not be lawfully changed on its passage through either House, and nothing remained but for the Committee to defeat—nor was there any other fortunate and favorable outcome from the difficulty that presented in the most timely spirit by Senator Delamater—to wit: the commission which is now acting, and upon which the farming interest is fully represented with a view to get practical one useful legislation which will relieve, and not multiply, the burdens of local taxation.

This is the story in a nut shell. It not only relieves Senator Delamater from all blame, but truthfully shows how creditable his conduct was, and how practically useful it may be in devising a plan for the relief of real estate from the burdens of local taxation. This work, now fully begun, will be faithfully completed by the Republican party under the administration of Delamater as Governor. He will keep his pledge in this as in all other matters in which the people are concerned.

Y. city on the occasion of a great civic demonstration and arrived in the city in the morning, and spent the whole day and part of the night in seeing and hearing, what was to be seen and heard, and it was late when he went to his room in a large hotel.

Yet a though worn with the excitement of what had passed before him during the day, he fell into a deep sleep, and he awoke in the night, and found himself in a room, and he saw the light from the fire escape instructions on the door, and then according to his plan retired, for the purpose of resting until the morning. But he was scarcely sound asleep until he was awakened by a great commotion, and cries of fire. He sprang from his rest and upon opening his door, discovered the hallways all ablaze, and the sight for the moment almost unerved him, having forgotten the fire escape.

However in stepping back into the room he caught sight of it as it hung on the wall, and having read the instructions previously, he soon adjusted it about him, understanding its simple fixtures, and fastening it out of a window, and safely down to the street, and was thus freed from death. Like the hallways built for the passage of guests were cut off on this night by fire so that they could not be used for ways of exit and escape, so in a manner Adam's disobedience, cut off him and all his descendants from his originally created home, and he himself was a way to the favor of God without even a Redeemer. But cutting the forbidden fruit removed this way from all, and made it insufficient. And yet God did not leave mankind in such a state that they cannot obtain his favor, since he has provided another way, the only way to escape his wrath and curse, the only way to pardon and salvation, namely Jesus Christ. Let him be adjusted about you as a way of escape for you.

AKRON. A Spring Medicine. The druggists claim that people call daily for the new cure for constipation and sick headache, discovered by Dr. Silas Lane while in the Rocky mountains. It is said to be Oregon grape root (a great remedy in the far west for those complaints) combined with simple herbs, and made for use by pouring on boiling water to draw out the strength. It sells at 40 cents a package and is called Lane's Family Medicine.

W. C. T. U Convention. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union is not dead, not dying, not even a sleep as its enemies would fondly hope, but has been resting, and is now ready for the path shall I say? Not that, she is for peace, for God, for home, for native land.

A convention of the W. C. T. U. of Juniata Co., was held at East Waterford, on the afternoon, and evening of September 11, 1890, which was well attended and full of interest. The Union of the place having a full program of business showing that they are well up with the times, and are a wide awake body of workers.

A strong delegation from Millstown and a small one from Fort Loud gave evidence that these towns have some earnest advocates of the temperance work. All the delegates felt quite repaid for their long ride, by the cordial reception and hospitable entertainment that awaited them on their arrival.

The afternoon was fully occupied with devotional exercises, business, and so forth, all showing interest in the work. The evening exercises were varied and entertaining. A long and interesting and entertaining paper by Mrs. Landis of McCulloch's Mills was read by her. Subject Woman's Work in The Home. A hearty vote of thanks expressed the appreciation with which it was received.

A number of very good recitations and select readings were given, also a very excellent dialogue by three young ladies of Waterford, clearly showing the teachings of the Scriptures on wine drinking. These with well chosen selections of music filled the evening very pleasantly and profitably.

A full house, thought the evening was fearfully dark showed plainly, that the people of this community are fully in sympathy with the temperance work.

The committee on resolutions submitted the following: Resolved, that we highly appreciate the Young women's work of the Loyal Temperance Legion, which, if rightly instructed is the hope of the nation.

Resolved—that in consideration of the importance of scientific temperance instruction, we urge the presidents of M. T. U. chapters to appoint as early as possible, an president of this department, so that active measures may be taken to further its interests.

Resolved—that each local union in the county endeavor to arouse a greater interest in the work in the coming year.

Resolved, that we extend our thanks to the officers of the M. T. U. Church, for the use of the building, and to the citizens of Waterford for their kind hospitality in entertaining the members of the convention.

After the above resolutions were approved, a vote of thanks was extended by the Waterford Union, to the ladies of M. T. U. chapters of this county for having the convention to them with its words of cheer and instruction and encouragement. After which the meeting closed, singing the hymn, "God be with you till we meet again."

THE GREATEST IMPROVEMENT IN Corsets during the past twenty years is the use of Coraline in the place of horn or whalebone.

It is used in all of Dr. Warner's Corsets and in no others.

The advantages of Coraline over horn or whalebone are that it does not become set like whalebone, and it is more flexible and more durable.

Dr. Warner's Coraline Corsets are made in twenty-four different styles, fitting every variety of figures—thin, medium, stout, long waists and short waists.
