MIFFLINTOWN, JUNIATA COUNTY, PENNA., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1890.

A DEIFIED ROBBER.

UHINESE PAY HOMAGE TO A HIGHWAYMAN.

A Public Demonstration --- A Fine Procession in Chinatown.

Over 2,000 years ago Kar Ring How Wong was born in Hueng Shan, China. His parents were poor, but not strictly honest. In fact, according to tradition, his father was a robber chief, and brought up his son to his own profession. The boy soon outstripped his teacher, and became known far and wide for his bravery and skill on the road. The times in China then were not unlike the middle ages in Europe, and it was not long before one of the numerous kings made overtures to Wong. These were accepted, and the boy performed prodigies of valor-once, it is said, killing 3,000 men single-handed. He was made General-in-Chief, and after his death was worshiped as God of War. Recently was his birthday, and all Chinatown in San Francisco was agog to celebrate it. The Yeoung We procession. It formed on Stockton street at 10 o'clock, and marched toward Sacramento street. In the lead was a handsome American flag

Close after came the sacred ark built entirely of everlastings. In it were numerous symbols, much like those in the Jewish ark of the Cove-

standard of China

Then came more music, horses, men and floats, followed by a man, dressed starved, but delighted to see him. in black and white, bearing two buckets on a yoke. In each was some pigs blood and a few feathers. This symbolized the crimes, vices and sins of the people. When the second proces- hydrocarbon and carbonic oxide gases sion was over the buckets and their contents were burned, and the at £2,000,000 per annum. sins were blotted out.

Later appeared the battle charger and the empty throne of the god.

Closely on this followed the dragon, borne on the shoulders of a score of Over 150 feet long, it had the head obs camel, horns of a deer, eyes of a rabbit, cars of a cow, neck of a snake, belly of a frog, scales of a carp, claws of a hawk and palm of a tiger. On each side of its mouth were whiskers, while a beard hung under it

A smaller dragon followed its big brother, and was very obstreperous. causing much laughter by its antics.

In front of each dragon marched : man wrrving a colored ball on a pole. which he thrust continually into the beast's face in order to terrify it and prevent its committing any depreda-

Last came a troop of soldiers, some of whom-shades of Confucius!-were urmed with modern rifles and bay-

An Honored Leg. Four feet from the ground in the wall of a large brick building in the Washington Navy-Yard, known as the ordnance foundry, is an iron plate about eighteen inches square bearing this inscription:

Within this Wall is Deposited
The Leg of COLONEL ULBIC DARLIGREN, U. S. V.. Who was wounded July 6, 1863, while skirmishing with the Rebels in the streets of Hagerstown, after the Battle of Gettysburg.

An explanation of the freak of sentiment which prompted the internent of the amputated leg in such a place is left to the imagination of the eader, who can probably guess as well as I can. I was told that it was in accordance with the wish of Col. Dahlgren himself. He was a son of Adniral Dahlgren, and was one of the roungest officers who wore a colonel's tagles during the war. As soon as he stump of his leg was healed he prang into the saddle again, and on Masset 3, 1864, was killed almost in he suburbs of Richmond during Kilpatrick's famous raid upon the Confederate capital. Col. Dahlgren's pody fell into the hands of the enemy, out was sent through the Union lines und was delivered to his friends.

A Simple Relief for Lung Troubles. A lady having heard that there was occuliar virtue in a pillow made from sine straw, and having none of that naterial at hand, made one from fine. soft, pine shavings, and had the pleasare of noting immediate benefit. Soon ill the members of the household had oine shavings pillows, and it was noiced that all coughs, asthmatic or pronchial troubles abated at once after deeping a few nights on these pillows An invalid suffering with lung trouble lerived much benefit from sleeping apon a mattress made from pine shav-

Snicides In Berlin.

The highest statistics which have ever been reached in the annals of sufride were recorded at Berlin during the last month. Fifty-nine persons uttempted to quit "this mortal life' and thirty-eight among them were sucsessful. One boy, twenty women and hirty-eight men made up the number. Iwenty-two sought death im the water, bullets, five by poisoning and two by pay the costs and lawyer's fees him-Indian ten History

One man in Western Australia owns and controls nearly 4,000,000 acres of land.

The University of Oxford has appliances for printing in 150 different languages.

A pious old lady of Toronto devotes he profits accruing from the sale of all the eggs laid by her hens on Sun lay to the missionary cause.

