

MIFFLINTOWN, PA. WEDNESDAY, DEC. 24, 1890. B. F. SCHWEIER, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

DAVID L. KAMM, president judge of Clearfield county, was broken down physically by the failure of Senator Wallace.

The Big Indian Sitting Bull was killed in a fight last week. Sitting Bull was not a great soldier or fighter. He was a strong man as a chief.

Dr. S. W. Wallace, of Clearfield, late competitor of Governor Patterson for the Democratic nomination for Governor failed last week to the amount of about $400,000.

A remarkable feature of the politics of the late campaign in Pennsylvania is that Whittier Barker of the Independent party, William Wallace of the Democratic party, and G. W. Delamater of the Republican party are bankrupt.

To many some financiers discuss the silver question, leads to the impression, that the people who are for the free coinage of silver, desire to make silver the leading coin. Such is not the case, the people only desire that silver coinage be placed on an equality before the law with gold.

In 1873 a bill was quietly engineered through Congress, stopping the free coinage of silver, and since then that piece of metal has circulated on its inherent, intrinsic value. It is true that Congress restored it to its legal rights. "That's all."

The Legislature this winter should pass a law requiring all candidates for office in the townships and boroughs at the spring election to be nominated and announced at least two weeks before election day.

The present manner of nominating is a bad one. It gives any one two or three or more men an opportunity on the night before election day to form a ticket, have it printed, and have it circulated on election day for the purpose of defeating men they do not like, and for the purpose of electing men to office.

By the present system, a little ring of 2 or 3 men, can entice and defeat the best purposes of the people of a township or borough. Certainly the people are sufficiently intelligent to break up such a wrong system of nomination for spring election officers.

If the nominations are required to be made two weeks prior to the election, they will have ample time to learn all about the respective candidates, and their fitness for the office for which they are run.

The township and borough elections are the most important of all our elections, and yet the people permit the nominations to be made in the most neglectful way. Nominations for county, state and national offices are made months ahead of the time for the holding of the election, and after the nominations are made a day or a night before the election and circulate it on election day.

People in the townships should adopt the county, and state and national system of nomination, and thereby secure a more satisfactory management of township affairs.

Sheep Thief Convicted. From the Bloomfield Advocate of the 17th inst. Along the first of last September many of our readers will remember, two individuals appeared in the upper end of this county with a drove of sheep which they sold to Mr. Albin McMillan, of Sandy Hill, for $70. It was shortly discovered that the sheep had been stolen from W. J. Hockensmyer, of Path Valley, Franklin county, and David P. Devinney was arrested for the theft. Last week Devinney was tried in Chambersburg and found guilty. Pending his sentence a committee of physicians was appointed to examine his condition. About two weeks previous to his trial, he suddenly fell over in the jail corridor and was discovered to have the impression that he was paralyzed. From that he refused to eat or was unable to talk and the sign language has been his means of communicating with his fellows. In Court he could not answer questions except by nodding his head or by the sign language he had learned. He also attempted to explain that he could not write. The jail physician does not believe his tongue is paralyzed as upon being requested to thrust the member away out—a feat he could not have performed if the muscles had been tied with paralysis—he performed the act most successfully. The physicians suspected Devinney to be suffering from a cerebral lesion. This falling ether was applied and he was not long in audibly responding. Judge Stewart then sentenced the prisoner to pay a fine of $5, and cost, together with an imprisonment of 15 months in the penitentiary. Devinney is a character and his previous record is not satisfactory. About a dozen years ago he was tried for the murder of his son, whose supposed bones were found on the mountain. He escaped conviction and his son afterward returned home. For years a herd of hogs was raised in the sheriff's office, Chambersburg, as those of Devinney's son and the tradition of the court house was checked when young Devinney came back with all his bones securely jointed beneath his living flesh. From whose influence the bones so long treasured and well looked up in the sheriff's office has been since Devinney's return a matter of uncertainty.

Swindling A Preacher.

A new swindling scheme is being practiced daily by unprincipled people who are too lazy to earn an honest living. To accomplish the scheme it takes the united efforts of a man and a woman. It is as follows: The couple secure a counter for $20 bill, they secure a marriage license procured to a man's name, and have the marriage ceremony performed. After the knot is tied the man hands the minister the $20 bill, stating that he wishes to pay a fee of $5. The minister does not examine the bill very closely, hands over $15 change and the happy couple leave for another town and proceed in the same manner.

