

MIFFLINTOWN. WEDNESDAY, AUG. 12, 1891. B. F. SCHWEIER, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

The newest invention in harvesters is a machine that binds grain with straw instead of twine.

The month's balance in the U. S. Treasury shows $155,783,715.90, which has cleared the unretired into silence on the question of a bankrupt treasury.

In the National Encampment, G. A. R., that met last week in Detroit, it was stated that there are now living one million two hundred thousand veteran union soldiers.

Reports of the short wheat and rye crop in Europe continue to come in. It reports be true Europe will be over three hundred million bushels short after all the surplus grain that other countries have been sent to her.

Since the New York prison authorities have used seven New York papers for publishing more than the law allows about the execution of murderers by electricity.

The wheat crop is twenty per cent short, the rye crop which is much more important, and upon which the people largely depend for their subsistence, is 60 per cent short.

As if to aggravate the situation to the utmost, the ignorant and orthodox Russians, with the Czar at their head believe that the famine is a judgment sent by God to punish Russia for its tolerance of Jews and other dissenters from the orthodox faith.

All the while the government is imposing taxes, is building two great war ships in the Baltic, costing two or three million dollars each, and is putting a quarter of a million new conscripts in the army.

Meanwhile the peasants are mortgaging their lands, which will soon pass from their hands and leave them in a condition little removed from slavery.

Section 1. Taxes all moneys at interest four mills upon the dollar instead of three mills, under the act of 1883.

Section 2. Taxes all stages, omnibuses, hacks, etc., used for transporting passengers for hire and all animals, yielding over $200 at the rate of four mills upon the dollar instead of three mills, under the act of 1883.

Section 3. Provides that three-fourths of three mills, instead of one third or one mill, as at present of tax on moneys at interest shall be returned promptly to the respective counties for their own use.

Section 4. Provides that the average price of the stock during the year, or that indicated by the net earnings or profit made, declared in dividends or carried into surplus or sinking fund.

Section 5. Changes the rate of tax to five mills upon the actual value of the whole capital stock, except in the case of fire and marine insurance companies.

Section 6. Taxes the capital stock of corporations. The first report under this section is to be made for the year ending, the first Monday of November 1892, and annually thereafter.

Section 7. Provides that the average price of the stock during the year, or that indicated by the net earnings or profit made, declared in dividends or carried into surplus or sinking fund.

Section 8. Provides that the average price of the stock during the year, or that indicated by the net earnings or profit made, declared in dividends or carried into surplus or sinking fund.

Section 9. Provides that the average price of the stock during the year, or that indicated by the net earnings or profit made, declared in dividends or carried into surplus or sinking fund.

rate distributable is 1.98 and three tenths for every taxable. The rate per taxable when the $5,000,000 are paid out to the school districts will be $3.45.

Under the old law Juniata county appropriation was $6,161.27; the new law entitles us to $15,790.02.

York County Elopers. Philadelphia Engineer.—MECHANICAL, Aug. 3.—Monaghan township, York county, had a sensation in the shape of an attempted elopement, which was nipped in the bud by the quick pursuit of the father of the girl.

George Gohman and Ellen Wilday lived in the same rural retreat, and had met each other so often that they soon felt the course of true love which burned with such an ardor that they thought an early marriage was the only thing that could quench the fire which burned within their hearts.

The girl's father, who was a farmer, had met her at the store, and when he saw her with Ellen, he was so angry that he immediately dropped the remark that she was "going to see the parson, Mrs. Wilday would not have become suspicious. She called her husband and expostulated the departure of George and Ellen, repeating the remark that George dropped about the parson.

Then the irate father mounted a good horse and started in pursuit. He soon caught up and just to frighten the couple he fired three shots into the air. These shots brought an unconditional surrender. So badly frightened was the girl that she foolishly jumped out of the road and fled with such force that she suffered a severe strain in the ankle. George's courage also cooled off and he pleaded that he only intended it as a joke.

But the unrelenting father did not believe him. He however, cooled off, and told George if he would drive Ellen back he would forgive him and probably might agree to let him have Ellen "some time after while."