Statistics just published show that the total number of paupers in England and Wales is 762,853, which allows 26.6 for every 1,000 of the pop-

The people of the United States ase annually about seven postal cards for every man, woman and child; that is to say, their total consumption for a year reaches 400,000,000

There has lately been such a glut of herrings that the Scotch fishing smacks are leaving Ardglass for home, herring being so cheap and plentiful that it does not pay to catch them.

Several of the large land owners of Scotland have imported a number of reindeer from Norway and turned them Society took the lead, and organized a out in the hope that they may become acclimated and increase

A young man at Titusville, Pa., who could not afford to take his bride on a wedding tour, bought $5 worth of side by side with the great yellow tickets for the merry-go-round, and they proceeded to ride to their hearts' content.

Three months ago the postmaster of Chico, Cal., gave a pet dog to a friend who was leaving for Oregon to settle. I'wo weeks ago the dog reappeared at the house of his old master, nearly

The weight of the great smoke-cloud aily hanging over the City of London has been computed by Prof. Roberts at 50 tons of solid carbon and 250 tons for each day of the year, and its value

Perhaps the greatest single industry of any city in the world is the carpet manufacture carried on in Philadelphia. The establishments engaged in this industry employ 7350 looms and 17,800 workmen. Last year they manufactured 71,500,000 yards of carpet, the value of which was $50,000,-

When Mrs Anna C. Parks, one of the inspectresses at the New York Custom House, caused the arrest of an found a pound of dutiable jewels, was asked why she suspected the culprit, she answered that she marked her out for search because she knew that Italian women don't wear bustles.

There have not been so many Americans in Stratford-on-Avon for vesrs as there are this year. The "Shakespeare Country" has been overcun with them, and as usual the town improvement associations thereabouts have reaped a harvest. They have well learned by this time how to make tourists pay roundly for everything that they see. The "nickel-in-the-slot" idea has been applied in England to electric lamps intended for use in omnibuses, street cars and railway cars. You put a penny in the slot of such a lamp, press a knob and out streams the light. By clock-work machinery at the end of half an hour the light is extinguished and can be ignited again only with a penny taper. It is asserted on the authority of a clergyman at Chattanooga that on the top of White Mountain, in North Carolina, are three trees of the cachoin species, about fifteen feet high, growing close together, whose tops are interwoven so completely and so flat that a number of persons can walk on them with ease. The tops are about twenty feet in diameter. There is a stone elephant in Inyo Co., Cal. The rock that has taken the form of an elephant is a dark gray granite that is almost the color of the skin of an elephant. The first travelers in California, it is said, on catching sight of it, thought that they had found a petrified mastodon. A Piute Indian, on being asked if he had ever seen the "stone elephant," replied, "Yash, me see him many year 'go. Long time Injun no sabe him; now see him all same in big show up Virginny City." The generally accepted theory that a warm summer follows a cold winter, and vice versa, has been examined by Science with the aid of temperature records made in the same place, under the same conditions, twice a day for forty years. Science cannot find any rule on the subject, and comes to the conclusion that no estimate can be formed in regard to the character of a coming season merely by knowing the character of the past season of any greater value than could be gained by mere guessing.

Pa Takes Proper Precaution. Ten minutes after a beautiful tabeau was interrupted by the old gentleman, George said to Clara: "It was very thoughtless in your father to intrude so abruptly." Clara-"He is not thoughtless at all, George. You see my elder sister lost her breach of promise suit by not havfourteen by hanging, twelve through ing an eye-witness, and poor pa had to

OUT OF THE ORDINARY.

A London medical man says: "Be exreful in your dealings with horse radish. It irritates the stomach far more than spice, and an overdose will bring on an unpleasant sensation for days." The amount of blood in the body is one-thirteenth the weight of the body, or eleven or eleven or twelve pounds, says the Medical Record. A man dies when he has lost a fifth of his blood.

Sumiata Sentinel & 3

The flealth.

The frequency of the pulse in the new-born is 150; in infants of one year, 110; at seven to fourteen years, 85; in adult man, 72; women, 80. The respirations are one-fourth as rapid as the pulse.

A solution of chloral hydrate, five grains to the ounce of water, will clear the hair of dandruff, and prevent it falling out from that cause. It is also claimed that the partial baldness may be cured by this means.

A medical journal offers a brief rule or two for a beneficial vacation: Keep cool; don't fret your nerves; strive to keep your nerves; strive to keep your temper and be deliberate. Don't harry. A vacation in the summer is a good thing-provided you go about it like s sensible being.

