The editor of the Independence (Kas.) Star sued a delinquent subscriber for eleven dollars. The delinquent claimed that he never subscribed for the paper and did not propose to pay. Harriet E. Hall of Waynetown, Ind., says "I owe my life to the great South American Nerve. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted Stomach, Indigestion, Nervous prostration and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors with no relief. The first bottle of the Nerve Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I can not recommend it to highly." Trial bottles, 15c. Sold by L. Banks & Co., Mifflintown, Pa. May 14-1y.

New Port Ledger:—A few weeks ago a man calling himself George J. Reiger, put out flashy hand bills about town and the country, announcing a sale of blooded horses. The horses failed to come, but Reiger did not fail to borrow all the money he could get, printing borrowed bills for board, printing and borrowing, to the amount of some $75 or $100. He swindled a number of people at Allentown in pretty much the same manner, representing there that he owned a fine farm near Newport, which was false. Reiger was here some years ago and had a horse sale, doing business in a straight forward manner, hence it was easy to borrow money and do business on his former credit.

Rebecca Wilkinson, of Browns valley, Ind., says "I have been in a distressed condition for three years from Nervousness, Weakness of the Stomach, Dyspepsia, and Indigestion until my health was gone. I had been doctoring constantly with no relief. I bought one bottle of South American Nerve which does more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise every weakly person to buy this medicine and try it. A few bottles of it has cured me completely. I consider it the greatest medicine in the world." Warranted the most wonderful stomach and nerve cure ever known. Trial bottle 15 cents. Sold by L. Banks & Co., Mifflintown, Pa. May 14, 1y.

From the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

In a city not far remote from Cincinnati lives a most estimable gentleman, Mr. X., of high social position, who is afflicted with an affection of the governing limbs, which, when he is seated, necessitates in holding his leg straight out before him. In a family where this gentleman visits dwells a most intelligent dog full of cute antics. Among the dog's varied accomplishments is a trick of jumping through or over the arms and legs of his owner. Well, the dog came into the drawing room the other evening during one of Mr. X.'s visits, and seeing the leg stuck out before him, proceeded forthwith to jump over it and then back again, and so on till he was taken out of the room. All present enjoyed the fun, including Mr. X. and the dog—last named evidently thinking that his special benefit. It was in truth a funny sight.

Mr. Abraham Oswald, of Weisenburg, Lehigh county, though possessed of but one arm, is an expert wood-chopper and feller, standing in the employ of Messrs. Schweyer & De Long, lumberers of Topton, and recently while at work in Heidelsberg township, performed a feat the like of which has probably never yet been heard of. Seeing a squirrel approaching on the top rail of a fence, he straightway entered upon an attempt to slay it; and when it came up close he followed after, and with a sharp blow of his axe gave it a blow which severed its head from the body and cut off its right fore foot, causing it to drop dead to the ground. It was picked up and dressed, and at noon the veteran wood-chopper feasted on squirrel pot-pie.

Bloomfield Advocate of September 15.

F. S. Rice, of Elliottsburg, is gathering his second crop of strawberries. They are of good size. * * * Geo. Shoop of Juniata township, a few nights ago had almost all his milk corks stolen. * * * Cal. Ritter's spring house, near Elliottsburg, was entered one night last week and a large quantity of butter stolen. On the same night many bushels of sweet potatoes were stolen from his patch. * * * While at work ploughing out potatoes, Jas. Newlin, of Juniata township, a few days ago was struck with a peculiar and severe accident. His plow struck a stone, and the handle hit him in the side knocking his watch against his person cracking a rib and bruising his liver. The time piece, strange to say, was not crushed, and it was thrown from him about fifteen feet. * * * Hon. Wm. Henry Sponser is constructing a dam on his premises just south of town on the old Adams property. The water will cover more than seven acres, and at the breast will be more than ten feet deep. A fine drive will circle the water. The dam is being built most substantially and the breast of it will be twenty feet broad on top. Mr. Sponser proposes stocking the water with fish and in winter it will be utilized as an ice pond. It might be stated that the buildings on the property will be torn down.

An Old Peach Tree.

In 1851 when Jacob Hower moved on his farm in Fernangh township a peach tree in a certain place on the farm was full of peaches. In this year 1891, the peach tree is a thrifty tree in full bearing. The tree in all the 40 years that have intervened since 1851 and 1891 has been allowed to take care of itself no borers have ever been looked for. About 10 years ago it showed evidence of decline, but after the field had been limed the tree recovered its old time vigor and since then has been as hardy and prolific a bearer as can be desired. How old the peach tree is Mr. Hower does not know.

Rain Making.

Senator John P. Jones of Nevada claims to be the man who introduced government to engage in the experiment of rain-making, which has proved to be such a success. The Senator in the Philadelphia Times tells what led him to the belief that rain can be brought from the atmosphere by means of explosives. He says:—

For years I have objected to government appropriations for artificial irrigation, but have opposed all efforts to cause rain falls by mid air blasts. Vast sums have been expended in the arid regions of the Far West in artificial irrigation, but the relief it has given has only been temporary, as the sun during the dry season dries the channels which have been cut.

EFFECTS OF DYNAMITE EXPLOSIONS.

