

B. F. SCHWEIER, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

DEMOCRATIC newspapers are opening their batteries on the present pension laws.

INDIANS in the Indian territory are having a ghost dance under the superintendency of the ghost of Sitting Bull, they say.

SENATOR JONES is talking silver in London. The people are all right on the free coinage question, but the men who control the bonded indebtedness of the world are against silver, because they can make more money by shrinking everything to the single gold standard.

EVERY second man one meets is ready to give a reason for the late defeat of the republican party. A reason given by an acquaintance is different from the common run of reasons and is as follows: That the defeat of President Harrison is due to the fact that the vast majority of our people don't know when they are well off.

COL. A. R. McCURE, of the Philadelphia Times, has many friends who would be delighted to hear of Cleveland appointing him Secretary of State. The Colonel is intellectually one of the ablest men in the United States, just the kind of a man to adorn the office of Secretary of State, and as the new Secretary must needs be a Democrat—no Republican need apply—why not take a capable man like Colonel McCure.

Already To The Front.

It has been told over and over, in these columns within the past two months that should the democracy win the election they will ask for the reinstatement of the State Banks.

The wires had scarcely more than finished announcing the election returns till the Georgia Legislature passed a resolution calling on congress to repeal the tax on State Banks which is all that is in their way for their reinstatement. Georgia is the first state to act and she has acted promptly.

Will Not Do It.

Some of the democratic leaders say now that the country has declared against protective tariff the present congress should immediately repeal the McKinley bill and President Harrison should sign the repealing act. The republican party stands on its record of protection and when the democracy get possession of the government they can make their promise good, and repeal protective legislation. The republican party will not do it. The democracy claim they were elected to undo the tariff and other acts, now let them do it.

Getting Their Eyes Open.

The business people who were so earnestly enlisted to promote the democracy because of its pledge, to reduce the tariff, are getting their eyes open in the light of the fact that importers have already stopped large orders for foreign goods, because they do not wish to be loaded up with a large stock of goods at protective rates, when the democratic party threaten to reduce the tariff rates and bring in foreign goods at cheaper rates, which will pinch out the financial life of such concerns as are loaded with higher priced goods. A good many other people will have their eyes open before four years more pass away.

How Death Feels.

I was reading an article this morning on how it feels to die, said Dr. W. H. Epworth. 'No living man can tell how death feels, or whether the action of dissolution is accompanied by sensation or not. A man who through disease or casualty has lost consciousness—had become to all appearances dead—and is then resuscitated, can really tell us nothing about it, for he did not die. The machinery did not come to a complete stand still—the life force did not leave the body. It may be that the poet has dipped deeper than the physician into the awful mystery of death. It may be that he has described horrors not visible to the eyes of the medical man, who interests himself only in the condition of the animal mechanism. 'I have stood by the deathbed of men who told me they were going to hell, and saw them pass peacefully to their long sleep. I have looked at their dead faces a few minutes later and saw thereon a look of fear, of horror, that was not visible when the heart gave its last faint throbb and then stood still. I have had others tell me almost with their last breath that they were going to heaven. They passed away with wan, weary faces that were painful to contemplate but before they became rigid a smile as sweet as an angel's dream over-spread the pallid features. The deep lines of suffering faded out and the aged looked almost youthful, the weary and worn became radiant. What causes this change, which every physician has noticed? When does death occur? We say when the animal machinery stops, when the breath and pulse cease. 'That is what the doctor calls death, but it may not really be death after all. The spirit may not leave the body, may not take its departure from earth with its last breath the last faint heart beat. It may cling for some moments to its shattered tenement before it takes its flight before it faces its terrors or enter into those transcendent glories which the poet has painted. The death of the body, with which doctors only deal, may be but the prelude to a more important act, the departure of the spirit. Science was gone far, but it has not yet lifted the veil of mystery which the Almighty has hung over the couch of death—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Stole Her Sister's Lover.

The Philadelphia North American, of the 16th inst., relates the following as having taken place in Millville, New Jersey, on the 15th present month.—Blood-curdling yells of "Murder! Police!" aroused the quiet neighborhood in which the residence of Henry Clarkson is located at a late hour last night. It was a woman's voice, which now and again could scarcely be heard, as though some one had a grasp on her throat. In the midst of a series of screams the noise suddenly ceased, and everything became quiet. The light which had been burning in a second story room was put out, and when an officer appeared and asked what was the trouble he was giving no answer. All night the officer watched the house, and was this morning told the story of the ramps and midnight screams.

Mr. Clarkson stated that his youngest daughter, Jennie, had published an advertisement in a matrimonial and courtship paper, and had corresponded with a Silas Harper, of Milford, Del. The correspondence had been kept up for over a year, and the two had become betrothed lovers, though they had never seen each other.

Jennie has an elder sister, Mamie, who has been trying for many years to get married but had not succeeded. Silas wrote on a postal card that he would come to Millville to meet his future wife and wed her. Mamie got the mail the day the postal card arrived. From the hieroglyphics on it she deciphered Silas' plan, so when Silas arrived on the appointed train Mamie was there to welcome him. She told Silas that she was his own Jennie and suggested that they stop at the minister's on their way going home so they would not have to make a second trip down town again.