An exchange says that for the bene fit of those over-economic people who have a way of turning down low the light of a kerosene lamp when leaving a room for a little while, it may be said that experiment demonstrates that the saving in oil by this means is hardly appreciable. With the flame low a considerable quantity of the products of incomplete combustion are making their escape into the air, and these are not only offensive to the sense of smell, but are injurious to the health

Borax water is an excellent wash for the head, removing dallness,nervous headache, often. If ministers and other students, brain-workers of all sorts, would occasionally use it as a head-bath, they would be surprised purifying and agreeable. Some use it as a gargle for sore throat beneficially; also, for inside soreness of the nose, which torments. It is excellent for catarrh-drawn up into the nose.

They Assimilate Quickly. There is one feature of life in New York that always causes considerable comment among strangers to the ways

This is the fact that in exploring the city they find a "Chinese quarter," " Little Italy," a " French quarter," neighborhood inhabited almost exclusively by Hebrews, and another around Tompkins square sacred to Germans. There is another locality known as the "Tenderloin District," that is crowded with Africans.

But there is no Japanese quarter, despite the fact that there are several thousand Japanese in and around New York. The manner in which the Japanese assimilate and adapt themselves to American manners and customs, strikingly indicates their adaptability for citizenship.

Our Japanese friends are in all sorts f professions. They sell bric-a-brac and Japanese goods, and, in addition, are large importers of various kinds of goods. Many of them are very wealthy-quite as wealthy as the Chinese merchants in Mott street-several of whom have bank accounts that run up into the hundreds of thousands.

But instead of congregating in a single locality as the Chinese do the Japanese are scattered all over this city and Brooklyn, and instead of clinging to old customs and styles of dress, they are as American as any of the Americans themselves. The down town importers one meets are invariably dressed in the height of fashion as known to us, and there is nothing about them to distinguish them from the average prosperous man of business among whom they mix. There are no other of our foreign-born residents who so quickly adapt themselves to our ways.-Ex. They Had Gone to the Seashore. He had been standing in front of house on Second avenue and gazing at the front window for a long ten minutes, when a pedestrian halted to inquire:

"Anything the matter with the ouse?"

"No-o, I guess not."

"But you are looking at it!" "Yes; it is shut up."

"Can't a house be shut up?" "Certainly, but in this case it wa ery sudden. I am a collector. I was up here last evening to collect an old bill, and the debtor gave me a glass of wine and asked me as a great favor to call at eight o'clock this morning. I was here a quarter of an hour ahead of

"What does the sign read?" "Gone to the seashore for two nonths. That's the fourth time I've lost just this way in one week, and tomorrow I will take my station at the depot and try to head the rest off."-Detroit Free Press.

Catholic College for Colored People. The benevolence of Miss Kate Drexel of Philadelphia is about to find another practical outlet in the building and endowment of a Roman Catholic church and college for colored people

THE MOST ENTERPRISING CITY IN THE WORLD."

Some Facts for Enterprising Yankees. Imports of $450,000,000.

The Manufacturer's Record of Bal timore publishes an interview with Mr. T. J. Hurley, of Fort Worth, Texas, and which is given unusual prominence now by the interest that attaches to the approaching Pan-American conference which will convene in Washington early in October, and will be made up of delegates from the independent nations of the American continent. The main purpose of the conference will be to evolve such methods and laws and treaties as will of weeds and vines is as dense as a lead to a more extensive business between the American nations. Mr. Hurley says:

