Tragedy in New Orleans.
Not in many years has a single act aroused the attention of foreign governments of the civilized world as the act of citizens of New Orleans on Saturday, March 14, on which day they broke open the jail and shot nine prisoners, and dragged two others out and hung them to the limb of a tree. The prisoners were all natives of Italy.

THE CRIME OF THE PRISONERS.
The murderous prisoners had all been acquitted on the day before, by a verdict of the jury of way laying and murdering chief of police David C. Hennessy about midnight, October 15, 1890. Many Italian criminals live in New Orleans and have a secret organization called

THE MAFIA.
The Mafia has been guilty of many murderous acts. When some one who is offensive in the sight of the Mafia is to be put out of the way, his murderers are appointed by the society. As Chief of Police Hennessy had secured evidence from Italy as to the bad character of a number of the society, which he intended to use against them in a suit that was to have taken place a day or two after he was murdered, they determined to murder him. The committee appointed to assassinate him concealed themselves in an ally way at each corner of the block in which he lived thus making impossible his escape. When he appeared in front of his house, they opened fire on him. He drew his revolver and returned the fire. When relief reached him he was found lying on his own doorstep. His body was riddled with bullets. Both his lungs were penetrated. There was another wound very near his heart, one in his stomach, one in his side, and still another in his leg, and his coat was cut by no less than nine other bullets which had not penetrated the flesh. Hennessy died at 9 o'clock the next morning. He was rational to the last, and declared that the murder was committed by Italians.

THE WASHINGTON GOVERNMENT.
Was appealed to by the Italian government, and President Harrison through Secretary of State Blaine, immediately made inquiry of the government of Louisiana as to the situation of affairs.

LARGE MEETINGS.
Have been held by Italians in the cities of the United States. Speeches have been made and resolutions adopted condemning the execution of the criminals throughout the country. The New York meeting last Friday night, said, the Hennessy murderers were probably not Italians, but Americans, which the audience greeted with applause. A resolution was passed asking United States authority to apprehend and to immediately punish the signers of the call for the New Orleans meeting, that called the multitude that stormed the jail and executed the members of the Mafia.

A REMEDY FOR THE GRIPPE.
A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the grippe is Kemp's Balsam, which is especially adapted to disease of the throat and lungs. Do not wait for the first symptoms of the disease, but get a bottle and keep it on hand for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. All druggists sell the Balsam.

among other things that "Self preservation is the first law of nature," and that the time had now come for the citizens of New Orleans to protect themselves. "If such action as the acquittal of these assassins is to be further tolerated," he continued; "if nothing is to be done to forcibly portray the disapproval of the public of this infamous verdict, not one man can expect to carry his life safe in the face of organized assassination that so powerfully exists in our midst as to openly set law and order at defiance. We met in Lafayette Square to talk; we now meet at the foot of Henry Clay's statue to act. Let us therefore set fellow-citizens. Fall in under the leadership of W. S. Parkerson. James D. Houston, the man who your first Lieutenant and I, J. C. Wickliffe, will be your 2nd Lieutenant."

"Fall in, fall in," was the cry, and amid deafening shouts the crowd formed in procession and marched to the jail.

They were met at the door of the prison by an officer, who refused to admit them. The main door resisted the onslaught of a crowd, but a side door gave way and 300 men with Winchester rifles and revolvers entered the prison, and searched for the supposed murderers.

THE EXECUTION.
The execution was of the most summary kind. Of the nine that were acquitted by the jury, seven were shot, riddled with bullets, and two were dragged out of jail, and each one hung to the limb of a tree that stands near by.

J. T. Criminal of Thompsonston, had his head caught between bumpers of cars in a train on which he was breaking. The accident took place near Altoona on the night of the 13th inst. The left side of his lower jaw was fractured.

The Comptroller closed the Keystone National Bank of Philadelphia because the concern did not have a reserve fund of over three hundred thousand dollars on hand as it was required to do under the law. It allowed its reserve fund to run down to some sixty thousand dollars.

