Bank wrecker Evans of Philadelphia has been sent to jail, under a sentence of seven years.

Citizens of Philadelphia have entered complaint against certain parties for catching their pet dogs and selling them to medical students for dissection.

The Brussels coin conference is making financial affairs shaky. The greatest shake up of modern times will take place before many years if silver is not re-monetized.

Democratic Congressmen who expected an extra session to be called in March, on the ground of providing means for an empty treasury are a good deal put out over the statement that the secretary of the Treasury has made, that on the 30th of next June, there will be a balance of $20,000,000 in the treasury.

The Interstate commerce commission created by act of Congress does not come up to the line of expectation and a number of presidents of railroads have been to Washington to ask that the law be repealed or amended, and thus it is clear that the law does not suit either the people in general, or railroad people in particular.

The farmers in the middle states are charged as much to haul their grain and other produce to Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore and other eastern markets, as are the farmers on the cheap lands of the west.

Have you tried South American Nerve—the gem of the century? The great cure for Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Nervousness. Warranted the most wonderful Stomach and Nerve Cure ever known.

Ho! The Post Office.

The race for the post office plum promises to be one of the most interesting races of the kind in the annals of the town.

It is a long race course and will probably take a year to reach the goal, if the present post master is allowed to remain in office to the end of the term of his appointment.

So far there are listed for the race, Jesse Howe an honest man and a first rate citizen and neighbor, and a democrat from away back.

The office pays thirteen hundred dollars a year, rent, fuel, light and a clerk and no hard mental or hand work. The only work about it is the application of staying in the office, changing the mail, keeping the accounts honestly and acting in a gentlemanly way to all callers on business.

A very valuable book for those contemplating either an extended winter trip or a short visit to the sunny South has just been issued by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Nathan Fawcett a farmer of means, of West Chester, Pa., aged 80 years was married on the 15th inst., to Miss Sadie Sharp, aged 30 years.

President Harrison, recently wrote to a friend, "Protection has failed because the wage earner has refused to share his shelter with the manufacturer. He would not even walk under the same umbrella."

Rebecca Wilkinson, of Browns valley, Ind., says: "I have been in a distressed condition for three years from Nervousness, Weakness of the Stomach, Dyspepsia, and Indigestion until my health was gone."

The Pennsylvania Rail road Company has placed on sale at all its principal ticket offices excursion tickets to all the prominent winter resorts.

The magnificent facilities of the Pennsylvania Railroad, with its many connections, make this the favorite line for winter travel.

Catching His Spirit.

George Francis Dabson, a spiritualist of Muskegon, Mich., has perfected a scheme, he thinks, by which he hopes at death to be able to prove positively to those still in the material state that his spirit exists.

He went to Elsburg a short time ago and obtained a large glass cylinder, so constructed that it can be sealed air tight quickly.

He has suspended with fine copper wires two pieces of metal so light that they may be brought in contact with each other by the slightest motion of air within the cylinder.

Wires pass through the cylinder, one being connected with a battery and the other with a telegraphic instrument. He has made arrangements for his friends, just before the spirit leaves his body, to seal him in the cylinder, so that his spirit may be kept from departing and at the same time be enabled by a series of systematic distributions of the air within the cylinder to communicate with his friends through the telegraphic instrument.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company announces its series of personally-conducted tours to Florida for January 31st, February 14th and 28th, March 14th and 28th.

The party will travel by special train of Pullman sleeping and dining cars, and they will go through via the Atlantic Coast Line on fast schedule.

Excursion tickets, including railway transportation, Pullman accommodations and meals on route in both directions, will be sold from all principal stations on the system.

Wednesday night of last week about eleven o'clock a full grown bear came down on the porch at the home of Mrs. Charles Miller, below the Junction, and jumped at the door so hard that the inmates thought it would break it in.

At a regular meeting of the East Salem Literary Society on Friday eve, Dec. 9, 1892, the following resolutions were adopted.

Resolved—That while we know of no man in a mysterious way, His wonders do perform, and bow in humble submission to such, we do not the less mourn for Mr. Loudenslager's death.

Resolved—That in the death of P. S. Loudenslager, the Literary Society laments the loss of an active member, the school an enterprising teacher, the church a faithful member, and the community a citizen worthy of emulation.

Resolved—That these resolutions be copied on the records of the Society, and a copy thereof be transmitted to the bereaved family and a copy be published in the county papers.

Resolved—That the heart felt sympathy of the members of the East Salem Literary Society be extended to the family in their affliction.

Buncoed.

It is not often that a man who reads newspapers is buncoed or swindled out of money as was Jacob B. Crowell, of Greencastle, Franklin county.

Crowell is said to be worth $75,000, and was swindled out of $5,000 by a pair of Baltimore sharks on the 9th day of December, in the manner told by the Chambersburg Repository, as follows:—Mr. Crowell was in his yard in Greencastle on Wednesday morning when a medium sized, well dressed man, rather stout and good looking, came into the yard and offering his hand greeted the old gentleman.

Mr. Crowell in response to the question, "Don't you remember me?" said he did not. The man told him he knew Mr. Crowell well and introduced himself as a son of Mr. Alexander Stewart, of Scotland.

Mr. Crowell was the cashier of a bank in Harrisburg and spoke of his uncle George H. Stewart and how that gentleman owned a number of farms. He himself was in need of a farm and hearing Mr. Crowell had one that would suit him, he came to Chambersburg, left his wife and child at the home of Judge John Stewart, his uncle, and came to Greencastle.

Mr. Crowell was not so backward and took a trial. Finally Mr. Crowell was persuaded to try his luck for an hour. He drew a card winning $5,000. His friend Mr. Stewart insisted on the drawer giving this amount to Mr. Crowell but this was objected to as Mr. Crowell had put up no stakes.

Mr. Crowell insisted and to prove that the game was played in "good faith" got Mr. Crowell to drive to Greencastle, draw the money from bank, make a check and put it up. Mr. Crowell said to the man that he drew the card for the five thousand the Kentonian showed the amount over to him put up in two packages.

Mr. Crowell pushed it back saying "I don't want your money," then the man put it in a box and put it under the buggy seat, then the supposed Mr. Stewart said to Mr. Crowell "You have won this money, take it, it is yours, and if you lose it, lose it or spend it." Mr. Crowell said: "If I do take it, it will be refundable any time as I can't want it." He says he did not suspect anything until after he left them for his home and they had driven away, but says if he had opened the box there and found out what he afterwards did they might have resorted to force means and carried away his money also.

The first and second strangers had become quite intimate by this time and the Harrisburg bank cashier finally determined to drive the bearded brother to Hagerstown so they bid Mr. Crowell adieu and drove off leaving their victim to walk home with $10,000 in the box in his hand.

Some one who had a spirit to work off, and who had forgotten that the Republican campaign for United States Senate was settled by a popular vote last summer in favor of the re-election of Senator Quay, offered a resolution denouncing him as a candidate.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Worthy Master, Leonard Rhoads; Secretary, C. R. H. Thomas; Treasurer, Wm. S. Yocum; Overseer, Wm. H. Henry.