There exists in our land a surprising ignorance concerning the mighty penusula which contains the Amazon: the La Pista and the Andes. It makes a cosmopolitan smile to hear our people boast about our snap and enterprise, and complacently assert that we are the smartest traders on God's green earth,' and all that sort of thing Why, there is a city in South America, a commonly supposed abode of barbarism, that, in push and enterprise is far ahead of even our Western cities. the Argentine Republic. Trade centers all over the world consider Buenos Ayres the most enterprising city to-day on the globe. Probably not one man in a hundred knows anything of Buenos Avres or the country of which it is the capital, or could tell, offulation of Buenos Ayres is now near- is waiting for her still. ing the million mark. In 1886-87, 124,-000 European immigrants landed there. Its population is made up of natives, Italians, French, German, English, and many Irish, the latter there, as tried. Sposen she'd come back here, being influential in political and financial affairs. The city has 146 miles of street cars. It has more telephones in proportion to population pin' erbout de house, an' er singin' like than any other city in the world. It is considered the best lighted city in . the world. It has eleven large banks, some of them occupying mable palaces. Two of them have a larger capital wan any dozen banks combined in the and cheered with the astonishing United States. The Bank of Provence result. For the mouth and gums it is has a paid-up capital of $37,000,000, a circulation of $22,000,000, deposits amounting to $60,000-000, with loans and discounts to the amount of $70 .-000,000. Fifty-seven large steamers a month arrive and depart, but looked an how purty she looked. He not one of them flies the American flag. The British government spends like an arrer. It wuz er laung pull, about $600,000 a year in subsidies to mail steamers to Buenos Avres. As a consequence freight and many of the de skiff cut fru de water lillies till dey mails from the United States to Buenos got outen sight. I sot down an' Ayres go via Liverpool. Enterprising waited. Dey did't come. Erbout dealt him the blow near the temple, Yankees should meditate on that. The Argentine Republic offered to the United States to pay half of a subsidy of $200,000 to be granted by our government to a line of United States steamers to Buenos Ayres. The city has 20 daily newspapers. The editor of one of them, by the way, is Wins-Milburn.' Miss Lucy don dat. It was low, the fugitive Boston forger, who, it is said, has amassed a fortune of nearly half a million. There are many other enterprising and rapidly growing cities in South America and Central America, and new towns are are coming into existence all the time. The Argentine Republic is probably the most progressive of the nations south of us. Every head of a family is entitled by law to 250 acres of land free, and as much more as he may want to purchase, to a limit of 1,500 acres, at 75 cents an acre. Or a settler may acquire 1,500 acres free after five years, by planting 200 acres in grain and 24 acres in timber. They also have free transportation from Buenos Avres to the place of location, exemption from all taxation for ten years: and the government will loan them money, not exceeding $1,000 at 6 per cent. per annum, upon the cultivation of a certain area of land, and the erection of improvements of a certain valne. As a result of these liberal laws, over a million acres a year are added to the agricultural area. I'd like some of our Texas mossbacks to chew on that fact. There are 40,000,000 sheep in the United States, and 100,000,000 in the Argentine Republic. There are 50,-000,000 cattle, about the same number as in the United States. More than $50,000,000 has been paid for wire fences. "What becomes of all their cattle?" "Have they packing

"Yes," he replied, "the largest in existence. The establishment of the Liebig Beef Extract Co., one of the finest of its kind in the world, is in carcasses of frozen beef are shipped every week to London." Most of the manufactured articles used in South and Central America are imported from Europe, although the difference in distance in favor of the United States is some 4500 miles. It is enough to make enterprising men wish to see our next door neighbors going to Europe for everything they need instead of buying from us. It is estimated that the annual ports of South and Central America are over $450,000,000 in value. Of his enormous amount the United States sell less than $50,000,000, the emaining 400,000,000, going from England, France and Germany. mports of the Argentine Republic unjounted lest year to more than $100,-100,000 of which only 7 8-4 per cent were from the United States. The impire of Brazil imports annually over $100,000,000 worth of goods, of which the United States sell only about per cent, while England alone sells per cent. Mr. Hurley was asked why it is that we have so small a proportion of this

"It is due mainly," he said, "to our Yankee self-conceit and hard-headedess. Our manufacturers, instead of naking the character of their goods and heir methods of packing conform to he needs and wishes of South and Central American purchasers, insist that purchasers shall adapt their retates manufacturer says 'If you

SOUTHERN AMERICANS, don't want my goods as they are you can let them alone.' And the obliging natives let them alone. In the lower half of the Western Hemisphere, including Mexico, there are 50,000,000 people who, in a commercial sense, hardly know us, and yet there is every reason why there should be between them and us the closest commercial and political ties. There is food for thought in all that Mr. Hurley says, and if this Congress of American Nations shall succeed in arousing the American public to a sense of the importance of this matter, it will have accomplished enough to justify its assembling.

Jes Waitin'.

In the alluvial region of Louisiana the forest foliage is almost impenetrable by sunshine, and the under-growth tropical jungle. Leaving a clearing and going into the woods is like a sudden transition from midday to twi light.

Near a bayou in this wild section stands a white frame house, one story high, with a long roof whose slope is so gradual it would almost seem the rais would not flow from it. Years ago it was tenanted. Now it has no dwellers, for the place is haunted. The spirits of a pure girl and a brave soldier need not create fear. But people are superstitious; besides, these chosts are never seen, only heard. They moan in the garret; they call I mean Buenos Ayres, the capital of each other's names in the parlor; a wail comes up from the bayou; but those who make these sounds are never visi

The old quarters are deserted by all, save one. He saw his young mistress leave home one still morning in autumn. She told him she would return hand, just where they are. The pop- at noon. She never returned, and he

