The electrocution of Harris, the New York wife poisoner, has awakened a great deal of comment, since his execution last week, and many newspapers have expressed an opinion as to his guilt or innocence. He declared his innocence in the last news paper writer to ask.

"Why should a man like Harris, on the brink of the grave tell a lie?" which question is the cause of another newspaper answering:

"Why should a man like Harris, having no religious faith, having lived a lie for two years, having a reputation reflecting dishonor and shame, and having presumably committed a dastardly crime, hesitate to tell a lie?"

"Face to face with death," Harris probably meant nothing more than an exit from this world into nowhere."

"The perjure of his soul what significance has that to a man who does not recognize or hope for immortality. Let's drop Harris, anyway."

Bloomfield Advocate, May 10:—Harry Howell and Samuel Spriggle, of Tuscarora to snubbery were arrested last week and brought to this place, the former on Friday and the latter on Saturday, charged with cruelty to animals. Howell could not pay his fine and is now in prison. Spriggle paid his fine and is at liberty.

* One of the meanest acts we have heard of in many a day was recently perpetrated. Wm. Hollibaugh of Bixler lately completely the boring of a well 75 feet deep, and had it ready for the pump. The top of the well had been carefully covered until the pump should be set in. A few days ago he discovered that some miscreant had pried open the covering and completely filled the well with small stones, thus rendering it useless and necessitating the boring of a new one. The author of such deviltry should be ferreted out, and we doubt not Judge Lyons would give him an appropriate sentence.

* * * Samuel Foote of Centre township, a few days ago narrowly escaped fatally shooting himself. He lives on the Robert A. Moore farm, on which is a dam lying in front of the house. Dealing about a maul, Foote took his stand and placed one foot on an old raft, with the gun at his side, the raft resting on the ground. The raft broke and the strap on his boot caught the hammer pulling it to full cock and then slipping off causing the gun to discharge. The lead passed by Foote's right cheek, filling it with powder and knocked his hat off, shooting away from the eye. He was rendered unconscious for some time by the concussion, but otherwise with the above exception, escaped uninjured.

A Narrow Escape.

Hon. James North, and Charles Bardell, the porter of the Jacobs House, came near losing their lives on the railroad on Saturday. A freight train had been cut for a passage to and from the station to Day Express. For some reason the cut in the freight train was closed before everybody was away. North and Bardell noticed the danger opening closing. The sense of being crushed gave a superhuman vigor to his leap for escape. In the leap that he made from the death-trap he struck Mr. North with such force that he was hurled from between the cars and landed safely on the platform just as the cars came to gather with a bang that would have killed both men. Those who saw Mr. North, North fall thought he had been struck.

Malaria.

Humphrey's Specifics Nos. Ten and Sixteen speedily and permanently cure malaria and bilious fevers. Price 25c each at all drug stores.

An Italian Seriously Hurt.

Hon. James North, an Italian only one month in America, was seriously hurt by the explosion of a dynamite cartridge, last Friday, while walking on fourth track about three miles north of this place. The gang of men with which he was working were digging with their picks in a piece of ground where dynamite cartridges had been used. For some cause one of the cartridges placed in the bank did not explode, and was by neglect not removed or perhaps it was believed all of the cartridges had exploded. In picking, Pichessal's pick struck the cartridge the effect was terrific. The blast blew all of the clothes off the man's body from the hips up; his hair was blown off. The cuticle of his body was blown off and he was otherwise injured. He was first brought to this station and then sent to Harrisburg for treatment. Other Italians were hurt by the explosion.

Notice.

The Washington Club of Fayette will meet their hall in McAlister-ville, on Monday evening, May 29, 1893, by order of the President.

Music Lessons.

Miss Louise K. Jackson will return to her home in Mifflintown from Boston in June after having spent two years at the New England Conservatory of Music under the best instructors of piano. She will start a class in this place as soon as she comes home. Those wishing any information, or who desire to take lessons of her can obtain the same by calling at this office, or by addressing Miss Jackson, Mifflintown, Pa., before June 10th, so all arrangements can be made to begin teaching at once.

PHOTOGRAPHS.

ANOTHER TIME FOR ANY LENGTH OF TIME, WHILE WE ARE AT THE PICTURE BUSINESS.

We will continue making our fine Cabinet Photographs as low as $1.50 per dozen. These pictures are mounted on elegant card enameled on back and face, with picture with a high Polish finish superior in quality to the one to the Aristo Photo I have been taking the last year. However all those wishing the Aristo picture, I will still make them at the same price, $1.50 per dozen.

The extensive patronage and the many testimonials of the appreciation of our work, we have received the last year, gives us renewed courage to go on with these low prices, and we propose making Mifflintown headquarters for the finest Photographs for the money that can be obtained anywhere, adding all the time new and costly accessories of the very latest designs giving our trade the benefit of that which would cost $3.00 in the city, for $1.50 in Mifflintown. We can make pictures for $1.00 per dozen such as are made by traveling photographers, but we prefer giving our patrons a much better picture for very little more money. Thanking our patrons for their liberal patronage we solicit a continuance of the same.

Respectfully, JOSEPH HESS.

Mifflintown, Pa., March 9, 1893.

Compulsory Education.

The passage of the compulsory education bill by the Senate yesterday, is another long step toward the un-American idea that government care of the individual is a thing more to be desired than that the people should care for themselves. This is precisely the reverse of the true Democratic idea that the least governing is the best governing; that the government should rest upon the consent of the governed; and that a people in government leading strings have to the extent of their acceptance of such guidance abandoned popular sovereignty.

We had hoped that the excellent school system of Pennsylvania, designed to help those who are willing to help themselves, would never be marred nor mutilated by the paternalistic cobblers. But the vote in the Senate shows that the sentimentalists are in a strong majority.—Philadelphia Record.

There are people who have a whole house full of money and it takes a great deal of money a year to keep so many little ones shod. We have noticed that because we are selling shoes for children every day, and we are selling them for just what they cost us, for we are going out of the shoe business. G. W. HECK.
