Grim, cruel and cold with his airs, Bilting Frosts and howling blast will seen be here. Those who have the good fortune to reside in handsome mansions— who can sit by the cosy fireside, while without the chilling tempests and blinding snow-storms rage—who, when they venture out are wrapped in costly furs and comfortable fibery—thoso, we admit, may read this announcement with indifference, but what of the poor? What of the countless thousands for whom cruel, cold winter bears in his train untold misery and privation, suffering and wretchedness? Oh, what of the poor?
