

MIFFLINTOWN. WEDNESDAY, SEPT 30, 1891.

B. F. SCHWEIER, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

FRANCE claims to be prepared for war.

STOCKS of all kinds have been on the rise the past ten days.

They are talking of putting a telephone under the sea to Europe.

The late warm weather was just what corn stood most in need of.

The new man in the New York race for the Presidency is Florio.

The public schools in St. Paul, Minn., were adjourned last week to await the coming of cooler weather.

The attempt by the commercial ring of business centers to corner coffee for the month of October has failed.

There are miles of fire in the timber land of Northwestern Minnesota and many settlers in the timber belt have been burned out.

The Republican League of Pennsylvania elected Senator Robinson, president, at Scranton, last week. Congressman Dalzell was a competitor for the place.

WRITING on the subject of small men and great men an exchange says: "It is a remarkable fact, although rather paradoxical, it must be admitted, that many of the world's greatest men have been small of stature. Sheridan was known as Little Phil the world over. George D. McClellan was of but little larger build. Napoleon's nickname, the Little Corporal is a household word in every civilized country. The Iron Duke (the Duke of Wellington) was often twitted on account of his small stature and big nose. General Lord Wolseley is said to be ridiculously small and to be compelled to shorten his stirrups until they would hardly serve a ten year old boy when he rides horseback. One's mind's eye is likely to picture Gladstone as a giant, both physically and intellectually, but it remains a fact that the Grand old man is but five feet, eight inches high."

by the importation of southern cattle. In almost every instance the disease has thus far proven fatal. The farmers are strongly considering the advisability of appealing to the State Board of Health for some remedy to abate, if not eradicate, the disease. Huntingdon Journal.

JAMES G. BLAINE. "It has been with especial gratification that the Republicans of this Commonwealth have observed the brilliant administration of the State Department by one of Pennsylvania's native sons, whose superior diplomacy has deflected the hearts of all Americans, exacted from foreign peoples a degree of respect and admiration for the United States flag hitherto unequalled, and opened wide to us in other lands commercial gates heretofore barred. These magnificent achievements justify our confidence and furnish new occasion for us now to reaffirm the loyalty and devotion of the Republicans of Pennsylvania to her most distinguished son—Hon. JAMES G. BLAINE."—From the Republican State Platform.

FOR AUDITOR GENERAL.

Gen. David M. Gregg.

He was second only to the first cavalry leader of the national arms. The first was the only Sheridan. The people of the country never had a chance to know of Gregg at his real worth on account of his inherent modesty. "Take Gen. James H. Wilson part of whose command captured Jefferson Davis; he, by some, is thought the most dashing cavalry officer next to Sheridan. But Wilson was honored considerably during the last year of the war, and having been associated with General Grant's head-quarters he had some advantage of opportunities. "I should put Gregg first. He was the same grade as Wilson, Buford, Kilpatrick, Merritt, Custer, but he was superior to any of them. He commanded a division when they were in the cavalry, and his services were incomparable. He fought the great cavalry fights which preceded Gettysburg, and history records with pride the services of his battalions of troopers at that desperate crisis of arms in the war for the Union. "Gregg was a great soldier, and for the people of Pennsylvania to do anything but handsomely honor him in their campaigns for civic office would impend their gratitude, and it might almost be said their patriotism." General Gregg has never been an office seeker. Some people think a man must be a seeker for Congressional or state office to make an office seeker, but that is a mistake. A man may have greed for the office in the county or for office in the township or office among secret orders or in church organizations or in corporations. General Gregg has never been an office seeker in the places mentioned, and it is a wonder that he has permitted his name to be put forward for a state office. However it is a good thing for the people of this Commonwealth that so worthy a citizen has consented to run for office. It would be better for all if the better citizens could be induced to accept office.

CHRONIC CASE SEEKER.

Following is a partial list of the offices he fills. He holds an office in the Lehigh Valley Railroad company, Philadelphia and Reading Railroad company, East Pennsylvania Railroad company, Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, Ironton Railroad company, Perkiomen Railroad company, Thomas Iron company of Catawug, Crane Iron Company of Bethlehem, Bethlehem Iron Company, Bethlehem, Allentown Rolling Mills company and others.

FOR STATE TREASURER.

John W. Morrison.

Fight with a Panther.