Literary Notes.

The American Magazine has come to be recognized in the world over as the best illustrated and most ably conducted in fact, it reads that our editors are well in England and at least two of our leading magazines (the English monthly). This condition has resulted from the fact that the American magazine hesitates at no expense, either for the purchase of manuscript or illustration $50,000 has been paid by one magazine for a single article. Millions are invested in the purchase of illustrations and the magazine is not afraid to pay any price for an article of unusual interest. Probably no single cause is having such an effect on the education of both old and young America as these magazines. They are penetrating into every household. Their beautiful engravings and illustrations are in some instances worth more than the magazine itself. Popular authors recognize that they can obtain more money from the magazines than by publishing in book form. In proportion to bond volumes, the magazine gives as four to one. Take for instance the Cosmopolitan, which contains annually 1500 pages by the leading writers of our time, and more than 1200 illustrations by clever artists. That magazine makes four volumes of nearly 400 pages each, yet is furnished to the subscriber at only $2.40 a year. The four bound volumes which it would make would be worth on the book stands not less than $12.00. It seems impossible that so much should be furnished for so little, and it is only when the number reaches 100,000 or upwards that such work can be turned out at a profit to the publisher. Formerly it was considered impossible to place such a magazine before the public for less than $1.00 per annum, and the predictions were numerous, when the price of the Cosmopolitan was fixed at $2.40, that it would be impossible for it to survive at such a figure. The prediction proved that a first-class magazine at the low price of $2.40 would be quickly appreciated by the public. His expectations have been more than fulfilled, and the December issue of the Cosmopolitan reached the 100,000 mark.

Ask Your Friends About It.

Your distressing cough can be cured. We know it because Kenyon's Balsam within the past few years has cured so many coughs and colics in this community. Its remarkable sale has been won entirely by its genuine merit. Ask some friend who has used it what he thinks of Kenyon's Balsam. There is no medicine so pure, so effective. Large bottles 50c and $1 at all druggists.

GENERAL NEWS ITEMS.

Red snow has fallen near Leadville, Col. Whole clover exterminated red ants and moths. Seventeen snow storms are predicted for this winter. Summer (Ill) farmers in a general hunt have just tagged 2300 rabbits. A strange malady afflicts Meadville (Neb) cattle; last week $50,000 worth died. A fatal disease among Tennessee hoppers is attributed to rotten corn-fodder. Michael Bar, of Stranton, has been convicted of pulling the tongue out of a balky horse. A fox was released for hunting purposes from a sylvan almost in the very heart of Reading. Leigh county has seven apple-jack distilleries, which are said to pay 30 cents per gallon on their product. A pair of horses ran away at Oxford several days ago, and traveled seven miles without doing any damage. There are fifty cases of diphtheria in Allentown, and during the past two weeks there have been four deaths in one family. A man well acquainted with the degrees of relationship of marriage says: "I married a widow who had a daughter. My father visited our home, and I fell in love and married my step-daughter. Then my father became my step-father, and my step-daughter my mother, because she was my father's wife. My step-daughter had also a son; he was of course my brother, and at the same time my grand-child, for he was the son of my daughter. My wife was my grandmother because she was my mother's mother. My wife's husband and grand child at the same time, and as the husband of a person's grandmother is his grandfather, I was my own grandfather."

Do not hunt for the borers at all but just doctor them a little. Make a mixture of about one quart of wood ashes to a pail of water and stir it well. Next make a ridge of earth around the tree a few inches from it, and high enough so when you pour your mixture into a circle it will run into the holes and kill the worms. It is sure death to them and costs less than one cent a tree. You may have to do it twice the first year, but after that a very little care will keep your trees free from them. If you have no wood-ashes, use a thin white wash of lime in its place. If you have a large number of trees you can use strips of zinc or sheet-iron about four or five inches wide and long enough to the circle of earth.