"Do you know the value of an oath?" asked the Judge of the old dicker who was to be the next witness. "Yes, sah; I does. One ob dese yesh lawyers dose gon gib me foah dollars fo to swear to suffin. Dat's de value of an oath. Foah dollars, sah."—St. Joseph News.

On the 18th, Samuel Cunningham in returning from Mrs. Sarver's sale with a spring wagon load of furniture had a break down at the east end of town. The bar on the axle of a hind wheel came loose and the wheel dropped off. The wheel was replaced.

On the 18th inst., Louis Purdy post master of Scrub Oak, Westchester county, N. Y. died of paralysis, aged 88 years. He has been post master since 1841 when he was appointed by President William Henry Harrison grand father of the present President.

"One of the largest hogs in America—if not, in fact, the largest in the world"—was reared by a Junction City (Kan.) man. The length was 8 feet nine inches; girth of sack, 63 feet; girth of center of body, 8 feet; width across the hips, 30 inches; weight, 1,532 pounds."

From the Newport Ledger.—Bloomfield Times—"A Newport letter says: 'The married man of Bloomfield, who makes frequent calls on a widow in this place, had better look out or he will get into trouble. Who can it be? wonder.' Hush! Don't give your town away that-a-way!"

New York Press: According to the official record 33,250 babies were born in New York city last year, and there were 40,103 deaths. In other words, death got the better of its rival 853, so that what ever increase in population there was came by immigration. That's rather an interesting idea.

Let Thursday the right front wheel of Turner Sulouff's wagon, loaded with hoop poles cut through the plank of the Cherry street sewer, at the Main street crossing. Post Master McKinley and other citizens took a long heavy piece of wood, which they used as a lever to raise the wheel out of the track. When wheel was raised Turner's team was not slow in drawing the load away.

The Legislature of New York has a bill before it, that proposes that every tax-payer shall make out a complete list of the property he owns, and swear to it. Such a Legislature is more arbitrary than a king. The remedy for the tax payer is to see to it that the fellows that compose the Legislature never get another office, condemn them on every hand and send a Legislature that will repeal the act if it pass.

On the 18th inst., while Stephen Reno, Jr., of Fernmeadow township, was walking behind his wagon attending to the load, a sudden jolt loosened the load which caused the lever to spring back. In its back ward spring the end of the lever struck Reno in the abdomen causing a rupture, which speedily sickened him. Drs. Sulouff and Banks were called and gave the skillful assistance required in the case.

The Camden, N. J., jury who have the past few days been hearing evidence in the case against Francis Lingro for the murder of Mrs. Miller brought in a verdict of guilty in the first degree, last Friday. "If the dicker were left alone he would soon make a confession, but he will be blustered up by the efforts to secure for him a new trial and so on till the last moment when he will be swung into the other world to answer at the final judgement seat for his crimes."

From the Hollis layburg Register.—Rev. Dr. H. H. Barron delivered a timely and forcible sermon on Sunday evening at the First Presbyterian church, on the evils of card playing and gaming. He portrayed in vivid language the beneficial effects of the gambling fever, proved that the parlor card table forms that appearance of evil which the virtuous should avoid and cited statistics to show the terrible inroads this craze and passion is making upon society. The reverend gentleman claimed that progressive enclaves is not progressive sanctification and made a strong appeal to his hearers to abjure this curse. This powerful arraignment of card playing from the pulpit has created a sensation in town that cannot fail but be prolific of good results.

OUR HATS AND FURNISHING GOODS
Are worth coming for. They certainly are the greatest bargains ever offered in these lines. Reduced prices all along the line. Saying that we have made reductions in each and every garment does not fitly express how cheaply we are selling off our stock. We literally give free not only the profits, but a large slice of the cost. This may appear incredible, but it is positively true and you will say so, too, when you visit us. Such low prices for fine clothing and furnishings have never been known in Juniata county, and every citizen should take advantage of it at once.
