Governor Patterson's Attorney General has been induced to act in regard to the Reading Railroad grab, and a hearing has been appointed to take place in the Supreme Court room in Harrisburg this coming Thursday.

The McLeod Reading deal, is the topic of conversation and discussion in all circles, and public opinion this far, is decidedly against the deal, but in the consideration of a public question of such magnitude, it is proper that both sides be heard, therefore we give place to an article, voicing the opinion of the Reading people, which, see elsewhere in this issue.

The State administration, acting upon the information of A. J. Cass and T. V. Powderly, has fixed Thursday, March 3, as the day on which to hear complaints against the lease of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company, of the Lehigh Valley and New Jersey Central railroads. The hearing will take place in the chamber of the Supreme Court at Harrisburg, at 12 o'clock noon. After hearing the complaints and arguments, heard against the deal, the Administration will determine whether public interest requires interference.

Secretary Blaine is out in a statement in regard to the marriage and divorce of his son James G. Blaine Jr. He is driven into newspaper statements by the many newspaper reports of the unfortunate affair. He says he knows nothing of the contemplated marriage of his son with Miss Verina. The son was only 18 years of age. He blames the priest who performed the marriage ceremony for not sending him a despatch informing him of the contemplated marriage. He says the Priest had ample time to do that, for it took time to get the Archbishop to order a special dispensation that the girl who was a Catholic might marry a boy who was born, baptized, and reared a Protestant. "All the trouble that the marriage has caused, the secretary blames on the Priest.

Mr. Blaine further says to the Priest. You further alleged in justification of your action that if you had not performed the ceremony some one else outside your communion would have done it. This is a common defense of evil doing and is unworthy of a priest and a man. You might as well justify the murder of a man by chloroform on the ground that otherwise someone else would murder him with a dagger.

Primary Election.

Under the new election law, that will become operative at the next election, all nominations for judge, congress, state senate, representative and so forth, must be made, and certificates of said nomination be filed with the Secretary of the Commonwealth, on or before Tuesday, the 13th day of September, which is fifty-six days before the 8th day of November, 1892, on which the election will be held. Such in brief is the requirement of the Baker election law. Thereafter, all nominations will have to be made in the summer, or in the first week of September.

The Delamater Jury Disagree.

The Delamater jury wrestled with the embezzlement case 31 hours last week, and then informed the court that they could not agree. They had been instructed by the court to find a verdict of guilty, if they believed that the defendants knew that they were insolvent when they accepted the last deposits. They were instructed by the court to find a verdict of not guilty if they believed that the defendants did not know they were insolvent at the time they accepted the last deposits. The first ballot stood, 3 for acquittal and 9 for conviction, and through all the balloting the figures were not changed. Politically, the jury was composed of 8 Democrats and 4 Republicans. Two Republicans and one Democrat voted for acquittal, and two Democrats and two Republicans voted for conviction.

Canal Boat Transportation.

The fifth re-union of canal boatmen, held at Newport, was a pleasant event, and brought forth interesting and valuable information, relative to canal business, its trials and pleasures.

W. D. Cramer, railroad train manter at Millin station, delivered an address, from which the following valuable paragraph is given, relative to time on the canal, with the tonnage hauled, as compared with the time and tonnage by the railroad of to-day: "Many of us no doubt remember it took on an average of seventy-two hours to run from Columbia to Hollidaysburg with a line boat, carrying 60,000 pounds; at present an engine will take fifty cars, each carrying six-thousand pounds, or a total of thirty-million pounds and make the distance in fifteen hours. Again, it took twelve hours to go over the Portage railroad from Hollidaysburg to Johnston, thirty-six miles; now it is done in less than one hour, and the traffic is so great that there is more tonnage moved by the Pennsylvania railroad in three days than was moved over the Juniata canal in an entire season."

The Coal Combination.
The great combine of the coal carrying railroads, so skillfully engineered by President McLeod of the Reading is to be investigated by the New Jersey authorities. Despite the assurance of the deal that there will be no raise in prices, there is a feeling that the deal is contrary to public interest and should not be allowed to hold. In this connection the New York World, under the bold caption of "Break It Up," says: "The coal combination is a conspiracy of capital against poverty, of greed against need."

It is meant to make every poor man use less coal and pay more for it. It is meant to levy a tax upon every industry that uses coal, and the tax will be taken in the end out of the earnings of the men employed. The people need more and cheaper coal. This conspiracy is intended to give them less and dear coal. Production has already been curtailed in order that the price may be maintained. The price will inevitably be advanced in order that the conspirators may the rapidly absorb to themselves the earnings of other men.

Under conditions of healthy competition surplus production would be reduced, not by stopping the work and wages of miners, but by a reduction in price sufficient to induce the people to use more coal. The conspiracy is intended to destroy healthy conditions, exclude competition, and decrease production, while increasing the profits of the monopoly in control.

It is a conspiracy against good morals and against the public welfare. It violates the spirit of the law. It sets at naught every principle of equity. It threatens the people in their homes and in their workahops. It is unjust, iniquitous, and very cruel. It must be broken up if there be law enough in this free land to protect a free people.

We commend the foregoing article from the World as in the right spirit. These are days of monopolies against the people, and the need now is for thorough work and active resistance in defense of the people's rights and against the power of combined money.

Our Constitution condemns this deal. Its language is too plain to be obscured. The Reading and Lehigh Valley were and are competing lines, and the prohibition is plain. The case of Cox Brothers, fresh in the memory of all, only needs to be referred to in order to demonstrate the conditions violated. They fell to law with it. Did their works stand? Were their collieries idle? No; but an arrangement was made at once with the Reading, and it did the work that the Lehigh Valley had before been doing. Cox Brothers had two carriers ready to carry their coal. They broke with one and favored the other. It is too plain for argument that the two lines were bidding for the same work. If bidders, then competitors. If competitors, then their merger or lease is forbidden.