Over 100,000 Christmas trees have been chopped in the Pocono Mount.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Susan Musser an aged mother devoted this life on Sabbath eve to the Lord. She was a member of the Mennonite Church having joined when young. During her sickness she had many crosses to bear but she never murmured about her sickness but bore it patiently and willingly. She was liked by everybody. She was kind to the poor. A motherless boy, having thrills, she attended him, and she was a faithful nurse over her infant years and cheered his with her smiles. How faithfully do memories cling to the face of a mother's face. Like the lone star in the heavens in the deep solitude of a winter night she is the presiding divinity of the family. Her death was a great loss to her stay and hope when all around her is overshadowed with the gloom of despondency and despair. The memory of her good deeds reflect like the moonbeams on the stormy sea. Her tedious journey of life is over and the soul has returned to its glorious home to dwell in the presence of its God forever. She was buried on an old Mennonite farm, owned by her son, near the old cemetery. The graves are pure white and nearly flat. It grows there without moisture than with it, and only fails when the hot winds neglect to put in an appearance.

At Salem, Ill., on Thursday J. L. Middleton, when down in the coal mine, over 900 feet, respecting the work, captured a huge owl at the bottom of the mine. It is supposed that the owl was down there in the air shaft and had been there a week or ten days. The bird measured eight feet from tip to tip.

The Jerusalem corn, which is becoming so popular in Western Kansas, was introduced by a Finny county farmer, who received two plants from a missionary from Palestine. The grains are pure white and nearly flat. It grows there without moisture than with it, and only fails when the hot winds neglect to put in an appearance.

Along the mountain ranges of Virginia a party of four hunters recently made their way until they came to a bank at the mouth of a cave, the location of which was previously known to them, but which they had never explored. After a careful examination it was agreed to explore the interior, and therefore they basined themselves in gaining entrance to the cave. Entering the cave they cautiously and unwarily proceeded, sometimes on their hands and knees, and at intervals making a sound by the light of a candle. The cave was very dark, and the hunters were very nervous. They were about to turn back when they saw a large snake coiled on the wall. The snake was very large and had a very peculiar appearance. The hunters were very much frightened and fled in confusion. The snake was very much surprised and followed them for some distance. The hunters were very much frightened and fled in confusion. The snake was very much surprised and followed them for some distance.

An exchange paper says:—When work is slack, and business is dull, and the working force in an establishment must be reduced, the question arises, "Who can be spared?" And the answer is likely to include some of the following characters: 1. The man who occasionally gets drunk, and is liable for labor, and his usual wages for his work. 2. The man who is afraid he shall do more work than he gets paid for, and who shirks, and shies, and lingers, and watches the clock, and always gets ready to quit before the hour appointed. 3. The man who backbiting and slandering his employer, trying to stir up his fellow-workers, and who is a trouble-maker. 4. The man who is a gossip, and who tells the secrets of his fellow-workers, and who is a trouble-maker. 5. The man who is a trouble-maker, and who is a trouble-maker. 6. The man who is a trouble-maker, and who is a trouble-maker. 7. The man who is a trouble-maker, and who is a trouble-maker. 8. The man who is a trouble-maker, and who is a trouble-maker. 9. The man who is a trouble-maker, and who is a trouble-maker. 10. The man who is a trouble-maker, and who is a trouble-maker.

STANBROOK AGENT, December 17. This following is a true and correct account of the actual facts of the case: The police, under Bull Head, Lieutenant of Police, Shave Head, First Sergeant, went on to camp near Sitting Bull's village on the night of the 14th, and the next morning went into Bull's camp and found the agent Sitting Bull expressed his willingness to go with them, but wanted to make some preparations for the ride, and ordered his horse to be gotten ready. While Bull Head and Shave Head were in the shack where the old chief was getting ready, two bucks, enveloped in blankets entered the shack, and throwing off their black-clothes opened fire on the police.

Sitting Bull's wife had gone out and set up a signal, which seems to have been the signal for the assault. In the fight which followed Red Tomahawk killed Sitting Bull. Two or more of Sitting Bull's followers were killed and Bull Head and Shave Head were desperately wounded. The police were now surrounded, but at this juncture Captain Fischer, with his Gatling Gun and a Hotchkiss, reached the scene and attacked the Indians, who after an hour and a half of hot skirmishing, took to flight and disappeared in the timber. The camp with the dead a d wounded was taken at once. Occasional shots were exchanged between the troops and ambushed hostiles during the day. The hostiles have gone up the Grand river and will undoubtedly make their way to the camps at Pine Ridge.
