It is no new declaration that is now being made that the state of the moon has a great deal to do with good or poor fishing. A fisherman who takes a great deal of moon knowledge into consideration when he goes to catch the fish, says "When a man goes to fish without consulting the moon phases, he fishes in the dark that is he fishes without scientific knowledge. He fishes by random."

A clergyman of New Castle, Pa. spoke as follows in a recent sermon. "We have been talking for some time to break up the idea that a circus must be made out of a funeral. There is nothing more disgusting to me than to see a whole congregation file around the front of a church merely to get a glimpse of a face which perhaps many of them have never seen before. The custom should be abolished without ceremony."

A couple of strangers started in to play the "Flim flam game," at noon last week, but were discovered, and then deemed it best to speedily shake the dust of the town from their shoes. That is they would buy 5 or 10 cents worth of something from a store-keeper, and hand a 10 dollar bill from which the pay was to be taken. When change was being made for the excitement they played a slight of hand game, and stole some of the merchant's money with whom they dealt.

Contractors on fourth track north of town failed some days ago. They left bills unpaid. Among the people that their stock are a lot of Italian employees. Of all the people who should have their money the Italians are just such treatment as has been given the Italians by the contractors who have left the poor Italian unpaid to shift as best they can in the boarding and lodging shanties along the railroad. The foreigner who falls into the hands of such loose contractors naturally forms a low estimate of the business honesty of the country, and he loses respect for everyone and particularly for corporations and contractors. This claims of many of the foreigners have been placed in the hands of lawyers and they are trying to get for them what they can in the courts.

The wreck of Main's circus was a fortune in disguise for the proprietor. He has a bigger show now than the one before the wreck, and has been advertised all over the country free, so that wherever he goes the next coming five years, will insure him a large crowd of sympathizing people. Ford's theater in Washington city, in which a lot of government clerks were at work, caved in at the time a New York city church bell was tolling the funeral of Edwin Booth, brother of J. Wilkes Booth who assassinated President Lincoln in Ford's theater, April 14, 1865. The funeral and caver of the theater took place on the forenoon of April 9, 1893.

The Town Council passed an ordinance for the establishment of a curbstone market which has aroused widespread comment. The posters of the council have the name of Chief Burgess Solomon Books affixed, to give it lawful authority. Burgess Books says his name was added to the ordinance without his knowledge or consent, and now the question is "of what good it an order of town council when the Chief Burgess repudiates it by declaring that his name was signed to it without his knowledge or consent."

Levistown Free Press.—A son of William Wood, living at the entrance of the Narrows, aged about 13 years, who had been employed on the grading job below town, while off duty a short time since visited the scene of operations and was exhibiting to some of his companions his skill in handling cars when the cars began to move and a wheel passed diagonally across his foot, crushing that member in a bad manner. The hurt did not seem to bother the boy much, or he was afraid to make his sufferings known if it did, and no medical aid was sought for a week after the accident, when Dr. Cummings was called, who found that the boy's foot had gangrened and that the limb was far up as the knee was turning black, this bad state of the case making amputation necessary. His limb was accordingly taken off below the knee, and he is now getting along as well as can be expected.

Bellevue Wilkinson, of Browns valley, Ind., says: "I have been in a distressed condition for three years from Nervousness, Weakness of the Stomach, Dyspepsia, and Indigestion until my health was gone. I had been doctored constantly with no relief. I bought one bottle of South American Nerve which did me more good than any $50 worth of doctored I ever did in my life. I would advise every weakly person to use this valuable and lovely remedy. A few bottles of it has cured me completely. I consider it the grandest medicine in the world." War wanted the most wonderful stomach and nerve cure ever known. Trial bottles 15 cents. Sold by L. Banks & Co., Druggist, Mifflintown, Pa. Feb. 1, 93 1y.

Harriet E. Hall of Waynesport, Ind., says: "I owe my life to the great South American Nerve. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted Stomach, Indigestion, Nervous prostration and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors with no relief. The first bottle of the Nerve tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I cannot recommend it to highly." Sold by L. Banks & Co., Druggist, Mifflintown, Pa. Feb. 9, '93, 1y.