To your duty, Mr. Attorney-General. Don't forget the vigorous fight for the people when the "South Penn." deal was broken up. Governor Pattison soon are in the balance; the people don't want monopolies in coal. Action for the people is the duty of the Governor: action prompt, vigorous and thorough.—Philadelphia Herald.

Liverpool Sun:—Some days ago James Menzies, of Meiserville, went into his grainery to get oats to feed his horses, and found a mouse in the garner. He ran it into a corner and tried to tramp it to death. The little animal in its desperate efforts to escape ran up under one of his pants and went up in spite of all he could do. With all the shaking, clawing and striking he could do he could not check its course. His sensations can better be imagined than described, while the little mouse continued its course up his back. He peeled off both coat and vest to have a better chance at the little vermin. At last it was up on one of the shoulders, and there he grabbed and crushed it under his shirt.

A New York exchange says: The census that is being taken in the State of New York under the enumeration bill rushed through the legislature of that State by the fraudulent majority will be the most iniquitous piece of business ever perpetrated upon the people of that State, the whole scheme is worked to show an enormous population in the large cities where Democratic majorities do most abound. The effect intended is to adjust the legislative and congressional districts so as to retain Democratic ascendancy in that State.

Harriet E. Hall of Waynesboro, Ind., says: "I owe my life to the great South American Nervine. I had for five months suffered from the effects of an exhausted stomach, Indigestion, Nervous prostration and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors with no relief. The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about and a few bottles cured me completely. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I cannot recommend it to highly." Trial bottles, 15c. Sold by L. Banks & Co. Mar 14-1y.

An exchange fratulently remarks:—Every town has a class of wretches that smart people that belittle everything and every one's business in their neighborhood; find fault with ones stores, because they do not compare with stores in larger places; with the mechanics, because they are not (they think) like mechanics at some other place; with the doctors, because they lose a patient occasionally; that die from some inconvertible malady; with their neighbors, whatever may be the calling they find fault; the greatest amount of their worldly ammunition they fire at the local metropolitan journals. Nine out of ten of these smart alecks are far below the object of their criticism as the moon is below the stars. They have not "gunnison" enough to keep their credit up, and are not straight on the books of the very man they criticize, and are not able to write a grammatical sentence nor spell half the words correctly.

I had been doctoring constantly with no relief. I bought one bottle of South American Nervine which done me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. For a Time.
I will now reduce the price of my $3.00 cabinet photograph to $1.50 per dozen.
This reduction will continue as long as there is sufficient trade to warrant these prices and no longer. This gallery is filled with all the latest improvements usually kept in a first class gallery, such as Fine Genre Backgrounds, Beautiful Draperies and Fine Accessories, that would do credit to the large cities. We propose during this reduction to let our work speak for itself and have the best of our galleries, that taking into consideration the quality of work, these will be the cheapest cabinet photographs ever made in Juniata county. PRESIDENT A. A. McLEOD.

The Man Who Directs the Anthracite Coal Trade.
"The Reading Railroad's recent acquisition of the Lehigh Valley and New Jersey Central has created a great deal of concern among the most starting financial operations of the world, will have consequences so momentous that it is not to be wondered at, beyond the grasp of the average mind. Not only does it make the Reading Railroad the most powerful financial institution in the State and the largest employer of labor in the civilized globe, but it practically constitutes the dictator of the anthracite coal market of the fortunes of the vast interests and industries dependent upon the trade. It is natural that some curiosity should be manifested regarding this remarkable man, and that some anxiety should be felt as to the policy he may be expected to pursue. Those who know Mr. McLeod, and those who have closely watched the brilliant and sagacious tactics by means of which he has lifted a bankrupt corporation from the verge of financial disaster and physical decay, making it a solvent and most powerful company, will have no fear but that his policy will be conducted rationally, wisely and for the public good. No apprehension need be felt as to the effect of the new order of things upon the price of coal. While it is expected that the aggregated net profits of the united Reading system from this source will be increased $5,000,000, neither furnace, nor country, nor port, nor ship, will be taxed a penny to bring about this result. The fact is that the old system of marketing coal through an array of salesmen quibbling in magnificent offices, levied taxes upon products and consumer jointly to the extent of 25 cents to $1 per ton. Mr. McLeod proposes that this system of fattening middlemen into millionaire status upon producing and consuming jointly shall be brought together and that the producer, the carrier and the consumer shall reap the benefit of the saving thus made. The old system of middlemen and salesmen competition has made coal cheaper at borders and Chicago than within the borders of this State, with the result of subjecting our manufacturers to a formidable and highly injurious rivalry, shutting them out of markets that ought by right to be their own, and forcing the wages of working people in this, the richest State in the Union, to a level with those of the less favored States of the East. Mr. McLeod proposes to stop this unfair and dismanufacturing against Pennsylvania. He disinclines to see this State will pay no more, and probably less, than do now for their fuel, while the price of their coal at distant points will be so adjusted as to pay reasonable profits to the mining and transportation interests, and at the same time give the consumer the advantage which their proximity to the source of supply justly entitles them.

It may be true that competition is the life of trade," but it has proved to be the death of prosperity in the anthracite regions of Pennsylvania. To the old system of alternate strife and trade between competing corporations and the traffic of the anthracite interest, dependent upon their trade.
