The grip has again broken out in New York city.

The telephone has been known in India for thousands of years.

Nine American ships of war will soon be cruising off the coast of Chili.

A fire in HanKow, China, destroyed 1300 houses, and made 13000 people homeless.

The State Convention of the farmers alliance met in Harrisburg last week and elected officers for the coming year.

The war cloud in Europe is expected to burst between this and spring time with Germany and Russia as the chief combatants.

The Jacar Valley in Spain, a valley about sixty miles longer than the Juniata Valley in Pennsylvania, has been visited by a great flood that washed away nearly all the buildings and improvements along the river.

The extraordinary session of the State Senate, that was convened by Governor Pattison for the political purpose of making political capital for the campaign by charging dishonest methods against the State Treasurer and Auditor General, adjourned sine die on the afternoon of the 11th of November after a cost of $575 for each Senator and $250 for each employe. The Senate considered the charges that the Governor presented, and after due deliberation determined that the Senate had no right or jurisdiction in the case.

Crime Will Out.

WILKESBORO, November 11.—On the 15th of October 1885, William and John Kessler were murdered in their home at midnight and a large sum of money, $1 in gold, was stolen from them. The crime caused a great sensation but detectives were unable to locate the murderers until Sunday last, when during a brawl in a disreputable house at Hazleton a well known woman of the town accused the men of being implicated in the murder. This was overheard by some of the gang who gave the story away to a coal and iron police. This afternoon Henry Higgins and Joseph Eichel, two desperate men formerly residents of Wilkesboro, were arrested for the crime. They will be held to answer.

Eloped.

Mrs. Amy Grimes of near Medina, N. Y., eloped with a man named Charles Beck, in the employ of her husband last Thursday night. The woman is 33 years old and is the daughter of Daniel Houseman, a prosperous farmer of Yates. She complained of being ill and her husband, who had been working hard asked Beck to set up with her and administer to her wants. The overworked husband then went to his room and retired. When he arose in the morning the couple were missing. They had started before daylight and walked many miles as they were then seen on the highway bound east. Grimes harnessed his fastest horse and started in pursuit, but after having driven nearly 100 miles in a vain search, gave up the chase. A warrant is out for the couple's arrest, and the infuriated husband is after satisfaction of a different kind. He threatens bodily harm should he overtake them.

Grains of Gold.

Whoever is out of patience is out of his soul.—Bacon. Discontent is the want of self reliance; it is infirmity of will. What we ought not to do, we should not even think of doing. Illness is both a great sin and the cause of many more.—South. Ability involves responsibility. Power to its last particle is duty.—MacLaren. Doing is the great thing; if irresolutely, people do what is right, in time they come to like doing it. The best way to live is to cast away troubles and contentions, which can not be cured by fretting. In justice to the requirements of the present you should not look back and make yourself wretched over things that can not be undone. To be happy at home is the ultimate result of all ambition, the end to which every enterprise and labor tends, and of which every desire prompts the prosecution.—Johnson. A woman should possess great virtue, for she often has to provide enough for both herself and her husband.—Cormen Silva. One of the illusions is that the present hour is not the critical, decisive hour. Write it on your heart that every day is the best day of the year. Opinion builds our church, ebooth our preacher, formeth our discipline, frameth our gesture, measurath our prayers, and methodieth our sermons.—Farinon.

The Originals of the Future.

Pretty nearly all the criminals of the future are in our public schools to day, and we are educating them—the men who will throw our railroad trains off the track; put dynamite under our churches; commit outrages and murder; perhaps burn half a city some windy night. They are in our public schools to day, and we are educating them! The churches do not reach them. It is said that all the churches in New York city, with every seat filled, will seat only about 250,000, while the population is about 1,400,000. The Sunday schools do not reach them. I have seen, recently, in the Sunday

School World, that of sixteen millions of children in this country, of school age, only about seven attended the Sunday Schools. The other nine millions never go. Many of them have no parents, or worse than none. They have little or no thought of God or immortality. They can be reached in our public schools; and neither they or their parents can be reached any where else. I believe it is infinitely more important to the future of this nation that they be taught kindness and mercy than grammar or arithmetic, and I am sure there is no way under heaven in which you can better teach them kindness and mercy than by teaching them to do kind acts and say kind words a hundred times a day to the creatures by whom they are constantly surrounded. Every such teaching in our public schools is not for the protection of property alone, but for the protection of properly and life; say more, it is laying, in the hearts of these neglected children, the seeds of mercy and humanity, a foundation of mercy and humanity on which every church can build.