"Yes, marster," he said, "I'se heah yit, an' heah I'll stay till de Lawd tape me on de head an' says, 'Come erlong, Rufus.' I kain't lebe. I couldn't ef I some evenin', who'd be heah to take keer ob her? She wuz so good an' so sweet: I kin most see her now, skiper mockin'-bird. Cap'n Herndon come down dat mawnin' ter tell her good-by, fur he wuz er gwine ter fight de Yankees, you know. He wuz a mons'us fine man, ez stout ez er giant, but ez kine-hearted ez Miss Lucy herself. Ez dev come out en de parlor, Miss Lucy said she, turnin' to me; "Rufus, we're goin' ter take a skiff-ride. "I seed 'im he'p her inter de skiff. an' won't never fergit how proud he pulled out an' dey shot up de stream mos' ha'f er mile, 'fore dey reacht de ben' an' I stood on de bank an' watcht turnt out ter hunt fur 'em. Nex' day, erbout er mile up de byo, ole marster pied sump'n white lavin' on er water lily. He rowed out an' got it. It wuz er piece ob paper, on which wuz rit dese words: 'George Herndon. Lucy pinned to de leaf by er gol' breastpin what she wore on her purty white frote dat mawnin'. "But we nebber seed 'em no mo'. Ef dey were drownded dey got cotch ter de bottom-dat byo's fearful deep an' full ob bresh an' trees-an' dev won't rise ergin till de sea gibs up its Ole marster died. De las' words he said ter me wuz: 'Rufus,' don't quit lookin'.' An' I hain't frum dat day ter dis. I'se ole an' tired an' my han' tremmels an' my face is full ob furrers, like er coulter makes in er new groun, but heah I'll stay till de Great Oberseer makes me lebe. Is de house haunted? Yes. But I wouldn't be afcered ter stay dar ef I could see 'em. Ef Miss Lucy's sperret wuz ter come ter me I'd take it in dese poor ole arms ob mine. De wailin' an' de moanin' cuts my heart clean in two, so I keeps away frum dar. Ebery stream an' de scritch-owl cries like es los' chile. "Den I goes back home an' lights er taller can'le what burns all night. Lucy mought come, an' case she did she'd see de light an' say: 'Uncle Rufus is lookin' fur us. George. See!' Fur ef dey do come dey'll come tergedden. Ef dev went ter de bottom of de bvo dev went tergedder, an' dar dey'll stay tell judgment, when dev'll stan' by de vight han' ob de Lawd arm in arm."

ebenin' I stan's an' looks up de byo tell black darkness flops its wings ober de

"Yes," said the temperance orator, solemnly, "Drink will be the ruin of the world. Liquor is what paralyzes industry, dwarfs ambition, and retards the Argentine Republic. It employs a progress. I knew a young man richly capital of $17,000,000, and for its beef | endowed with intellect; a young man extract alone, 2,500 head of stock a who had but to apply himself in order day are slaughtered. Eight thousand to attain both honor and fame. But he became a slave of the demon rum and now he is languising in a felon's cell. I tell you, gentlemen, that you cannot drink and get ahead.'

> A pale-faced, emaciated young man arose in the back part of the hall, and remarked, "Excuse me, sir, but I think von are mistaken." "How am I mistaken?" inquired the orator, somewhat testily. "In saying that one cannot drink and get a head. It always struck me of being the surest way of getting one." Then the young man went over to the corner grocery and smiled-

How He Escaped. Chief of lynching party-"We will give you just one minute to say your pravers. Captured horsethief (appealingly)-May I say them in my own way." Chief-"Certainly." Horsethief-"You promise not to nterpose any obstacle?

duty at the store?" Chief-"We promise." "Certainly, sir," replied the gentle-Horsethief (with dignity)—"Then I must have a prayerbook. Will some nan, "that is easily done," and he went to the closet where the clerks gentleman in the crowd please lend tept their outer garments. He exme one?"-Chicago Tribune. unined the clothing with gasps of sur-

A Tough Old Chap.

Uncle Jerry Williams, a fruit peder in Portland, fell off the dock, lay at the bottom of the harbor twenty minutes, and then twenty more before nents to the goods. The United a doctor came, and yet they brought him to and set him on his pins arein.

THE NILE.

Surse of old Egypt, year on circling year, When parched and fevered by the heat she lies Beneath a dazzling arch of rainless skies.

pointing to a pair beneath the bed. And 'e'en the green scacis buds grow sere, How dost thou brim a cup supremely dear Sharon left anything valuable in his And hold it to her lips, until her sighs pockets." Have ceased, and all before her ancient eves Is fair as erst it was, or far or near! Whence hast thou this fine potion? Is drawn

From cavernous founts that never see the dawn Beyond swart Nubia's furthermost con-shines.

on the night of October 17, 1865.

more remained untouched.