New York, September 24.—Donald Burns traveled for 15 years with Barnum's circus. He now has an establishment at No. 115 Roosevelt street. He supplies animals to circuses and menageries, and has in stock a particularly large and ferocious panther. When Burns reached his store at 7.30 yesterday morning, John Miller an employee was standing outside. "Oh, Mr. Burns the panther is loose he cried. "Well, we'll have to get him back in the cage said the old animal trainer. "You get me a rope." With a piece of clothesline arranged with a running noose in one end, Burns entered the store. The panther sat on top of his cage, licking his paw. With a quick movement Burns threw the lasso. It missed and the panther made a leap for the trainer who stepped out and closed the door. Peering through a window Burns saw the panther making a round of the place, scaring the other animals terribly. He squeezed his paw through the iron bars of cages and shook them. A little monkey seized the paw and lived about two minutes. The blood on the panther's paw infuriated him and he began a war dance in the center of the room while the other animals howled. Finally he went back to the top of the cage, and Burns decided to make another effort to lasso him. "Now, when I yell you open the door," Burns said to Miller. "Then grab the end of the rope and pull when I yell you 'Go.'" The door was opened softly once more and Mr. Burns threw the lasso. When the animal saw the rope coming he threw up his left paw and the noose dropped over his head and paw. John, John open the door yelled Burns. I've got him, come and help me. But John's courage failed him, and despite Burns' yells for help no one went to his aid. A crowd gathered around the door, but no one went to his aid, while Miller rushed around the outside of the house like a crazy man. "When I found that Miller would not come in, I said Mr. Burns afterwards, "I braced myself for the struggle that was coming. The animal was a year old and had just been brought from India. I figured on his killing from me like all panthers but that lasso caught under the shoulder and he did not feel it so much around the neck. I pulled hard and strong and so did the panther for a moment or two, but in the twinkling of an eye he seemed to shrink his body up and slipped out of the noose. I picked up an iron floor scraper and jumped as fast as I could for the door. I tried to hit the beast with the scraper, but missed him. Then we fenced around the room, the panther leaping for me and I endeavoring to hit him. I seized a box of pepper and tried to throw some into his eyes, but I could not connect. I had a dog upstairs and kept calling him, but he was tightly chained. Fully fifteen minutes passed. I fired my revolver on barrels and other obstructions in the room served to protect me. When the panther jumped I would dodge behind one of these, and he would go over my head. "Finally I got a paper file from the desk. It was only a little piece of pointed iron wire, about six inches long, but I felt a bit stronger when I got that in my hands. Then I missed my footing in trying to prod the brute and he was on me in a second. He caught me in the arm above the elbow. I jabbed the spurs into his side and he let go and leaped to the other end of the room. The blood spurted out of the hole, I had made in his side. We came together again, and before we separated I was bitten in several places. Luckily for me the panther was not an old one and the teeth were not long, but they were long enough to tear the flesh terribly. I was getting weak from loss of blood when a policeman from the Oak street station opened the door and closed it quickly. I had the panther by the throat but he was working out of my grasp. I yelled again for help and two longshoremen came to my rescue. They beat the panther off and with the crowd gathered in the doorway, we drove the beast into his cage again. Mr. Burns is badly lacerated about the body, and his face shows marks of the desperate struggle. Miller is out of a job.

A Prayer.

Published by Request OF A CITIZEN OF MILFORD TOWNSHIP. Most merciful, glorious and adorable Lord, our Heavenly Father, we would desire to return to thee our humble and heartfelt thanks for all the goodness, tender mercy, long suffering, which thou hast bestowed upon us since ever we had a being in this world. We are still so highly favored as to have, time, place and opportunity to make our peace, calling and election sure. We pray thee grant for the Redeemer's sake to constrain us by love and the influence of the blessed spirit to work out our salvation with fear and trembling, ever bearing in mind that thou dost work in us will and to do thy pleasure. We pray thee bless with us all the people everywhere, the poor and the needy, sick and afflicted, the fatherless and the widowed. May the time soon come when all shall know thee from the rivers to the ends of the earth. May very soon thy knowledge cover the earth as the waters the great deep. We pray thee hasten the longed for period when Satan shall be bound a thousand years, when the lion and the lamb lie down together, when no one has cause to learn war anymore, but when righteousness shall reign from the rising of the sun to its going down. May the heathen for an inheritance and the uttermost parts of the earth for a possession. May all come to know the Lord, whom to know aright is life everlasting. We pray thee take us into thy protecting care that we may never stray to the right hand or to the left till we arrive on Caanan's happy shore where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary forever are at rest. When thou art done with us in this sinful world, when we have fought the good fight, finished our course, kept the faith, may there be laid up for us a crown at thy right hand, and not for us only, but for all that love thee appearing. Grant that all may live and look for thine appearing, and watch for thy coming. May thy mercy and love come as in said in the word. The day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night. We pray thee that thou may not thus come, but that all if possible may become prepared to meet thee with joy and not with grief. May we also meet our friends that have gone before may we with them be permitted to tread the golden streets of the New Jerusalem, drink of the water of life, and flow forever over thy throne, partake of the fruit of the tree of life that yields its twelve manner of fruit every month, and unite with all thy blessed assembly of the just made perfect in ascribing, honor, power, glory and dominion to Father, Son and blessed Spirit in a world without end.

A Favorable Verdict after Twenty Years Trial.

The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment that of Drs. Starkey & Phalen, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of Oxygen and Nitrogen magnetized, and the compound is so condensed and made portable that it is sent to all the world. It has been in use for more than twenty years; thousands of patients have been cured and recommend it—a very significant fact. It does not act as most drugs do by creating another ailment, often requiring a second course to eradicate the evil effects of the first, but Compound Oxygen is a revitalizer, renewing, strengthening, invigorating the whole body. These statements are confirmed by numerous testimonials, published in your book of 200 pages, only with the express permission of the patients, their names and addresses are given and you can refer to them for further information. The great success of our treatment has given rise to a host of imitators, unscrupulous persons, some calling their preparation Compound Oxygen, often appropriating our testimonials and the names of our patients to recommend worthless concoctions. But any substance made elsewhere or by others, and called Compound Oxygen is injurious. "Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new book of 200 pages, published by Drs. Starkey & Phalen, which gives to all inquires full information as to this remarkable curative agent, and a record of surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them after being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application. Drs. Starkey & Phalen, 1529 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa., 129 Sutter St., San Francisco, Cal.