GRAVE YARD TOMATOES.

New Jersey paper: John C. Perdue, superintendent of the Phillipsburg, (N. J.) cemetery has for some time been very much interested in the actions of a middle aged woman who paid frequent visits to the cemetery. She always wore a coarse calico apron which when she left the grounds she carried on her arm. Perdue stopped her having become suspicious that she might be carrying off flowers placed on the graves. He was very much surprised to find that the apron contained several large and ripe tomatoes. When asked whence she got them she had planted tomato vines at the foot of the graves of friends. She said the soil was very good for raising the vegetable. In future she will have to do her gardening else where.

Signs of Hard Winter.

This is going to be a very hard winter," said an old resident of Lackawanna Valley the other day, "and I'll tell you why I say so. In the first place, look at the horset's nest. You will find them high up this fall. That's a sure sign of a hard winter. If it were going to be a mild winter you will find them near the ground. Two years and three years ago the winters were mild, and the horset's nest were low down. When take the angle worms for another sign. Dig in the ground and now you will find them crawling two feet or more below the surface. They know what kind of weather is coming, and they go down to avoid the frost. Two years ago I found them not three inches under the surface and they stayed there all winter. "Fuzz on hogs is another sure sign of a severe winter. Butcher a hog now and you will find a thick fuzz at the roots of the bristles. The fuzz wouldn't be there if next winter wasn't going to be a tough one. Two and three years ago this fall there wasn't any fuzz at all on hogs, and you know how open the winters were. "I predicted a hard winter in 1825 from these signs, and my neighbors ridiculed me or tried to, but we got it just as I said. I had so much faith in the signs that I got a lot of boys to trap all the quills for me they could. I wintered over 200 quills, and in the spring of 1825 there wasn't a live quill in the Lackawanna Valley except the ones I had. I buried them all loose at various points, and in the fall we had some good shooting, which we wouldn't have had if I hadn't paid attention to the signs."

Life.

Life is a mirror that reflects our mood. And on its surface our own vice obtrudes. The shadow of a tear, the gleam of a smile, and robbers wear that honest vice robe. No maiden chaste, no maiden virtuous, Virtue shows on virtuous maidens; That which the neighbor seems to be, is he. Be ye clean! Go purify thy heart. B. H. Heat.

OUR CLUBBING OFFER.

We do not ask you one cent for this extra paper, we wish to make a present to all those subscribers who will appreciate. That is to all those subscribers who pay all arrearsages and one year in advance for the JUNIATA SENTINEL & REPUBLICAN is $1.50 per year, and "The Guide and Farmer," is 60 cents both for $1.90.

"The Guide and Farmer," is a semi-monthly journal devoted to the interests of farmers and stock raisers and is replete with practical information so highly appreciated by all our farmer readers.

You will want more reading matter this winter than usual, and you can not get so much reading matter for this small amount of money anywhere. Tell your neighbor about it, and ask him to come in with you and get two papers for the price of one.

A Favorable Verdict after Twenty Years Trial.

The original and only genuine Compound Oxygen Treatment that of Dr. Starkey & Phalen, is a scientific adjustment of the elements of Oxygen and Nitrogen magnetized and combined in so condensed and malleable form that it is sent to all the world. It has been in use for more than twenty years, and has cured thousands of patients, and is recommended by a very significant number of the best medical authorities. It does not act as most drugs do by creating another ailment, often requiring a second course to eradicate the evil effects of the first, but Compound Oxygen is a revitalizing, renewing, strengthening, invigorating the whole body.

These statements are confirmed by numerous testimonials, published in our book of 200 pages, only when the express permission of the patients, their names and addresses are given and you can refer to them for further information.

The great success of our treatment has given rise to a host of imitators, unscrupulous persons; some calling their preparation Compound Oxygen, often appropriating our testimonials and the names of our patients to recommend worthless concoctions. But any substance made elsewhere or by others, and called Compound Oxygen is a fraud.

"Compound Oxygen—Its Mode of Action and Results," is the title of a new book of 200 pages, published by Dr. Starkey & Phalen, and is a most valuable and interesting treatise on this remarkable curative agent, and a record of surprising cures in a wide range of chronic cases—many of them being abandoned to die by other physicians. Will be mailed free to any address on application.
