Cephas and the Coon.

Coon-hunting still gives great enjoyment to hunters in the mountainous districts of Massachusetts. The skin of the animal sells for a dollar or more, but this reward is a mere trifle compared to the pleasure the hunter finds in tracking and treeing the coon and finally bringing him to the ground. Few men ever appreciated sport of this kind more keenly than a certain old farmer named Cephas Green. He and his wife were one day jogging along toward the town in the carryall, their business in the city being of especial importance, nothing less than the signing of papers which should transfer half of their farm to a heighbor. They still had four miles to go, when an acquaintance hastily crossed the road in front of them, his gun on his shoulder. "After a coon," he said hastily, my boy seen one in the woods up here." "Is that so?" cried old Farmer

Green, excitedly. He passed the reins to his wife, leaped from the carryall, and disappeared after the sportsman. Six hours later a neighbor, driving over the road, found the carryall drawn up under a tree, the horse turned out to grass, and Mrs. Green sitting in the shade, with a look of disgust and weariness in her face. Usually the most placid and even-tempered of wo- CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. men, she now said, with pardonable sharpness:

"There's something behind it." That's what you think, perhaps, when you read that the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy offer $500 reward for an incurable case of Catarrh. Rather unusual, you think, to find the makers of a medicine trying to prove that they be-lieve in it. "There must be something back of it!"

But it's a plain, square offer, made in good faith. The only thing that's back of it is the Remedy. It cures Catarrh in the Head. To its mild. soothing, cleansing and healing properties, the worst cases yield, no matter how bad or of how long standing. It has a record that goes back for 25 years. It doesn't simply relieve—it perfectly and permanently cures. With a Remedy like this, the proprietors can make such an offer and mean it. To be sure there's risk in it, but it's so very small that they are