When they reached the Clarkson household, Mr. Clarkson astonished her household by introducing her husband. It was not until late that night that Jennie, Silas' real sweetheart, came across the postal which her sister had carelessly left in her room. Then she guessed who Mamie's new husband was, and proceeded to the desecrated sister's room, where she accused her of stealing her husband. A war of words was followed by a hair-pulling and scratching match. It was at this point that the elder sister yelled "Murder!" Silas took in the show, hardly knowing what to make of it, and finally brought it to an end by bouncing both out of the room, "though," concluded Mr. Clarkson, "he hand led Jennie more tenderly than Malvina would have done some morning."

Winter Storms.

Cyclones used to be considered summer storms, but they do come in winter time as is testified by one that struck the town of Red Bud, Illinois last Friday morning between the hours of 3 and 4 o'clock, November 17—a despatch from that town on the date mentioned says—Exactly a 2:30 this morning a cyclone swept over this town destroying property and killing one boy and injuring some fifteen other persons. The wind came in the midst of a driving rain storm and it was daylight before the full extent of the catastrophe was known and the injured could be given attention.

California in 1849.

From every quarter came some of the best and many of the worst, and a reign of rascality began, which in the absence of civil government and a written code of laws, brought into being committees of vigilance, arbitrary proceedings, mobocracy, and popular tribunals. None of these early adventures thought of California as a home; it was no place to live in; they would gather a little gold and hasten away and of the 50,000 who came fully one half returned the same year, and most of the remainder would have gone away had they possessed the means. It was a community of men who were not reckless, swarming, swaggering fellows of every nationality, from every clime, and of every shade of color and conscience, yet young, strong, hopeful, intelligent, energetic, many of them as honorable and highminded as any ever were born. It was good stuff to make a new nation of, or to renovate and revive an old one. It was a home-let less churchless community.—Lippincott's Magazine.

Harriet E. Hall of Waynetown, Ind., says: "I owe my life to the great South American Nervine. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted Stomach, Indigestion, Nervous prostration and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors with no relief. The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I can not recommend it to highly." Trial bottles, 15c. Sold by L. Banks & Co., May 14-ly.

Winter Tours to California, Florida and Other Points of Interest.

Some idea of the amount of traveling done by Americans as a people, and the comfort and luxury at their command, is gathered from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's announcement of its personally conducted tours for 1893.

First comes a series to the Golden Gate, starting from New York, Philadelphia, and Harrisburg, February 8th, March 2nd, and March 29th, 1893. Tourists will travel by superbly appointed special trains of Pullman drawing room, sleeping, dining, smoking and observation cars, under the supervision of a Tourist Agent and Chaperon.

Next in importance comes a series of five to Florida—January 31st, February 14th and 28th, March 14th and 28th. The first four admit of two whole weeks in the sunny south while tickets for the fifth tour are good to return by regular trains until May 30th, 1893.

The first cattle brought into the New England colonies arrived at Plymouth in 1634, and were imported from England by Governor Winslow. Three heifers and a bull made up the cargo: "in black, black and white and brindle." In 1626 twelve cows were sent to Cape Ann, and in 1629 thirty more. 1830 about 100 were imported for the exclusive use of the colony of Massachusetts Bay.

The reader naturally thinks of these animals as superb specimens of the bovine race, but they were not. History that is the curious and interesting part of history, tells us that the average weight of fat cattle in the Liverpool market as late as 1710 was only 700 pounds. What an evolution in 182 years.

Saved by a Woman's Shot.

GRAND HAYES, Mich., Nov. 16.—A bullet shot from a woman's rifle saved the life of a bear hunter near the town of Sullivan last Saturday. The man was one of a party who had come up from Indiana on a hunting expedition. He started a bear and two cubs from a thicket and shot the cubs, whereupon the old bear turned upon the hunter and soon knocked him down.

Johnstown Orphans.

The payment of the annuity to flood orphans was made at Johnstown on the 4th inst., when $20,325 was distributed. Each orphan under 16 years of age was paid $75. There are now 271 orphans of parents who were lost in the great flood. The original number was 339, 9 having died and 59 became of age. The biggest check paid to any one person was $600 to Mrs. Schubert, widow of Editor Schubert of the Free Press, who was drowned and left eight small children. The fund has done incalculable good.

What is a Gentleman.

What is a gentleman; was a question we were asked the other day. Allow us to say, first, it is a mistake to say that a Prince, Albert coat, plenty of money and a lab-dash suit constitute a gentleman. We have seen a long-legged dandy, wearing a No. 6 hat and No. 10 shoe, stand laughing at an honest farmer, and making what he thought were witty remarks about his unbecomingly dressed, and that same good honest farmer had more nobility of character and sound sense and judgment in his whole carriage. Manliness are the component parts of a true gentleman in this free country.—Ex.

For a Time.

I will now reduce the price of my $3.00 cabinet photograph to $1.50 per dozen. This reduction will continue as long as there is sufficient trade to warrant these prices and no longer. This gallery is filled with all the latest improvements usually kept in a first class gallery, such as Fine Scenic Backgrounds, Beautiful Draperies and Fine Accessories, that would do credit to the large cities. We propose during this reduction to let our work speak for itself and have no hesitancy in saying that taking into consideration the quality of work, these will be the cheapest cabinet photographs ever made in Juniata county. Respectfully, JOSEPH HEISS, Mifflintown, Pa., Jan. 22nd, 1892.