Important to Sheep Owners. Judge White, of Indiana county, has recently ruled as follows: That persons having sheep killed by dogs must be paid out of the dog tax for that year, that no loss can be paid out by the school board until the end of the year, and in case there is not a sufficient amount in the dog fund to pay all claims shall be paid pro rata that secretaries of school boards shall keep the dog funds separate from the school fund, and what is left at the end of the year to be turned over to the general school fund.

Information Wanted. Information is desired of the whereabouts of Andrew Craghton, who left New York in May, and who has since written letters home from Patterson and Louisiana. His age is 25; weight 145; height 5 feet 6 or 7 inches; full dark suit; had silver open face watch and gold plated chain; square locket with picture of young man in it; had a heavy redish mustache. His letters indicated that his mind is impaired. Any person knowing of his whereabouts will please telegraph at once to Democrat and Sentinel, Lewistown, Pa. Exchanges, please copy.

Killed by Muskrats. LAWRENCEBURG, Ind., Aug. 5.—Samuel Ladin residing near here, is dead from wounds received in a fight with muskrats. Last Friday he went fishing in Hogan creek. He missed some fish he had left on the bank, and looking about saw the tail of one of the fish protruding from beneath a ledge of rock just above the water's edge. Ladin began to tear away the rock and earth from above when he discovered a nest of muskrats.

The young rats began to squeal in fright and their cries attracted the attention of the older ones. With screams the animals, anxious for their young, attacked the farmer and his dog. The dog, however, from a dozen nests came answering cries. Before Ladin could realize his danger the fierce little animals were all on him, biting his face, neck and limbs. The farmer yelled with pain, struck, stamped and kicked at the rats, but they hung on like bulldogs until, bleeding from a severe wound, he broke away from his desperate fight and reached home nearly dead.

Blood poisoning set in and death resulted last night.

Confidence Swindlers. Says the Chambersburg Repository.—Here is another way of the confidence man in getting in his swindling work—J. G. Jacobs, a prominent farmer near Carthage, Missouri, father of W. J. O. Jacobs, manager of our Telephone Exchange, and who spent some weeks in the East last Summer, was robbed July 16th, of $3,000 by three confidence althurs. The men visited Mr. Jacobs often during the past year, and on one or two occasions staid with him over night, and in this way gained his confidence and finally persuaded him on a promise of $5000 commission to assist them to close the purchase of an adjoining farm. He was to make the deal and they were to reimburse him together with the commission. Accordingly Mr. Jacobs went to bank drew out $3,000 in gold, got in the carriage with the real estate princes and started for the farm in question. When several miles out of town, a stranger came running out of a woods saying he had something for them. He opened his grip and showed a big roll of bills. The driver also pulled out a roll of bills and the two began, as Mr. Jacobs says, "going through some strange performances," as exchanging scraps of paper, etc. By and by the fellow in the road got pulled out by a revolver and compelled the driver to surrender his money. At this the accomplice on the back seat with Mr. Jacobs yanked the $3,000 bag of gold out of the carriage, when the driver put the whip to the horse and struck again for Carthage, saying that the fellow would kill them, and all that sort of truck. On the way back they affected to be very angry with Mr. Jacobs and charged him with being an accomplice of the fellow who had robbed them. At a convenient point they got rid of Mr. Jacobs, made their way quickly back to town, took the next train for Springfield and are now in No Man's Land.

Don't Fool the Ignorant. An afternoon contemporary, which should and probably does know better, remarks that provisions and meat were never so dear in price as they are to-day in New York. The workman's market basket is paying the increase in taxes imposed by the Republican party.

This is either a display of or an appeal to ignorance. Ordinary groceries have not been for many years as cheap as they are now, and every time the workman's wife sends to the corner grocery for sugar she reaps a direct benefit from the McKinley bill of about two cents for every pound she buys.

As for meat, that is undoubtedly high in price this year, but the meat we eat does not pay a tariff. Cattle are fattened on corn, and the corn crop last year was a failure. Hence the high price of corn, and of course, of meat, too.