The safe had been opened apparent abstracted. A package of bonds to the amount of three thousand dollars

Two clerks, both young men, usually slept in the store. August Yerkes had been in the employ of Mr. Harrison

Purvis for about four years, and enjoyed the confidence of his employer.

Pembroke Sharon, the other clerk, had only recently been taken, but the manner in which he took hold of the business impressed Mr. Purvis so much in his favor that he predicted a successful future for the young man, as a very able salesman and ultimate prominent merchant. Under this impression he placed implicit trust in Sharon, and selected him as a companion for Yerkes

Both of these young men were in the store the night that the robbery occured; but when the place was open ed in the morning, Sharon was missing and Yerkes lay on the floor near the safe with a serious gash on the side of his head, which had been bleeding profusely, judging by the amount tween them. Yerkes fainted from loss of blood and the robber fled with his

Varnoe, a detective, and a physician

The merchant hastened upstairs, but presently returned, saying that noth-no had been disturbed or removed as been, I am positive that he visited the second floor after the bloody struggle

Then Yerkes gave the following ac-

He woke suddenly and found that

Sharon had left the bed, and fearing that some mishap had overtaken him,

They saw each other at the same moment, and Sharon was spellbound at being discovered in his criminal act.

the store with his eyes bent on the floor before him, until he reached the street; then, after casting his eyes earchingly around on the ground, he walked over to the dock and gazed into the water in a thoughtful manner.

When he returned to the store and reoined the others in the office, it was

While the doctor was applying resoratives to his charge, the detective he store, and remained there half an judging by his frequent exclamations

Re-entering the office, they

e must have been astonished by what Yerkes still unconscious, and at the inggestion of Varnoe he was taken to

"Now Mr. Purvis," said Varnoe, will you point out to me the clothes

"What is it?" said Varnee, when

"As I live, Sharon has not only left tis coat and vest behind, but his pants is well," said Mr. Purvis, in bewilder-

Mr. Purvie laid the garments on the sually worn by Mr. Sharon while on the blood tracks reach to the dock."

that he became insensible.

with a grave countenance.

groan and fainted away.

be detective told him.

he hospital.

began the struggle the evidence

"Whatever his object may in the store at night.

of blood on the floor.

must have taken place.

booty.

around his head.

from there as well."

far as be could see.

had taken place."

Then

discovered?" said Mr. Purvis.

"I have another surprise tective. bere." So potent yet mysterious it seems, Varnoe removed the bedclothes, Its source might be within a heaven leaving the mattress bare. A number dreams of bloody finger marks stained it along Upon whose peaks no earthly sunbear a seam ten inches in length. "I see what you are driving at, -Home Journal. cried Purvis, as he scanned the seam. "You mean that the thief has hidden his plunder in the mattress." A Double Crime.

dum, etc., etc.

"I think so, at all events," was the reply, as he ripped the seam with his The wholesale produce and commis-Inserting his hand be drew forth the sion store of Mr. Purvis, on Delaware Republican.

"That is singular." said the detective, exchanging glances with the physician. "It is rather puzzling, in fact,

when you bear in mind that Mr.

Yerkes, when found, was fully dressed,

while the thief left his pants behind,

"You will please see whether Mr.

Every pocket was examined. There was found a valuable watch and chain, a trifle over five hundred dollars in a wallet, a penknife, pencil memoran

"Retain the articles, Mr. Purvis, and package of greenbacks. They were when the other was built. avenue, near Vine street, was robbed intact, Mr. Purvis said, after examining the seals. "I don't know what to think " said ly by false keys, and upward of nine thousand dollars in greenbacks were the gentleman hopelessly. "I declare my head aches trying to divine the motive for this most extraordinary "Think as I do."

"What is that?" "Why, that Sharon, instead of being the thief, is the thief's victim, which ecounts for his leaving his outer garments behind. He evidently surprised the rascal, and in a tussle with him he murdered Sharon, dragged him across the street and threw him in the river.

