I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted Stomach, Indigestion, Nervous prostration and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors with no relief. I cannot recommend it to highly." Trial bottles, 15c. Sold by L. Banks & Co. May 14-ly.

Dr. M. J. Davis, who almost a generation ago, left this native county, and made the town of Lewis, Cass county, Iowa, his home, dropped off here last week from a business trip to Washington, D. C., and New York City, to see his brother, E. J. Davis of Delaware township, and the family of his brother Luke Davis, who is in Washington, D. C. The doctor while in Millintown was the guest of Congressman Atkinson, with whom he attended medical lectures in New York city in their early youthful days. They were also surgeons in the army. Davis is a New York regiment and Atkinson is a Pennsylvania regiment. Dame nature in the bestowal of her gifts, made a favorite of Dr. Davis, giving him health and means, and making him one of the substantial men of the community in which he lives. He remained in Junata till on Tuesday, when he started for his western home.

From the Lewistown Free Press of October 12:—Another distressing accident happened yesterday afternoon, on the mountain above Milroy town, which Charles son of William Reed, aged about 20 years lost his life. He had been out hunting during the day accompanied by a brother-in-law and a brother 12 or 15 years old, and the party was returning home to Milroy when the accident happened. From particulars we are able to glean before going to press, it seems that on the way down the mountain Charles had the butt of his gun down on the ground and in some way it was accidentally discharged, and as the muzzle pointed wards his head the lead entered under his chin and came out at the top of his head. Death must have ensued instantly. * * * Daniel Pannabaker who has had upwards of thirty years experience in the shoeing of horses has taken charge of the blacksmith shop attached to the Junkin works on South Dorcas street.

Rabecca Wilkinson, of Brown's valley, Ind., says: "I have been in a distressed condition for three years from Nervousness, Weakness of the Stomach, Dyspepsia, and Indigestion until my health was gone. I had been doctoring constantly with no relief. I bought one bottle of South American Nerve which does me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise every weakly person to use this valuable and lovely remedy; a few bottles of it has cured me completely. I consider it the grandest medicine in the world." Warranted the most wonderful stomach and nerve cure ever known. Trial bottle 15 cents. Sold by L. Banks & Co., Millintown, Pa. May 14, ly.

Bloomfield Democrat says: Stum Snyder of Madison states that thirteen years ago he and one of his daughters were out on the mountain gathering huckle-berries. A buzzard with a bell on it came and sat on the limb of a tree near by. About two weeks ago a buzzard was flying around Isaac Stokes' mill and whenever he tapped his wings a bell would ring. He thinks it was the same buzzard he saw thirteen years ago and that it came from the South where the bell had been put upon it. * * * William F. Bear of Carroll let his horses out of the stable the other day to have a little romp. One of them ran against a barbed wire fence, which surrounded a haystack, and got fast in the wires throwing himself and cutting all four legs to the bone. Mr. Bear jumped on the horses head and held it down until his brother cut the wires with an axe. The animal was badly used up but may recover. * * * Bloomfield Advocate, October 12:—The large barn on the farm of David Troesser in Centre township, narrowly escaped destruction by fire last Friday morning. The hired boy was engaged in carrying the horses when he smelled the smoke from burning straw. Rushing up to the barn floor he discovered a flame darting upward about three feet high and straw in a circle of three feet or more in a blaze. With great presence of mind he scattered the burning straw and ran for water with which he succeeded in extinguishing the fire. The discovery of the flame at that time was providential, for within three feet of it was a large straw stack, and other straw was scattered over the floor. It is supposed that a match had fallen in the crack of the floor, and nibbling rats had ignited it, or a tramp might have slept in the barn and left the embers of his pipe carelessly scattered. The barn and its destruction would have costed the loss of all this year's grain and hay crop.

Grand Jury Work. The Pittsburg grand jury brought in an indictment of murder against Frick and other Carnegie officials and Pinkerton detectives for having so employed the Pinkertons at Homestead that a number of rioters were shot and the same jury indicted the Homestead advisory committee for treason in having set up a government in the town of Homestead that over-ruled all civil authority. Horse in the Sewer Ditch. The horse of Mordecai Isenberg suddenly dropped out of sight on Main street, and Mr. and Mrs. Isenberg were driving home about 10 o'clock, on Saturday night last. Everything came to a stand still and Isenberg shouted for help. Citizens came to the rescue. They found the beast out of sight in the sewer ditch in front of Mr. Meyers' house. The animal was walked out on the sloping ground that had been put into the ditch a short distance from where the horse dropped in. The beast was not hurt, the harness was slightly torn, the buggy and occupants were all right. It happened at a point where Mr. Meyers' horse water pipes passes across the ditch, and the weight of the horse on the inch pipe broke it and caused a flow of water that was not looked for at the time.

For a Time. I will now reduce the price of my $3.00 cabinet photograph to $1.50 per dozen. This reduction will continue as long as there is sufficient trade to warrant these prices and no longer. This gallery is filled with all the latest improvements usually kept in a first class gallery, such as Fine Scenic Backgrounds, Beautiful Draperies and Fine Accessories, that would do credit to the large cities. We propose during this reduction to let our work speak for itself and have no hesitancy in saying that taking into consideration the quality and price of our work, these will be the cheapest cabinet photographs ever made in Junata county. Respectfully, JOSEPH HESS, Millintown, Pa., Jan. 22nd, 1892.

To Stop Toothache. An exchange says:—When suffering with a toothache, pulverize and mix in equal quantities some common salt and alum. Then wet a small piece of cotton, to which adhere the mixed powders, and place in the aching tooth. A sensation of coldness will be first experienced, this gradually subsiding, and with it the torment of the toothache. The alum and salt remedy, simple as it seems, is honestly coached for by persons who have tried it time without number and never failed to find relief in application, almost immediate relief.

How to be Happy. "I am very sorry," remarked the wife the waitress brought in a high cube of corn beef and placed it on the table, "that we have no mustard in the house."

"It is really terrible," replied the husband "but come to think of it, we haven't any champagne in the cellar, have we?"

"No," said the wife. "And I don't suppose we have any such a thing as a bottle of pickled walnuts between the roof and coal bin, have we?"

"No, we have not," "And I suppose if I were to start at the present moment on a still hunt I couldn't find such a thing as vanilla stew from one end of this house to the other, could I?"

"Yes, you could not."

"And, now that I think of it, there is no money in the house, is there?"

"Not a cent."

"Not a barrel, nor a share of stock upon which a dollar could be raised at short notice?"

"Not one," said the wife impatiently. "Then let us try to be happy. If we can exist without champagne, pickled walnuts, stewed vanilla, money, bonds and stocks, don't you think we ought to be able to pull along without mustard?"

"I think we ought," said the wife, cheerfully.

"Then let's try to. I could go all my life without mustard, couldn't you?"

"Yes."

"Then, don't apologize any further for its absence. Just try to imagine that there is no such thing as mustard in a mustard jar, and think how much worse it would be if we had lots of mustard and no corned beef."

"And then they fell into a happy silence."
