

B. F. SCHWEIER, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

PROFESSIONAL base ball clubs are being organized.

The Pennsylvania State Building on the Columbian Fair Ground at Chicago, will be dedicated at 12 o'clock noon, Saturday, April 29.

Last Thursday President Harrison sent a message to Congress on the question of Hawaii. He is disinclined toward a protectorate but inclines to favor annexation to the United States and submits the matter to Congress.

As long as people will send enough of the tough element to legislative bodies, they may expect to have an outburst, such as they are having in Kansas, whenever circumstances are favorable to the development of such a state of affairs.

Last week the Illinois Legislature repealed the compulsory school law that a previous Legislature had passed. Text book education is a good thing, and is free to all, but to make it compulsory is in the exercise of a despotic principle that should not be allowed a lodgment among free people.

Another very enterprising, courteous, reasonable sheep-raiser shoots every dog that prowls around his premises day or night. He makes it a rule to get the dogs before they get his sheep, and thus avoids the losses and annoyances formerly and usually experienced.

There was a lively tilt in Congress, last Thursday, over the pension question. Democratic Congressman Turpin of Alabama, asked a Republican member from Massachusetts, whether he was aware of the fact, that there now stood upon the pension rolls an ex-soldier who was drawing a pension of $19 a month for total deafness, who was receiving a salary of $1800 a year, and who was employed at the telephone.

Two sailors just off ship board, sat down on a bench in a junk shop along the war for a social chat and smoke. The only living thing in the shop at that moment was a talking parrot. An open keg of powder stood under the bench and a spark from one of the pipes dropped into the powder, and blew the place to pieces.

That is the way with Cleveland's cabinet appointments. The Democracy are crying: "Thunder! Thunder! What comes next?"

The appointment of a cabinet before inauguration is something new, and almost took the breath of the democratic brethren, but to place a republican like Gresham in the cabinet, and later still a new school democrat like Hoke Smith of Georgia, in the office of the Secretary of the Interior has raised an awful kick and a shout.

When inaugurated President Cleveland will have his government advisers around him, and be free from all care as to that point.

It is an awful explosion of the friendly smoke, pow, pow, and demands of the democratic practical politicians, and they are crying out: "Thunder! Thunder! What comes next?"

A Mexican Governor. Kansas has a governor named Lewelling who has been trying to play Mexican. He calls himself a Populist. He is an ignorant man or a vicious man, and did his best to employ Mexican methods to promote his party friends and their purposes. The Republicans have a majority in the Legislature, but the governor and his populist party have all winter been trying to ignore the majority, and last Wednesday morning, they played the Mexican by taking possession of the Legislative Hall, and denied admission to the Republicans.

The Philadelphia Times:—The old American way of putting young people on their honor and taking it for granted that they would do everything that was right, certainly implied a much nobler view of human nature than the present mode of strict chaperonage. When we are in the heyday of youth full of spirits and gayety, and believing implicitly in the virtue and good intentions of everyone around us, the institution of chaperonage seems a very odious and unnecessary restraint on liberty.

A handsome, clean shaven woman of fifty, who might have passed for twenty years less than her age, when inquired of as to her methods of preservation replied promptly, "I lubricate, that's all; just lubricate as the old Greeks did." To the question, "What do you use?" this modern follower of the ancient custom replied: "Glycerine, olive oil and vaseline. You'll have to try them and see what suits you as I did."

Wants a Wife. The following from the Philadelphia Times of February 15, 1893:—A lonely wife who ever has evidently heard something of the fair women of Philadelphia, wants a life companion, and he has written to Postmaster Field a letter which will be kept as a literary curiosity.

All About Pensions. There was a lively tilt in Congress, last Thursday, over the pension question.

A Remarkable Crop of Corn. During the season of 1889, a most remarkable crop of corn was raised by David Drew at Plymouth, N. H.