"Then you really expect Yerkes is the thief?" asked the merchant greatly "I am sure he is not only the thief, but a probable murderer also." "Oh, the wretch!" cried the merchant passionately, "and in my heart I admired his bravery, while I pitied him for what he had endured in endeavoring to protect my property. I am perfectly convinced that you have hit the right man," continued Mr. Purvis. "If he knew of this he might The next give us the slip. thing to be done is to use every means in our power to recover the body of

The unfortunate young man had evidently endeavored to staunch the "Poor, indeed, since all the clothes blood, for his hands were stained as he has on his back are not his well as his clothes. By the disorder in own," spoke a voice from behind the office and the numerous blood them.

stains both on the floor and walls, it All looked at the speaker, who wore was evident that a desperate struggle an old seaman's suit, and looked as though he had just recovered from a It was conjectured from this that severe fit of seasickness. Sharon, having provided himself with Something in the tone of his voice false keys, had opened the safe, and struck a chord in the breast of 'he merbeen surprised by his fellow clerk in chant. He approached the man, and the midst of his work, who in turn asked eagerly .-

"Who are you?" In a moment he was surrounded by the trio, who congratulated him on his escape from death. He requested permission to assume his proper dress were at once sent for and, while Dr. after which he would tell exactly what had occurred during the past

Edson attended to his patient, the detective examined the premises with his night. usual carefulness, particularly the sec-His story was very similar to the one ond floor, and returning to the lower told by Yerkes, with this difference floor found that Yerkes had recovered. the positions were changed. It was and sat in an arm-chair with a bandage Sharon who had surprised the other in front of the open safe in the act of "Well, Mr. Varnoe, what have you stowing in his pocket the greenbacks alluded to. It was Sharon who de-"I find that the robber has been to nonneed the act, and Yerkes, both anthe second floor," replied the detective, gry and frightened to be thus detected "possibly he has taken some valuables picked up a paper weight and hurled it at his fellow clerk, stricking Sharon > more until he awoke on board a vessel near the navy yard. He was told that they picked him up in the river. The captain and his two men had been to the theatre, and were returning in a boat to the vessel, when a white object floating on the water attracted their attention, and they made for it and drew the apparently dead man into the boat and took him aboard on the head, inflicting a ghastly wound, from which he fainted, and knew no

the vessel, where his wants were at he lit a parafine candle by the small gas once attended to. let in the room and began to search for When Yerkes' version was related to him he laughed derisively, and was on Not finding him on the second floor the point of making a remark, when he returned to the first floor, and disfamiliar footsteps were heard ascendcovered him before the open safe.

"By Heaven, I believe it is August Yerkes!" whispered Sharon, as he hastily entered the closet and shut the of which was so plainly apparent. Sharon being the stronger of the two, oment Yerkes walked briskly up to soon over-powered his opponent, and where the three men stood. Something threw him so violently on the floor, in their faces told him that something was amiss-something to his disadvan-Varnoe listened with rapt attention tage, too. o the end, then made a few notes in "You are probably surprised to see his book, after which he walked out of me here again," remarked be, for want of something else to say. "We are indeed!" replied Mr. Purvis, regarding him with an ominous look.

"You all appear to be anything but pleased to see me," next remarked the robber and would-be assassin, "On the contrary, we are very glad to see you," spoke the detective, with

"Mr. Purvis, the robber has evian ambiguous smile. lently escaped by way of the river, as Glancing at the detective with skeptical air, Yerkes walked to the All eyes were now directed toward closet and opened the door, and the he wounded man, who had suddenly next moment he uttered a fearful rrown pale. He opened his mouth as shrick and started back with his hair f to say something, but fell back with standing on end, and his face the color of ashes.

He had seen (as his guilty conscience old him) the ghost of his victim, for Irew Mr. Purvis away to the rear of Sharon remained in the closet, perfectly immovable, his eyes fixed reproachour in conversation with him, and fully on the guilty wretch.

The horrid vision was too much for his brain to endure. Yerkes became a raving maniac from that moment, and became so violent that the detective was obliged to manacle him hand and foot and again take him to the hosptal from whence he was shortly after ward conveyed to the insane department of the almshouse. Pembroke Sharon was generously scompensed by his employer for his eroic attempt to prevent the robbery and promoted to a responsible position in the store, which he filled with credit both to himself and his grateful em-

Yerkes lived about a year after this confinement, and died a raving manise; a terrible retribution for his attempt to asten the crime on an innocent per-

Gladstone has had his portrait painted thirty-five times.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

NO. 44.

-Alexandria, Egypt, possesses the argest artificial harbor in the world, -It is believed that the hollyhock was rought to Europe from China as early us the year 1573.

-In the United States there were 14,-79 murders between 1884 and 1889, and nly 558 legal executions.

