

The National Farmers Alliance

Convention met in Florida last week.

The world moves. Governor Pattison consents to have the National Guard parade on inauguration day.

The men who are against the passage of a free silver bill always talk about silver miners being profited.

Certainly that is their good fortune just as it is the good fortune of the gold mine owners. But to talk about the good fortune of silver and gold mine owners has no merit as an argument in its against free coinage of gold and silver.

The women have carried the day in the Methodist church on the question: "Shall women be admitted in to the General Conference as lay delegates." The question has been submitted to all the Methodist congregations in the United States. The W. returns that are not in will not effect the result. In the vote of 27, out of 700 churches, the majority for women representation is 6719.

The President's Message.

The President's message is long and able.

He says not a single defalcation or embodiment has been revealed during the year in the collection of the revenues that amount to $150,000,000. The President says the Treasury statement for the current fiscal year leaves a surplus of $52,000, 000, in the Treasury.

On the silver question, he says some-months farther trial will be necessary to determine the permanent effect of the recent legislation upon silver values.

The disability pension act has been put into operation as rapidly as practicable.

The expenditure under the act will not be believed to be in excess of the estimates.

The census taking has been taken in advance on Congress to make a new apportionment.

In agriculture the year has been marked by agitation and organization among farmers. There is a marked improvement in the price of farm products over the prices realized a year ago.

Repeal of the new tariff law and its approbation of changes being made in it, has been a depressing influence on the business of the country. The reciprocity clause of the tariff law opens the way for trade with other nations, in exchange for the free admission to our ports of certain products, we are ready to receive sugar, coffee, tea and hides free, if the countries that produce such products are willing and ready to receive in return such products that we raise and manufacture, and which they need. The McKinley Bill should have a fair trial.

The government does not own or operate the railroads, and it should not, the think, own or operate the telegraph companies, as it does with the railroad companies.

The proposed supervision of construction of railroads is no exercise of Federal power and invasion of the rights of the states. Congress has already fixed the title for the election of Congressmen, and it is not a question whether we shall have a fair election law. We have had one for nearly 20 years, but whether we shall have an effective law. The path of the elector to the ballot box must be free from the ambush of fear and the enticement of fraud.

Every law has force behind it. The courts

POST ROYAL, Pa., Dec. 3, 1890.

Mr. Editor, Dear Sir, Thinking a local from this part of the county might be of interest to your readers,

I will give you a history of Tobacco Culture in this vicinity. The number of Tobacco Farmers can be counted on your fingers; yet there are thousands of acres of the finest tobacco land in the United States, to be found in this county, with a climate better suited for growing it, than any other part of the world. The mountains and hills, we have more showers and for the same reason few cyclones and hail storms at the same time have a season amply long to mature the crop. The first crops of tobacco were raised near Thompson, and in the vicinity of Mil-linton, at the time when the market price of a good article was much higher than at the present, but the parties were amateurs at the busness, and always failed in either the cultivation or curing, and had to take about one-half price, became discouraged and gave up the enterprise, not having started right, or

business, but in this section they started by employing experts from Lancaster Co., Pa., to teach them the business, and now we have in this section, quite a number that understand the business thoroughly, and while the price is not as high as formerly, they produce such a fine article that they receive the very highest price going, and are making money.

Nearly all crops raised this year are well. Average price for a few years past about $3 per 1000 lbs. This year all that sold, received about 12c round, on an average. Thanks for the McKinley Bill, which is a fair paying price and fully equal to the price paid in Lancaster Co., Pa.

The following farmers have sold:

David Gies, about two and a half acres, which will amount to about $3500.

James Groninger, 6 acres, amount about $1000.

Albert Groninger, about 4 acres, amount about $600.

John Groninger, about 4 acres,

GENERAL NEWS ITEMS.

LANCASTER, Pa., December 2.—John Weaver, of Elizabethtown, was fatally shot while gunning this morning. A companion stumbled and fell, discharging his gun into Weaver's abdomen. The latter died in five minutes.

Lancaster, Nov. 29.—Jacob Fisher aged 58, car inspector at Columbia, was thrown from a car this evening and rolled along the track some distance by the brake rigging of the car. Every bone in his body was broken and he died instantly.

BALTIMORE, December 2.—A big whale in the Chesapeake Bay is causing a scare among the sailors of small fishing smacks and oyster dreggers. It is said that the monster nearly upset two pungies yesterday.

The steamer on one of the vessels fired several charges from revolving pieces of the whale and he plunged away, throwing the water high in the air.

Captain Howe, of the steamship Dorchester, which arrived here today, reports having passed within fifty feet of the whale, which he estimates to be over eighty feet in length.

The whale followed in steamer's wake and was an object of great interest to the passengers. Oystermen are rigging up apparatus with the intention of catching the monster alive if possible, about two years ago a large whale was killed on the eastern shore of the bay.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 28.—Horace Johnson, of Middle Haddam, who prophesied the great blizzard, now predicts a bitter cold and protracted winter. The shells of crabs, he says, are remarkably thick, showing that these creatures have been fortified by Dame Nature for a long siege with the cold in the north.

At this writing it looks like winter. We are in the midst of the butchering season but the shortage of the carcass causing more lard cans to remain empty than usual. There are but few representatives from Susquehanna township, attending court this week.

Spoutmen are busy just now, making it hot for the rabbits, which are unusually plenty. Henry Dressler caught nine in one day.