"My attention was called to the condensing effect of the explosion of dynamite when I was superintendent, many years ago, of the silver mines of the West. In the lower levels the thermometer would sometimes rise as high as a hundred and sixty degrees and the men could not work for a short time and at frequent intervals. When, however, in blasting a dynamite cartridge would be exploded I observed that frost would appear on the walls of the mine and the thermometer in that locality would run down to zero. On the Central Pacific twenty different points in the same locality, there was invariably a rainfall where rain had never been seen before and has never been seen since. After all large battles there is a heavy down-fall of rain or around the scene of conflict, and Fourth of July celebrations are followed by heavy cloudbursts in all the large cities where the explosion of gunpowder has been the greatest.

"All these things set me thinking, and I long ago reached the conclusion that if dynamite could be carried into the air by balloons and exploded either by means of a time fuse or an electric wire, rain would ensue. The government scientists ridiculed my theory, stating that it might hold good where rain clouds had already gathered, but insisted that where there was no clouds there could be no rain. To this I answered that they certainly knew nothing of the upper ether, and that I was certain that explosion of dynamite would condense into vapor or clouds the moisture then existing, and that it would subsequently fall in rain.

Some time ago I got into the discussion of the question with Charles B. Farwell, then Senator from Illinois, and who was much interested in the matter. He owns nearly three million acres of land in Texas, and much of it is unproductive on account of the long continued dry seasons. Frequently large quantities of grain are destroyed and cattle die in that region for lack of moisture, and yet that which would save them is carried over their heads to fall elsewhere in superabundant and ruinous quantities. Senator Farwell declared that if Congress would not make an appropriation for the Agricultural Department to make experiments with mid-air explosives, he would extend the money himself, but that he naturally preferred, in order that the country at large might be benefited, that the trial should be made with the government's sanction. "When the Senate Committee on appropriations was asked for appropriate $10,000 in their bill for the purpose detailed, the proposition was greeted with laughter, but as a personal favor to Senator Farwell the appropriation was made. The House, however, knocked it out, but in conference it was subsequently re-instated. The results of the experiments which have been made have been surprisingly successful, and I expect that Secretary Rusk will ask the next Congress for a large appropriation for the artificial production of rain. I understand just received a letter from one of Mr. Rusk's assistants, who previously laughed at my theory, in which he completely changes his tone and admits that he was mistaken in his previous belief."

From the Musical and Dramatic.

If you love a sweet wife
Just across her,
And press her—
Don't dress her
Too rich,
There's a ditch
In this workaday life
We all fall in,
And equal in,
Through spending
Tending,
The wife is deserving
No doubt, and unworshipping,
In wifely endeavor;
Yet never forget
Forget that a debtor
Is truly no better
Than a thief;
I'd as lie
Trust one as the other,
Just pay.
Every day
It saves lots of bother,
And wife will be wiser,
And life will be sweeter,
While all things are bright—
Whether sooner or later—
Come floating your way.

A Favorable Verdict after Twenty Years Trial.

The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment that of Dr. Starkey & Pallen, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of Oxygen (Nitrogen magnetized), and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent to all the world. It has been in use for more than twenty years; thousands of patients have been treated, and recommend it.—A very significant fact.

It does not act as most drugs do by creating another ailment, often requiring a second course to eradicate the evil effects of the first, but Compound Oxygen is a revitalizer, renewing, strengthening, invigorating the whole body.

These statements are confirmed by numerous testimonials, published in our book of 200 pages, only with the express permission of the patients, their names and addresses are given and you can refer to them for further information.

The great success of our treatment has given rise to a host of imitators, unscrupulous persons; some calling their preparation Compound Oxygen, often appropriating our testimonials and the names of our patients to recommend worthless concoctions. But no substance must be elsewhere or by others, and called Compound Oxygen a conjuring.

Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results, is the title of a new book of 200 pages, published by Dr. Starkey & Pallen, which gives to all inquirers full information as to this remarkable curative agent, and a record of surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application.

MEYERS'
Great Fall & Winter Opening of Fine Clothing
For Men, Youths, Boys and Children Commences to Day.

Bargains in the same that are hummers on every floor, in every aisle, on every counter, trim, cool and cold with his air, biting frosts and howling blast will soon be here. Those who have the good fortune to reside in handsome mansions—who can sit by the cozy fire-side without the chilling tempests and blinding snow-storms rage—who who venture out are wrapped in costly furs and comfortable flannel—those, we admit, may read this announcement with indifference, but what of the poor? What of the countless thousands for whom cruel, cold winter bears in its train untold misery and privation, suffering and wretchedness? Oh, what of the poor? Have they the means to keep the wolf from the door? Above all they must have WARM CLOTHING, and here

MEYERS' STEPS IN TO LEND A HELPING HAND.

If purses can't meet the prices of good Overcoats, Underwear, Gloves, &c., then the prices must meet the purses. Right now at the very outset of the cold season, we propose to give every man a chance to buy these goods at figures he can well afford to pay. With this object in view we have just placed on sale and will offer 600 HEAVY, WELL AND DURABLE MADE OVERCOATS FROM $3 TO $10. The materials are Churchill's, Beavers, Meltons, Trewey, Cassimeres, Cloves, &c. Every coat is well made and could easily be sold for 50 per cent. more money, but THAT ISN'T THE THING. We want to sell these overcoats not for what they will bring or what we intended to get for them but at prices within the reach of the "Dollar-a-Day" laborer. This we think has been accomplished by offering these overcoats at $3, $4, $5, $9 up to $10. $12 will do the usual work of a $20 bill