-In Bradford County, Fia., is a holw stump from which comes a noise imilar to that of a boiling ket is. -A Harlem (New York) bride rereceipted gas bill of $17 from her father. hang the garments up," said the de--Five generations of one family sat or their photographs in a single group it Springfield, Penn., a few days ago.

elved among her wedding presents a

-Under the laws of China, the adult who loses his temper in a discussion is sent to fail for five days to cool down. -The King of Dahomey has sent an bassador to Germany to engage a and of musicians to play, not serve, for his dinner. -It is said that in many Welsh vilages the yew tree and the church are of he same age, the one being planted

-A carpet used in a room of the Unied Stat's Mintafter being in wear some years, was recent y burned in pans and telded $2500 worth of gold.

-The first English theatre was that rected by James Barbage, in 1576-77, It stood in Holywell Lane. Shoredite! London, till it was pulled down in 1595. -At L'Orient arsenal m France a great ironclad war vessel of 11,000 tons

s nearly completed. It is strongly armed with immense cannons in revolving tow--It is estimated that the amount of gold in the world is about six hundred and thirteen cubic yards, and it would fit n a room twenty-four feet each way if

m a solid cube -There is said to be a striking similarity between the sign language of leaf mutes and that in vogue among the Indians of North and South Ameri

-The collections at Tremont Temple

Baptist Church in Boston, Mass., dur-ing the last year included 118,550 coppers, weighing 814 pounds, and 54,560 nickels, weighing 590 pounds. -There is a turtle famine in London. and caterers are obliged to pay fifty-four cents per pound for turtle that last year they could obtain in any quantity for sixteen cents per pound. -A Macong (Ga.) man has a fryingsize chicken with not a feather, except-ing a few on the wings. The chicken has been featherless ever since it was hatched and enjoys perfect health, by a connecticut physician in the ear of a little patient, and on its removal a severe pain, from which the child had suffered and which caused the visit of the doctor, disappeared. -Count de Lesseps did not build tie first canal across the Isthmus of Suez Six hundred years B. C. that neck of and was transported by a water

-A postage stamp was recently found got silted up with sand, was cleared out by the Roman Emperor Trajan in the second century and again in 767. -A Japanese paper states that at Kanawaza a family of slx generations live. The oldest is said to be 132 years of age and to be a great-great-reat-

The first elephant seen in England was sent as a present to Henry III, by the King of France about the year 1255, Numbers of people crowded to see the curiosity, and a special building was grandmother, her husband aged 130 also erected for it at the Tower. - Out of seventy-six Irish Kings who ruled between A. D. 4 and 1172, no less than fifty-two died violent deaths either n batcle, by murder, or by thunderbolts (by the latter three were shan).

 A faithful dog in Hamilton, Ohio, did'nt abandon its attempt to arouse its drunken owner who had fallen asleep n the railroad track, until an engine cut off its leg. The man escaped in jury. -The Leaning Tower of Pisa is 183 feet high, and is, if the cornice be in-cluded, 13 feet 8 inches out of the perpendicular. The walls at the base are 3 feet thick. It is built of the local building stone marble. It probably assum-d its position in course of con--The first bank was established at Venice about 1157, and the name "ban " was given to it in Italian, from the bench upon which the money changers

used to sit. The Bank of Genoa was established in 1345; that of Amsterdam in 1609; of Hamburg in 1619; and the Bank of Rotterdam in 1635. -For those interested and who want to know how a turtle digs her nest a gentleman who witnessed the perform ance says that after finding a sultable ocation the old "hea" digs the hole, omething like a jug, using the hind flippers, first one and then the other moving her body about so as to be able to get at the nest. If the sand is not too hard she will make a nest in from twenty-five to thirty minutes, -Dr. Gatling, the inventor of the famous gun which bears his name, is a most industrious man for one of his years, and while he has done it tie in the way of invention since he gave his famous field-piece to the world, be has sen far from idle all these years. The Doctor lives in a handsome horse on Charter Oak Hill, built near the spot where the historic charter oak Ire stood. In his back yard stands a long carpenter's table. This is the Doctor's workshop, Wooden and metal molels, weather-stained, he about, surrounded by diagrams and drawing To this shop the Doctor goes eve y

A gigantic beef trust was recently inorporated in Denver, Col., with a cap-Ital of $15,000,000, controlling property worth $5,009,000, comprising 6,0,000 scres of land and 150,000 head of cat

-A good deal of interest has been evited at the antipodes by the appearance after twenty-seven years of submersion, of the wreck of the British war ship Orsheus, the singular loss of which, with nearly 200 hands, caused such commo tion at the beginning of the last Maori

-Magnetism is now proposed for vercoming scale in bollers. The magnets are arranged within a cylinder in sheets and bundles, and the water being kept in constant motion, deposits are prevented. The inventor of the device claims that the same arrangement can be economically and advantageously used for the artificial "ageing" of liq-