But this price has about as much to do with the McKinley or any other bill, except the butcher's as a thunder peal has to do with a lemon peel.—New York Press.

A Favorable Verdict after Twenty Years Trial. The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment that Dr. Starkey & Pallen, a scientific adjustment of the elements of Oxygen and Nitrogen, and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent to all parts of the world, and has been in use for more than twenty years; thousands of patients have been treated, and recommended it—a very significant fact.

It does not act as most drugs do by creating an artificial ailment, often requiring a second course to eradicate the evil effects of the first, but Compound Oxygen is a restorer, renewing, strengthening, invigorating the whole body.

These statements are confirmed by numerous testimonials, published in our book of 200 pages, only with the express permission of the patients, their names and addresses are given and you can refer to them for further information.

The great success of our treatment has given rise to a host of imitations, unscrupulous persons copying their preparation. Compound Oxygen, often appropriating our testimonials and the names of our patients to recommend worthless concoctions. But any substance resembling Compound Oxygen, and called Compound Oxygen, is an injury.

"Compound Oxygen—its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new book of 200 pages, published by Dr. Starkey & Pallen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable Curative Agency, and a record of surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application.

A Cure for Constipation and Sick Headache. Dr. Silas Lane while in the Rocky Mountains, discovered a root that when combined with other herbs, makes an excellent and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick headache in one night. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for the clearing up of the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50cts a package.

East Salem. The oats harvest is in full bloom, and the crop in this valley is good in general.

Mr. Ira Smith from Port Royal was visiting his grandfather several days last week. Messrs. S. L. and T. J. Landis, took a trip on business to Port Royal and Milliflora last week one day.

Miss Laura J. Smith is home from Philadelphia, Pa., where she has been staying for several years.

The festivals are about at a close, but Sunday school picnics are coming right along.

Mrs. Henry Bassler has been on the sick bed for several weeks, but we are glad to note her improvement at this writing.

Ciderman, J. D. Leister has already begun his work by making several small lots each day. We understand he contemplates running the mill by steam instead of water power, as he will scarcely be able to accommodate his customers during the dry period, which often prevails during the months of August and September.

Yours Again, HAY SEIZ.

The New York Press tells the following story.—And concerning that an interesting story is told, and it is a story of a merchant who inserted an advertisement to the effect that if he wanted a book-keeper, married, of irreproachable private character, an expert accountant, one speaking French, Spanish and German preferred to whom reference being satisfactory, would be paid $500 salary for the first year—less than $10 a week. To this advertisement, which was originally ordered inserted in a week, came the first day seventy-four answers. The advertisement was taken out. Now here is a curious condition of affairs. The men who applied were men of education; many of them had seen the traditional better days, yet they are willing to accept $10 a week, a trifle less, at the very time when the great army of labor is striking for an increase from $1 a day of eight or nine hours duration.

The question naturally arises, is it better to teach one's sons a trade or to give them what is technically known as an education. There is a hope of thought in that, and if the material prosperity of the household and the workingman of whatever name may be taken, on the one hand and the nervous, feverish anxiety of the educated man, in the other, are to be taken as an index on the other.

There are men of brains and extensive intellectual acquirement, who have no business tact, and to them it is a continual puzzle, how men who are away down morally and intellectually succeed in business and money making. There is another useful class of people, men of energy and great hand workers whose work seems to turn to ashes while others less industrious thrive. The one possesses the power of self direction; the other does not.—This is the cause of different results.

Says a friend—As this is the season for ivy poison let us give you a cheap and sure cure. As soon as you discover the poison on your body rub the parts with wet table salt until the blisters open. Leave the salt dry on the poison and repeat the operation until irritation ceases. One or two good rubbings will do the work.

Ask Your Friends About It. Your distressing cough can be cured. We know it because Kemp's Balsam within the past few years has cured so many coughs and colds in this community. Its remarkable sale has been won entirely by its genuine merit. Ask some friend who has used it what he thinks of Kemp's Balsam. There is no medicine so pure, none so effective. Large bottles 50c and $1 at all druggists.
